sea. And Godwine the eorl, and Harold, and the queen[a], sate down in their possessions. Swegen had gone before this to Jerusalem from Bruges; and he died on his way home at Constantinople on Michael's-mass. It was on the Monday after St. Mary's-mass that Godwine with his ships came to Southwark; and the morning after, on the Tuesday, they were reconciled, as it here before stands. Godwine then grew sick soon after he had landed; and he afterwards departed: but he did all too little penance for the property of God which he held belonging to many holy places. And the same year came the strong wind, on Thomas'-mass-night, and did much harm in many parts. Moreover, Hris, the Welsh king's[x] brother, was slain.

have it. Then was a great gemot proclaimed without London: and all the eorls and the chief men who were in this land were at the gemot. There Godwine bore forth his defence; and there justified himself, before king Edward his lord, and before all people of the land, that he was guiltless of that which was laid against him, and against Harold his son, and all his children. And the king gave to the eorl and his children his full friendship, and full eorldom, and all that he before possessed, and to all the men who were with him. And the king gave to the lady[y] all that she before possessed. And they declared archbishop Rotberd utterly an outlaw, and all the Frenchmen, because they had made most of the difference between Godwine the eorl and the king. And bishop Stigand obtained the archbishoprick of Canterbury. And in this same time Arnwi, abbot of Burh, left the abbacy, in sound health, and gave it to Leofric the monk, by leave of the king and of the monks; and abbot Arnwi lived afterwards eight years. And abbot Leofric then (enriched) the minster, so that it was called the Golden-burh. Then it waxed greatly, in land, and in gold, and in silver.

A. 1053. In this year was the king at Winchester at Easter, and Godwine the eorl with him, and Harold the eorl his son, and Tostig. Then, on the second day of Easter, sate he with the king at the feast: then suddenly sank he down by the footstool, deprived of speech, and of all his power, and he was then carried into the king's chamber, and they thought that it would over-pass: but it did not so; but he continued on, thus speechless and powerless, until the Thursday, and then resigned his life: and he lies there within the Old-minster. And his son Harald succeeded to his eorldom, and resigned that which he before held; and Ælfgar succeeded thereto. This same year died Wulfsie bishop of Litchfield, and Leofwine abbot of Coventry succeeded to the bishoprick; and Ægelward abbot of Glastonbury died, and Godwine abbot of Wincelcombe. Moreover, the Welshmen slew a great number of the English people, of the wardmen, near Westbury. In this year there was no archbishop in this land[a]; but bishop Stigand held the bishoprick of Canterbury at Christ-Church, and Kynsige of York; and Leofwine[a] and Wulfwi went over sea, and caused them-

A. 1053. This year was the great wind on Thomas'-mass-night, and also the whole mid-winter there was much wind: and it was decreed that Hris, the Welsh king's brother, should be slain, because he had done harm; and his head was brought to Gloucester on Twelfth-day eve. And the same year, before All Hallows-mass, died Wulfsyg bishop of Litchfield, and Godwine abbot of Wincelcumbe, and Ægelward abbot of Glastonbury, all within one month, and Leofwine succeeded to the bishoprick of Litchfield, and bishop Aldred[x] took the abbacy at Wincelcumbe, and Ægelnath succeeded to the abbacy at Glastonbury. And the same year died Ælfric, Odda's brother, at Deorhurst; and his body resteth at Pershore. And the same year died Godwine the eorl; and he fell ill as he sate with the king at Winchester. And Harold his son succeeded to the eorldom which his father before held; and Ælfgar the eorl succeeded to the eorldom which Harold before held.

A. 1054. This year went Siward the eorl with a great army into Scotland, both with a ship-force and with a land-force, and fought against the Scots, and put to flight king Macbeth, and slew all who were the chief men in the land, and led thence much booty, such as no man before had obtained. But his son Osbarn, and his sister's son Sihward, and some of his hus-carls, and also of the king's, were there slain, on the day of the Seven Sleepers. The same year went bishop Aldred to Cologne, over sea, on the king's errand; and he was there received with much worship by the emperor^, and there he dwelt well nigh a year; and either gave him entertainment, both the bishop of Cologne and the emperor. And he gave leave to bishop Leofwine+ to hallow the minster at Evesham on the 6th of the Ides of October. In this year died Osgod suddenly in his bed. And then, with the Irishmen and with Welshmen, they gathered a great force: and Rawulf the eorl gathered a great force on the other hand at Hereford-port. And they sought them out there: but before there was any spear thrown, the English people fled, because they were on horses; and there great slaughter was made, about four hundred men or five; and they made none on the other side. And they then betook themselves to the town, and that they burned; and the great minster which Æthelstan the venerable bishop before caused to be built, that they plundered and bereaved of relics and of vestments, and of all things; and slew the people, and some they led away. And soon thereafter was outlawed Ælfgar the eorl, son of Leofric the eorl, well nigh without guilt. But he went to Ireland and to Wales, and procured himself there a great force, and so went to Hereford: but there came against him Raulf the eorl, with a large army. And with a slight conflict he put them to flight, and much people slew in the flight: and they went then into Hereford-port, and that they ravaged, and burned the great minster which bishop Æthelstan had built, and slew the priests within the minster, and many in addition thereto, and took all the treasures therein, and carried them away with them. And when they had done the utmost evil, this counsel was counselled: that Ælfgar the eorl should be inlawed, and be given his eorldom, and all that had been taken from him. This ravaging happened on the 9th of the Kalends of November. Then, during this, then spoke they concerning peace; and Harald the eorl, and those who were with him, came to Billingsley: and there peace and friendship was established between them. And then they inlawed Ælfgar the eorl, and gave him all that before had been taken from him; and the fleet went to Chester, and there awaited their pay, which Ælfgar had promised them. The manslaying was on the ninth of the Kalends of November. In the same year died Tremerig the Welsh bishop[x], soon after that ravaging; he was bishop Æthelstan's co-adjutor from the time that he had become infirm.

A. 1056. This year bishop Ægelric gave up his bishoprick at Durham, and went to Burh to St. Peter's minster; and his brother Ægelwine succeeded thereto. This year died Æthelstan the venerable bishop, on the 4th of the Ides of February, and his body lies at Hereford-port; and Leofgar was appointed bishop: he was the mass-priest of Harold the eorl. He wore his 'kenepas' during his priesthood until he was a bishop. He forsook his chrism and his rood, his ghostly weapons, and took to his spear and to his sword, after his bishop-hood; and so went to the field against Griffin the Welsh king: and there was he slain, and his priests with him, and Ælfnoth the shire-reeve, and many good men with them; and the others fled away. This was eight days before mid-summer. It is difficult to tell the distress, and the marching all, and the camping, and the travail and destruction of men, and also of horses, which all the English army endured, until Leofric the eorl[Y] came thither, and Harold the eorl, and bishop Ealdred[+], and made a reconciliation there between them; so that Griffin swore oaths that he would be to king Edward a faithful and unbetraying under-king. And bishop Ealdred succeeded to the bishoprick which Leofgar had before held eleven weeks and

And the king gave the eorldom to Tostig, son of Godwine the eorl, which Siward the eorl before held. And Ælfgar the eorl sought Griffin's protection in North-Wales. And in this year Griffin and Ælfgar burned St. Æthelbryht's minster, and all the burh, Hereford.

Here came Eadward etheling to Engle-land;
he was king Eadward's brother's son,
Eadmund king,
who Ironside was called for his valour.
This etheling Cnut king had sent away to Unger-land[ᵞ]
to be betrayed:
but he there grew up to a good man,
as God him granted,
and him well became;
so that he obtained
the emperor's kinswoman to wife, and by her, fair
offspring he begot:
she was Agatha hight.
Nor wist we for which cause that done was,
that he might not his kinsman Eadward
king behold.
Alas! that was a rueful case and harmful for all this nation that he so rathe
his life did end after that he to Engle-land came, for the mishap
of this wretched nation.

A. 1058. This year Ælfgar the eorl[A] was banished; but he soon came in again, with violence, through Griffin's[X] aid. And this year came a fleet from Norway: it is long-some to tell all how these matters went. In the same year bishop Ealdred[Y] hallowed the minster at Gloucester, which himself had raised to the glory of God and of St. Peter: and so he went to Jerusalem, with such splendour as none other had displayed before him, and himself there devoted to God: and a worthy gift he also offered at our Lord's tomb; that was a golden chalice of five marks of very wonderful work. In the same year died pope Stephanus[+], and Benedictus[A] was appointed pope: he sent a pall to bishop Stigand. Ægelric was ordained bishop of Sussex[X], and abbot Sihward bishop of Rochester.

A. 1063. In this year, after midwinter, Harold the eorl went from Gloucester to Rudelan, which was Griffin's, and burned the vill, and his ships, and all the stores which thereto belonged, and put him to flight. And then, at Rogation-days, Harold went with his ships from Bristol about Wales; and the people made a truce and delivered hostages; and Tostig went with a land-force against them: and they subdued the land. But in this same year, during harvest, was king Griffin slain, on the Nones of August, by his own men, by reason of the war that he warred with Harold the eorl. He was king over all the Welsh race: and his head was brought to Harold the eorl, and Harold brought it to the king, and his ship's head, and the 'bone' therewith. And king Edward committed the land to his two brothers, Blethgent and Rigwatla; and they swore oaths, and delivered hostages to the king and to the eorl, that they would be faithful to him in all things, and be everywhere ready for him by water and by land, and make such renders from the land as had been done before to any other king.

And in the self-same year died Wulfric abbot of St. Augustine's, within the Easter week, on the 14th of the Kalends of May. When word came to the king that abbot Wulfric was departed, then chose he Æthelsige the monk thereto, from the Old-Minster, who then followed archbishop Stigand, and was hallowed abbot at Windsor, on St. Augustine's mass-day.

A. 1063. This year went Harold the eorl, and his brother Tostig the eorl, as well with a land-force as a ship-force, into Wales, and they subdued the land; and the people delivered hostages to them, and submitted; and went afterwards and slew their king Griffin, and brought to Harold his head: and he appointed another king thereto.

ward there for the purpose of hunting. But when it was all ready, then went Cradoc, Griffin's son, with the whole force which he could procure, and slew almost all the people who there had been building; and they took the good which there was prepared. We wist not who first devised this ill counsel. This was done on St. Bartholomew's mass-day. 24 Aug.
And soon after this, all the thanes in Yorkshire and in Northhumberland gathered themselves together, and outlawed their eorl Tostig, and slew his household men, all that they might come at, as well English as Danish; and they took all his weapons at York, and gold and silver, and all his treasures which they might any where there hear of, and sent after Morkere, son of Ælfgar the eorl, and chose him to be their eorl: and he went south with all the shire, and with Nottinghamshire, and Derbyshire, and Lincolnshire, until he came to Northampton; and his brother Eadwine came to meet him with the men who were in his eorldom, and also many Britons came with him. There came Harold the eorl to meet them; and they laid an errand upon him to king Edward, and also sent messengers with him, and begged that they might have Morkere for their eorl. And the king granted it, and sent Harald again to them at Northampton, on the eve 27 Oct.
of St. Simon's and St. Jude's mass; and he made known the same to them, and delivered a pledge thereof unto them: and he there renewed Cnut's law. And the 'Rythrenas' did much harm about Northampton the while that he went on their errand, inasmuch as they slew men, and burned houses and corn; and took all the cattle which they might come at, that was many thousand: and many hundred men they took and led north with them; so that that shire, and the other shires which there are nigh, were for many years the worse. And Tostig the eorl, and his wife, and all those who would what he would, went south over sea with him to Baldwine the eorl, and he received them all; and they were all the winter there. And king Edward came to Westminster at midwinter, and there caused to be hallowed the minster which himself had built to the glory of God and of St. Peter, and of all God's saints: and the church-hallowing was on Childermass-day. And he died on Twelfth-day eve, and him they buried on Twelfth-day, in the same minster, as it hereafter sayeth.

Here Eadward king, of Angles lord,
sent his sooth-fast
soul to Christ,
in God's protection, spirit holy.
He in the world here dwelt awhile
in royal majesty, mighty in council.
Four-and-twenty,
lordly ruler!
of winters numbered,
he wealth dispensed;
and he a prosperous tide,
ruler of heroes,
distinguished governed,
Welsh and Scots,
and Britons eke,
son of Ethelred,
Angles and Saxons, chieftains bold.
Where'er embrace cold ocean-waves,
there all to Edward,
noble king!
obeyed faithfully,
the warrior-men.
Aye was blithe-mind

then, very soon thereafter, was a great gemot at Northampton; and then at Oxford on the day of Simon and Jude. And there was Harold the eorl, and would work their reconciliation if he might, but he could not: but all his eorldom him unanimously forsook and outlawed, and all who with him lawlessness upreared, because he robbed God first, and all those bereaved over whom he had power of life and of land. And they then took to themselves Morkere for eorl: and Tostig went then over sea, and his wife with him, to Baldwine's land, and they took up their winter residence at St. Omer's.

the 8th of the Kalends of May, and so shone all the seven nights. And soon thereafter came in Tostig the eorl from beyond sea into Wiht, with so great a fleet as he might procure; and there they yielded him as well money as food. And king Harold, his brother, gathered so great a ship-force, and also a land-force, as no king here in the land had before done; because it was made known to him that William the bastard would come hither and win this land; all as it afterwards happened. And the while, came Tostig the eorl into Humber with sixty ships; and Eadwine the eorl came with a land-force and drove him out. And the butse-carls forsook him; and he went to Scotland with twelve vessels. And there met him Harold king of Norway with three hundred ships; and Tostig submitted to him and became his man. And they then went both into Humber, until they came to York; and there fought against them Eadwine the eorl, and Morkere the eorl, his brother: but the Normen had the victory. Then was it made known to Harold king of the Angles that this had thus happened: and this battle was on the vigil of S. Matthew. Then came Harold our king unawares on the Normen, and met with them beyond York, at Steinford-bridge, with a great army of English people; and there during the day was a very severe fight on both sides. There was slain Harold Harfager, and Tosti the eorl; and the Normen who were there remaining were put to flight; and the English from behind hotly smote them, until they came, some, to their ships, some were drowned, and some also burned; and thus in divers ways they perished, so that there were few left: and the English had possession of the place of carnage. A. 1066. –And then he went thence, and did harm everywhere by the sea-coast where he could land, until he arrived at Sandwich. Then was it made known to king Harold, who was in London, that Tostig his brother was come to Sandwich. Then gathered he so great a ship-force, and also a land-force, as no king here in the land had before gathered, because it had been soothly said unto him, that William the eorl from Normandy, king Edward's kinsman, would come hither and subdue this land: all as it afterwards happened. When Tostig learned that, that king Harold was on his way to Sandwich, then went he from Sandwich, and took some of the butse-karls with him, some willingly and some unwillingly; and went then north into Humber, and there ravaged in Lindsey, king then gave his protection to Olaf, son of the king of the Norwegians, and to their bishop, and to the eorl of Orkney* and to all those who were left in the ships: and they then went up to our king, and swore oaths that they ever would observe peace and friendship towards this land; and the king let them go home with twenty-four ships. These two general battles were fought within five days. Then came William eorl of Normandy into Pevensey, on the eve of St. Michael's-mass: and soon after they were on their way, they constructed a castle at Hasting's-port. This was then made known to king Harold, and he then gathered a great force, and came to meet him at the hoar apple-tree; and William came against him unawares, before his people were set in order. But the king nevertheless strenuously fought against him with those men who would follow him; and there was great slaughter made on either hand. There was slain king Harold, and Leofwine the eorl, his brother, and Gyrth the eorl, his brother, and many good men; and the Frenchmen had possession of the place of carnage, all as and there slew many good men. When Eadwine the eorl and Morkere the eorl understood that, then came they thither, and drove him out of the land. And he went then to Scotland: and the king of Scots protected him, and assisted him with provisions; and he there abode all the summer. Then came king Harold to Sandwich, and there awaited his fleet, because it was long before it could be gathered together. And when his fleet was gathered together, then went he into Wiht, and there lay all the summer and the harvest; and a land-force was kept every where by the sea, though in the end it was of no benefit. When it was the Nativity of St. Mary, then were the men's provisions gone, and no man could any longer keep them there. Then were the men allowed to go home, and the king rode up, and the ships were dispatched to London; and many perished before they came thither. When the ships had reached home, then came king Harold from Norway, north into Tine, and unawares, with a very large ship-force, and no few; they might be*, or more. And Tostig the eorl came to him with all that he had gotten, all as they had before agreed; and then they went both, with all the fleet, along the Ouse, up towards York. Then was it made known to king Harold in the south, as he was come from on ship-board, that Harold king of Norway and Tostig the eorl were landed near York. Then went he northward, day and night, as quickly as he could gather his forces. Then, before that Archbishop Aldred and the townsmen of London would then have child Eadgar for king, all as was his true natural right: and Edwine and Morkere vowed to him that they would fight together with him. But in that degree that it ought ever to have been forwarder, so was it from day to day later and worse; so that at the end all passed away. This fight was done on the day of Calixtus the pope. And William the eorl went afterwards again to Hastings, and there awaited to see whether the people would submit to him. But when he understood that they would not come to him, he went upwards with all his army which was left to him, and that which afterwards had come from over sea to him; and he plundered all that part

And this fight was on the vigil of St. Matthew the apostle, and it was Wednesday. And then, after the fight, went Harold king of Norway, and Tostig the eorl, into York, with as much people as seemed meet to them. And they delivered hostages to them from the burh, and also assisted them with provisions; and so they went thence to their ships, and they agreed upon a full peace, so that they should all go with him south, and this land subdue. Then, during this, came Harold king of the Angles, with all his forces, on the Sunday, to Tada, and there drew up his force, and went then on Monday thorough York; and Harold king of Norway, and Tostig the eorl, and their forces, were gone from their ships beyond York to Stanford-bridge, because it had been promised them for a certainty, that there, from all the shire, hostages should be brought to meet them. Then came Harold king of the Angles against them, unawares, beyond the bridge, and they there joined battle, and very strenuously, for a long time of the day, continued fighting: and there was Harold king of Norway and Tostig the eorl slain, and numberless of the people with them, as well of the Normen as of the English: and the Normen fled from the English. [a]Then was there one of the Norwegians who withstood the English people, so that they might not pass over the bridge, nor obtain the victory. Then 'seite' an Englishman with

And there came to meet him archbishop Ealdred[a], and child Eadgar, and Eadwine the eorl, and Morkere the eorl, and all the chief men of London; and then submitted, for need, when the most harm had been done: and it was very unwise that they had not done so before; since God would not better it, for our sins: and they delivered hostages, and swore oaths to him; and he vowed to them that he would be a loving lord to them: and nevertheless, during this, they plundered all that they over-ran. Then, on mid-winter's day, archbishop Ealdred hallowed him king at Westminster; and he gave him a pledge upon Christ's book, and also swore, before he would set the crown upon his head, that he would govern this

Then came Harold, king of the Angles, over the bridge, and his forces onward with him, and there made great slaughter, as well of Norwegians as of Flemings. And the king's son, Hetmundus, Harold let go home to Norway, with all the ships.

A. 1066. In this year was hallowed the minster at Westminster, on Childer-mass-day. And king Edward died, on the eve of Twelfth-mass; and he was buried on Twelfth-mass-day, within the newly hallowed church at Westminster. And Harold the eorl succeeded to the kingdom of England, even as the king had granted it to him, and men him also had chosen thereto; and he was blessed as king on Twelfth-mass-day. And that same year that he became king, he went out with a fleet against William[x]; and the while, came Tostig the eorl into Humber with sixty ships. Eadwine the eorl came with a land-force and drove him out; and the butse-carls forsook him. And he went to Scotland with twelve vessels; and Harold the king of Norway met him with three hundred ships, and Tostig submitted to him; and they both went into Humber, until they came to York. And Morkere the eorl, and Eadwine the eorl, fought against them; and the king of the Norwegians had the victory. And it was made known to king Harold how it there was done, and had happened; and he came there with a great army of English men, and met him at Stængford-bridge, and slew him and the eorl Tostig, and all the army boldly overcame. And the while, William the eorl landed at Hastings, on St. Michael's-mass-day: and Harold came from the north, and fought against him before all his army had nation as well as any king before him had at the best done, if they would be faithful to him. Nevertheless, he laid a tribute on the people, very heavy; and then went, during Lent, over sea to Normandy, and took with him archbishop Stigand, and Ægelnath, abbot of Glastonbury, and child Eadgar, and Eadwine the eorl, and Morkere the eorl, and Wæltheof the eorl, and many other good men of England. And bishop Óda[a] and William[a] the eorl remained here behind, and they built castles wide throughout the nation, and poor people distressed; and ever after it greatly grew in evil. come up: and there he fell, and his two brothers, Gyrth and Leofwine; and William subdued this land. And he came to Westminster, and archbishop Ealdred hallowed him king, and men paid him tribute, and delivered him hostages, and afterwards bought their land. And then was Leofric abbot of Burh in that same expedition; and there he sickened, and came home, and was dead soon thereafter, on All-hallows-mass-night; God be merciful to his soul! In his day was all bliss and all good in Burh; and he was dear to all people, so that the king gave to St. Peter and to him the abbacy at Burton, and that of Coventry, which Leofric the eorl, who was his uncle, before had made, and that of Crowland, and that of Thorney. And he conferred so much of good upon the minster of Burh, in gold, and in silver, and in vestments, and in land, as never any other did before him, nor any after him. After, Golden-burh became wretched burh. Then chose the monks for abbot Brand the provost, by reason that he was a very good man, and very wise, and sent him then to Ædgar the etheling, by reason that the people of the land weened that he should become king: and the etheling granted it him then blithely. When king William heard say that, then was he very wroth, and said that the abbot had despised him. Then went good men between them, and reconciled them, by reason that the abbot was a good man. Then gave he the king forty marks of gold for a reconciliation; and then thereafter, lived he a little while, but three years. After that came every tribulation and every evil to the minster. God have mercy on it![b]

[a] Res gestas Ælfredi regis circa annum 894 descripsit æqualis ejus Asserius Menevensis. Hoc opus ex editione Francisci Wise, Oxoniæ, 1722, cum MSS. codd. papyraceis Cotton, Otho A. XII. et C. C. Coll. Cantabrigiæ, n°. C. collatum, denuo in lucem emittimus. Veteris codicis, olim Otho A. XII., variantes lectiones littera A., aliorum vero codicum litteris B.C., denotantur. Ea quæ secundum Wisei collationem antiquo codici defuerunt uncis inclusimus; quæ Annalibus male Asserio tributis debentur, nota Ann. aut [Ex Ann.] designavimus. Wisei præfationem integram, necnon et quicquid aut in Parkeriana aut Camdeniana ad rem videretur, infra supplevimus. De Asserio autem et de operibus, seu recte seu perperam ei assignatis, quæ in præfatione disseruimus videre licet.

F. Wise Lectori. 'Etsi ante aliquot annos mecum reputarem, novam atque elegantiorem Asserii Menevensis editionem rerum Britannicarum studiosis haud injucundam fore, vix tamen illam adornandam in me susceperam, utpote negotiorum aliorum mole pene districtus, nisi demum hortatore ac suasore V. Cl. Arthuro Charlett S. T. P. Coll. Univ. Oxon. Magistro, curam eam diutius subterfugere nefas fuerit. Jam vero opere ad finem perducto, instituti rationem, et subsidia, quibus innixus hunc qualemcunque libellum in lucem profero, breviter exponere necesse habui.

'Primo omnes, quibus patebat aditus, Codd. Auctoris hujusce MSS. vel nostra vel amicorum opera consultavimus. Unum quidem, sed recentiorem, et apographum, ut videtur, editionis Parkerianæ nobiscum perhumaniter communicavit vir omni literatura præclarus Rogerus Galeus armiger. Alium recentem in [a]Bibl. S. Jacobi Regia servatum, inspicere nondum mihi contigit. Extat alius adhuc in Bibl. C. C. C. [b]apud Cantabrigienses circiter ducentos abhinc et amplius annos exaratus, nec tamen aliud est nisi apographum MS. Cottoniani; hujus variantes lectiones, prelo sudante, mecum communicavit vir amicissimus Th. Stephens A. B. ejusdem Collegii Socius. Codex autem eorum omnium, qui hodie extant, antiquissimus est [c]Cottonianus, de quo plura in pag. 136, 137[d]; hunc meam in gratiam evolvit, et specimen scripturæ dedit egregius amicus Jacobus Hill de Medio Templo.

'Porro operi huic concinnando ferebant auxilium libri aliqui impressi; speciatim vero Florentius Vigorniensis, qui Asserium fere totum sumpsit sibi in historiam, verbumque de verbo expressum extulit: id quod eo felicius evenit, quia exemplar ejus præstantius fuisse videtur, quam Parkerianum, Camdenianum aut Cottonianum.

'Hac ope fultus auctorem quanta potui diligentia elimatum atque perpolitum in lucem mitto. Interdum mea niti conjectura necesse erat, quæ enim absurda et omnino dissentanea videbantur, nolui ut intacta manerent, fateor tamen paucos adhuc locos superesse, quibus emendandis aut explicandis haud suffeci, ideoque acriori lectoris judicio submisi.

'Quod autem ornatius hoc volumen prodeat et perfectius; ut aliis nonnullis, ita præcipue amico colendissimo Jos. Bowles A. M. Coll. Oriel. Socio et Bibl. Bodl. Præfecto maximæ grates referendæ sunt. Pauca de Vita et Scriptis Auctoris præposui[e]; in quibus congerendis me V. Doctiss. Thomæ Tannero S. T. P. Eccl. Cath. Norvicensis Cancellario devinctissimum gratus agnosco. Epistolam Fulconis Rhemorum archiepiscopi mihi benigne impertivit V. R. Thomas Ford A. M. Eccl. de Banwell in agro Somersetensi Vicarius, et Eccl. Wellensis Præbendarius, qui illam, in fine vetusti MS. Evangelii scriptam atque in latrinam tantum non detrusam, ab interitu peropportune vindicavit.[f] Hanc nunquam vidit [g]Flodoardus, utcunque alias in scriptis Fulconis recensendis diligens inquisitor.

'Frustra autem novam Asserii editionem construerem, nisi priorum, viz. Parkerianæ et Camdenianæ, discrepantiam notaverim; ideoque inserui Apologiam Asserii Camdeniani[h], necessariam, fateor, operis partem, sed nobis minus gratam: nec

'Sin autem quis requirit, quamobrem cum isthæc Latinis literis memoriæ mandentur, eadem tamen nos Saxonicis typis pervulgari fecerimus, nihil est, quod expedire tam facile possimus. Etenim cum ipsa nos primi exemplaris, ut antea dixi, antiquitas, debita quadam veneratione perfudit: tum magni ad fidem et authoritatem interesse putabamus, si quæ priscis notis verbisque conscripta, exsignataque ad manus nostras pervenissent, eadem nos iisdem literarum formulis imprimeremus.' ..... 'Quod autem ad historiæ fidem attinet, lector humanissime, hoc te scire volo, eam me semper rationem secutum, in omnibus iis libris, quos divulgavi, nihil ut de meo adjecerim aut diminuerim, sed cuncta prout in primis exemplaribus reperiuntur ad verbum expresserim. Alioquin si quid forsan de meo attulissem, aut vetustatis veluti rugas ac nævos delere omnes voluissem, metuendum mihi sane foret, ne quod Salustio suo scribit [a] Cornelius Nepos, non tam illorum qui illas conscripserunt historiæ, quam meæ videri possent. Indicio erunt ipsa prima exemplaria, quæ idcirco Cantebrigiæ, in bibliotheca collegii Corporis Christi, ad sempiternum hujus rei testimonium extare voluimus. Ubi si quis cum codicibus manuscriptis, impressos comparare voluerit, enimvero nihil nos aut detraxisse, aut addidisse inveniet, sed summam ubique fidem et religionem præstitisse. Quapropter si quid emolumenti ex hujus historiæ lectione sive alicujus alterius jam per me evulgatæ ad te, humanissime lector, redundaverit, lætabimur: et nos instituti ac voluntatis nostræ, quandoquidem id solum concupivimus, fructus amplissimos consecutos existimabimus. A. 855. Anno Dominicæ Incarnationis DCCC.LV. nativitatis autem præfati regis septimo, 25 Dec. [7][[a] Eadmundus Orientalium Anglorum gloriosissimus cœpit regnare VIII. Kalend. Januarii, id est, die natalis Domini, anno ætatis suæ decimo quarto. Hoc etiam anno Lotharius imperator Romanus obiit, filius Ludovici Augusti piissimi. Anno eodem [8]sub initio' Karoli tertii imperatoris filii Ludovici secundi] magnus Paganorum exercitus tota hyeme in præfata Scepige insula hyemaverunt.

Eodem anno [b]Æthelwulfus præfatus venerabilis rex [9]decimam totius regni sui C

Interea tamen Æthelwulfo rege ultra mare tantillo tempore immorante, quædam infamia contra morem omnium Christianorum in occidentali parte Selwuda orta est. A regem a regno proprio repellerent: quod nec Deus ita fieri permisit, nec nobiles totius [1]Saxoniæ consenserunt. Nam, ne irremedicabile [2]Saxoniæ periculum belligerante patre et filio; quin immo tota cum gente ambobus rebellante, atrocius et crudelius per dies singulos quasi clades intestina augeretur: ineffabili patris clementia, et omnium astipulatione nobilium, adunatum antea regnum inter patrem et filium dividitur, et orientales [3]plagæ patri, occidentales filio, e contrario deputantur; ubi enim pater justo judicio regnare debuerat, illic iniquus et pertinax filius regnabat; nam occidentalis pars Saxoniæ semper orientali principalior est.

Adveniente igitur Æthelwulfo rege a Roma, tota illa gens, ut dignum erat, in adventu senioris ita gavisa est, ut, si ille permitteret, pertinacem filium suum
B Æthelbaldum cum omnibus suis consiliariis a totius regni sorte expellere vellent. Sed ille, ut diximus, nimia clementia, et prudenti consilio usus, ne ad regni periculum perveniret, ita fieri noluit; [4]et Juthittam [5]Karoli regis filiam, quam a patre suo acceperat, juxta se in regali solio [6][suo,] sine aliqua suorum nobilium controversia et odio, usque ad obitum vitæ suæ, contra perversam illius gentis consuetudinem, sedere imperavit. Gens namque Occidentalium Saxonum reginam juxta regem sedere non patitur, nec etiam reginam appellare, sed regis conjugem permittit; quam controversiam, immo [7]infamiam, de quadam pertinaci et malevola ejusdem gentis regina ortam fuisse, majores illius terræ perhibent; quæ omnia contraria seniori suo et omni populo ita peregit, ut non solum suum proprium odium [8]mereretur, ut a reginali solio projiceretur: sed etiam omni-
C bus suis [9]subsequutricibus eandem pestiferam tabem post se submitteret; pro nimia namque illius reginæ malitia omnes accolæ illius terræ conjuraverunt, ut nullum unquam regem super se in vita sua regnare permitterent, qui reginam in reginali solio juxta se sedere imperare vellet.

Et quia, ut opinor, multis habetur incognitum, unde hæc perversa et detestabilis consuetudo in Saxonia, ultra morem omnium, [10]id est, gentium [11]Theotiscarum primitus orta sit, paulo latius mihi videtur intimandum: quod a domino meo Ælfredo Angulsaxonum rege veridico, etiam sæpe mihi referente audivi: quod et ille etiam a veridicis multis referentibus, immo ex parte non modica illud factum commemorantibus, audierat.

quem velis inter me et filium meum, qui mecum in solario isto stat:' At illa sine A deliberatione stulte respondens, dicens ait: ' Si mihi electio conceditur, filium tuum, in quantum te junior est, eligo;' cui Karolus respondens et arridens ait: ' Si me eligeres, haberes filium meum: sed quia filium meum elegisti, nec me nec illum habebis.'

Dedit tamen illi unum magnum sanctimonialium monasterium, in quo deposito seculari habitu, et sanctimonialium indumento assumpto, perpaucis annis abbatissæ fungebatur officio; sicut enim irrationabiliter in propria vixisse refertur, ita multo irrationabilius in aliena gente vivere deprehenditur: nam a quodam suæ propriæ gentis homine constuprata, [1]demum palam deprehensa de monasterio imperio Karoli regis dejecta, in paupertate et miseria letho tenus vituperabiliter vitam duxit; ita, ut ad ultimum uno servulo comitata, sicut a multis viden- B tibus eam audivimus, quotidie mendicans in [2]Pavia miserabiliter moreretur.

Vixit ergo Æthelwulfus [3]rex duobus annis, postquam a Roma pervenit: in quibus, inter alia multa præsentis vitæ bona studia, cogitans de suo ad universitatis viam transitu, ne sui filii post patris obitum indebite inter se [4][disceptarent,] hereditariam, immo commendatoriam scribere imperavit epistolam: in qua et regni inter filios suos, [5]duos scilicet seniores, et propriæ hereditatis inter filios et filiam, et etiam propinquos; pecuniarum, [6]quæ post se superessent [7]inter animam' et filios, et etiam nobiles suos divisionem ordinabiliter literis [8]mandari procuravit. De qua prudenti consideratione pauca de pluribus posteris imitanda scribere decrevimus: scilicet, quæ ad necessitatem animæ maxime pertinere intelliguntur; nam cætera, quæ ad humanam dispensationem pertinent, in hoc C opusculo inserere necesse non est: ne fastidium [9]prolixitate legentibus, vel etiam audire desiderantibus, procreaverit. Pro utilitate namque animæ suæ, quam a primævo juventutis suæ flore in omnibus procurare studuit, per omnem hereditariam terram suam, semper in decem manentibus unum pauperem, aut indigenam aut peregrinum, cibo, potu [10]et vestimento, successoribus suis usque ad ultimum diem judicii post se pascere præcepit: ita tamen, si illa terra hominibus et pecoribus habitaretur, et deserta non esset. Romæ quoque omni anno magnam pro anima sua pecuniam, id est, trecentas mancussas portare præcepit, quæ taliter ibi [11]dividerentur: scilicet centum mancussas in [12]honorem S. Petri, specialiter ad emendum oleum, quo impleantur omnia luminaria illius apostolicæ ecclesiæ in vespera Paschæ, et æqualiter in galli cantu; et centum mancussas in D [12]honorem S. Pauli, eadem conditione ad comparandum oleum in [13]ecclesia S. Pauli apostoli, ad implenda luminaria in vespera Paschæ et in galli cantu: centum quoque mancussas universali papæ apostolico.

In cujus diebus magnus Paganorum exercitus de mari adveniens, Wintoniam
B civitatem hostiliter invadens depopulatus est. Cui cum ad naves cum ingenti præda reverterentur, Osric Hamtunensium comes cum suis, et Æthelwulf comes cum Bearrocensibus viriliter obviaverunt: consertoque prælio [6]oppido Pagani passim trucidantur; et cum diutius resistere non possent, muliebriter fugam arripiunt, et Christiani loco funeris dominati sunt.

Æthelberht [7]itaque quinque annis regno pacifice et amabiliter, atque honorabiliter gubernato, cum magno suorum dolore universitatis [8]viam adiit, et in Scireburnan juxta fratrem suum honorabiliter sepultus requiescit. A. 866.

laborat non in vanum: nam incomparabilis [1] omnibus peritia′ et felicitate A in illa arte, sicut et in cæteris omnibus Dei donis fuit: sicut et nos sæpissime vidimus.

Cum ergo quodam die [a] mater sua sibi et fratribus suis quendam Saxonicum poematicæ artis librum, quem in manu [2] habebat, ostenderet, ait: ‘Quisquis vestrum discere citius istum codicem possit, dabo illi illum:’ qua voce, immo divina inspiratione [3] instinctus, et pulchritudine principalis litteræ illius libri illectus, ita matri respondens, et fratres suos ætate, quamvis non gratia seniores anticipans, inquit; ‘Verene dabis istum librum uni ex nobis; scilicet illi, qui citissime intelligere et recitare eum ante te possit?’ Ad hæc illa arridens et gaudens, atque affirmans, ‘Dabo, [4] infit, illi:’ tunc ille statim tollens librum de manu sua, [5] magistrum adiit et legit; quo lecto matri retulit et recitavit. B

Post hæc Cursum diurnum, id est, celebrationes horarum, ac deinde psalmos quosdam, et orationes multas, quos in uno libro congregatos in sinu suo die noctuque, sicut ipsi vidimus, secum inseparabiliter orationis gratia inter omnia præsentis vitæ curricula ubique circumducebat. Sed, proh dolor! quod maxime desiderabat, [6] liberalem scilicet artem, desiderio suo non suppetebat, eo quod, ut loquebatur, illo tempore [7] lectores boni′ [8] in toto regno Occidentalium Saxonum non erant.

Quod maximum inter omnia præsentis vitæ suæ impedimenta et dispendia crebris querelis, et intimis cordis sui suspiriis fieri affirmabat: id est, eo, quod illo tempore, quando ætatem et licentiam, atque suppetentiam discendi habebat, magistros non habuerat; quando vero [9] et ætate erat provectior, et [10] incessabilius C die noctuque, immo, omnibus istius insulæ medicis incognitis [11] infirmantibus, [12] internisque atque′ externis regiæ potestatis sollicitudinibus, nec non et Paganorum terra marique infestationibus occupatus, immo, etiam [13] perturbatos magistros et scriptores aliquantula ex parte habebat, legere [14] ut non poterat. Sed tamen inter præsentis vitæ impedimenta ab infantia usque ad præsentem diem, et, ut credo, usque ad obitum vitæ suæ in eodem insaturabili desiderio, sicut nec ante destituit, ita nec etiam adhuc inhiare desinit.

A. 867. Anno Dominicæ Incarnationis DCCC.LXVII. nativitatis [15] Ælfredi præfati regis decimo nono, prædictus Paganorum exercitus de Orientalibus Anglis ad Eboracum civitatem migravit, quæ in aquilonari ripa [16] Humbrensis fluminis sita est. D

Eo tempore maxima inter Northanhymbros discordia diabolico instinctu [17] orta fuerat; sicut semper populo, qui odium incurrerit Dei, evenire solet. Nam Northanhymbri [18] tempore, ut diximus, legitimum regem suum, Osbyrht nomine, regno expulerant; et tyrannum quendam Ælla nomine, non de regali prosapia progenitum, super regni apicem constituerant: sed advenientibus Paganis, consilio divino, et optimatum adminiculo pro communi utilitate, discordia [19] illa aliquantulum sedata, Osbyrht et Ælla adunatis viribus, congregatoque exercitu Eboracum oppidum adeunt; quibus advenientibus Pagani confestim fugam arripiunt, et intra urbis mœnia se defendere procurant; quorum fugam et pavorem Christiani cernentes, etiam intra urbis mœnia eos persequi, et murum frangere instituunt: quod et fecerunt; non enim tunc adhuc illa E civitas firmos et stabilitos muros illis temporibus habebat: cumque Christiani murum, ut proposuerant, fregissent, et eorum magna pars in civitatem simul cum Paganis intrasset; Pagani dolore et necessitate compulsi, super eos atroci-

* tertio. simo *secundo, exosæ memoriæ Paganorum exercitus Orientales Anglos deserens, et regnum Occidentalium Saxonum adiens, venit ad villam regiam, quæ dicitur
[2]Rædigam in meridiana Tamesis [3]fluminis ripa sitam, in illa paga, quæ dicitur Bearrocscire: tertioque adventus sui ibidem die comites eorum cum magna illius parte in prædam equitaverunt; aliis vallum inter duo flumina Tamesin et ^ Kennet. ^Cynetam a dextrali parte ejusdem regiæ villæ facientibus; quibus Æthelwulf Bearroccensis pagæ comes cum suis sodalibus, in loco, qui dicitur [4]Englafeld, obviavit; et animose ex utraque parte ibidem pugnatum est; cumque ibi diu utrique resisterent, altero Paganorum comite occiso, et maxima exercitus parte B deleta, cæterisque fuga elapsis, Christiani victoriam accipientes loco funeris dominati sunt.

His ibi ita gestis post quatuor dies [5]Æthered rex [6][Occidentalium Saxonum] et Ælfred frater ejus [7]adunatis viribus, congregatoque exercitu Rædigam adierunt; cumque usque ad portam arcis pervenissent, cædendo et prosternendo quos-cunque de Paganis extra arcem invenissent; Pagani non segnius certabant, lupino more totis portis erumpentes, totis viribus bellum perquirunt; ibique diu et atrociter ex utraque parte dimicatum est: sed, [8][heu] proh dolor! Christianis de-mum terga vertentibus, Pagani victoriam accipientes loco funeris dominati sunt; ibique Æthelwulfus præfatus comes inter cæteros occubuit.

Quo dolore et verecundia Christiani commoti, iterum post quatuor dies con- C tra præfatum exercitum in loco, qui dicitur [9]Æscesdun, quod Latine 'mons fraxini' interpretatur, totis viribus et plena voluntate ad [10]prœlium prodeunt; sed Pagani in duas se turmas dividentes, æquali [11] lance [12]testudines parant, ha-bebant enim tunc duos reges et multos comites, concedentes mediam partem [13]exercitus duobus regibus, et alteram omnibus comitibus; quod Christiani cer-nentes, et etiam ipsi exercitum in duas turmas [14][similiter] dividentes, [15]testudines non' segnius construunt. Sed Ælfred citius et promptius cum suis, sicut ab his, qui viderunt, veridicis [16]referentibus audivimus, ad locum prœlii advenit: nimi-rum erat enim adhuc suus frater Æthered rex in tentorio in oratione positus, audiens missam; et nimium affirmans se inde [17][vivum] non discessurum, antequam sacerdos missam finiret: et divinum pro humano nolle deserere servi- D tium: et ita fecit. Quæ regis Christiani fides multum apud [18]Dominum valuit; sicut in sequentibus apertius declarabitur.

Decreverant ergo Christiani, ut Æthered [19]rex cum suis copiis contra duos Paganos reges sumeret prœlium: Ælfred vero suus frater [20]cum suis cohortibus contra omnes Paganorum duces belli sortem sumere debere sciret. Quibus ita firmiter ab utraque parte dispositis, cum rex in oratione diutius moraretur, et Pagani parati ad locum certaminis citius advenissent; Ælfred tunc secundarius, cum diutius hostiles acies ferre non posset, nisi aut bello retrorsum [21]recederet, aut contra hostiles copias ante fratris adventum in bellum prorumperet, demum viriliter aprino more Christianas copias contra hostiles exercitus, ut ante pro-posuerant, tamen quamvis rex adhuc non venerat, dirigens, divino fretus [22]con- E silio, et adjutorio fultus, testudine ordinabiliter condensata, confestim contra hostes vexilla movet.

Sed hoc in loco nescientibus intimandum est, quod ille locus certaminis belligerantibus inæqualis erat; nam Pagani editiorem locum præoccupaverant, Christiani ab inferiori loco aciem dirigebant. Erat quoque in eodem loco unica

A spinosa arbor, brevis admodum; quam nos ipsi nostris propriis oculis vidimus, circa quam ergo hostiles inter se acies cum ingenti omnium clamore, illi perperam agentes, isti pro vita et dilectis atque patria pugnaturi, hostiliter convenerunt. Cumque aliquandiu animose et nimium atrociter hinc inde utrique pugnarent, Pagani divino judicio Christianorum impetum diutius non ferentes, maxima [1]suarum copiarum′ parte occisa, opprobriosam fugam cepere: quo in loco alter de duobus Paganorum regibus, et quinque comites occisi occubuerunt; et multa millia Paganæ partis in eodem loco, et insuper per totam campestrem [2]Æscendun latitudinem ubique dispersa, longe lateque occisa corruerunt.

[b] In Annalibus Asserio male, ut jam dictum est, tributis, sequitur hic loci Rollonis Visio. Hanc omisit Parkerus, sed cum, in notula, de hac re ad Annales lectorem remittat, eam hic inserendam duximus.

[c] Visum enim est sibi dormienti, supra se et exercitum suum subito exsurrexisse examen apum, suoque stridore avolare versus occidentem per maris medium, terramque petentes, insidere gregatim in frondibus diversarum arborum, moxque omnem circa regionem, quasi advenientibus congratulantem, aspersam coloribus variorum florum. Evigilans itaque industrius dux, secum primo visionem tractat, ejusque significantiam sapienter ad requiem cursus sui suorumque in eisdem partibus ubi apes viderat requievisse conjectat. Pulchreque in hanc spem confortatur, quod tota illa regio subitis floribus induebatur. Erat enim hoc quasi quædam Divinæ pietatis evocatio, ut ex Dei munere adepta terra illa, mox in Christi floreret titulo, variisque virtutum floribus in vera religione, sua suorumque ornaretur successio. Advocatis ergo suis strenuus dux edocet somnium, illucque totius classis jubet parari cursum. Aspirat quoque prospere Divina miseratio, tum necessario venti spiraculo, tum maris et cœli habitu jocundissimo. Subeunt Sequanæ hostium, optatoque cursu perveniunt ad ipsam metropolim Rothomagum, fiuntque rebellantium internicies, dedentium vero se et eorum societati confaventium defensio et requies. Amore ergo pacis, potissimum autem prælii tedio allecto Francorum rege, impellenteque hinc gratia illinc violentia, facta est tota regio illa ducis suorumque Normannorum dominica, ut eam scilicet suis usibus possiderent et in regis Francorum fidelitate eam sibi recognoscerent et deservirent. Suscepta itaque tota monarchia illa, redit inclitus dux Rothomagum, destructum ejus relevat murum, reparat propugnacula, fossaque et turribus ejus ambit mœnia. Interea frequentius accersito ad colloquium suum ejus archiepiscopo Francone venerabilis vitæ viro, divinæ religionis instruitur documento, et super talibus paulatim cœpit delectari, interius inspirante Spiritu Sancto. Abluitur tandem, eodem pontificante, divinæ regenerationis sacramento in agnitionem Dei; ejusque exemplo omnis exercitus ejus eodem modo Christo regeneratus in albis candescit fidei. Insistit deinde Christianæ fidei amator gloriosus dux, in combustis ecclesiis et monasteriis reparandis in Christi honore, sanctorumque corporibus referendis, quæ sua suorumque hostili ablata fuerant formidine, relataque ad sua ampliori relocavit cultu et reverentia: summo enim studio usus est et diligentia circa sanctorum reliquias devotius recondendas, adhibitis in eorum famulitio clericis vel monachis, prout didicerat quosque fuisse in singulis sanctorum locis. Terras etiam non solum eas quæ ex antiquo eis adjacebant, verum plures superaddidit, ut eos intercessores haberet apud Deum, qui eos sibi sanctificavit. Omnibus itaque recte curatis verus Christicola, ut pius pater omnibus pie præfuit.' Ann.

[c] Hic in margine Codicis B. manu aliena exarata occurrit hæc notula : ' Deest annus 877,' et e regione, paginula interposita, quæ sequuntur, ex Florilego sive Matthæo Westmonasteriensi ut vocant, desumpta, exhibentur; unde ut videtur a Parkero textui inferta sunt. In Cod. vero C. in textu inveniuntur.

A evenisse credimus, quia in primo tempore regni sui, cum adhuc juvenis erat, animoque juvenili detentus fuerat, homines sui regni sibique subjecti, qui ad eum venerant, et pro necessitatibus suis eum requisierant, et qui depressi potestatibus erant, suum auxilium ac patrocinium implorabant; ille vero [1]noluit eos audire, nec aliquod auxilium [2]impendebat, sed omnino eos nihili pendebat: quod beatissimus vir Neotus adhuc vivens in carne, qui erat cognatus suus, intimo corde doluit; maximamque adversitatem ob hoc ei venturam spiritu prophetico plenus [3]prædixerat; sed ille et piissimam viri Dei correptionem parvi pendebat, et verissimam ejus prophetiam non recipiebat. Eodem quoque anno ille Paganorum exercitus, qui in Orientalibus Anglis

A ut corporaliter exterius illa infirmitas non appareret, ne inutilis et despectus esset, timebat [1]lepram aut cœcitatem, vel aliquem talem dolorem, qui homines tam cito et inutiles et despectos suo adventu efficiunt; oratione autem finita cœptum iter arripuit, et non multo post tempore, ut in oratione deprecatus fuerat, se ab illo dolore medicatum esse divinitus sensit, ita, ut funditus eradicaretur: quamvis et hunc dolorem in primævo juventutis suæ flore devota oratione et frequenti Deo supplicatione pius, supplex, nactus fuerat. Nam, ut de benevola mentis suæ devotione Deo succinctim ac breviter, quamvis præposterato ordine, loquar; cum in primævo juventutis suæ flore, ante quam propriam conjugem duceret, mentem suam propriam in Dei mandatis stabilire[2] vellet; et se a carnali desiderio abstinere non posse cerneret; offensam Dei in-
B currere, si aliquid contrarium voluntati illius perageret, [3][metuens]; sæpissime galli cantu et matutinis horis clam consurgens, ecclesias et reliquias sanctorum orandi causa visitabat; ibique diu prostratus orabat, quo Deus omnipotens, propter suam misericordiam, mentem illius amore suæ servitutis multo robustius per aliquam infirmitatem, quam posset sustinere; non tamen, quo eum indignum et inutilem in mundanis rebus faceret, ad se penitus convertens corroboraret: cumque hoc sæpius magna mentis devotione ageret, post aliquantulum intervallum præfatum fici dolorem Dei munere incurrit, in quo diu et ægre per multos annos [4]roborans se, etiam de vita desperabat, quousque oratione facta a se penitus eum amovit; sed, proh dolor! eo amoto alius infestior in nuptiis, ut diximus, eum arripuit, qui a vigesimo ætatis suæ anno usque ad quadragesimum
C quintum eum die noctuque incessabiliter fatigavit: sed, si aliquando Dei misericordia unius diei aut noctis, vel etiam unius horæ intervallo illa infirmitas seposita fuerat; timor tamen ac tremor illius execrabilis doloris unquam eum non deserit, sed quasi inutilem eum, ut ei videtur, in divinis et humanis rebus [5]propemodum effecit.

A ex sensu ponens, elucubratim et elegantissime interpretatus est: deinde Plegmundum Mercium genere, Dorobernensis ecclesiæ archiepiscopum[א], venerabilem scilicet virum, sapientia præditum: [1]Æthelstan quoque et Werwulfum sacerdotes et capellanos, Mercios genere, eruditos; quos quatuor Ælfred rex de Mercia ad se advocaverat, et multis honoribus et potestatibus extulit in regno Occidentalium Saxonum; exceptis his, quæ Plegmundus archiepiscopus, et Werfrithus episcopus in Mercia habebant: quorum omnium doctrina et sapientia regis indesinenter desiderium crescebat et implebatur; nam die noctuque, quandocunque aliquam licentiam haberet, libros ante se recitare talibus imperabat; non enim [2]unquam sine aliquo eorum se esse pateretur: quapropter pene omnium librorum notitiam habebat, quamvis per seipsum aliquid adhuc de libris
B intelligere [3]non posset; non enim adhuc aliquid legere inceperat.

[א] A. 898–923.

Sed, cum adhuc nec in hoc quoque regalis avaritia, sed tamen laudabilis, grata esset; legatos ultra mare ad Galliam [4]magistros acquirere [5]direxit, indeque [6]advocarit [a]Grimbaldum sacerdotem et monachum, venerabilem videlicet virum, cantatorem optimum, et omni modo ecclesiasticis disciplinis, et in divina scriptura eruditissimum, et omnibus bonis moribus ornatum: [b]Johannem[7] quoque [8]æque presbyterum et monachum, acerrimi ingenii virum, et in omnibus disciplinis literatoriæ artis eruditissimum, et in multis aliis artibus artificiosum; quorum doctrina regis ingenium multum dilatatum est, et eos magna potestate ditavit et honoravit.

His temporibus ego quoque a rege advocatus de occiduis et ultimis Britanniæ
C finibus ad Saxoniam adveni: cumque per multa terrarum spatia illum [9]adire proposueram, usque ad regionem dexteralium Saxonum, quæ Saxonice Suthseaxum appellatur, ductoribus ejusdem gentis comitantibus perveni; ibique illum in villa regia, quæ dicitur [c]Dene, primitus vidi: cumque ab eo benigne susceptus fuissem, inter cætera sententiarum nostrarum famina, me obnixe rogabat, ut devoverem me suo servitio, et familiaris ei essem; et omnia, quæ in sinistrali et occidentali Sabrinæ parte habebam, pro eo relinquerem; quod etiam majori mihi remuneratione reddere pollicebatur, quod et faceret. Respondi ego, 'Me talia incaute et temerarie promittere non posse; injustum enim mihi videbatur, illa tam sancta loca, in quibus nutritus, et doctus ac coronatus fueram, atque ad ultimum ordinatus, pro aliquo terreno honore et potestate de-
D relinquere, [10]nisi [11]coactus [12]et compulsus.'' Ad quod ille ait: 'Si nec tibi hoc suppetat subire, saltem dimidiam partem servitii tui mihi accommoda; ita ut per sex menses mecum fueris, et tantundem in Britannia.' Ad quod ego taliter respondi; 'Nec hoc suaviter, et temerarie sine consilio meorum posse promittere.' At vero, cum illum meum servitium, sed nesciebam quare, desiderare cognoscerem, promisi, me iterum ad eum post sex menses, sospite vita reversurum, cum tali responso, quod mihi et meis utile, ac sibi placabile esset: cumque sibi hoc responsum videretur probabile, dato revertendi pignore statuto tempore, quarto die ab eo equitantes ad patriam remeavimus. Sed, cum ab eo discesseramus, in Wintonia civitate febris infesta me arripuit; in qua sedule per duodecim menses et [13]una hebdomada' die noctuque sine aliqua vitæ spe labo-
E ravi. Cumque statuto tempore ad eum, sicut promiseram, non pervenissem, transmisit ad me [14]indiculos, qui me ad eum equitare festinarent, et causam remorationis perquirerent. Sed, cum equitare ad eum non possem, alium transmisi ad eum [14]indiculum, qui remorationis meæ causam illi patefaceret; et si de illa infirmitate resipiscere possem, me velle implere quæ promiseram, A renunciaret. Discedente igitur infirmitate, ex consilio et licentia nostrorum omnium pro utilitate illius sancti loci, et omnium in eo habitantium, [1]regi ut promiseram, [2]ejus servitio me devovi ea conditione, ut per sex menses omni anno cum eo commanerem; aut, si simul possem sex menses protelare, aut etiam per vices, ut tribus mensibus in Britannia, [3]ut tribus in Saxonia commanerem; et illa adjuvaretur per rudimenta ⸸Sancti Degui in omni causa, tamen pro viribus. Sperabant enim nostri, minores tribulationes et injurias ex parte [a]Hemeid regis sustinere, qui sæpe deprædabatur illud monasterium et parochiam Sancti Degui, aliquando expulsione illorum antistitum, qui in eo præessent, sicut [4]et [b]Novis archiepiscopum propinquum meum et me expulit aliquando sub ipsis; si ego [5]ad notitiam et amicitiam illius regis qualicunque B pacto pervenirem.

⸸ S. David's.

Illo enim tempore, et multo ante omnes regiones dexteralis Britanniæ partis, ad Ælfred regem pertinebant, et adhuc pertinent: Hemeid scilicet, cum omnibus habitatoribus Demeticæ regionis [6]sex filiorum [c]Rotri vi compulsus, regali se subdiderat imperio. Houil quoque filius Ris, rex [d]Gleguising, et Brochmail atque [7]Fernail filii Mouric, [8]reges [e]Guent, vi et tyrannide [9]Eadred comitis et Merciorum compulsi, suapte eundem expetivere regem, ut dominium et defensionem ab eo pro inimicis suis haberent. Helised quoque filius [10]Teudyr, rex [11]Brechoniæ ×, eorundem filiorum Rotri vi coactus, dominium regis præfati suapte requisivit. [f]Anaraut quoque filius Rotri, cum suis fratribus ad postremum amicitiam Northanhymbrorum deserens, de qua nullum bonum nisi damnum C habuerat, amicitiam regis studiose requirens ad præsentiam illius advenit; cumque a rege honorifice receptus esset, et ad manum episcopi in filium confirmationis acceptus, maximisque donis ditatus, [12]regis dominio cum omnibus suis eadem conditione subdidit, ut in omnibus regiæ voluntati sic obediens esset, sicut Æthered cum Merciis.

Mense namque Decembri 1599 [a]Jamesium rogavit Allenus ut codicem in Asserio edendo exscriptum, Cantabrigiæque apud C. C. Coll. ut putabat asservatum perscrutaretur, eo nempe animo ut videtur, ut certior fieret an de industria an aliter clausulam omisisset Parkerus. Apud Coll. Corp. Christi, Cantabrigiæ, codd. MSS. permultis tamen, ut ex ipsius catalogo apparet, ab eo prætermissis, Asserii exemplar nullum reperit Jamesius: at vero Londinum reversus, die Martis ultimo, An. 1600, codicem in Bibliotheca Lumleiana offendit, quem tam ex aliorum relatu quam ex indiciis inibi deprehensis, antiquum MS. sibi a Parkero adscitum credebat, cui et clausula Oxoniensis defuit. Hunc tamen non solum ab Alleno jam visum putabat Jamesius, sed etiam a Camdeno, quamvis Alleno de his sciscitanti respondere noluisset.

An. 1603 secundo prodiit clausula, a Camdeno sub silentio Asserio Francofurtensi inserta.

An. 1608 Apologiam edidit B. Twynus. Ad p. 144, Camdeni verba e 'Britannia' repetit, nempe clausulam legi in 'optimo MS. exemplari:' suspicarique videtur aut Parkerum de industria eam omisisse, aut MS^to manco, quem in Bibliotheca Lumleiana ipse viderat Twynus, usum fuisse: ac proinde, ex Alleni auctoritate, codicem olim Savilianum, quo utebatur Camdenus, ab ipso Savilio Netletono mutuo datum, sed posthac nusquam comparuisse asserit.

An. 1622, suspiciones de clausula circumlatas inter colloquendum Camdeno exposuit Twynus, et ut eas omnino dilueret, codicem palam designando unde hæc desumpserat, enixe petivit. His primo abs re respondit Camdenus; postea vero dixit [b]se Asserii historiam integram quam ediderat, e codice MS, qui tunc temporis penes se erat et quem tempore Ricardi 2^di scriptum putabat, transcribi curavisse.

Spelmannus, Vita Ælfredi, p. 182, clausulam omnino rejicit. Ait enim se humanitate Usserii codicem cujus ut credebatur copiam habuerat Parkerus inspexisse; hunc clausula Oxoniensi caruisse; a duobus librariis exaratum, quorum posteriorem non nisi post locum ubi hæc inveniri oportu-scholasticos quos ibidem invenisset; qui ejus adventu leges, modos, ac prælegendi formulas ab eodem Grymboldo institutas, omni ex parte amplecti recusabant: per tres annos haud magna fuerat inter eos dissensio, occultum tamen fuit odium, quod summa cum atrocitate postea erupit, ipsa erat luce clarius: quod ut sedaret, rex ille invictissimus Ælfredus de dissidio eo nuntio et querimonia Grymboldi certior factus, Oxoniam se contulit, ut finem modumque huic controversiæ imponeret; qui et ipse summos labores hausit, causas et querelas utrinque illatas audiendo. Caput autem hujus contentionis in hoc erat positum: veteres illi scholastici contendebant, antequam Grymboldus Oxoniam devenisset, literas illic passim floruisse, etiamsi scholares tunc temporis numero erant pauciores, quam priscis temporibus, plerisque nimirum sævitia ac tyrannide B

Rex ille inaudita humilitate utramque partem accuratissime exaudivit; eos piis ac salutaribus monitis etiam atque etiam hortans, ut mutuam inter se conjunctionem et concordiam tuerentur. Itaque hoc animo discessit rex, quosque ex utraque parte consilio suo esse obtemperaturos et C instituta sua amplexuros[4]. At Grymboldus hæc iniquo animo ferens, statim ad monasterium Wintoniense ab Ælfredo recens fundatum proficiscebatur, deinde tumbam Wintoniam transferri curavit, in qua proposuerat post hujus vitæ curriculum ossa sua reponenda, in testudine, quæ erat facta subter cancellum ecclesiæ divi Petri in Oxonia; quam quidem ecclesiam idem Grymboldus extruxerat ab ipso fundamento de saxo summa cura perpolito.]

erit operam navasse; notas etiam rubricatas quales apponere solitus erat Parkerus exhibuisse. Ubinam loci librum viderat haud meminit: attamen hæc omnia cum indiciis de MS. Lumleiano a Jamesio prolatis omnino consentiunt.

Usserius quoque, Primordia, p. 342, ed. 1639, clausulam prorsus respuit. Codicem Lumleianum a Twyno memoratum tunc in Bibliotheca Cottoniana extare, additamentaque ejus ab ipso notata, ex Annalibus desumpta affirmat; subnectitque Parkerum non ob omissionem sed potius ob incuriam culpandum, quod exinde complura editioni suæ addidisset et cum Asserianis non satis recto judicio commiscuisset.

Wiseus etiam, p. 137, Codicem Cottonianum a librariis ad minus duobus exaratum affirmat; et collatio insuper Wisei, Spelmanni dictis consentiens, scripturæ immutationem, præter interpolationes manifestissimas, nullam exhibet, nisi post locum ubi clausula de qua agitur, si usquam, occurrisset.

Postremo, in hac vexata quæstione tractanda, duo animadvertere liceat: primum, quod quanquam in disceptationem venerit clausula simul ac in publicum prodierit, attamen codicem, de quo sumpta fuisse dicebatur, altercantium nullus viderit; tum, Camdeni ipsius verba, si Twyno prorsus fidem habeamus, cum simplici veritate constare non posse: namque in epistola dedicatoria editionem Francofurtanam e Parkeriana repetitam diserte tradit. Quin etiam si hoc defuerit, quicumque animadverterit textum Camdenianum, hac clausula excepta, illum quem fere ad libitum consarcinatum demonstravimus usque ad sphalmata repræsentare, haud facile credet eum alium quam Parkerianum exscribi curasse. Hæc eo latius prosecuti sumus, non tantum quod ad litem Oxoniensem respicerent, sed etiam quia codicem antiquum quo usus est Parkerus nòn alium quam Cottonianum, Otho A. XII. arguerent. Diatribam vero Wiseanam de Controversia Oxoniensi repetere minime consilii fuit.

A Eodem anno [1]Farlus^, Francorum rex, viam universitatis adiit; sed Earnulf filius fratris sui, sexta, antequam defunctus esset, hebdomada, illum regno expulerat, quo statim defuncto quinque reges ordinati sunt, et regnum in quinque [2]partibus [3]conscissum est; sed tamen principalis sedes regni ad Earnulf juste et merito provenit, nisi solummodo quod in patruum suum indigne peccavit. Cæteri quoque quatuor reges fidelitatem et obedientiam Earnulfo, sicut dignum erat, promiserunt; nullus enim illorum quatuor regum hæreditarius illius regni erat in paterna parte, nisi Earnulf solus: quinque itaque reges confestim Farlo moriente ordinati sunt, sed imperium penes Earnulf remansit. A. 887. ^ Carolus.

Talis ergo illius regni [4][divisio fuit]: nam Earnulf orientales regiones Hreni fluminis, Hroththwlf quoque internam partem regni accepit; Oda etiam occi-
B dentale regnum; Beorngar et ×Witha Languobardiam, nec non et illas regiones, quæ in illa parte montis sunt: nec tamen tanta et talia regna inter se pacifice [5]servaverunt; nam bis pleno prœlio inter se belligeravere, et illa regna persæpe devastaverunt invicem, et unusquisque alterum expulit de regno. × Guido.

Eodem quoque anno, quo ille exercitus Parisiam civitatem deserens Caziei adiit, Æthelhelm comes Wiltunensium Ælfredi regis et Saxonum eleemosynam Romam duxit.[a]

Eodem quoque anno sæpe memoratus Ælfred Angulsaxonum rex, divino [6]instincto, legere et interpretari simul uno eodemque die primitus inchoavit: sed, ut apertius ignorantibus pateat, causam hujus tardæ inchoationis expedire curabo.

C Nam cum quodam die ambo in regia cambra resideremus, undecunque, sicut solito, colloquia habentes, ex quodam quoddam testimonium libro illi evenit ut recitarem; quod cum intentus utrisque auribus audisset, et intima mente sollicite perscrutaretur, subito ostendens libellum, quem in sinum suum sedulo portabat, in quo [7]diurnus cursus, et psalmi quidam atque orationes quædam, quas ille in juventute sua legerat, [8]scripti habebantur' imperavit, quo illud testimonium in eodem libello literis mandarem. Quod ego audiens, et [9]ingeniosam benevolentiam illius ex parte, atque [10]etiam tam devotam erga studium [11]divinæ sapientiæ voluntatem ejus cognoscens; immensas omnipotenti Deo grates, extensis ad æthera volis, tacitus quamvis, persolvi, qui tantam erga studium sapientiæ devotionem in regio corde inseruerat: sed, cum nullum locum
D vacuum in eodem libello reperirem, in quo tale testimonium scribere possem; erat enim omnino multis ex causis refertus, aliquantisper distuli, et maxime, quia tam elegans regis ingenium ad majorem divinorum testimoniorum scientiam provocare studebam. Cui, cum me, ut quanto citius illud scriberem, urgeret, inquam, 'Placetne [12]tibi, quod illud testimonium in aliqua foliuncula segregatim scribam? Incognitum est enim, si aliquando aliquod taliter aut plura [13]reperiamus, quæ tibi placuerint testimonia; quod si inopinate evenerit, segregasse gaudebimus:' quod ille audiens, 'ratum esse consilium' inquit: quod ego audiens et gaudens festinus quaternionem promptam paravi, in cujus principio illud non injussus scripsi; ac [14]*nulla eadem' die non minus quam tria alia sibi placabilia testimonia illo imperante in eadem quaternione, ut prædixeram, scripsi: ac * in illa?
E [15]deinde quotidie inter nos sermocinando, ad hæc investigando aliis inventis æque placabilibus testimoniis, quaternio illa referta succrevit, nec immerito; sicut scriptum est, 'Super modicum fundamentum ædificat justus, et paulatim ad majora defluit;' velut apis fertilissima longe lateque gronnios interrogando discurrens, multimodos divinæ scripturæ flosculos inhianter et incessabiliter congregavit, queis præcordii sui cellulas densatim replevit.

Nam primo illo testimonio scripto confestim legere et in Saxonica lingua interpretari, atque [1]inde perplures instituere studuit; ac veluti de illo felici latrone cautum est, Dominum Jesum Christum dominum suum, immoque [2]omnium, juxta se in venerabili sanctæ crucis patibulo pendentem cognoscente; quo subnixis precibus inclinatis solummodo corporalibus oculis, quia aliter non poLuc. xxiii. 42. terat, erat enim totus confixus clavis, submissa voce clamaret; 'Memento mei, cum veneris in regnum tuum Christe,' qui Christianæ fidei rudimenta in gabulo primitus inchoavit discere. Hic [3]aut aliter, quamvis dissimili modo, in regia potestate [4]sacræ rudimenta scripturæ divinitus instinctus præsumpsit incipere 11 Nov. in venerabili [5]Martini solemnitate; quos flosculos undecunque collectos a quibuslibet magistris discere, et in corpore unius libelli, mixtim quamvis, sicut tunc [6]suppetebat redigere, usque adeo protelavit, quousque propemodum ad magnitudinem unius psalterii [7]pervenerit; quem Enchiridion suum, id est, manualem librum nominari voluit, eo quod ad manum illum die noctuque solertissime habebat: in quo non mediocre, sicut tunc aiebat, habebat solatium.

Sed [8]sic, ut' a quodam sapiente jamdudum scriptum est,

'Invigilant animi, quibus est pia cura regendi,' magnopere invigilandum mihi censeo in eo, quod ante aliquam, quamvis dissimili modo, similitudinem inter illum felicem latronem, et regem composuerim: namque patibulum exosum est [9]unicuique[10], ubicunque male habet. Sed, quid faciat, si non possit se inde eripere aut etiam effugere; vel qualicunque arte causam suam meliorare ibidem commorando? Debet ergo, velit, nolit, cum mœrore et tristitia sufferre, quod patitur.

Erat itaque rex ille multis tribulationum clavis confossus, quamvis in regia potestate constitutus: nam a vigesimo ætatis anno usque ad quadragesimum A. 893. quintum quem nunc agit, gravissima incogniti doloris infestatione incessanter fatigatur; ita, ut ne unius quidem horæ securitatem habeat; [11]qua aut' illam infirmitatem non sustineat, aut sub illius formidine lugubriter prope constitutus non desperet. Præterea assiduis exterarum gentium infestationibus, quas sedulo terra marique, sine ullius quieti temporis intervallo sustinebat, non sine materia inquietabatur. Quid loquar de frequentibus contra Paganos expeditionibus, [12]et * bellis, [13]et incessabilibus regni gubernaculis? De quotidiana* [14]nationum, [15]quæ in' [16]Tyrreno mari usque ultimum [17]Hyberniæ finem habitant? Nam etiam de [18]Hierosolyma Abel [19]patriarchæ epistolas et dona illi directas vidimus et legimus. De civitatibus et urbibus renovandis, et aliis, ubi nunquam ante fuerant, construendis? [20]De ædificiis aureis et argenteis incomparabiliter illo edocente fabricatis? De aulis et cambris regalibus, lapideis et ligneis suo jussu mirabiliter constructis? De villis regalibus lapideis antiqua positione [21]mutatis, et in decentioribus locis regali imperio decentissime constructis? [22]Qui maxima excepto illo dolore perturbatione et controversia suorum, qui nullum aut parvum voluntarie, pro communi regni necessitate vellent subire laborem, sed tamen ille solus divino fultus adminiculo susceptum semel regni gubernaculum, veluti gubernator præcipuus, navem suam multis opibus refertam ad desideratum [23]ac tutum' patriæ suæ portum, quamvis cunctis propemodum [24]lassis suis' nautis, [25]producere contendit, haud aliter titubare ac vacillare, quamvis inter fluctivagos ac multimodos præsentis vitæ turbines non sinebat. A rando, [1]ad ultimum inobedientes post longam patientiam acrius castigando, vulgarem stultitiam et pertinaciam [2]omni modo′ abominando ad suam voluntatem, et ad communem totius regni utilitatem sapientissime [3]usurpabat et annectebat. Etsi inter hæc regalia exhortamenta propter pigritiam populi imperata non implentur, aut tarde incepta tempore necessitatis ad utilitatem exercentium minus finita non provenirent, ut de castellis ab eo imperatis adhuc non inceptis loquar, aut nimium tarde inceptis ad perfectum finem non perductis, quod hostiles copiæ terra marique irrumperent, aut, ut sæpe evenit, utraque parte tunc contradictores imperialium diffinitionum inani pœnitentia pene exinaniti verecundabantur. Inanem enim pœnitentiam Scriptura teste nomino, qua homines innumerabiles nimio detrimento pluribus insidiis perpetratis
B sæpe perculsi dolent. Sed quamvis per hanc rem, heu, proh dolor! eulogii [4]miserabiliter contristentur, et perditis [5]eorum patribus, conjugibus, liberis, ministris, servis, ancillis, [6]operibus, et omni supellectili flebiliter commoveantur, quid detestabilis juvat pœnitentia, quando nec occisis suis propinquis [7]succurrere valent, nec captivos suos a captivitate exosa redimere; nec etiam interdum sibimet, qui evaserint, adjuvare valent, quoniam propriam unde sustentent vitam non habent. Sera igitur pœnitentia nimium attriti pœnitent, et regalia præcepta [8]incuriose despexisse dolent, et regalem [9]sapientiam totis vocibus collaudant, et quod ante refutaverunt, totis viribus implere promittunt: id est, de arcibus construendis, et cæteris communibus communis regni utilitatibus.

De voto quoque et proposito excellentissimæ meditationis suæ, quam
C [10]semper inter prospera et adversa sua[11], nullo modo prætermittere poterat, prætereundum esse hoc in loco utiliter non existimo. Nam, cum de necessitate animæ suæ solito cogitaret, inter cætera diuturna et nocturna bona, quibus assidue et maxime studebat, duo monasteria construere imperavit; unum monachorum in loco, qui dicitur ^Æthelingaeg, quod per maxima gronnia paludo- ^Athelney.
sissima et [12]intransmeabilia, [13]et aquis undique circumcingitur; ad quod nullo modo aliquis accedere potest, nisi [14]nauticis, aut etiam per unum pontem, qui inter duas alias arces operosa protelatione constructus est: in cujus pontis occidentali limite arx munitissima præfati regis imperio pulcherrima operatione consita est; in quo monasterio diversi generis monachos [15]undique congregavit, et in eodem collocavit.

D Nam primitus, quia nullum de sua propria gente nobilem ac liberum hominem, nisi infantes, qui nihil boni eligere, nec mali respuere pro teneritudine [16]invalidæ ætatis′ adhuc possunt; qui monasticam voluntarie vellet subire vitam, habebat: nimirum, quia per multa retroacta annorum curricula monasticæ vitæ desiderium ab illa tota gente, nec non et a multis aliis gentibus funditus desierat; quamvis perplurima adhuc monasteria in illa regione constructa permaneant: nullo tamen regulam illius vitæ ordinabiliter tenente, nescio quare, aut pro alienigenarum infestationibus, quæ sæpissime terra marique hostiliter irrumpunt; aut etiam pro nimia illius gentis in omni genere divitiarum abundantia, propter quam multo magis id genus despectæ monasticæ vitæ fieri existimo; ideo diversi generis monachos in eodem monasterio congregare studuit.

E Primitus Johannem [17]presbyterum monachum, scilicet Ealdsaxonum genere abbatem constituit; deinde ultramarinos presbyteros quosdam et diaconos; ex quibus cum nec adhuc tantum numerum, quantum vellet, haberet; comparavit etiam quamplurimos ejusdem gentis Gallicæ, ex quibus quosdam infantes [18]in eodem monasterio edoceri imperavit, et subsequenti tempore [19]ad [20]monachicum habitum[1] sublevari: in quo etiam monasterio unum Paganicæ gentis edoc- A tum in monachico habitu degentem, juvenem admodum, vidimus, non ultimum scilicet eorum.

Facinus quoque in eodem monasterio [1]quodam tempore[1] perpetratum muti taciturnitate silentii oblivioni traderem, quamvis indignum [2]facinus est; quia per totam scripturam impiorum turpia facta, inter [3]venerabiliora justorum, sicut zizania et lolium in tritici segetibus interseminantur: bona scilicet, ut laudentur, [4]sequantur, æquiparentur, sectatores quoque eorum omni honore venerabili digni habeantur; mala vero vituperentur, execrentur, et, ut omnino effugiantur, imitatores quoque eorum omni odio et despectione ac vindicta corripiantur.

Nam quodam tempore, cum instinctu diabolico quidam sacerdos et diaconus B
Gallici [5]genere ex præfatis monachis, invidia quadam latenti excitati, contra suum abbatem præfatum Johannem nimium latenter in tantum amaricati sunt, ut Judaico more dominum suum dolo circumvenirent et proderent. Nam duos ejusdem gentis Gallicæ [6]servulos præmio conductos ita fraudulenter docuerunt, ut nocturno tempore, cum omnes delectabili corporis quiete [7]graviter dormirent, patefactam armati intrarent ecclesiam; quam post se iterum solito more [8]claudebant, et unicum abbatis adventum in ea absconditi præstolarentur. Cumque solus solito [9]orandi causa ecclesiam latenter intraret, et ante sanctum altare flexis ad terram genubus se [10]inclinaret, hostiliter irruentes in [11]eum, tunc eum ibidem [12]occidere [13]conarentur: cujus corpus exanime inde trahentes ante ostium cujusdam meretricis, quasi illic occisus esset in meretricando, jactarent: quod etiam C
Mat. xxiii. 64. machinaverunt, crimen crimini addentes, sicut dictum est: 'Et erit novissimus error pejor priore.'

Sed divina misericordia, quæ semper innocentibus solet subvenire, impiam impiorum meditationem maxima ex parte frustrata est, quo non per omnia eveniret, sicut proposuerant.

Omni itaque mala doctrina a malis doctoribus malis auditoribus elucubratim exposita, et condicta nocte adveniente atque [14]suppetenti, et impunitate promissa, latrunculos duos armatos in ecclesia concluserunt, adventum abbatis præstolantes. Cumque media nocte Joannes solito [15]furtim nemine sciente orandi gratia ecclesiam intrasset, et flexis genubus ante altare [16]incurvaret, tunc duo illi [17]latrunculi ex improviso [18]evaginatis gladiis in eum irrumpunt, et crudelibus D afficiunt vulneribus. Sed ille ut solito, [19]ac semper acris ingenio, et, ut audivimus de eo a quibusdam referentibus, bellicosæ artis non expers, si in meliori disciplina non studeret, statim ut [20]sonitus latronum audivit, priusquam videret, insurgens acriter in eos, [21]antequam vulneratur, et vociferans quantum poterat, reluctabatur, inclamitans dæmones esse, [22]et non homines, non enim [23]aliter sciebat; quia nec hoc homines ausos [24]esse existimabat; vulneratus est tamen, antequam sui advenirent[25]. Sui ergo hoc rumore expergefacti, et etiam audito dæmonum nomine, perterriti utrique, [26]et inexpertes, et etiam illi, Judaico more domini sui proditores, hinc inde ad ecclesiæ ostia concurrunt; sed antequam advenirent latrunculi præcipiti cursu ad proximantia sibi [27]gronnæ latibula, semivivum abbatem relinquentes, confugiunt. Monachi vero seniorem suum semi- E vivum colligentes cum gemitu et mœrore domum reportaverunt: sed nec etiam illi dolosi minus lachrymabantur innocentibus. Sed Dei misericordia tantum facinus impunitum fieri non permittente; latrunculi, qui hoc perpetraverunt; omnes tanti sceleris persuasores capti ligatique, per varia tormenta morte turpissima periere. His [1]ita relatis ad incepta redeamus.

Aliud quoque monasterium juxta orientalem portam [2]Sceftesburg [3]habitationem sanctimonialium [4]habitabile idem præfatus rex ædificare imperavit; in quo propriam filiam suam Æthelgeofu devotam Deo virginem abbatissam constituit; cum qua etiam aliæ multæ nobiles moniales in monastica vita Deo servientes in eodem monasterio habitant. Quæ duo monasteria terrarum [5]possessionibus, et omnibus divitiis locupletatim ditavit.[6]

His ita diffinitis, solito suo more intra semetipsum cogitabat, quid adhuc addere potuisset, quod plus placeret ad piam meditationem; non inaniter incepta, utiliter inventa, utilius servata est: nam jamdudum in Lege scriptum audierat, Dominum decimam sibi multipliciter redditurum promisisse; atque fideliter servasse, decimamque sibi multipliciter redditurum fuisse. Hoc exemplo instigatus, et antecessorum morem volens transcendere, dimidiam servitii sui partem, diurni scilicet, et nocturni temporis; nec non etiam dimidiam partem omnium divitiarum, quæ annualiter ad eum cum justitia moderanter acquisitæ pervenire consueverant, Deo devote et fideliter toto cordis affectu pius meditator se daturum spopondit; quod et quantum potest humana discretio discernere et servare, subtiliter ac sapienter adimplere studuit. Sed ut solito suo more cautus evitaret, quod in alio divinæ scripturæ loco cautum est: 'Si recte offeras, recte autem non dividas, peccas:' quod Deo libenter devoverat, quomodo recte dividere posset, cogitavit: et, ut dixit Salomon; 'Cor regis in manu Domini,' id est, consilium; consilio divinitus invento omnium uniuscujusque anni censuum successum bifarie primitus [7]ministros suos dividere æquali lance imperavit. Prov. xxi. 1.

His ita divisis, partem primam sæcularibus negotiis pertinere addixit, quam etiam in tribus partibus sequestrari præcepit; cujus primam divisionis partem suis bellatoribus annualiter largiebatur: [8]item suis ministris nobilibus, qui in [9]curto regio vicissim commorabantur, in pluribus ministrantes ministeriis: ita enim ordinabiliter agebatur regalis familiaritas tribus omni tempore vicissitudinibus. In tribus namque cohortibus præfati regis satellites prudentissime dividebantur; ita ut prima cohors uno mense in [10]curto regio die noctuque administrans commoraretur, menseque finito, et adveniente alia cohorte, prima domum redibat; et ibi duobus[11], propriis [12]quivis necessitatibus studens, commorabatur [13]mensibus. Secunda itaque cohors mense peracto, adveniente tertia, domum redibat, ut ibi duobus commoraretur mensibus. Sed et illa, finito unius mensis ministerio, et adveniente prima cohorte, domum redibat, ibidem commoratura duobus mensibus: et hoc ordine omnibus vitæ præsentis temporibus talium vicissitudinum in regali [14]curto rotatur administratio.

Talibus itaque primam de tribus prædictis partibus partem, unicuique tamen secundum propriam dignitatem, et etiam secundum proprium ministerium largiebatur; secundam autem operatoribus, quos ex multis gentibus [15]collectos [16]et' [17]comparatos propemodum innumerabiles habebat in omni terreno ædificio edoctos; tertiam autem ejusdem partem advenis ex omni gente ad eum advenientibus, longe [18]propeque positis, et pecuniam ab illo exigentibus, etiam et non exigentibus, unicuique secundum propriam dignitatem mirabili dispensatione laudabiliter, et, sicut [19]scriptum est, 'Hilarem datorem diligit Deus,' hilariter impendebat. 2 Cor. ix. 7.

Secundam vero partem omnium divitiarum suarum, quæ annualiter ad eum ex omni censu perveniebant, et in fisco reputabantur, sicut jam paulo ante commemoravimus, plena voluntate Deo devovit, et in quatuor partibus [1]etiam A curiose suos ministros illam dividere imperavit; ea conditione, ut prima pars illius divisionis pauperibus uniuscujusque gentis, qui ad eum veniebant, discretissime erogaretur: memorabat etiam in hoc, quantum humana discretio custodire poterat, illius sancti papæ Gregorii observandam esse sententiam, qua discretam mentionem dividendæ eleemosynæ ita dicens agebat; '[2]Nec parvum cui multum, nec multum cui parvum: nec nihil cui aliquid, nec aliquid cui nihil.' Secundam autem duobus monasteriis, quæ ipse fieri imperaverat, et servientibus in his Deo, de quibus paulo ante latius disseruimus; tertiam scholæ, quam ex multis suæ propriæ gentis nobilibus [3]studiosissime congregaverat; quartam circum finitimis in omni Saxonia et Mercia monasteriis, et etiam quibusdam annis per vices in Britannia et Cornubia, Gallia, Armorica, Northhymbris, et aliquando B etiam in Hybernia, ecclesiis et servis Dei inhabitantibus, secundum possibilitatem suam aut ante [4]distribuit, aut sequenti tempore erogare proposuit, vita sibi et [5]prosperitate salva.

His ita ordinaliter ab eodem rege dispositis, memor illius divinæ scripturæ sententiæ, qua dicitur; ' Qui vult eleemosynam dare, a semetipso debet incipere:' etiam quid a proprio corporis sui et mentis servitio Deo offerret, prudenter excogitavit: nam non minus de hac re, quam de externis divinis Deo offerre proposuit; quinetiam dimidiam partem servitii [6]mentis et corporis, in quantum infirmitas et possibilitas, atque suppetentia permitteret, diurno scilicet, ac nocturno tempore suapte totisque viribus se redditurum Deo spopondit: sed quia distantiam nocturnarum horarum omnino propter tenebras, [7]et diurnarum C propter densitatem sæpissime pluviarum et nubium [8]æqualiter [9]dignoscere non poterat, excogitare cœpit, qua ratione fixa, et sine ulla hæsitatione hunc promissum voti sui tenorem [10]letho tenus incommutabiliter Dei fretus misericordia servare posset.

His aliquandiu excogitatis, tandem invento utili et discreto consilio suos capellanos [11]ceram offerre sufficienter imperavit; quam adductam ad denarios pensare in bilibri præcepit: cumque [12]tanta cera mensurata' fuisset, quæ septuaginta duos denarios pensaret, sex candelas unamquamque æqua lance inde capellanos facere jussit; ut unaquæque candela duodecim uncias pollicis in se signatas in longitudine haberet. Itaque hac reperta ratione, sex illæ candelæ per viginti quatuor horas die [13]nocteque sine defectu coram sanctis multorum electorum D Dei reliquiis, quæ semper eum ubique comitabantur, ardentes lucescebant; sed cum aliquando per diem integrum et noctem, ad eandem illam horam, qua anteriori vespera accensæ fuerant candelæ, ardendo lucescere non poterant, nimirum ventorum violentia inflante, quæ aliquando per ecclesiarum ostia et fenestrarum, maceriarum quoque, [14]atque tabularum, vel frequentes parietum rimulas, nec non et [15]tentoriorum tenuitates, die noctuque sine intermissione flabat, exardescere citius plus debito ante eandem horam finiendo cursum suum cogebantur: excogitavit, unde talem ventorum sufflationem prohibere potuisset, consilioque artificiose atque sapienter invento, [16]laternam ex lignis et bovinis cornibus pulcherrime construere imperavit: bovina namque cornua alba, ac in una tenuiter dolabris erasa non minus vitreo vasculo elucent; quæ itaque laterna mirabiliter E ex lignis et cornibus, ut ante diximus, facta; noctuque candela in [17]eam missa exterius ut interius tam lucida ardebat, nullis ventorum flaminibus impedita; quia valvam ad ostium illius laternæ ex cornibus idem fieri imperaverat. Hoc itaque machinamento ita facto, sex candelæ, unaquæque post alteram per viginti quatuor horas sine intermissione nihil citius, nihil tardius lucescebant; quibus extinctis, aliæ incendebantur.

A His ita ordinabiliter per omnia digestis, dimidiam, sicut Deo devoverat, servitii sui partem custodire cupiens; et eo amplius augere, in quantum possibilitas aut suppetentia, immo etiam infirmitas permitteret; tædiosus examinandæ in judiciis veritatis arbiter existebat: et in hoc maxime propter pauperum curam, [1]quibus die noctuque, inter cætera præsentis vitæ debita, mirabiliter incumbebat. [a]Nam in toto illo regno præter illum solum, pauperes aut nullos, aut etiam paucissimos habebant adjutores: nimirum, quia etiam pene omnes illius regionis potentes et nobiles ad sæcularia magis quam ad divina mentem declinaverant negotia: magis enim unusquisque speciali [2]lucro in sæcularibus negotiis, quam communi [3]inhiabat.

Studebat [4]is quoque in judiciis [5]etiam propter nobilium et [6]ignobilium suo-
B rum [7]utilitatem, qui sæpissime in concionibus comitum et præpositorum pertinacissime inter se dissentiebant; ita, ut pene [8]nullus eorum, quicquid a comitibus et præpositis judicatum fuisset, verum esse concederet; qua pertinaci dissensione obstinatissime compulsi, regis subire judicium singuli subarabant, quod et confestim ab utraque parte implere festinabant. Sed tamen ille, qui in sua parte aliquam de illa causa injustitiam fieri cognosceret, ad talis judicis judicium, contra voluntatem tamen; quamvis per vim [9]lege et stipulatione venire coactus esset; voluntarie nolebat accedere. Sciebat enim ibidem nihil ex sua malitia confestim posse delitescere: [10]nec mirum; erat namque rex ille in exequendis judiciis, sicut in [11]cæteris aliis omnibus rebus discretissimus indagator. Nam omnia pene totius suæ regionis judicia, quæ in absentia sua
C fiebant, sagaciter investigabat, qualia fierent, justa aut etiam injusta: aut vero si aliquam in illis judiciis iniquitatem intelligere posset, leniter advocatos illos ipsos judices, aut per se [12]ipsum, aut per alios suos fideles quoslibet interrogabat; quare [13]ita [14]tam nequiter judicassent, utrum per ignorantiam, aut propter aliam [15]quamlibet malevolentiam, id est, utrum pro aliquorum amore vel timore, aut aliorum odio, aut etiam pro alicujus pecuniæ cupiditate. Denique si illi judices profiterentur propterea se talia ita judicasse, eo, quod nihil rectius de his rebus scire poterant; tunc ille discrete et moderanter illorum imperitiam et insipientiam redarguens aiebat, ita inquiens: ' [16]Nimium admiror [17]vestram hanc insolentiam, eo, quod Dei dono et meo, sapientium ministerium et gradus usurpastis, sapientiæ autem studium et operam neglexistis. Quapropter aut
D terrenarum potestatum ministeria, quæ habetis, illico dimittatis; aut sapientiæ studiis multo devotius [18]docere ut studeatis, impero.' Quibus auditis verbis perterriti, veluti pro maxima vindicta correcti comites et præpositi ad æquitatis discendæ studium totis viribus [19]se vertere nitebantur; ita ut mirum in modum [20]illiterati ab infantia comites pene omnes, [21]præpositi [22]ac ministri, literatoriæ arti studerent; malentes insuetam disciplinam quam laboriose discere, quam potestatum ministeria dimittere: sed si aliquis [23]liberalibus studiis aut pro senio, [24]aut nimia inusitati ingenii tarditate proficere non valeret, suum, si haberet, filium, aut etiam aliquem propinquum suum, vel etiam, si aliter non habeat, suum proprium hominem liberum vel servum, quem ad lectionem longe ante promoverat, libros ante [25]se die [26]nocteque, quandocunque unquam ullam

Armipotens Ælfrede, dedit, probitasque laborem,
Perpetuumque labor nomen: cui mixta dolori
Gaudia semper erant, spes semper mixta timori.
Si modo victor eras, ad crastina bella pavebas:
Si modo victus eras, ad crastina bella parabas.
Cui vestes sudore jugi, cui sica cruore
Tincta jugi, quantum sit onus regnare, probarunt.
Non fuit immensi quisquam per climata mundi,
Cui tot in adversis vel respirare liceret:
Nec tamen aut ferro contritus ponere ferrum,
Aut gladio potuit vitæ finisse labores.
Jam post transactos vitæ regnique dolores,

FABII ETHELWERDI

CHRONICORUM,

AB ORBE CONDITO, SCILICET, ADUSQUE A. D. DCCCC.LXXV.,

LIBRI QUATUOR.[a]

PERPETUAM PATRICIUS CONSUL FABIUS QUÆSTOR ETHELWERDUS MAHTILDI CONSOBRINÆ OPTAT IN CHRISTO.

DISERTISSIMÆ et veræ Christi ancillæ, Ethelwerdus, in Domino, patricius, Mahtildi salutem. Suscepi desiderii mei epistolam charissima vestram; et amplexus animotenus scripta, non tantum legi, sed etiam condidi in thesauro cordis mei. Siquidem Altissimi exoro crebrius gratiam Dei, ut in hac præsentia incolumem, et post migrationem corporis custodiat, ducens ad æterna tabernacula. De notitia equidem communis prosapiæ, generis quoque et migra-c tione, ut ante breviter per epistolam insinuavimus tibi, nunc, cooperante Deo, ab ipsius principio mundi annalem sumentes ritum, dilucidius explicare oportet, ut et lectoris susurro intuitus, et auditoris augmentetur capiendi voluntas. Quin etiam de priscorum adventu parentum a Germania in Brittanniam, tot bella, tot cædes virorum, classiumque periclitationem gurgite oceani non parvam, in subpositis paginulis facilius invenire potes exemplar. Ergo prosapia de moderna et de iteratione propinquitatis nostræ, in præsenti epistola, sine nexilitate exorno, qui et quomodo et unde propinqui, in quantum memoria nostra argumentatur, et sicut docuere parentes. Scilicet Ælfred rex ([b] Athulfi regis filius, ex quo nos originem trahimus, cui filii quinque subjiciuntur; ex quibus ego de [c] Etheredo rege, et tu de Ælfredo rege progeniti videmur, filiis supradicti regis d Athulfi) misit Ælfthrythe filiam suam ad partes Germaniæ Baldwino[d] in matrimonium; et genuit ab ea filios duos, Athulfum videlicet et Earnulfum; duas filias quoque, Ealhswid et Earmentruth; quippe ex Ælfdryde[*] seriem ducit [e] Earnulfus comes, qui et vicinus vester. Siquidem Eadgyfu nominata est Eadwerdi regis filia filii Ælfredi supra scripti regis; quæ et ab matertera tua ipsa in matrimonium Galliarum ad partes minori [f] Karulo mittitur regi. Eadhild etiam in conjugium mittitur [g] Hugoni filio * Brodbyrhti. Alias vero duas * Ædeftanus rex tali ratione misit ad [h] Oddonem, ut quæ ab eis placuisset, sibi in matrimonium elegisset; cui visa melior Eadgyde, ex qua tu principium tenes nativitatis: alteram etiam subjunxit cuipiam [i] regi juxta Jupitereos montes; de cujus prole nulla nobis [*] Ælfthrythe.

* Hrodbyrhti.
* Æthelstanus.

[c] Obiit Etheredus A. 871: ei successit Ælfredus.

[d] Flandriæ comiti. De anno quo ei data fuit in conjugium haud constat. Obiit ipse A. 918, filios duos adultos ex Ælfthrythe relinquens superstites.

[e] Arnulfus II., ut videtur, Flandriæ comes, A. 965.

[f] Carolo Simplici, scilicet, A. 919.

[g] Hugoni filio Roberti regis nupta fuit A. 926.

[h] Odoni, sive Othoni, postea regi Germaniæ et imperatori Romano, in matrimonium data est Eadgitha A. 930: obiit autem A. 947.

[i] Ludovico Cæco, imperatori et regi Arelatensi. Filium Carolum Constantinum ex ea tulit Ludovicus.

EXPLICIT PROLOGUS.

INCIPIT LIBER PRIMUS.

EXORDIO sui continet principium mundi. [a]Primo enim die Deus, in lucis apparitione, condidit Angelos: secundo die, appellatione firmamenti, cœlos: in tertio, divisionis vocabulo, speciem terræ aquarumque: cœli lumina- B

Igitur ab Adam primo homine usque ad diluvium Noæ, exprimitur numerus annorum vigeni centies ducenti, super et quadraginta duo. A diluvio scilicet usque in tempore Abram, nongenti anni migrantur, et supra bis, XL. A nativitate Abrahæ usque in tempore Moysi, et exitus Hisrahelitici populi ex Ægypto, transacti sunt dies annorum quinque, et supra quingenti. A tem- C pore etiam Moysi usque in ortu Solomonis et ædificationis sanctæ civitatis Hierusalem, dies annorum fuere quadringenti septuaginta et octo. Et a conditione illa mirabili Dominicæ civitatis usque ad Salvatoris nativitatem, migratus est annorum numerus millenus, supra quoque viginti et duo: et factus est numerus annorum ab ipsius mundi initio usque ad Christi primum adventum, [b]quinque millia quingenti, minus quinque. Post igitur mirabilem ejus nativi-

A suscepta, papa beatus. Quem post in passione sequitur, octavo in anno, Ignatius, Christi dignus episcopus. In sexto ergo quinquagesimo post illum anno, Eleutherius ordinatur in sede apostolica Romæ, et quindecim annis constanter gloriosam populo Christiano imbuit prædicationem; et non tantum sibi subjectis urbibus, sed ab ortu solis usque ad occasum exivit sancta opinio ejus. †Nam idem beatissimus Christi famulus, per nuncium et literas, Lucium adiit insulæ regem, ammonens eum de fide et baptismo catholico, qui tum Brittanniæ regem potestate pollebat: qui etiam concessit verisimili ratione Christianum se esse futurum; quod et perfecit. Cujus successor [a]Severus post tertio vigesimo× anno regni ejus, fungitur potestatis Romanæ: ipse fossam extendit in insula præfata per-
B transverso a mare usque ad mare; murum etiam cum turribus et propugnaculis construxit intrinsecus, fortassis ne ab exercitu læderentur barbarorum Brittanni. Porro post decursum centum et nonaginta annorum superque duorum×, Maximus Cæsar regnum accepit, qui et natus+ in Brittannia erat; deinde Gallos superat, Tuscos fugat, Italum et Hispanum sub jugo regna mittit. Igitur post ambitum circuli regni ejus vigesimi et anni octavi×, a Gothis destruitur Roma sublimis, jam in milleno centesimo quadragesimo sexto post suam conditionem anno. Ab illo tempore cessavit imperium Romanorum a Brittannia insula, et ab aliis quas sub jugo servitutis tenebant multis terris. Siquidem tenuerunt supradictam insulam, incipiente numero a Cæsare Gaio Julio, quadringentos et octoginta quinque annos; urbes etiam atque castella, nec non pontes plateasque mirabili ingenio condiderunt, quæ usque in hodiernam diem videntur. Enim-
C vero habitante plebe Brittannica incuriose causa firmitatis intra fossam, de cujus serie meminimus*, supraque a Severo Cæsare condita erat, insurrexerunt gentes duæ, Picti scilicet ab aquilonali plaga et Scoti ab occidentali, contra eos cum exercitu, vastantes eorum possessiones; et sic per multa annorum spatia innumerabili eos miseria afflixerunt. Hi quidem sustinere non valentes periculum, animo solerti nuncios mittunt ad Romam cum lachrymosis scriptis.* [b]cum victoria exercitus revertitur Romam. Audito etiam oppositum sibi exercitum domum reversum, videlicet, Scotti et Picti gaudio gavisi non minimo sunt. Ast iterum arma movent, et, quasi sine custode caulas invadunt lupi, vastant partem in axe aquilonis usque ad Severiam fossam: Britanni muro insistunt, defendunt armis; sed non natura, heu, dederat fortuna gratiam belli. Tum
D astuta gens Scotorum, gnara quid faceret pro imminenti muro ac sudæ profundo saltu, ferreos in mensura arte mechanica struunt aculeos, superstantesque muro deorsum trahentes, avide interimunt; victores existunt forinsecus et intus, præda et possessio fit statu in uno: et facta est cædes postera pejor prioribus. Impletusque est numerus annorum ab Incarnatione Dominica quadringenti et quadraginta novem.

* rantes, sacrificium obtulerunt Pagani victoriæ causa sive virtutis,* divictusque, ut A humanitas sæpius credit hoc, quod videt. Advecti igitur sunt præfati juvenes, explentes petitionem regis senatusque, cum tribus dromonibus, armis ornati, et omni instructione bellica præparati: projicitur ancora ponto, stant in littore puppes. Et mox contra Scotos causa probationis mittuntur: tandem non morata juventus, pectora induunt armis, temptant quoque prælia peregrina: miscetur viro vir, ruit Germanus, ruit Scotus, ex utraque parte miserrima cædes: victores post Saxones existunt. Tum a rege præfato funguntur honorato triumpho; clamque mittunt vernulas domum, nunciantes suis fœcundiam terræ et pavidi inertiam populi. Hi statim, non mora facta, dictis concedunt, et magnam cum exercitu classem mittunt proximis. Porro suscepti magnifice sunt apud regem Brittannorum; commune sibi hospitium cum incolis struunt. Brittanni pacem B promittunt, digna munera societatis, et honores, ut incurii essent tantum ab hostibus, eorum protectione, cum bellico incursu; tribuentes eis immensa stipendia et fœlicitatem pugnæ causa eorum. Hactenus de societate ac promissione Britonum sat dictum est: nunc de discordia et infœlicitate dicatur. Videntes namque astutiam novi populi, partim timuerunt, partimque despectui eos habuere: frangunt pactum, nec ultra societatis addunt honorem, sed potius ab oris expellere conantur. His ita præcogitatis, innotescitur cunctis; rumpitur palam fœdus: insistunt armis; ruunt Brittanni; Saxones possident arva. Iterum mittunt ad Germaniæ partes, non occulte, ut ante, sed manifesta legatione, ut solent victores, auxilium magis sibi poscentes: quibus et advecta est multitudo omni ex provincia Germaniæ partis; ac bella gessere contra Brittannos, pel- C lentes eos a finibus eorum magna cum clade, et ipsi semper victores. In ultimo quidem subjiciunt colla Brittanni; solvent jam progeniei tributum. Ergo illa advectio ex tribus provinciis, quæ tum eminentiores habebantur Germaniæ, venisse leguntur, hoc est, de Saxonia, Anglia, atque Giota. Cantuarii de Giotis traxerunt originem; Uuhtii quoque, qui a Uuihta insula adhærente Brittanniæ nomen sortiti sunt.

Quippe de Saxonia, quæ nunc vulgo Eald-Sexe nuncupatur, id est, Saxonia Vetus, venere tribus quæ apud Anglos modo ita dicuntur, East-Sexan et Suth-Sexan et West-Sexan, hoc est, secundum Latinos, Orientales, Australes et Occidentales Saxones. Anglia igitur de provincia venere juxta Orientales Angli, Medii Angli, Mercii quoque, et tota gens Northanhymbrorum. [a]Porro Anglia Vetus sita D est inter Saxones et Giotos, habens oppidum capitale, quod sermone Saxonico Slesuuic nuncupatur, secundum vero Danos, Haithaby. * 784. exercuit. Transeuntibus quippe annis [a]triginta, et unum[×] supra, ex quo cœperat regnare, expellere a finibus quendam clitonem conatus est, cui nomen erat Cyneheard, frater Sigebyrhtes, cujus actus supra tractatus est. Postea ab illo obsidetur clitone : nam nunciatum est ei cum quadam meretrice morando in loco qui dicitur Merantune, quamvis cum paucis et nescientibus, circumeunt armis cum ignotis domum : intellexitque rex taliter se habere ; januam prosilivit, defendit avide tela : ast, composita mente, ruit super clitonem, quem et plagis B non parvis afflixit : nec obliti socii minas, arma elevant, truncant regem. Audito, etiam milites regis qui jam fuerant in ejus societate, sed unusquisque in suo applicio, ut semper solebant, fecerunt impetum, clamorem visitant : visosque eos tali furore, clito blandiendo, munera promittit eisque secundos honores. Post dominum desiderant orcum, nec promissis attendunt : instant unanimes pugnæ. Ex eis nullus vitæ comes ; Brittannus obses remansit unus, et ille arduis oppositus plagis. Illucescente igitur die, notum militibus factum est qui post tergum remanserant regis. Agmine congregato profecti sunt, Osric quoque cum eis dux ejus, et Uugferd miles ; compereruntque in ipsa aula clitonem, in qua dominus eorum exanimis jacebat. Firmantur ex adverso fores : hi extrinsecus, hi intrinsecus. Inducias petit clito, promittit magna, regnum optat futu- C rum. His omnibus recalcitrant societas regis ; magis cognatos petunt separare qui cum clitone erant. Renuunt dictis illi ; e contra tali sermone responsa dant amicis : ‘ Nullus amor tam propinquis quam domini, nec præsenti vultu exequias ejus sectari valemus:’ et maxime obnixe petentes, quippe cum lugubri dolore, sospiti vita discedere parentes : ‘ Tali,’ inquiunt, ‘ et nos admonitu rogabamus nostros consanguineos qui erant socii regis, sed frustra exauditi sumus.’ Illi iterum ad hæc : ‘ Propterea innocui manebitis si discederitis tantum, nec eorum ultio in vobis redarguetur qui cum rege mortui sunt.’ At illi nulla dant responsa, sed taciti insistunt bello : punit umbo umbonem, brachia scutis pendent, ruit a proximo parens, frangunt postes, insequitur post alterum alter, stat miserabilis pugna. Heu, clitonem perimunt, omnesque socii ante oculos primitus strantur, D excepto uno, et ipse quoque erat ducis Osrici filius de baptismo, vix semivivus ac vulneribus oppressus multis. Regnavit quippe Cenulf annos triginta et unum, corpusque ejus mausoleatum jacet in Uuintonia urbe. Supradictus etiam clito requiescit in ecclesia quæ vulgo Axanminster nuncupatur. Eorum scilicet am-

A Jam decies bis et duo supra annorum calculantur dies, [a]et quo paterna tenebat regna. Quippe, projecta pace, populantur Merciorum arva. Rex prædictus non spe abjecta Christi, itinera legit desiderando Romam, migraturque ibi; suumque corpus, mausoleo digno conditum, jacet in templo Christi Genetricis sanctæ, quæ nunc Anglorum scholæ usitant nomen. Tempore eodem [†]Ceolf possedit regnum Myrciorum. Denique post annum Barbari in sortes sibi duas dividunt regnum: partem sumpsit dux Barbarorum Healfdene, nomen Northanhymbriorum; hyberno ibi sedilia tempore cudit juxta nominatum fluvium Tinan, ibidemque vastant territoria passim. Ast crebrius inducunt Pihtis bellum, Cumbrisque. Oscytel quoque et Guthrum et [b]Annuth, hi tres reges eorum, cum immenso exercitu, de loco Hripandune ad cognominatum locum Grantanbricge*, B statumque fecere ibi menses duodecim. Porro in ipsius anni æstate, exiit Ælfred rex cum classico exercitu mare, obviamque ei Barbara classis, dromones ardui numero septem: pugna init; Dani fugæ dant undas, capitur unus dromon a rege. Siquidem post annum, tyrannus Healfdene Northanhymbriorum sortitus est regnum, subjectis cunctis. Et in ipsius anni decursu, exercitus qui in Grantanbricge fuerat, [c]conjecit statum communem cum occidentali exercitu, quod ante non usi sunt,′ juxta oppidum quod Vuerham nuncupatur, depopulataque est ab eis pars major provinciæ illius. Quin etiam rex pactum cum eis pacis confirmat, [c]simulque pecuniam dando.′ Ipsi vero dant obsides ei, electi qui tum in exercitu videbantur obtutu regum eorum, eique statuunt jusjuramentum in eorum armilla sacra, quod cæterarum regionum* fecere nunquam, ut citius tam C exire oris eorum. Ast transgrediuntur pacem, subitoque frangunt pactum, et in sequenti anno, provinciam, expanso agmine, visitant Defenum, ibique castra metantur tempore hyberno in urbe Exancestre. Denique classes eorum elevant vela, dant vento carinas, procella ingruit tristis, mergitur pars non minima, centum numero carinæ supremæ, juxta rupem quæ Suuanauuic nuncupatur. Fraude constituunt iterata pacem Barbari mente, obsidesque dantur plusquam quærebantur *Elfredi quippe regi opimi, de potestate firmium sua, promittunt * abstrahere pedem; sicque fecere. Merciorum regna vastando pellunt ingenuos passim, [c]ategias figunt in oppido dicto *Glenucestre vario ictu.′ Ergo in illius anni prætextum, fregerunt præordinatum cum Occidentalibus Anglis plebs spurcissima pactum orco firmo: appliciumque sumunt hyemale in loco Cippan- D hamme. Ast multos equitando per adverterent cervices quoad haud habuere incolæ *dominatu insopituri citius eorum cuncti mentes vertunt. Tum alios impia * potestate transpellunt Gallias mare in oras. Ælfred siquidem rex arctius tunc habebatur quam decuit. [c]Dux quoque Æthelnoth provinciæ Sumorsetun,′ exiguo cum agmine sylva in quadam morabatur. Construxeruntque firmitatem quodammodo in insula [γ]Æthelingaige, quæ videtur sita in palude. Rex vero prædictus contra Barbaros non sinebat quotidiano certamine, cum sola provincia Sumersætun: nec aliæ tunc ei adjutrices, excepto his qui regio pastu utebantur famulis. In eodem anno advectus est Healfdene [d]Iguuares tyranni frater, cum [e]triginta moneribus, in occidentales Anglorum partes, obseditque [f]Oddan ducem provinciæ Defenum in quodam castro,′ incenderuntque martem intus et foras; E Barbarum rex ruit, octoginta quippe cum eo decades. [c]Postremo victoriæ obtinent locum etiam Dani.′ Interea post Pascha illius anni, coaptavit bellum Ælfred rex adversus exercitus qui in Cippanhamme fuere, in loco Ethandune, victoriæque obtinent numen. Post autem pugnæ solutionem, Barbari pacem promittunt, inducias petunt, non negant obsides, jusjurandum confirmant; rex eorum scilicet suscipit baptismatis fontem, quem superstes de lavacro sumit rex Ælfred in [g]Alnea insula paludensi: [c]dux pariter Æthelnoth abluit post lavacrum

CHRONICON EX CHRONICIS,

AB INITIO MUNDI USQUE AD ANNUM DOMINI M.C.XVIII. DEDUCTUM, AUCTORE

FLORENTIO

WIGORNIENSI MONACHO.[a]

ANNO Domini [b]cccc.L. Angli-Saxones Martiani principis tempore, Beda teste[†], Britanniam tribus longis navibus advecti sunt, qui de tribus Germaniæ populis fortioribus, id est, Saxonibus, Anglis, et Jutis advenerant. De Jutarum origine sunt Cantuarii, et Vectuarii: de Saxonibus Orientales Saxones, † H. E 1. 15.

Marianum opus ex codice manco et vitioso in lucem primo prodiit Basiliæ, A. 1569: Florentianum, cura Hon. Willielmi Howard Londini A. 1592 evulgatum est. Mariani Chronicon, ut jam in præfatione monuimus, perpaucis exceptis minime nostri propositi est: Florentiana fere igitur exhibemus ab A. D. 449 ad usque A. 1000; ab hoc vero anno Chronicon Mariani, utpote scriptoris plerumque contemporanei, una cum additamentis Florentii repetendum duximus. Hæc cum duobus codd. MSS. scilicet, Bibliothecæ Coll. C. C. Oxon. et Bibliothecæ Lambethanæ; illud cum cod. MS. Cottoniano contulimus. Hujus variantes lectiones nota N., illorum litteris A., B., designavimus. Cum vero, ut jam præfati sumus, Simeonis Dunelmensis Historia, Rogeri Hovedeni et Mailrossensium Chronica plerumque e Florentio hausta sint, visum est, cæteris prætermissis, textui subjicere quæ apud ea inter Ann 957 et 1066 auctoribus aliis quam ipsi Florentio debentur. De Mariano autem, necnon et de Florentio, plura in præfatione nostra invenies.

Willielmus Howard lectori. 'Ecce, benigne lector, tot evolutis sæculis prodit in lucem, et censuræ tuæ se subjicit opusculum: si auctorem quæris, Florentii eruditi Wigorniæ monachi: si originem, ab ipsis mundi incunabulis ad Henrici primi, regis Angliæ, tempora deductum: si materiam, tam extera quam domestica gesta continens: et nisi multorum, quod vix fieri posse arbitror, erret judicium, quod prælo mandetur in primis dignum. Hoc cum jam diu intra privatos parietes conclusum latuisset, quorundam hortatu animum induxi meum, sumptus aliquos et operam meam in eodem divulgando impendere: maxime in eorum gratiam, qui se totos huic nunquam satis laudato studio devoverunt. Ut autem ad hujus operis pleniorem cognitionem, tanquam Theseo filo, ducaris, liceat mihi bona tua cum venia te præmonere, auctorem in sua annorum computatione duas observare series, unam secundum Dionisium, cui in vertice paginæ hæc nota S. D. præfigitur: alteram secundum Evangelium, cui ex adverso S. E. indicis loco præponuntur. Quas quidem series 22 annis inter se discrepare invenies. Quod attinet ad Genealogias in opere, cui titulus est 'Regalis prosapia Anglorum:' quoniam ab Adam usque ad Wodenum apte inter se cohærent, visum est te, amice lector, ad paginam 294 in historia præcedenti remittere. Sed cum a Wodeno ad Heptarchiam descendendo illas multis in locis, tam quoad nomina quam quoad personas, non adeo quidem concinne inter se quadrare perspicerem, operæ pretium duxi, easdem juxta propositum exemplar, fusius et uberius describere, hac interposita lege, et conditione, ut cuique per me liberum sit ea de re sentire quid velit. Quantum ad historiam spectat, ab antiquo exemplari ne latum quidem unguem discessi, quo factum est ut nonnunquam coactus fuerim aliqua manca et mutilata relinquere, cum nullum aliud adesset exemplar quod istius lacunas supplere posset. Hujus operis, ut ante dixi, auctor fuit Florentius ecclesiæ cathedralis Wigorniæ monachus, qui historiam suam ab initio mundi ad annum a partu Virginis 1118 deduxit, in quo vitam una cum opere finivit, quod inde postea ab alio ejusdem cœnobii viro, anonymo, usque ad annum 1141 fuit continuatum: quanto vero ulterius ac nostro sæculo vicinius illa se extendat historia incertus sum, propterea quod libellus unde continuationis illius pars desumitur, aliud est ejusdem auctoris opus, sed imperfectum in fine: quem libellum mihi utendum tradidit dominus Gulielmus Lambardus, cujus multiplicis, et non vulgaris eruditionis passim extant pulcherrima testimonia. Quod solum restat, hortarer te, amice lector, nisi eo te duceret naturæ tuæ candor, ut errata, quæ inter excudendum irrepserunt, studio et ardore meo placendi tibi condones. Quod si feceris, sumptui ac operæ meæ, si quæ fuit, abunde satisfacies: et alios pariter incitabis, ut majorum nostrorum lucubrationes, tenebris obductas, quarum quamplures adhuc extant, ad publicam potius utilitatem divulgent, quam ad suam voluptatem sibi detineant. Vale. Calend. Aug. 1592.'

DC.LXVII. Reges Anglorum nobilissimi, Oswiu provinciæ Northanhimbrorum et Ecgberht Cantuariorum, cum consensu sanctæ ecclesiæ gentis Anglorum, presbiterum nomine Wihardum de clero Deusdedit archiepiscopi, antistitem ordinandum Romam miserunt. Verum ille Romam perveniens, priusquam consecrari in episcopatum posset, morte præreptus est. Ceadda præsul Eboracensis tribus annis ecclesiam [1]sublimiter rexit. Dehinc ad monasterii sui curam quod est in Leastingaig secessit, accipiente Wilfrido episcopatum totius Northanhimbrorum provinciæ.[2] IV. 1.

B DC.LXVIII. Biscop qui et Benedictus, tertio Romam venit. Quo tempore erat Romæ monachus Theodorus, Tharso Ciliciæ natus, sæculari et ecclesiastica philosophia præditus, Græce et Latine sufficienter instructus, probus moribus, annorum LXVI. ætatis. Hunc die VII. Cal. Aprilium Dominica ordinatum archiepiscopum, Biscopio, quia vir sapiens erat ac strenuus, papa Vitalianus Britanniam perducendum, simul et abbatem commendavit Adrianum. Ibid. 26 Mar.

DC.LXIX. Archiepiscopus ^ Theodorus die VI. Cal. Juniarum Dominica Cantiam venit; et Benedicto, qui et Biscopius, monasterium B. Petri apostoli, abbatis jure, regendum dedit. Mox peragrata insula tota, locis oportunis episcopos ordinavit, et ordinationem Ceaddæ denuo catholica ratione consummavit. In civitate etiam Hrofi, ubi defuncto Damiano episcopatus jamdiu cessaverat, Putta C virum ecclesiasticis disciplinis institutum ordinavit: et non multo post mortuo Jarumanno, ac rege Wulfero petente, et rege Oswiu concedente, jussit Ceaddan Merciorum simul et Lindisfarorum pontificatum suscipere. Ille jussis obsecundavit, magnaque vitæ perfectione susceptum ministerium administrare curavit. Cui rex etiam Wulfere terram L. familiarum ad construendum monasterium in loco qui dicitur Ad Bearuwe donavit. 27 Maii. IV. 2. ^ Cantuariensis. IV. 3.

A Theodorus archiepiscopus, eum de episcopatu deposuit, et in loco ejus Saxulfum episcopum ordinavit, constructorem et abbatem monasterii quod dicitur Burh in regione Girviorum. Depositus vero Winfridus ad monasterium suum Bearuue rediit, ibique in optima vitam conversatione finivit. Tum etiam Orientalibus Saxonibus, quibus eo tempore præfuerunt Sæbba et Sigherus, in civitate Lundonia Erconwaldum episcopum constituit: ubi prædecessor ejus Wine sedem episcopatus habuit. Cujus viri scilicet Erconwaldi, et in episcopatu et ante episcopatum, vita et conversatio fertur fuisse sanctissima. Hic fecit duo monasteria, unum sibi, alterum sorori. Suum Certesia dicitur, quod, amminiculo Frithewoldi subreguli, opulentia rerum et monachis implevit. Sororis cœnobium appellatur Berkingum, ubi ipsa primum abbatissa constituitur. Post Erconwaldum

B autem XV., occisus est die Cal. Juniarum XIII., Sabbato. Cui successit in regnum Alhfrid frater ejus, vir in scripturis doctissimus. Hujus regni principio defuncto Eata sanctissimo episcopo, Johannes, vir sanctus, Hagustaldensis ecclesiæ præsulatum suscepit. Sanctissimus vir Domini Trumwine episcopus ^ de terra Pictorum cum suis recessit, et in Streoneshealh locum sibi mansionis elegit, ibique vitam non sibi solummodo, sed et multis utilem plurimo annorum tempore duxit; ubi etiam defunctus, cœleste regnum conscendit. Ceadwalla juvenis strenuissimus de regio genere × Gewissorum, [1]Æthelwalh regem Australium Saxonum, improvise cum exercitu superveniens, interfecit; sed mox expulsus est a ducibus regis Berthuno et Æthelhuno, qui deinceps regnum provinciæ tenuerunt. Centwine rex Occidentalium Saxonum vita decedit, cui præfatus Ceadwalla in C regnum succedit. Qui fuit Cynebrihti, qui fuit Cedde, qui fuit Cutha, qui fuit Ceaulin, qui fuit Cynric, qui fuit Cerdici.

DC.LXXXVI. Wilfridus episcopus, post longum exilium, sedem suam et episcopatum Hagustaldensis ecclesiæ, rege Alhfrido invitante recepit. Johannes vero, defuncto Bosa multæ sanctitatis et humilitatis viro, episcopus pro eo Eboraci substituitur. Ceadwalla rex Gewissorum, ducem Suth-Saxonum Beorthunum occidit, et provinciam illam gravi servitio subegit. Deinde idem ipse, et frater suus Mul Cantiam depopulantur. Post hæc rex ipse Ceadwalla cepit Vectam insulam, quæ eatenus erat tota idolatriæ dedita, et licet nec dum in Christo regeneratus, quartam partem ejus, id est, CCC. familias Wilfrido episcopo utendam pro Domino obtulit. Qua accepta, et * Berwino suo nepoti commendata, verbi
D ministros eidem insulæ destinavit. Duobus annis in episcopatu peractis, vir Domini Cuthbertus episcopus ϒ, divino admonitus oraculo, insulam Farne repetiit. Defuncto Edrico Cantuariorum rege, regnum illud per aliquod temporis spatium, reges dubii vel externi disperdidere.

DC.LXXXVII. Ceadwallæ regis West-Saxonum fratrem Mul et XII. milites ejus flammis injectos Cantuarienses atrociter in ipsa Cantia combusserunt. Unde rex Ceadwalla ira commotus, rursum Cantiam devastat. Reverendissimus pater Cuthbertus, Indictione XV., XIII. Calend. Aprilis, feria IV. in insula Farnæ obiit; sed corpus illius ad insulam Lindisfarnensium relatum, in ecclesia est tumulatum. Cujus episcopatum Wilfrid Hagustaldensis episcopus, anno uno servavit. Successit viro Domini Cuthberto in exercenda vita solitaria vir venerabilis
E Æthelwaldus; cujus meritum et vita qualis fuerat, innumera declarant ab eo patrata miracula. [a] S. Kilianus, Scotus de Hibernia insula natus, Wirziburgensis episcopus, clarus habetur.

DC.LXXXVIII. Abeunte Ceadwalla Romam, suscepit imperium Ini de stirpe regia, qui monasterium quod Glæstingabirig dicitur, construxit[2]. Cujus pater Cenred, cujus pater Ceolwald, cujus pater Cutha, cujus pater Cuthwine, cujus pater Ceaulin. Eodem anno Ætheluulfus rex decimam totius regni sui partem ab omni regali servitio et tributo liberavit, et in sempiterno graphio in cruce Christi, pro redemptione animæ suæ et antecessorum suorum, uni et trino Deo immolavit. Sicque magno cum honore Romam perrexit, filiumque suum Alfredum, quem plus cæteris dilexit, iterum in eandem viam secum ducens, ibi
C anno integro remoratus est. Quo peracto, ad patriam suam remeavit, afferens secum Juthittam, Caroli Francorum regis filiam. Interea tamen Ætheluulfo rege ultra mare tantillo tempore immorante, quædam infamia contra morem omnium Christianorum, in occidentali parte Selwudæ orta est. Nam Æthelbald rex, et Ealhstan Scireburnensis ecclesiæ episcopus, Eanuulf quoque Sumertunensis pagæ comes, conjurasse referuntur, ne unquam Ætheluulf rex a Roma revertens, iterum in regno reciperetur. Quod inauditum omnibus sæculis ante infortunium, episcopo et comiti solummodo perplurimi [8]reputant, ex quorum consilio hoc factum esse perhibetur: multi quoque regali solummodo insolentiæ deputant; quia et ille rex in hac re, et in multis aliis perversitatibus pertinax fuit, sicut quorundam hominum relatu audivimus, quod et rei sequentis approbavit
D effectus. Nam redeunte eo a Roma, prædictus filius regis Ætheluulfi cum omnibus suis consiliariis, immo insiliariis, tantum facinus perpetrare [9]temptati sunt, ut regem a regno proprio repellerent: quod nec Deus ita fieri permisit, nec nobiles totius Saxoniæ consenserunt. Nam ne [10]irremedicabile Saxoniæ periculum, belligerante patre [11]et filio, quin immo tota cum gente ambobus [12]rebellante, atrocius et crudelius per dies singulos quasi clades intestina augeretur; ineffabili patris clementia, omniumque astipulatione nobilium, adunatum antea regnum inter patrem et filium dividitur, et orientales plagæ patri, occidentales filio e contrario deputantur; ubi enim pater justo judicio regnare debuerat, illic iniquus et pertinax filius regnabit: nam occidentalis pars Saxoniæ semper orientali principalior est. Adveniente igitur Ætheluulfo rege a Roma, tota illa gens,
E ut dignum erat, in adventu senioris ita gavisa est, ut, si ille permitteret, pertinacem filium suum Æthelbaldum cum omnibus suis consiliariis a totius regni sorte expellere vellent. Sed ille, ut diximus, nimia clementia et prudenti consilio usus, ne ad regni periculum perveniret, ita fieri noluit: et Juthittam Caroli regis filiam, quam a patre suo acceperat, juxta se in regali solio sine aliqua suorum nobilium controversia et odio, usque ad obitum vitæ suæ, contra perversam illius gentis consuetudinem sedere imperavit. Hoc factum de adolescente quodam regi dilectissimo habetur compertum, quem cum ad regem accusare non posset, veneno eum necavit. De quo veneno etiam præfatus rex Brihtric inscienter gustasse aliquid refertur: neque enim illa venenum dare regi proposuerat, sed puero; sed rex præoccupavit, [1]inde ambo periere. Pro hujusmodi reginæ malitia omnes accolæ illius terræ conjuraverunt, B ut nullum unquam regem super se regnare permitterent, qui reginam in regali solio juxta se sedere imperare vellet. Defuncto igitur Brihtrico rege, cum regina inter Saxones diutius esse non posset, ultra mare navigans cum innumerabilibus thesauris Carolum illum famosissimum Francorum regem adiit. Ad [2]quam cum ante solarium multa regi offerens dona staret, Carolus ait: 'Elige Eadburh quem velis, me aut filium meum, qui in isto solario stat mecum.' At illa sine deliberatione, stulte respondens, ait: 'Si mihi electio conceditur, filium tuum, in quantum te junior est, eligo.' Carolus illi respondens, et subridens, ait: 'Si me eligeres, filium meum haberes; sed quia filium meum elegisti, nec me nec [3]illum habebis.' In quibus, inter alia multa præsentis vitæ bona studia, cogitans de suo ad universitatis viam transitu, ne sui filii post patris obitum indebite inter se disceptarent, hæreditariam scribere imperavit epistolam: in qua et regni inter filios Æthelbaldum et Æthelbertum, et propriæ hæreditatis inter filios et filiam et etiam propinquos; pecuniarum quæ post se superessent inter animam et filios, et etiam nobiles suos divisionem ordinabiliter literis mandare procuravit. In cujus diebus magnus Paganorum exercitus de mari adveniens, Wintoniam civitatem hostiliter invadens, depopulatus est. Cui cum ad naves cum ingenti præda reverterentur, Osric Hantunensium comes cum suis, et Æthelulf comes cum Barrocensibus viriliter obviaverunt, consertoque prælio Pagani passim trucidantur; et cum diutius resistere non possent, muliebriter fugam arripiunt, et Christiani loco funeris dominati sunt. Æthelbertus itaque quinque annis regno pacifice et amabiliter atque honorabiliter gubernato, cum magno suorum dolore viam universitatis adiit, et in Scireburnan juxta fratrem suum v. Asser. A. 866.

Interea tamen vulpino more Pagani noctu clam castris erumpentes, fœdere dirupto, et promissionem pecuniæ spernentes, sciebant enim majorem pecuniam se furtiva præda quam pace adepturos, totam orientalem Cantiæ plagam depopulati sunt. v. DCCC.LXVII. Prædictus Paganorum exercitus de Orientalibus Anglis ad Eboracum civitatem migravit, quæ in aquilonali ripa [9]Humbræ fluminis sita est. Eo tempore maxima inter Northanhimbros discordia diabolico instinctu orta fuerat: sicut semper populo qui odium* incurrerit evenire solet. D super regni apicem constituerant: sed advenientibus Paganis, consilio divino, et optimatum adminiculo, pro communi utilitate discordia illa aliquantulum sedata, Osbriht et Ælla, adunatis viribus congregatoque exercitu, Eboracum oppidum adeunt. Quibus advenientibus, Pagani confestim fugam arripiunt, et intra urbis mœnia se defendere procuraverunt. Quorum fugam et pavorem Christiani cernentes, etiam intra urbis mœnia eos persequi et murum frangere instituunt: quod et fecerunt; non enim tunc adhuc illa civitas firmos et [10]stabilitos muros illis temporibus habebat. Cumque Christiani murum ut proposuerant fregissent, eorumque magna pars in civitatem simul cum Paganis intrassent, Pagani dolore et necessitate compulsi, super eos atrociter irrumpunt, cædunt, fugant, prosternunt intus et extra. Illic maxima ex parte omnes Northanhimbrensium [11]cœtus[12], oc-

Sed Alfred citius et promptius cum suis ad locum prælii venit: nimirum erat enim tunc suus frater Æthered rex in tentorio in oratione positus, audiens missam; nimiumque affirmans se inde non discessurum antequam sacerdos missam finiret, et divinum pro humano nolle deserere servitium: et ita fecit. Quæ regis Christiani fides multum apud Deum valuit, sicut [1]apertius declarabitur in sequentibus. Decreverant ergo Christiani, ut Æthered rex cum suis copiis contra duos Paganos reges sumeret prælium: Alfred vero suus frater, cum suis cohortibus contra omnes Paganorum duces belli sortem sumere debere sciret. Quibus ita firmiter ab utraque parte dispositis, cum rex in oratione diutius moraretur, et Pagani parati ad locum certaminis citius ad-
B venissent; Alfred tunc secundarius, cum diutius hostiles acies ferre non posset, nisi aut bello retrorsum cederet, aut contra hostiles copias ante fratris adventum in bellum prorumperet, demum viriliter, [2]pristino more, Christianas copias contra hostiles exercitus, ut ante proposuerant, quamvis rex adhuc non venerat, dirigens, divino fretus consilio et fultus adjutorio, testudine ordinabiliter condensata, confestim contra hostes vexilla movet. [a]Tandem rex Æthered, finitis quibus occupatus erat orationibus, advenit, et invocato magno mundi Principe, mox se certamini dedit.' Sed in hoc loco nescientibus intimandum est, quod ille locus certaminis belligerantibus inæqualis erat: nam Pagani editiorem locum [3]præoccupaverant, Christiani ab inferiori loco aciem dirigebant. Erat quoque in eodem loco una spinosa arbor, brevis admodum, circa quam hostiles inter se acies cum
C ingenti omnium clamore, illi perperam agentes, isti pro vita et dilectis atque patria pugnaturi, hostiliter conveniunt. Cumque aliquandiu animose nimiumque atrociter hinc et inde utrique pugnarent, Pagani divino judicio Christianorum impetum diutius non ferentes, maxima parte suorum occisa, opprobriosam fugam cepere. Quo in loco alter de duobus Paganorum regibus, et quinque comites occisi occubuerunt; et multa millia illorum in eodem loco, et insuper per totam campestrem Æscesdun latitudinem ubique dispersa et occisa corruerunt. Cecidit ergo illic Bagsegc rex, Sidroc senex comes, Sidroc junior comes, Osbernus comes, Freana comes, Haraldus comes: et totus Paganorum exercitus usque ad noctem, et etiam usque ad diem sequentem, quousque ad arcem qui evaserant pervenerunt, in fugam versus est. His ibi ita gestis, iterum post XIV. dies Æthered
D rex, una cum fratre Alfredo, adunatis viribus contra Paganos pugnaturus, Basengas adiit: quibus hostiliter convenientibus, et diu simul certantibus, Pagani victoria potiuntur. [b]Rursus duobus evolutis mensibus rex Æthered et frater ejus Alfredus cum Paganis, qui se in duas diviserant turmas, apud Meretun pugnantes, diu victores existunt, adversariis omnibus in fugam versis. Sed illis in prælium redeuntibus, multi ex his et ex illis corruunt, et Pagani victoriam accipientes, loco funeris dominantur.' suorum parentum et nutritorum incuria, usque ad XII. ætatis annum illiteratus A permansit: Saxonica tamen poemata die noctuque solers auditor, relatu aliorum sæpissime audiens, docibilis memoriter retinebat. In omni venatoria arte incomparabilis omnibus peritia et fœlicitate, sicut et in cæteris omnibus Dei donis fuit.
Cum ergo quadam die mater sua sibi et fratribus suis quendam Saxonicum poe-maticæ artis librum, quem in manu habebat ostenderet, ait: ‘ Quisquis vestrum discere citius istum [1]codicem poterit, dabo ei illum.’ Qua voce, immo inspiratione, instinctus Alfredus, et pulchritudine principalis literæ illius libri illectus, ita matri respondens inquit: ‘ Verene dabis istum librum uni ex nobis, scilicet illi, qui citissime intelligere et recitare ante te possit?’ Ad hæc illa arridens; ‘ Dabo,’ inquit, ‘ illi.’ Tunc ille statim tollens librum de manu sua, magistrum adiit, et legit: quo lecto, matri retulit et recitavit. Post hæc cursum diurnum, B psalmos quosdam, et orationes multas didicit: quæ omnia in uno libro congregata, in sinu suo die nocteque orationis gratia, inter omnia præsentis vitæ curricula ubique circumducebat. Sed, proh dolor, quod maxime desiderabat, liberalem scilicet artem, desiderio suo non suppetebat, eo quod illo tempore grammatici in toto regno Occidentalium Saxonum non erant.

A. p. 485. Cum autem in primævo juventutis suæ flore mentem suam in Dei mandatis stabilire vellet, seque a carnali desiderio abstinere non posse cerneret; ne offen-misericordiam mentem illius amore suæ servitutis per aliquam infirmitatem, quam C posset sustinere, non tamen quo eum indignum et inutilem in rebus mundanis faceret, corroboraret. Cumque hoc sæpius magna mentis devotione ageret, post aliquantulum intervallum fici dolorem, Dei munere, incurrit: in [2]quo diu et ægre divino nutu, cum Cornubiam venandi causa adiret, et ad quandam ecclesiam orandi causa divertisset, in qua sanctus Guerur requiescit, sanctus etiam Niot ibidem pausat, diu in oratione tacita prostratus, Dei misericordiam deprecabatur, quatinus pro sua immensa clementia stimulos præsentis et infestantis infirmitatis ali-qua qualicunque leviori infirmitate mutaret, ea tamen conditione ut corporaliter exterius illa infirmitas non appareret, ne despectus et inutilis esset. Oratione finita, cœptum iter arripuit, et non multo post tempore, ut in oratione deprecatus D fuerat, se ab illo dolore medicatum esse divinitus sensit, ita ut funditus eradicare-

A chinatione facere; Saxonicos libros recitare, et maxime Saxonica carmina memoriter discere, aliis imperare, solus assidue pro viribus non desinebat. Missam quotidie audire, psalmos [1]quosdam, et orationes, horas diurnas et nocturnas celebrare, et ecclesias nocturno tempore orandi causa, clam suis, adire solebat et frequentabat. Elemosinarum dator largissimus, omnium affabilissimus et jucundissimus; ignotarum rerum investigator solertissimus. Franci autem multi, Frisones, Galli, Pagani, Britones, Scotti, et Armorici, sponte suo se dominio subdiderant, nobiles scilicet et ignobiles: quos omnes sicut propriam gentem, secundum suam dignitatem regebat, diligebat, honorabat, pecunia et potestate ditabat. Episcopos quoque suos, omnemque ecclesiasticum ordinem, comites ac nobiles suos, ministeriales etiam, et omnes familiares admirabili amore diligebat.
B Filios quoque eorum qui in regali familia nutriebantur, non minus propriis diligens, omnibus bonis moribus instituere, et literis imbuere solus die nocteque inter cætera non desinebat.

Cumque regnare prope, quasi invitus, uno mense impleto cœperat, nimirum enim non putabat [2]se nisi divino fultum auxilio, tantam Paganorum* non posse solum sustinere' austeritatem: quin etiam viventibus suis fratribus, cum magna multorum detrimenta sustinuisset, contra universum Paganorum exercitum in monte, qui dicitur Wiltun, qui est in meridiana ripa fluminis Guilou, de quo flumine tota illa paga nominatur, cum paucis et nimium inæquali numero acerrime belligeravit. Et cum hinc inde utrique hostiliter et animose non parva diei parte pugnarent, Pagani ad integrum suum periculum cernentes, et hostium in-
C festationem diutius non ferentes, terga in fugam verterunt. Sed, proh dolor, peraudaciam persequentium decipientes, iterum in prælium prodeunt; et victoriam capientes, loco funeris dominati sunt. Nec hoc cuiquam mirabile videatur, quod Christiani parvum in prælio numerum habebant: erant enim Saxonesmaxima ex parte in uno anno octo contra Paganos præliis populariter attriti; [3]in quibus octo præliis' unus rex Paganorum et novem duces cum innumeris cohortibus occisi periere: exceptis quotidianis nocturnisque irruptionibus innumerabilibus, quas rex Alfredus et singuli duces illius gentis cum suis, etiamque perplures ministri regis contra Paganos infatigabiliter exercebant. In quibus frequentissimis irruptionibus quot millia Paganæ expeditionis occisa perierunt, nisi soli Deo, incognitum est; exceptis his qui in octo prædictis præliis trucidati sunt. Eodem
D quoque anno Saxones cum eisdem Paganis, ea conditione ut ab eis discederent, pacem pepigerunt: quod et impleverunt.[4]

DCCC.LXXVIII. Supra memoratus sæpe exercitus [1]Exancestre deserens, Cippanham, villam regiam, quæ sita est in sinistrali parte Wiltunscire adiit, ibique hiemavit; et multos ejusdem gentis ultra mare compulit hostiliter, et penuria atque pavore navigare, maximaque ex parte omnes regionis illius habitatores suo [2]subdiderunt dominio. Eodem tempore rex Alfredus cum paucis suis nobilibus, et etiam cum quibusdam fasellis, per silvestria et gronnosa Sumertunensis pagæ loca, in magna tribulatione vitam inquietus ducebat: nihil enim habebat v. Asser.
B quo uteretur, nisi quod a Paganis vel etiam a Christianis, qui se Paganorum subdiderant dominio, frequentibus irruptionibus, aut clam aut [3]etiam palam subtraheret.

Eodem anno frater Inguari et Halfdene cum XXIII. navibus de Demetica regione, in qua hiemaverat, post multas ibi Christianorum strages factas, ad Domnaniam enavigavit, ibique a ministris regis cum mille cc. infœlici exitu perperam agens occisus est ante arcem Cynuit; quia in eadem arce multi ministri regis cum suis se concluserant confugii causa. Verum Pagani cum arcem imparatam, atque omnino immunitam, nisi quod mœnia nostro more erecta solummodo haberet, cernerent, non enim effringere moliebantur quia ille locus situ terrarum tutissimus est ab omni parte nisi ab orientali, obsidere eam cœperunt; putantes homines
C illos manum cito daturos, fame, siti, et obsessione coactos, quia nulla aqua illi arci contigua est: quod non ita ut putabant evenit. Nam Christiani antequam talem penuriam omnino [4]subire paterentur, divinitus instigati, multoque melius judicantes aut mortem aut victoriam mereri, diluculo super Paganos ex improviso irrumpunt, et a primo tempore hostes hostiliter cum rege suo maxima ex parte, paucis ad naves per fugam elapsis, prosternunt.

Eodem anno post Pascha Alfred rex cum paucis fecit arcem in loco qui dicitur Æthelingaeig[A], et de ipsa arce semper cum fasellis Sumertunensibus Paganos infatigabiliter debellavit: iterumque in [5]septima hebdomada post Pascha, ad Petram Egbrihti, quæ est in orientali parte saltus qui dicitur Sealuudu, Latine autem 'silva magna,' equitavit; ibique obviaverunt illi omnes accolæ Sumertunen- [A] Athelney.
D sis, Wiltunensis, et Hamtunensis pagæ, qui non ultra mare pro metu Paganorum navigaverant; visoque rege, sicut dignum erat, quasi redivivum post tantas tribulationes recipientes, immenso repleti sunt gaudio, ibique castra metati sunt una nocte. Diluculo vero sequenti rex inde castra commovens, venit ad locum qui dicitur Ecglea, et ibi una nocte castra metatus est. Inde sequenti die vexilla commovens, venit ad locum qui dicitur Ethandun: ubi contra Paganorum exercitum universum cum densa testudine atrociter belligerans, animoseque diu persistens, divino nutu tandem victoria potitus est, et Paganos maxima cæde prostravit. Fugientes vero usque ad arcem persecutus est, et omnia quæ extra arcem invenit, homines scilicet, equos, et pecora, confestim cædens homines, subripuit, et ante portas arcis Paganicæ cum omni exercitu suo viriliter castra metatus est.
E Cumque ibi [6]per XIV. dies moraretur, Pagani fame, frigore, timore, et ad extremum desperatione perterriti, pacem, ea conditione petierunt, ut rex nominatos obsides quantos vellet ab eis acciperet, et ille nullum eis daret; ita tamen qualiter nunquam cum aliquo pacem ante pepigerant. Quorum legatione audita, rex [7]suapte misericordia motus, nominatos quantos voluit obsides ab eis [8]accepit: quibus acceptis Pagani insuper juraverunt se citissime de suo regno exituros; necnon Guthrum rex eorum Christianitatem subire, et baptismum sub manu regis Alfredi accipere promisit. [d] Regis Ælfredi eleemosinæ Indiam Romamque transmissæ tam apud Chronicon Saxonicum quam apud Florentium sub annis 883, 887, et 888, memorantur. De regiis ministris in secunda tertiaque missione convenit uterque, scilicet, comitibus vel aldremannis Æthelmo et Beocca; in prima vero haud ita. Apud Chronicon enim simpliciter Sighelm et Æthelstan vocantur; apud Florentium autem Suithelmus episcopus, quem Asserii Scireburnensis successorem proximum dicit, palam nominatur. Sighelmus quidam, minister regis, testis adest chartæ A. 875 datæ; Sighelmus etiam comes, a Danis A. 905 occisus est: Suithelmus vero in catalogis episcoporum Scireburnensium nusquam, Sighelmus autem quarto loco post Asserium deprehenditur. Cum ergo alias huic Suithelmo multa adversarentur, liceatne conjectare Florentium cum Sighelmo episcopo Sighelmum supra nominatum confudisse, nomenque ejus in Suithelmum perperam immutasse? Huic conjecturæ concinere videretur Will. Malmesburiensis, qui quamvis eadem fere quæ Florentius exhibeat, episcopum tamen Sighelmum vocat.

Ante hujus portam Pagani castellum firmum subito fabricaverunt; nec tamen illam civitatem expugnare potuerunt; quia cives [2]illi se viriliter defenderunt, quousque rex Alfred cum magno exercitu adjutorium illis collaturus supervenit; et tunc Pagani, relicta arce sua, omnibusque equis quos de Francia secum adduxerant derelictis, maxima necnon captivorum suorum parte dimissa, adveniente subito rege, ad naves suas confestim confugiunt. Saxones v. Asser.
B vero derelictos a Paganis captivos et equos statim diripiunt. Pagani itaque magna necessitate compulsi, eadem æstate rursus Franciam adierunt. Eodem anno Alfred Angulsaxonum rex classem suam de Cantia, plenam bellatoribus in Orientales Anglos dirigens, prædandi causa transmisit. Cumque ad ostium Sturæ fluminis venissent, confestim XVI. naves Paganorum ad bellum paratæ obviaverunt eis; initoque navali prælio hinc et inde acriter pugnantes, Pagani omnes occisi, et omnes naves cum omni pecunia eorum captæ sunt. Cumque inde victrix regia classis rediret, Pagani qui orientalem Anglorum regionem inhabitabant, congregatis undecunque navibus, eidem regiæ classi in ostio fluminis in mari obviaverunt; consertoque navali prælio, Pagani victoriam habuerunt. Regem Occidentalium Francorum Carlomannum [3]aprorum venationem′ agentem, sin-
C gulari congressione horrendo dente singularis dilacerans ferus, miserabili funere percussit. Cujus frater Luduuicus tertio anno ante defunctus est, qui et ipse erat Francorum rex. Ipsi etenim ambo filii Luduuici regis Francorum erant, qui supra memorato anno, quo eclipsis solis facta est, defunctus est. Ipse quoque Luduuicus filius Caroli Francorum regis erat, cujus filiam Juthittam Ætheluulfus Occidentalium Saxonum rex, ad reginam sibi paterna voluntate suscepit. Præsenti quoque anno magnus Paganorum exercitus de Germania, in regionem Antiquorum Saxonum supervenit; contra quos adunatis viribus iidem Saxones et Frisones bis in uno anno viriliter pugnaverunt. In quibus duobus bellis Christiani, divina misericordia opitulante, victoriam habuere. Eodem insuper anno Carolus[x] Ala- [x] Crassus.
D mannorum rex, Occidentalium Francorum regnum, et omnia regna quæ sunt inter mare [4]Terrenum, illumque marinum sinum qui inter Antiquos Saxones et Gallos adjacet, voluntario omnium consensu accepit, absque Armoricano regno. Qui Carolus Luduuici regis filius erat. Ipse vero Luduuicus germanus fuit Caroli regis Francorum, patris Juthittæ prædictæ: qui duo germani fuerunt filii Luduuici; Luduuicus vero ille filius [b]Pippini. Eodem quoque anno Paganorum exercitus, qui in Orientalibus Anglis habitavit, pacem, quam cum Alfredo rege pepigerat, opprobriose fregit.[5]

DCCC.LXXXVI. Memoratus sæpe exercitus Paganorum, Orientali Francia derelicta, iterum in Occidentalium Francorum regionem venit, et in ostium fluminis quod Sequana dicitur intrans, contraque longe navigans, [6]Parisiam civitatem adiit, ibique hiemavit. quens incolumem, eo quod sibimet aliter proficere non poterat, classem suam contra Sequanam longe remigando tamdiu direxit, donec ad ostium fluminis quod Materne nominatur pervenisset; tunc Sequanam deserentes, in ostium fluminis Materne divertunt. Contra quod diu ac longe navigantes, demum non sine labore usque ad locum qui dicitur [A] Caziei, id est 'villa regia,' pervenerunt; in quo loco anno integro hiemaverunt. Sequenti anno in ostium fluminis quod dicitur Iona intraverunt, non sine magno regionis damno; et illic remorati sunt uno anno. Eodem anno Carolus Francorum rex viam [1] universitatis adiit; sed Arnulfus filius fratris sui, sexta antequam defunctus esset hebdomada, illum regno expulerat. Quo statim defuncto, quinque reges ordinati sunt, regnumque in quinque partes divisum est; sed tamen principalis sedes regni ad Arnulfum juste et merito pervenit, nisi solummodo quod in patruum suum indigne peccavit. Cæteri quatuor reges fidelitatem et obedientiam Arnulfo, sicut dignum erat, promiserunt: nullus enim illorum quatuor regum hæreditarius illius regni erat in paterna parte, nisi solus Arnulfus. Quinque itaque reges confestim Carolo moriente ordinati sunt; sed imperium penes Arnulfum remansit. Talis ergo illius regni extitit divisio. Arnulfus orientales regiones [2] Hreni fluminis, [3] Hrothulf quoque internam partem regni, Oda [4] occidentale regnum, [5] Beorngar et Witha Longobardiam, necnon et illas partes quæ in illa parte montis sunt. Nec tamen tanta et talia regna inter se pacifice servaverunt: nam bis pleno prælio inter se belligeravere, illaque regna persæpe invicem devastavere, et unusquisque alterum de regno [6] expulit. Eodem quoque anno Athelelmus Wiltoniensium comes, Alfredi regis et Saxonum elemosinas Romam deportavit. Quo etiam anno sæpe memoratus Alfred Angulsaxonum rex, divino instinctu [7] legere et interpretari 11 Nov. simul uno eodemque tempore primitus inchoavit, in sancta videlicet B. Martini Turonensis episcopi solennitate. Erat itaque rex ille, quamvis in regia potestate constitutus, multis tribulationum clavis confossus. Nam, ut diximus, a vigesimo ætatis anno, usque ad quadragesimum quintum, et eo amplius, gravissima incogniti doloris infestatione incessanter fatigabatur; adeo ut ne unius quidem horæ securitatem haberet, quo aut illam infirmitatem non sustineret, aut sub illius formidine lugubriter constitutus non desperaret. Præterea assiduis exterarum gentium infestationibus, quas sedulo terra marique sine ullius quieti temporis intervallo sustinebat, inquietabatur. Quid loquar de frequentibus contra Paganos expeditionibus, de bellis, de incessabilibus regni gubernaculis, de civitatibus et urbibus renovandis, et aliis ubi nunquam antea fuerant construendis, de ædificiis aureis et argenteis incomparabiliter illo edocente fabricatis, de aulis et [8] cambris regalibus lapideis et ligneis suo jussu mirabiliter constructis, de villis regalibus lapideis antiqua positione mutatis, et in decentioribus locis regali imperio decentissime constructis? Divino sane fultus adminiculo solus regni gubernaculum semel susceptum, titubare ac vacillare, quamvis inter *fluctivagas ac *multimodas præsentis vitæ turbines, non sinebat. Nam assidue suos episcopos, comites, ac nobilissimos sibique dilectissimos ministros, et præpositos suos, leniter docendo, hortando, imperando, ad ultimum inobedientes post longam patientiam acrius castigando, vulgarem stultitiam et pertinaciam omnimodo abhominando, ad suam voluntatem, et ad communem totius regni utilitatem sapientissime attrahebat. At si inter regalia exhortamenta, propter pigritiam populi imperata non implerentur, aut tarde incepta, tempore necessitatis ad utilitatem exercentium minus finita non [9] pervenirent, ut de castellis ab eo imperatis adhuc non inceptis loquar, aut nimium tarde inceptis ad perfectum finem non perductis, et hostiles copiæ terra marique irrumperent, tunc contradictores imperalium definitionum sera pœnitentia attriti, regalia se præcepta incuriose despexisse doluere, regalemque sapientiam collaudantes, quod antea refutavere, totis viribus implere promisere. Inter cætera quæ idem rex gessit bona, duo [10] construere imperavit monasteria:

A unum monachorum in loco qui dicitur [a]Æthelingaeig; ubi diversi generis monachis coadunatis, primitus Johannem presbiterum et monachum genere Ealdsaxonum, abbatem constituit. Aliud quoque monasterium juxta orientalem portam Sceaftesbyrig habitationi sanctimonialium habile idem rex [1]ædificare imperavit; in quo propriam filiam Æthelgeofu, devotam Deo virginem, abbatissam constituit; quæ duo monasteria terrarum possessionibus, omnibusque divitiis locupletatim ditavit. Ad hæc etiam dimidiam partem omnium divitiarum, quæ annualiter ad eum cum justitia acquisitæ pervenire consueverant, Deo devote et fideliter se daturum spospondit; quod [2]mira mentis alacritate sapienter adimplere studuit. Denique consilio divinitus invento, omnium uniuscujusque anni censuum successum bifarie primitus ministros suos dividere æquali lance imperavit. His
B ita divisis, partem primam in tres portiones sequestrari præcepit. Quarum primam suis ministris nobilibus, qui in cultu regio vicissim commorabantur in pluribus ministrantes ministeriis, annualiter largiebatur. In tribus namque cohortibus præfati regis satellites prudentissime dividebantur, adeo ut prima cohors uno mense in cultu regio die noctuque administrans commoraretur: menseque finito, et alia cohorte adveniente, prima domum redibat, et ibi propriis [3]quis necessitatibus studens, duobus commorabatur mensibus. Secunda itaque cohors mense peracto, adveniente tertia, domum redibat, ut ibi duobus commoraretur mensibus: sed et illa, finito unius mensis ministerio, et adveniente prima cohorte, domum redibat, ibidem duobus commoratura mensibus. Hoc ordine omni vitæ suæ tempore talium vicissitudinum in regali cultu rotabatur administratio. Secundam vero
C partem operatoribus, quos ex multis gentibus collectos vel etiam comparatos propemodum innumerabiles habebat, in omni terreno ædificio edoctos. Tertiam autem advenis ex omni gente ad eum venientibus, longe propeque positis, et pecuniam ab illo exigentibus, etiam et non exigentibus, mirabili dispensatione hilariter impendebat. Secundam autem partem omnium divitiarum suarum, quæ annualiter ad eum ex omni censu [4]perveniebant, in quatuor æquas partes curiose suos ministros dividere imperavit, ea conditione, ut prima pars pauperibus uniuscujusque gentis, qui ad eum veniebant discretissime erogaretur; secundam duobus monasteriis, quæ ipse fieri imperaverat, et in his Deo servientibus; tertiam scholæ, quam ex multis gentis suæ nobilibus, et etiam pueris ignobilibus, studiosissime congregaverat; quartam circum finitimis in omni Sax-
D onia et Mercia monasteriis et etiam quibusdam annis per vices in Britannia, Cornubia, Gallia, Armorica, Northimbria, et in Hibernia, ecclesiis secundum possibilitatem suam distribuit. His ita ab eo ordinabiliter dispositis, dimidiam etiam partem servitii mentis et corporis, in quantum infirmitas, possibilitas, atque suppetentia permitteret, diurno scilicet ac nocturno tempore, totis viribus se redditurum Deo spospondit. Unde excogitare cœpit qua ratione promissum voti sui tenorem letho tenus incommutabiliter conservare posset. Tandem invento utili discretoque consilio, sibi ceram [5]sufficienter offerri, et ad denarios pensare in trutina præcepit. Cumque tanta cera mensurata fuisset quæ LXXII. denarios pensaret, sex candelas, unamquamque æqua lance capellanis suis inde facere mandavit, ita ut unaquæque candela XII. uncias pollicis in se signatas in longi-
E tudine haberet. Itaque hac reperta ratione, sex illæ candelæ per XXIV. horas die noctuque sine defectu coram multorum sanctorum reliquiis, quæ semper cum eo ubique comitabantur, ardebant. Erat præterea rex idem in exequendis judiciis, sicut in cæteris aliis omnibus rebus, discretissimus indagator. Nam omnia pene totius regionis suæ judicia quæ in absentia sua fiebant, sagaciter investigabat qualia fierent, justa aut etiam injusta, aut si aliquam in illis judiciis iniquitatem intelligere posset, leniter illos ipsos judices, aut per se ipsum aut per alios suos fideles, quoslibet interrogabat, quare tam nequiter judicassent: utrum per ignorantiam, aut propter aliam quamlibet malevolentiam; id est, utrum pro aliquorum amore, vel timore, aut odio, aut etiam pro alicujus

Quo domum redeunte, et Alfredo rege cum sui exercitus medietate illo properante, Pagani, quia rex illorum oppido vul-

Rex vero Alfredus nondum ad expugnandum hostem iter peregerat, et ecce, nunciatur ei Paganos Northimbriam et East-Angliam incolentes CC.XL. naves congregasse, et quosdam illorum australem Angliæ plagam centum navibus, quosdam vero septentrionalem plagam XL. navibus circumnavigasse; illos Eaxanceastram, istos arcem quandam apud Domnaniam non modica manu obsedisse. His auditis, non hostium audacia in timorem, sed de suis in obsidione relictis, rex vertitur in furorem. Uxorem quoque regis Haesten cum duobus filiis, priusquam ille Beanflotam a præda rediret, ceperunt, et ad regem Alfredum perduxerunt. Quibus ille nil mali intulit, nam alter suus ut diximus, alter Ætheredi ducis erat filiolus, sed pace denuo stabilita, obsidibusque datis, roganti patri non solum uxorem et filios, verumetiam non modicum pecuniæ reddidit. Qui denique prædictorum suorum labore sollicitatus, postquam Exanceastram advenerat, Pagani adventu illius territi,[ʌ] naves petunt; sicque suas sedes repetentes, prope civitatem, quæ lingua Anglorum Cissaceastre dicitur, in provincia Australium Saxonum, prædam agunt. Sed ab urbem inhabitantibus fugati, maximaque pars illorum vulnerata et cæsa, quampluresque de navibus eorum captæ sunt. Quorum nimiam infestationem duces nobilissimi, Ætheredus, Athelmus, Athelnothus, cæterique ministri regis, quos ipse præsidii causa per munitiones, per oppida, per urbes, non solum in orientali plaga Pedredan, sed etiam in occidentali plaga Sealuudu, nec solum in australi, sed et in septentrionali plaga fluminis Thamensis constituerat, non ferentes, in hostem haud modicum congregant exercitum, Walensibus qui in occidentale Sabrinæ plagam inhabitabant, sibi in auxilium occurrentibus. Conglobati itaque in unum, hostem vadunt insecutum, quem apud Buttingtun in ripa Sabrinæ fluminis sitam [2]comprehendunt, et mox in quam fugerant munitionem ex utraque parte amnis obsidere cœperunt. Multis autem peractis hebdomadibus, Paganorum quidam fame moriuntur, quidam vero, equis jam [3]comesis, e′ munitione erumpentes, cum illis qui in orientali parte fluminis erant, prælium committunt. Sed multis Paganorum millibus cæsis, cæterisque omnibus in fugam versis, Christiani loco funeris dominantur. In qua pugna Ordeah nobilissimus, multique de ministris regis occisi sunt. Cumque Pagani qui aufugerant, East-Saxoniam reversi, ad suas munitiones et ad naves venissent, hieme jam incumbente magnum rursus de East-Anglia et Northimbria exercitum congregant. Commendatisque uxoribus, pecunia, navibusque suis in East-Anglia, relictisque munitionibus, sine intermissione iter agunt, et civitatem Legionum[ϒ] [a]tunc temporis desertam,′ quæ Saxonice 'Legeceastre' dicitur, priusquam regis Alfredi et Ætheredi subreguli exercitus, qui illos insecutus est, assequi poterant, intrant. Nonnullos tamen illorum comprehendentes interficiunt, pecudes et pecora quæ deprædando ceperant, excutiunt, biduo civitatem obsident, segetes partim igne comburunt, partim sonipedibus distribuunt. Hæc acta sunt post anni circulum, ex quo de partibus Gallicis ostium amnis Limenæ intraverant.

A DCCC.XCVI. Æstatis tempore, magna pars civium Lundoniensium, et de vicinis locis quamplures, munitionem quam sibi Pagani ædificarant, destruere moliuntur; sed illis fortiter resistentibus, Christiani in fugam vertuntur, quatuorque de ministris regis Alfredi occiduntur. Ipse autem rex, autumnali tempore, non longe ab urbe castra metatus est, ea de causa, ne Pagani messem [1]provincialibus [2]per vim′ auferrent. Quodam vero dierum per ripas [3]amnis rex equitans, consideravit quonam in loco alveum illius obstrueret, ne Dani suas extrahere naves possent: nec mora, ex utraque parte amnis obstructuram fieri [4]mandavit. Quod ubi Paganis innotuit, uxoribus in East-Anglia denuo commendatis, navibusque relictis, locum qui Quatbricg dicitur, pedestres celeri fuga petunt; constructaque sibi munitione, hiemem ibidem exigunt. Quarum [5]navium Lundonienses quas-
B dam Lundoniam vehunt, quasdam vero penitus confringunt.

DCCC.XCVII. ʌÆstivo tempore, Paganorum exercitus, qui apud Quatbricge hiemaverat, pars quædam East-Angliam, pars quædam Northimbriam petit; ex quibus nonnulli ibidem remanserunt, nonnulli vero, navibus acquisitis, sæpe dictum flumen Sequanam adierunt. O quam crebris vexationibus, quam gravibus laboribus, quam diris [6]et lamentabilibus modis, non solum a Danis, qui partes Angliæ tunc temporis occupaverant, verum etiam ab his Satanæ filiis tota vexata est Anglia. Multo magis tamen per triennium, et animalium peste, et hominum mortalitate nobiliorum, maxime regis ministrorum, qui per idem tempus defuncti sunt, vexabatur. In quibus erat Suithulfus Rhofensis ecclesiæ præsul, Ealheardus Dorkecestrensis episcopus, Ceolmundus dux Cantuariorum,
C Beorhtulfus dux Orientalium Saxonum, Eadulfus in Suth-Saxonia regis minister, Beornulfus Wintoniensium præpositus, Ecgulfus strator regius, et quamplures alii, licet hii essent nobilissimi. Eodem anno exercitus Paganorum in East-Anglia et Northimbria residentium, furtivam prædam circa ripas maris agentes, terram Occidentalium Saxonum graviter vexabant, maxime longis celeribusque navibus, quas ipsi ante plures annos fabricaverant. Adversum quos bis longiores, altiores, celeriores, minusque nutantes, ex præcepto regis Alfredi fabricantur naves, quarum violentia prædictæ hostium naves superari possent. Quibus in mare missis, mandat rex ut quos capere possent, vivos caperent, ×et quos vivos capere nequirent, occiderent. Unde actum est ut eodem anno, xx. naves Danicorum piratarum caperentur, quorum quidam occiduntur, quidam ad regem vivi
D ducuntur, et in patibulo suspenduntur.[7]

DCCCC.XIV. Post Pascha[ʌ] exercitus Paganorum de Northamtune et de [×]Leogereceastre, in Oxenefordensi provincia prædam egerunt, et in regia villa Hokenertune, et in multis aliis villis quam plures occiderunt. Quibus domum reversis, alius mox equitatus paratur, et in provinciam Heortfordensem versus Ligetun mittitur. Sed illis ad obsistendum provinciales confluebant, et multis ex eis occisis, cæterisque in fugam versis, equos nonnullos, et arma illorum quamplura extorquebant, prædamque quam ceperant, reducebant. Relictis quibusdam ad ædificationem urbis in australi plaga Ligei amnis, rex Eadwardus post Rogationes[ϒ], cum majori parte exercitus, East-Saxoniam profectus, in Mealdune castra posuit: ubi tam diu moratus est donec apud [1]Witham urbs ædificaretur, et ædificata firmaretur: cui magna pars populi, quæ sub manibus Paganorum erat, cum suis omnibus se dedebant. Æstatis initio Ægelfleda Merciorum domina cum Mercensibus, ad [+]Tomeweorthigina perrexit, Deique auxilio ipsam urbem restauravit. Deinde Stæffordam tetendit, et in septentrionali plaga Sowæ amnis arcem construxit. Hiems nimis magna et dura.[2]

DCCCC.XV. Defuncto Wicciorum episcopo Werefertho, magnæ scientiæ et sanctitatis viro, Æthelhun [3]abbas de Beorclea′ successit. [ʌ]Æstatis initio Ægelfleda Merciorum domina urbem condidit, quæ Eadesbyrig vocatur, et in fine autumni alteram, quæ Werewic nominatur. [×]Pagani piratæ, qui ferme ante XIX. annos[ϒ] derelicta Britannia Gallicas partes adierant, de provincia quæ [+]Lydwiccum dicitur, ducibus [4]cum duobus′ Ohtero et Rhoaldo, Angliam redeunt, et circumnavigata West-Saxonia et Cornubia, tandem Sabrinæ fluminis ostium ingrediuntur: nec mora, terras Septentrionalium Britonum invadunt, et cuncta quæ circa fluminis ripam reperiunt, pene diripiunt. Captum quoque in campo, Yrcenefeld nuncupato, Britonum episcopum [ʌ] Cymelgeac, lætantes non modicum, ad naves deducunt secum: quem, non multo post, XL. libris argenti rex redemit Eadwardus. Nec diu, omnis exercitus navibus exiliunt, versusque prædictum campum depredationis causa iter arripiunt: sed eis repente Herefordenses et Glauuornenses, quampluresque ex vicinis urbibus occurrunt, et cum eis prælium committunt. Dux hostium Rhoaldus fraterque ducis alterius Ohteres, magnaque pars exercitus interficiuntur, cæteri in fugam vertuntur, et a Christianis in quoddam [*]sepum coguntur: ubi tamdiu obsidentur, quoad obsides ea conditione darentur, ut quam citius possent, de regno regis Eadwardi exirent. Idem itaque rex in australi plaga Sabrinæ fluminis, a Cornubia ad ostium fluminis Avenæ, oportuna per loca suum diviserat exercitum, ne piratæ regiones illarum vastarent provinciarum. Verum illi nocturno sub tempore in plaga orientali [×]Weced, et rursus in loco qui [ϒ]Portlocon dicitur, relictis in littore navibus, furtivam agunt prædam; sed utraque vice cæsi sunt omnes ab exercitu regis, præter illos qui ad naves turpiter refugerant. DCCCC.XVIII. Ex præcepto regis Eadwardi civitas quæ Toueceastre dicitur, ante Pascha[X], et altera post Pascha circa Rogationes apud Wiggingamere conditur. Post Nativitatem S. Johannis Baptistæ[Y], Pagani de Northamtuna et de Leogerecestre, statuta pace violata, Toueceastran adeunt, quam per totum diem impugnantes, expugnare moliuntur: sed illis qui intus erant summis viribus resistentibus, sibique in auxilium vicinis accurrentibus, omnes in fugam vertuntur. Deinde frequenter in provincia Bukingamensi noctu super imparatos irruentes, non solum de hominibus, sed et de jumentis prædam agunt, multosque inter Birnwuda et Ægelesbyrig interficiunt. Eodem tempore Paganorum exercitus qui East-Angliam et Huntandun inhabitabant, relicta munitione quam in Huntandun firmaverant, in loco qui dicitur Temeseforda firmiorem sibi construxere: arbitrantes sane terram sibi ablatam inde se certamine recuperaturos esse. Inde ad expugnandam Bedefordam prosiliunt. Verum adventu illorum cognito, urbem qui custodiunt, ipsis in prælium occurrunt. Congrediuntur: hostes vincuntur, in fugam vertuntur, plurimi interficiuntur. Parvo interjecto tempore rursus de East-Anglia, East-Saxonia, et de Mercia Pagani conglobati, urbem quæ [2] Winganmere dicitur, adeunt: et per totum fere diem impugnare non desinunt. Sed qui intus erant viriliter illam defendebant, hostesque abigebant: qui recedentes, maximam secum prædam reducunt. Post hæc, ipso æstatis tempore, de proximis civitatibus et regionibus, quæ sub potestate regis Eadwardi erant, multus populus undecunque collectus, Temesfordam pergunt, eamque obsident, impugnant, expugnant, incendunt, diruunt, [3] regemque Paganorum ducemque [4] Toglea cum filio suo, comite videlicet Mannano, fratrem quoque illius, omnesque se defendere volentes interficiunt; reliquos capiunt, [5] et quæque reperiunt tollunt. Exinde Danorum vires paulatim decrescebant, Anglorum vero indies crescebant. Ægelfleda Merciorum domina, ante Cal. Augusti Dorbeiam infringendo expugnavit, ipsamque provinciam obtinuit. Cujus ministri quatuor de charioribus in porta urbis fortiter pugnantes occisi sunt. Autumnali post hæc tempore, de Cantia, Suthregia, East-Saxonia, et de urbibus regionibusque in vicino positis, non parva multitudo populi in unum congregati, unanimiter Coleceastram adiit; quam obsidione cingentes, tam diu impugnant donec expugnent. Omnes autem, exceptis paucis qui aufugerant, interficiunt, et quicquid intus reperiunt, diripiunt. Quod Dani East-Angliam incolentes, graviter ferentes [6] suamque injuriam ulcisci cupientes, cum piratis quos in auxilium sibi contraxerant, ad Mealdunam profecti sunt, et eam tamdiu obsidentes impugnabant, quoad Anglis de finitimis locis auxiliarii venissent. Quos cum Dani adventare [7] audissent, ab urbis impugnatione recesserunt. Hoc viso, Angli illos magno impetu persecuti, multa millia et de piratis et de cæteris prostraverunt, reliquos vero fugaverunt. Non multo post rex invictissimus Eadwardus, West-Saxonicam expeditionem ad [8] Passaham duxit, et tamdiu [9] ibi consedit, donec urbs Toueceastra lapideo cingeretur muro. Unde Danicus comes Thurferthus, quia regis diutius strenuitati resistere non valebat, cum civibus et provincialibus Northamtunensibus Danis et Anglis, regi se dedebat. His gestis, rex domum rediit, aliumque exercitum ad Huntandun e vestigio misit, ut civitatem resarcirent et renovarent, et in ea custodes ponerent. Verum dux Alfricus clanculo nuntium ad hostes mittens, hortatur ut sibi consulerent, [2]et præcaverent ne ab exercitu regis [3]de improviso' circumvenirentur. Ipse vero dux, exemplum flagitii singulare, nocte quæ præcessit diem quo cum Danis Angli statuerant fortiter dimicare, clam omnibus ad classem profugit Danicam, et cum eis mox fœdam iniit fugam. Quod ubi cognovit classis regia, fugientes insequitur: nec mora, una ex illis tantum navis capitur, omnique in ea multitudine cæsa spoliatur, cæteris per fugam lapsis, solum Lundonienses cum Orientalibus Anglis fortuito casu occurrerunt, commissoque prælio, multa millia

A naves, duces exercitus [1]de die′ in diem moram cœptis innectentes, populum graviter vexabant. Ad ultimum vero nec classica, nec pedestris manus quiçquam communis utilitatis agebat, præter populi laborem, pecuniæ perditionem, hostium incitationem.

M. [a]Danorum classis præfata, hoc anno, Normanniam petit[b]. Rex Æthelredus terram Cumbrorum fere totam depopulatus est. Hic suæ classi mandavit, ut circumnavigata Septentrionali Britannia, in loco constituto sibi occurreret: sed vi ventorum præpedita non potuit; insulam tamen, quæ Monege dicitur, devastavit.[c]

M.I. Inventio corporis S. Ivonis archiepiscopi. Memoratus Paganorum exercitus, de Normannia Angliam revectus, ostium fluminis Eaxæ ingreditur, et mox
B ad expugnandam urbem Eaxanceastram egreditur: sed dum murum illius destruere [2]moliretur, a civibus, urbem viriliter defendentibus, repellitur. Unde nimis exasperatus, more solito villas succendendo, agros depopulando, homines cædendo, per Domnaniam vagatur. Quare Domnanienses et Sumersetunenses, in unum congregati, in loco qui dicitur Penho, certamen cum eis ineunt: sed Angli pro militum paucitate Danorum multitudinem non ferentes, fugam capessunt; illi vero multa strage facta victores existunt. Deinde [3]adeptis caballis,′ per totam fere Domnaniam pejora prioribus mala gesserunt, ingentique præda capta, naves repetierunt. Inde ad Vectam insulam cursum direxerunt, et modo in ea, modo in Suthamtonia, modo in Dorsetania, nullo obsistente, diu solitæ prædæ [4]insistentes, et in homines ferro, et in villas igne sunt in tantum grassati,
C ut cum illis nec classica manus navali, nec pedestris exercitus certare auderet prælio terrestri: idcirco et regi non parva mœstitia, et populo indicibilis inerat tristitia.

ʌ/ Marianus. M.III. ʌOctavianus c.xxxviii. papa.′ Hoc anno rex Danorum Suuein per [1]in- A silium, incuriam, et traditionem Normanici comitis Hugonis, quem regina Emma Domnaniæ [2]præfecit, civitatem Eaxanceastram infregit, spoliavit, murum ab orientali usque ad occidentalem portam destruxit, et cum ingenti præda naves repetiit. Post hæc autem, cum Wiltuniensem provinciam devastaret, fortis exercitus de Suthamtunensi et Wiltunensi provinciis congregatus, viriliter et constanter adversus hostes pugnaturus ascendit. Sed cum tam prope essent exercitus, ut alter alterum videre [3]potuisset, Alfricus dux supra memoratus, qui loco ducis Anglis tunc extitit, antiquas artes statim prodidit, et simulata infirmitate vomere cœpit, dicens se magnam infirmitatem incurrisse, et ob hoc cum hostibus [4]non posse′ dimicare. Cujus inertiam et timiditatem ut vidit exercitus, a suis inimicis sine pugna divertit mœstissimus. Unde dictum est in anti- B

M.IV. Rex Danorum Suuein cum sua classe Northwic advectus, illam devastavit et incendit. Tunc magnæ strenuitatis dux East-Anglorum Ulfketellus, quia ex improviso venit, nec contra eum spatium congregandi exercitum habuit, cum majoribus East-Angliæ habito consilio, pacem cum eo pepigit. Verum ille, dirupto fœdere, tertia post hæc hebdomada, cum copiis suis latenter e navibus pro- C

Quo cognito, dux Ulfketellus quibusdam de provincialibus mandavit, ut hostium naves confringerent; at illi vel non audebant, vel jussa [5]perficere negligebant. Ipse vero interim quam citius potuit clam suum congregans exercitum, adversus hostes audacter ascendit: quibus ad naves repedantibus, non æqua manu militum illis occurrit, durissimumque cum eis prælium commisit, multisque ex his et illis cæsis, nobiliores quique de East-Anglia corruerunt; Dani vero vix evaserunt. Sed si vires East-Anglorum jam adessent, nullo modo naves suas repeterent. Ut enim ipsi testati sunt, durius et asperius bellum in Anglia nunquam experti sunt, quam illis dux Ulfketellus intulerat.[a]

Parvo interjecto tempore, filii ejus Wulfheagus, et [1]Ufegetus, jussu regis Æthelredi, apud Cocham, ubi ipse tunc degebat, cæcati sunt. Kenulfus Wintoniensis episcopus obiit, cui Æthelwoldus successit. Mense dehinc Julio, Danorum classis innumera Angliam advecta, portum Sandicum subiit, et cæde ac incendio obvia quæque consumens, modo in Cantia, modo in Suth-Saxonia maximam prædam egit. Ob hæc rex Æthelredus de Mercia et West-Saxonia exercitum congregavit, et cum eis fortiter dimicare statuit: sed illi cum eo palam confligere nullatenus voluerunt, verum nunc in his, nunc in illis locis rapinas [2]frequentes exercuerunt, et mox ad naves [3]more solito repedabant; eoque modo per totum autumnum

Inde moventes, Eascesdune transito, Cuuicelmeslawe adierunt. Unde per aliam viam revertentes, juxta Kenetan incolas loci paratos ad prælium offenderunt, statimque cum eis commiserunt, illosque fugaverunt; et postmodum cum præda quam ceperant, ad naves repedarunt.

M.VII. [y]Ciclus decennovenalis XXVI. incipit, Indictione V.' [a]Hoc anno rex [y] Marianus.
Anglorum Æthelredus cum consilio primatum suorum nuncios ad Danos legans,
C eis nunciare mandavit, quod sumptus et tributum eo tenore illis dare vellet, ut a rapinis desisterent, et pacem cum eo firmam tenerent. Cujus postulationi consenserunt: et ex eo tempore de tota Anglia sumptus [4]illis dabatur; et tributum, quod erat XXXVI. millia librarum, persolvebatur[b]. Quo etiam anno rex, Edricum supra memoratum Ægelrici filium, hominem humili quidem genere, sed cui lingua divitias ac nobilitatem comparaverat, callentem ingenio, suavem eloquio, et qui omnes id temporis mortales tum invidia atque perfidia, tum superbia et crudelitate superavit, Merciorum constituit ducem[c]. Cujus fratres extiterunt Brihtricus, Alfricus, Goda, Agelwinus, Agelwardus, [5]Agelmerus pater Wulnothi, patris West-Saxonum ducis Godwini.

M.VIII. [x]Ciclus solaris incipit, IV. concurrentibus bissextilibus.' Rex Anglorum [x] Marianus.
D Æthelredus de CCC.X. cassatis unam trierem, de novem vero loricam et cassidem fieri, et per totam Angliam naves intente præcepit fabricari. Quibus paratis, electos in eis milites cum alimentis posuit, et ut ab exterorum irruptionibus fines regni sui defenderent, illas ad Sandicum portum congregavit. Eo tempore, vel paulo ante, frater perfidi ducis Edrici Streonæ Brihtricus, homo lubricus, ambitiosus et superbus, apud regem injuste accusavit [6]Suth-Saxonum ministrum Wulnothum; qui ne caperetur, mox fugam iniit, et XX. navibus acquisitis, circa ripas maris rapinas frequentes exercuit. Ubi autem regiæ classi nunciatum est, quod si quis vellet, illum facile capere posset, LXXX. trieribus assumptis ad persequendum illum Brihtricus profectus est: sed cum diu prospere navigasset, subito validissima tempestas oborta naves diverberavit, conquassavit, et in aridam projecit;
E quas Wulnothus non multo post exussit. Ea re cognita, rex cum ducibus et proceribus domum rediit, classis vero jussu illius Lundoniam adiit; sicque totius populi maximus labor periit.[d]

Deinde ambæ Sandicum portum [2] adeunt, et e navibus prosilientes, civitatem Cantuariam hostiliter adeunt, eamque effringere cœperunt. A quibus mox cives Cantuarienses, cum Orientalibus Cantuariis dextras petentes, acceperunt, et eis iii. libras pro firma pace dederunt. M.XIII. Livingus [2] archipræsulatum Doroberniæ suscepit. Mense Julio rex Danorum Suanus cum valida classe ad Sandicum portum est appulsus, ibique paucis diebus moratus, discessit; et East-Anglia circumnavigata, ostium [3] Humbræ fluminis intravit, de quo in flumen Trentam intravit, Geainesburh navigavit, ubi et castra posuit. Cui sine cunctatione comes Uhtredus et Northimbrenses, et Lindisienses primitus, deinde Fifburgenses, mox etiam omnis populus qui habitabat in septentrionali plaga Weatlingastreate, id est strata quam filii Weatlæ regis ab Orientali mare usque ad Occidentale per Angliam straverunt, deditionem obtulerunt, et pace cum illo stabilita, obsidibusque datis, fidelitatem ei juraverunt; quibus præcepit, ut equos et alimenta suo exercitui pararent. His impletis, et classe cum obsidibus Canuto filio suo commendata, sibi lectos auxiliarios de deditis sumens, adversus Australes Mercios expeditionem movit, et pertransita Weatlingastreta, suis edictum posuit, videlicet ut agros devastarent, villas cremarent, ecclesias spoliarent, quicquid masculini sexus in manus veniret, sine respectu misericordiæ jugularent, [4] fœminas ad suam libidinem explendam reservarent, et omnia quæ possent mala peragerent. Quibus ita facientibus, et rabie ferina debacchantibus, venit Oxenefordam, et illam citius quam putavit obtinuit, obsidibusque acceptis, festinato Wintoniam properavit. Quo cum venisset, crudelitatis ejus magnitudine cives Wintonienses perterriti, pacem cum eo sine mora fecerunt, et obsides quos [5] libuit, [6] vel quot expetivit, dederunt. Quibus acceptis, versus Lundoniam movit exercitum, de quo multi in Thamensi flumine submersi interierunt, quia nunquam pontem [7] neque vadum quærere voluerunt. Cumque Lundoniam venisset, multis modis illam vel dolo capere, vel vi expugnare conatus est. Sed rex Anglorum Æthelredus cum civibus, et juvamine Danici comitis Turkilli sæpe memorati, qui secum tunc temporis intus erat, muros urbis viriliter defendit, et illum abegit. Qui repulsus, primo Walingafordam, dein Bathan, obvia quæque more solito rapiendo et demoliendo, adiit: ibique exercitum suum refrigerando consedit. sibi allexit, et Canutum adiens, ipsius dominio se mancipavit. Idem West-Saxones datis obsidibus fecerunt, et postea caballos exercitui paraverunt.[5]

M.XVI. Rex Danorum Canutus, et perfidus dux Edricus Streona, cum multo equitatu amnem Thamensim, in loco qui Cricgelade dicitur, transeuntes, ante
+ 6 Jan. +Epiphaniam Domini Merciam hostiliter intraverunt, et multas villas in Wearwucana provincia populantes incenderunt, ac omnes quos invenerant occide-runt. Quod ut audivit clito Eadmundus, cognomine Ferreum-latus, exercitum festinato congregavit; sed cum congregatus esset, cum West-Saxonicis et Danis C nolebant congredi Mercenses, [6]nisi cum illis essent Adelredus et cives Londonienses: quapropter expeditione dimissa, unusquisque redit in sua. Festivitate vero transacta, iterum Eadmundus clito majorem congregavit exercitum: quo congregato, nuncios Lundoniam misit, rogans patrem suum ut cum omnibus, quos habere poterat, sibi quam citius posset occurreret. Qui, multis pugnatoribus coadunatis, illi [7]festinanter occurrit. Sed cum exercitus in unum convenissent, intimatum est regi, quod nisi præcaveret sibi, quidam ex suis auxiliariis essent illum tradituri. Idcirco mox exercitu dimisso, Lundoniam rediit; clito vero in Northimbriam ivit. Unde putabant nonnulli, quod adhuc adversus Canutum congregare majorem vellet exercitum: sed sicut Canutus et Edricus ex una parte, ita ille et Uhtredus, Northimbrorum comes, provincias nonnullas sunt D depopulati. Nam prius Staffordensem, deinde Scrobbesbiriensem, et Leogecestrensem provincias devastavere, quia adversus Danorum exercitum ad pugnam exire noluerunt. Interea Canutus et Edricus Streona, primitus Bukingaham-nensem, Bedefordensem, Huntadunensem, Northamtunensem, Lindicolinensem, Snotingahamnensem provincias, dein Northimbriam depopulantur. Quo cog-nito, clito Eadmundus, [8]depopulatione dimissa, ad patrem suum Lundoniam properavit. Comes vero Uhtredus [a]domum rediit, et necessitate compulsus, ad Canutum cum omnibus Northimbrensibus se contulit, et obsides ei dedit: et tamen ejus jussu vel permissu, a Thurebrando nobili et Danico viro est perem-ptus, et cum eo Turketellus Neavanæ filius. Quo patrato, Canutus Egricum pro Uhtredo comitem posuit, et post alacer versus austrum per aliam viam regressus, E ante Paschalem festivitatem suas cum omni exercitu naves repetiit. Eo tempore

A audi verbum Domini: hæc dicit Dominus: ‘Non deficiet gladius de domo tua, sæviens in te omnibus diebus vitæ tuæ, interficiens de semine tuo, quousque regnum tuum transferatur in regnum alienum, cujus ritum et linguam gens cui præsides, non novit.’ Nec expiabitur nisi longa vindicta peccatum tuum, et peccatum matris tuæ, et peccatum virorum qui interfuere consilio ejus nequam.” Corpus autem illius in ecclesia S. Pauli apostoli honorifice sepultum est. Post cujus mortem, episcopi, abbates, duces, et quique nobiliores Angliæ, in unum congregati, pari consensu, in dominum et regem sibi Canutum elegere; et ad eum in Suthamtonia venientes, omnemque progeniem regis Æthelredi, coram illo abnegando repudiantes, pacem cum eo composuere, et fidelitatem illi juravere: quibus et ille juravit quod et secundum Deum, et secundum sæculum fidelis
B esse vellet eis dominus. At cives Lundonienses, et pars nobilium qui eo tempore consistebant Lundoniæ, clitonem Eadmundum unanimi consensu in regem levavere. Qui solii regalis sublimatus culmine, intrepidus West-Saxoniam adiit sine cunctatione, et ab omni populo magna susceptus gratulatione, suæ ditioni subegit eam citissime. Quibus auditis, multi Anglorum populi magna cum festinatione illi se dederunt voluntarie. Canutus autem interim cum tota sua classe circa * Rogationes Lundoniam devehitur. parte Thamensis fluminis magnam scrobem foderunt, et naves suas in occidentalem plagam pontis traxerunt: dein urbem alta lataque fossa et obsidione cingentes, ingressum et egressum cunctis intercluserunt, ac eam frequenter expugnare moliti sunt; sed a civibus, illis viriliter resistentibus, procul a mœni-
C bus repelluntur. Quapropter obsidione ad tempus dimissa, exercitusque parte ad naves custodiendas relicta, in West-Saxoniam abierunt propere, et regi Eadmundo Ferreo-lateri, spatium congregandi exercitum non dedere. Quibus tamen ille cum exercitu, quem in tantillo spatio congregaverat, Dei fretus auxilio, audacter in Dorsetania occurrit, et in loco qui Peonnum vocatur, juxta Gillingaham, cum eis congressus, vicit et eos in [1] fugam vertit.’ Post hæc, media æstate transacta, denuo majori quam prius exercitu congregato, fortiter confligere statuit cum Canuto; cui occurrit in Hwiccia, in loco qui Scearstan, nominatur. [a] Ubi exercitum pro loco et copiis instruit, optimum quemque in primam aciem subducit, cæterum exercitum in subsidiis locat, unumquemque nominans, appellat, hortatur, rogat, ut meminerint se pro patria, pro liberis, pro conjugibus,
D atque suis domibus certare; et optimis sermonibus militum animos accendebat: deinde tubicines canere, et cohortes paulatim incedere jubet. Idem facit hostium exercitus. Ubi eo ventum est, ubi ab illis prælium committi posset, maximo clamore cum infestis signis occurrunt: lanceis et gladiis pugna geritur, maxima vi certatur. Interea rex Eadmundus Ferreum-latus in prima acie cominus acriter instabat, omnia providebat, multum ipse pugnabat, sæpe hostem feribat, strenui militis et boni imperatoris officia simul exequebatur. Sed quia Edricus Streona dux perfidissimus, et Almarus Dilectus, Algarusque filius Meawes, qui ei auxilio esse debuerant, cum Suthamtunensibus et Wiltoniensibus provincialibus, innumeraque populi multitudine in parte Danorum fuerant, ejus exercitus nimis erat defatigatus. Attamen primo die belli, Lunæ scilicet die, tam
E durum tamque cruentum extitit prælium, ut uterque exercitus præ lassitudine diutius non valens pugnare, sole jam occidente, ab invicem sit digressus spontanea voluntate. Sed postera die rex Danos protereret omnes, si perfidi ducis Edrici Streonæ non essent insidiæ. Siquidem cum pugna vehemens esset, et Anglos fortiores esse cerneret, cujusdam viri regi Eadmundo facie capillisque simillimi, Osmeari nomine, capite amputato et in altum levato, exclamat Anglos frustra pugnare, dicens: ‘Vos Dorsetenses, Domnani, Wiltonienses, amisso capite præcipites fugite: en domini vestri caput Eadmundi basilei hic teneo manibus: cedite quantocius.’ Quod ubi Angli accepere, magis atrocitate rei, quam fide nuncii terrentur. Unde factum est, ut inconstantiores quique [1]paulum a fuga abessent; sed illico quod rex viveret, comperto, animos tollebant, et in Danos acrius incedebant, ex illisque multos prosternebant, summis certantes viribus usque ad crepusculum noctis: qua adveniente, ut pridie, digressi sunt spontanee. At ubi [2]multum noctis processit, Canutus e castris suos abire silentio jussit, et versus Lundoniam iter arripiens, ad naves repedavit; ac non multo post Lundoniam reobsedit. Ubi autem dies advenit, et rex Eadmundus Ferreum-latus Danos fugisse comperit, majorem congregaturus exercitum in West-Saxoniam revertitur. Cujus strenuitatem videns sororius ejus perfidus dux Edricus, ut naturalem dominum requisivit illum, et pace cum eo redintegrata, se fidelem ei permansurum juravit. Itaque exercitu vice tertia congregato, Lundonienses cives ab obsidione rex liberavit, Danos ad suas naves fugavit. B Post biduum [3]Thamensim, in loco qui [4]dicitur Brentford transfretavit, cum Danis tertio prælium commisit, et fugatis eis victor extitit. Ea vice multi Anglorum populi, dum incautius flumen transirent, demerguntur. Exinde rex, numerosiorem congregaturus exercitum, in West-Saxoniam properat. Dani vero Lundoniam repetunt, obsidione illam cingunt, et omni ex parte oppugnant; sed, Deo juvante, nil omnino proficiunt. Ob quam rem cum sua classe inde recedentes, amnem qui Arewe dicitur intrant, et navibus exilientes, prædatum in Merciam pergunt, obvios quosque cedunt, more solito villas incendunt, prædam agunt, post ad naves redeunt. Pedestres in flumen quod Meadeweage nuncupatur navibus devehuntur, equestres vero vivam prædam per terram minantur. Interea rex Eadmundus Ferreum-latus exercitum fortem de tota Anglia C quarto congregavit, et in loco ubi prius, Thamensi fluvio transmeato, in Cantiam citus intravit, ac juxta Ottafordam cum Danis pugnam iniit. At illi non ferentes impetum ejus, terga verterunt, et cum suis equis in Sceapege fugerunt. retur hostes, retineret, eo die plena potiretur victoria. Quo in West-Saxoniam reverso, Canutus suas copias in East-Saxoniam trajecit, et iterum prædandi causa Merciam repetiit, et pejora prioribus exercitum facere jussit. Illi autem satis impigre jussa peragunt, et omnibus qui in manus venerant obtruncatis, villis quam plurimis incensis, agris depopulatis, prædæ ubertate ditati, ad naves repedant festini. Quos rex Anglorum Eadmundus Ferreum-latus, cum exercitu D quem de tota Anglia contraxerat, insecutus, in monte qui Assandun, id est, 'mons asini,' nominatur, abeuntes est consecutus: [a] ibi festine triplicibus subsidiis aciem instruit, dein singulas turmas circumiens, monet atque obtestatur uti memores pristinæ virtutis atque victoriæ, sese regnumque suum a Danorum avaritia defendant; cum eis certamen fore quos antea vicerunt. Interea Canutus paulatim in æquum locum suos deducit. At contra, rex Eadmundus aciem sicuti instruxerat velociter movet, et repente signo dato Danos invadit. Summa vi utrinque dimicatur; ex his et illis multi cadunt. Verum perfidus dux Edricus Streona videns Danorum aciem inclinatam, et Anglos habituros victoriam, ut prius Canuto promiserat, cum Magesetensibus et exercitus parte cui præerat fugam capessit, et dominum suum regem Eadmundum et Anglorum exercitum E dolis circumvenit, et Danis victoriam suis insidiis dedit. Occisus est in ea pugna Alfricus dux, Godwinus dux, Ulfketelus East-Anglorum dux, Æthelwardus dux, filius ducis East-Anglorum Athelwini Dei amici, totusque fere globus nobilitatis Anglorum, qui nullo in bello majus unquam vulnus quam ibi acceperunt. Eadnothus quoque [×] Lindicolinensis episcopus, Ramesigensis quondam præpositus, et Wulsius abbas, qui ad exorandum Deum pro milite bellum agente convenerant, interfecti sunt. A reum-latus cum Canuto vellet adhuc congredi, perfidus dux Edricus, et quidam alii, id nullo modo sinebant fieri; sed illi consilium dabant, ut pace facta cum Canuto, regnum divideret. Quorum suggestionibus, licet invitus, ad postremum cum consentiret, recurrentibus internuntiis, et obsidibus ad invicem datis, ambo reges, ad locum qui Deorhyrst nominatur, in unum convenerunt. Eadmundus cum suis in occidentali ripa Sabrinæ, Canutus vero in orientali cum suis consedit. Dein uterque rex in insulam quæ Olanege appellatur, et est in ipsius fluminis medio sita, trabariis advehitur. Ubi pace, amicitia, fraternitate, et pacto et sacramentis confirmata, regnum dividitur. West-Saxoniam, East-Angliam, East-Saxoniam cum Lundonia [1] Canuto: corona tamen regni Eadmundo remansit. Dein armis et vestibus mutatis, tributoque quod classicæ manui penderetur statuto, ab

B invicem discesserunt. Dani tamen cum præda, quam [2] diripuerant, suas ad naves redierunt; cum quibus pacem, dato pretio, cives Lundonienses fecerunt, et eos secum hiemare permiserunt.

Post hæc, rex Eadmundus Ferreum-latus, circa festivitatem [A] S. Andreæ apostoli, xv. Indictione, decessit Lundoniæ; sed cum avo suo rege pacifico Eadgaro sepultus est Glastoniæ. Cujus post mortem, rex Canutus omnes episcopos et duces, necnon et principes, cunctosque optimates gentis Angliæ, Lundoniæ congregari jussit. Qui, cum venissent ante eum, quasi nesciens, interrogavit eos sagacissime, qui fuerunt testes inter eum et Eadmundum, quando conventionem amicitiæ et divisionem regni inter ipsos gesserunt, qualiter ipse et Eadmundus de fratribus et filiis ejusdem inter se locuti fuissent; utrum fratribus et filiis ejus
C liceret in regno Occidentalium Saxonum post patrem eorum regnare, si Eadmundus moreretur vivente illo. At illi cœperunt dicere, se procul dubio scire quod rex Eadmundus fratribus suis nullam portionem regni sui, nec se spirante [3] nec moriente, commendasset; dixeruntque hoc se nosse, Eadmundum regem velle Canutum adjutorem et protectorem esse filiorum ejus, donec regnandi ætatem habuissent. Verum illi, testante Deo, falsum perhibuerunt testimonium, et fraudulenter mentiti sunt, [4] existimantes illum sibi et mitiorem esse propter mendacium eorum, et se ab eo [5] præmium sumpturos magnum: ex quibus falsis testibus quidam, post non [6] longum tempus, ab eodem rege sunt interfecti. Tunc rex Canutus post supradictam interrogationem, conatus est a præfatis optimatibus fidelia juramenta recipere. At ipsi juraverunt illi quod eum regem
D sibi eligere vellent, eique humiliter obedire, et suo exercitui vectigalia dare: et accepto pignore de manu [7] sua nuda, cum juramentis a principibus Danorum, fratres et filios Eadmundi omnino despexerunt, [8] eosque esse reges negaverunt. Unus autem ex ipsis præfatis clitonibus erat Eadwius, egregius ac reverendissimus regis Eadmundi germanus, quem ibidem cum consilio pessimo exulem esse debere constituerunt. Et cum audisset Canutus rex adulationem supradictorum, et despectionem quam fecerunt in Eadwium, gaudens introivit in cameram suam, vocansque ad se perfidum ducem Edricum, sciscitabatur ab eo quomodo decipere valuisset Eadwium, ut mortis subiret periculum. Qui respondens, dixit se scire quendam virum alium, Æthelwardum nomine, qui [9] se facilius eum in mortem tradere quivisset, cum quo colloquium habere posset, illique nimiam
E mercedem promittere. Cognito autem viri nomine, vocavit eum rex ad se, astutissime dicens: 'Sic et sic allocutus est me dux Edricus, dicens te posse seducere Eadwium clitonem, ut occidatur. Modo acquiesce consiliis [10] nostris, et potieris omni honore et dignitate patrum tuorum, et quære mihi caput ejus, et eris mihi charior fratre germano.' Ille vero dicebat se velle eum quærere ut interficeretur, si ullo modo valuisset. Veruntamen nondum illum necare volebat; sed propter excusationem hoc promittebat: erat enim ille ex nobilissimo genere Anglorum ortus.[11]

imperium,[a]idque in quatuor partes divisit, West-Saxoniam sibi, East-Angliam Turkillo comiti, Merciam Edrico duci, Northimbriam Irco comiti. Fœdus etiam cum principibus et omni populo ipse, et illi cum ipso percusserunt; et amicitiam firmam inter se juramentis stabilierunt, omnesque veteres inimicitias postponentes sedaverunt. Dein consilio perfidi ducis Edrici, rex Canutus clitonem Eadwium, regis Eadmundi germanum, et Eadwium, qui rex appellabatur rusticorum, exlegavit. Verum sequenti tempore cum rege pacificatus est Eadwius: Eadwius vero clito deceptus illorum insidiis quos eotenus amicissimos habuit, jussu et petitione regis Canuti, eodem anno innocenter occiditur. Dedit etiam consilium Edricus, ut clitunculos Eadwardum et Eadmundum, regis Eadmundi filios necaret. Sed quia magnum dedecus sibi videbatur ut in Anglia perimerentur, B parvo elapso tempore ad regem Suuavorum occidendos misit. Qui licet fœdus esset inter eos, precibus illius nullatenus voluit acquiescere; sed illos ad regem Hungarorum, Salomonem nomine, misit nutriendos, vitæque reservandos. Quorum unus, scilicet Eadmundus, processu temporis ibidem vitam finivit: Eadwardus vero Agatham, filiam germani imperatoris Henrici, in matrimonium accepit; ex qua Margaretam Scotorum reginam, et Cristinam sanctimonialem virginem, et clitonem Eadgarum suscepit. Mense Julio, rex Canutus derelictam regis Æthelredi reginam Alfgivam in conjugium accepit[b]: ac in Nativitate Domini, cum esset Lundoniæ, perfidum ducem Edricum in palatio jussit occidere, quia timebat insidiis ab eo [1]aliquando circumveniri, sicut domini sui priores Æthelredus et Eadmundus frequenter sunt circumventi, et corpus illius super murum C civitatis projici, ac insepultum [2]jussit dimitti. Cum quo dux [3]Normannus filius Leofwini ducis, frater scilicet Leofrici comitis, et Æthelwardus filius Agelmari ducis, et Brihtricus filius Alphegi Domnaniensis satrapæ, sine culpa interfecti sunt. Hic etiam ante sepulchrum apostolorum suæ vitæ morumque emendationem Deo devovit; unde et epistolam memoria dignam, per virum prudentissimum Livingum, tunc Tavestokensis ecclesiæ abbatem, post vero mox eodem anno in Cridiatunensis ecclesiæ pontificatu Eadnothi successorem, qui sibi comes itineris extitit, aliosque suos legatos Angliam misit, dum ipse Roma rediens per viam quam ierat, Denemarciam priusquam Angliam peteret. Cujus epistolæ textum hic subscribere dignum duximus. B

'Canutus rex totius Angliæ, et [1]Denemarciæ, et Norreganorum, et partis Suavorum, Æthelnotho metropolitano, et Alfrico Eboracensi archiepiscopo, omnibusque episcopis et primatibus, et toti Anglorum genti, tam nobilibus quam plebeis salutem. Notifico vobis me noviter ivisse Romam, [2]oratum pro redemptione peccaminum meorum, et pro salute regnorum, quique meo subjacent regimini populorum. Hanc quidem profectionem Deo jam olim devoveram, sed pro negotiis regni, et causis impedientibus, huc usque perficere non poteram. Nunc autem ipsi Deo meo omnipotenti valde humiliter gratias ago, qui mihi concessit in vita mea sanctos apostolos suos Petrum et Paulum, et omne sanctuarium quod intra urbem Romam aut extra addiscere potui expetere, et secundum desiderium meum præsentialiter venerari et adorare. Ob id ergo maxime hoc patravi, quia C a sapientibus didici S. Petrum apostolum magnam potestatem a [3]Domino accepisse ligandi atque solvendi, clavigerumque esse regni cœlestis, et ideo specialius ejus patrocinium apud [4]Dominum diligenter expetere valde utile duxi. Sit autem vobis notum, quia magna congregatio nobilium in ipsa Paschali solennitate ibi cum domino papa Johanne et imperatore Cuonrado erat, scilicet omnes principes gentium a monte Gargano usque ad istud proximum mare, qui omnes me et honorifice suscepere, et donis pretiosis honoravere: maxime autem ab imperatore donis variis, et muneribus pretiosis honoratus sum, tam in vasis aureis et argenteis, quam in palliis et vestibus valde pretiosis. Locutus sum igitur cum ipso imperatore, et domino papa, et principibus qui ibi erant, de necessitatibus totius populi universi regni mei, tam Anglorum quam Danorum, ut eis conce- D

Conquestus sum iterum coram domino papa, et mihi valde displicere causabar, quod mei archiepiscopi in tantum angariabantur immensitate pecuniarum, quæ ab eis expetebatur, dum pro pallio accipiendo, secundum morem, apostolicam sedem [7]peterent: decretumque est ne id deinceps fiat. Cuncta enim quæ a domino papa, et ab ipso imperatore, et a rege [8]Rodulpho, cæterisque principibus, per quorum terras E nobis transitus est ad Romam, pro meæ gentis utilitate postulabam, libentissime annuerunt, et concessa sacramento etiam firmaverunt, sub testimonio quatuor archiepiscoporum et viginti episcoporum, et innumeræ multitudinis ducum et nobilium, qui ibi aderant. Quapropter Deo omnipotenti gratias magnificas reddo, quia omnia quæ desideraveram, prout mente decreveram, prospere perfeci, votisque meis ad velle satisfeci. Nunc itaque notum sit omnibus vobis, quia ipsi Deo omnipotenti supplex devovi vitam meam a modo in omnibus [9]reformare,

Cui cum nunciatum fuisset, quod Osgodus Clapa cum XXIX. navibus in Ulpe jaceret; de navibus quas remisit quot potuit revocavit. Osgodus autem, uxore sua quam apud Bricge commiserat recepta, sex navibus Danemarciam rediit. Aliæ vero East-Saxoniam adeuntes, præda circa Promontorium Eadulfi [4]capta non modica, redibant. Verum eas in redeundo sæva corripuit tempestas, omnesque submersit, exceptis duabus, quæ in transmarinis partibus captæ sunt, occisis omnibus qui in illis erant. Dum hæc agebantur, Suanus comes Pevenesea venit, et consobrinum suum Beorn comitem cum dolo rogavit, ut ad Sandicum portum secum iret, et ut illi promiserat, eum cum rege

C pacificaret. Qui fisus in consanguinitate, tribus tantum sociis assumptis, cum illo proficisci cœpit. At ille ad Bosanham ubi naves ejus erant eum duxit, et in [5]navem introductum duris mox loris vinciri jussit, [6]et secum tam diu habuit, donec ad ostium Dertæ veniret. Suanus vero ad Flandriam duabus fugiens navibus, ibi mansit, quoad Wigornensis episcopus Aldredus illum reduceret, et cum rege pacificaret.

Eodem anno, mense Augusto, Hibernienses piratæ, XXXVI. navibus ostium intrantes Sabrinæ [8]fluminis, in loco qui dicitur Wylesceaxan appulerunt, et cum adjutorio Griffini regis Australium Britonum, circa loca illa prædam agentes,

M.L. [a] Rex [1] Scotorum [2] Macbæthad Romæ argentum spargendo distribuit.' A Eadsius Dorobernensis archiepiscopus obiit; cui Rotbertus Lundoniensis episcopus, genere [3] Normannorum successit. Spearheafocus, abbas Abbandoniensis, Lundoniæ præsulatum suscepit; sed antequam esset consecratus, a rege Eadwardo est ejectus.[4] Heremannus Wiltuniensis episcopus, et Aldredus Wigornensis antistes Romam iverunt.

M.LI. Alfricus [b] Eboracensis archiepiscopus [5] Suthwellæ defunctus, Medeshamstede sepelitur; cui regis capellanus [6] Kinsigius successit. Rex Eadwardus absolvit Anglos a gravi vectigali, [c] XXXVIII. anno ex quo pater suus rex Æthelredus primitus id Danicis solidariis solvi mandarat. [d] Post[×] hæc, mense Septembri, Bononiensis comes Eustatius, senior, qui sororem Eadwardi regis, Godam nomine, in conjugium habuerat, paucis Dorverniam applicuit navibus; in qua milites B ejus, cum stolide et insipienter sibi hospitia quærerent, unum e civibus peremerunt. Quod videns ejus concivis, ulciscitur illum, occiso milite uno. Ob quam rem comes et sui nimis irati, viros et mulieres quamplures armis interfecerunt; pueros et infantes suorum pedibus equorum contriverunt. Sed ubi cives ad obsistendum occurrere viderunt, turpem fugam ineuntes, vix evaserunt, VII. ex sociis illorum peremptis, et ad regem Eadwardum, qui tunc temporis Glawornæ morabatur, fugerunt. Talia geri in suo comitatu comes Godwinus graviter ferens, nimiaque commotus ira, de toto suo comitatu, scilicet de Cantia, Suth-Saxonia et West-Saxonia; et filius ejus primogenitus Suanus de suo, id est, de Oxnafordensi, Glawornensi, Herefordensi, Sumerseatunensi, Bearrucscirensi provinciis; alterque filius [7] Haroldus de suo comitatu, videlicet de East-Saxonia, East-Anglia, Hunte- C dunensi et Grantebricgensi provinciis, innumerabilem congregaverunt exercitum: quod regem Eadwardum non latuit. Idcirco nuntiis ad Leofricum Mercensium, et Siwardum Northimbrorum comites festinato missis, rogavit ut ad se, in magno periculo constitutum, cum omnibus quos habere poterant, venire accelerarent. Illi autem primo cum paucis venerunt; sed ubi cognoverunt quomodo se res habuit, per suos comitatus celeres miserunt veredarios, et magnum congregaverunt exercitum. Similiter et [8] Radulphus comes, Godæ sororis Eadwardi regis filius, de suo comitatu [9] quotquot potuit congregavit. Interea Godwinus et filii ejus cum suis exercitibus, post Nativitatem S. Mariæ [ϒ] in Glawornensem provinciam venientes, in loco qui dicitur [10] Langetreo, castra metati sunt, et legatis Glawornam ad regem directis, comitem Eustatium et socios ejus, insuper et Norman- D nos et Bononienses, qui castellum in Dorverniæ clivo tenuerunt, sub denunciatione belli reposcebant. Ob id autem ad tempus rex perterritus, et in angore magno constitutus, quid ageret penitus ignorabat. Sed ubi exercitum comitum Leofrici, et Siwardi, et Radulphi adventare comperit, se nullatenus Eustatium aliosque requisitos traditurum, constanter respondit. Quo audito, vacui redeunt legati. Quibus abeuntibus, exercitus Glawornam intravit, ita inflammatus et concordi animo ad pugnam paratus, ut statim, si rex permitteret, cum exercitu Godwini pugnam inire vellet. At quia de tota Anglia quique meliores in sua et illorum parte erant coadunati, comiti Leofrico et quibusdam aliis magnum videbatur insilium, ut ipsi cum suis compatriotis bellum inirent; sed obsidibus ad invicem datis, rex et Godwinus, die constituto, ad placitandum Lundoniam con- E venirent. Probato consilio et nuntiis intercurrentibus, obsidibus datis et acceptis, dux in West-Saxoniam rediit: rex vero de tota Mercia, et Northimbria copiosiorem exercitum congregavit, et secum Lundoniam duxit. Quo cum venissent, regi Eadwardo, tunc temporis Lundoniæ demoranti, illorum adventus nunciatur. Qui nuntiis propere missis, omnibus qui a se non defecerant, mandavit, ut in adjutorium sui venire maturarent. At illi nimis tardantes, ad tempus non venerunt. Interea cum sua classe Godwinus comes adversus cursum Tamensis fluminis devectus, die Exaltationis sanctæ Crucis ⁂, feria secunda, ad Suthweorce venit, et ibi tam diu expectavit, quoad maris [1]æstus veniret. Interim quosdam per internuntios, quosdam per se cives Lundonienses, quos variis pollicitationibus prius illexerat, convenit, et ut omnes fere quæ volebat omnino vellent effecit. Inde rebus omnibus dispositis et ordinatis, reumate adveniente, festinanter anchoras sustulerunt, ac nullo in ponte obsistente, per australem fluminis crepidinem sursum navigaverunt. Venit et pedestris exercitus, ac se per oram [2]fluminis ordinatim disponens, spissam terribilemque fecit testudinem. Dein classis se versus aquilonalem ripam vertit, quasi regis classem circundare vellet: habebat enim et rex classem, ac numerosum pedestrem exercitum. Sed quia ibi, et cum rege et cum Godwino, erant perpauci qui fortitudinis aliquid haberent nisi tantum Angli, pugnare adversus suos propinquos ac compatriotas pene omnes abhorrebant. Unde sapientiores quique ex utraque parte, inter regem et ducem pacem redintegrantes, exercitum ab armis discedere jusserunt. Mane autem facto, concilium rex habuit, pristinumque honorem pleniter reddidit Godwino, et uxori suæ, filiisque omnibus, excepto Suano. Ille enim ductus penitentia, eo quod, ut prælibavimus, consobrinum suum Beornum occiderat, de Flandria nudis pedibus Hierusalem jam adierat, indeque rediens, invalitudine ex nimio frigore contracta, mortuus est in Licia. Filiam quoque ducis Eadgitham reginam digniter rex recepit, ac pristinæ dignitati restituit. Facta igitur concordia, paceque firmata, omni populo rectam legem promiserunt, et omnes Normannos qui leges iniquas adinvenerant, et injusta judicia judicaverant, multaque regi insilia adversus Anglos dederant, exlegaverunt. Paucos tamen, scilicet Rotbertum diaconem, et generum ejus Ricardum filium Scrob, Alfredum regis stratorem, Anfridum cognomento Ceocesfot, et quosdam alios, quos plus cæteris rex dilexerat, eique et omni populo fideles extiterant, in Anglia remanere permiserunt. Porro Rodbertus Doroberniæ archiepiscopus, et Lundoniæ præsul Willelmus, et Ulf ×Lindicolniensis antistes, cum suis Normannis vix evadentes, mare transierunt. Sed Willelmus propter suam bonitatem parvo post tempore revocatus, in suum episcopatum recipitur. Osbernus vero cognomento Pentecost, et socius ejus Hugo sua reddiderunt castella; et comitis Leofrici licentia per suum comitatum Scotiam adeuntes, a rege Scotorum [3]Macbeotha suscepti sunt. Eodem anno in nocte festivitatis ϒ S. Thomæ apostoli, tantus tamque vehemens extitit ventus, ut multas ecclesias domosque dirueret, et innumerabiles arbores frangeret, vel radicitus erueret.

M.LXII. Wulstanus vir venerandus, pontifex Wigornensi ecclesiæ præficitur. Hic Deo amabilis, regione Merciorum in provincia Warewicensi, parentibus religiosis oriundus, patre videlicet Eatstano, matre vero Wulgeova nomine, in no- B bili autem monasterio quod Burh nominatur, literis et ecclesiasticis officiis optime extitit imbutus. Qui ambo, scilicet parentes ejus, in tantum religioni studebant, ut longe ante finem vitæ castitatem professi, se ab invicem separantes, sub sanctæ conversationis habitu vitam consummare gauderent. Quorum exemplo ipse adolescens incitatus, matre id maxime persuadente, sæculum reliquit, atque in eodem Wigornensi monasterio, quo et ante pater suus Deo servierat, monachicum habitum et ordinem a venerabili Brihteago ejusdem ecclesiæ episcopo suscepit, a quo etiam in gradum tam diaconatus quam presbiteratus ordinatus est; statimque in ipso initio arduam et omni religiositate plenam vitam arripiens, in vigiliis, jejuniis, orationibus, omnique virtutum genere, subito admirandus apparuit. Hinc, ob morum disciplinam, primo magister et custos infantum aliquandiu constituitur; C deinde ob solertiam ecclesiastici officii, cantor simul et thesaurarius ecclesiæ ex præcepto seniorum efficitur. Nactus vero occasionem liberius Deo serviendi ex commissa sibi custodia ecclesiæ, totum se contemplativæ vitæ dedit, die noctuque in ea, aut orationi aut divinæ lectioni insistens, bidui [2]triduique jejunio assidue corpus macerans; sacris vigiliis in tantum deditus, ut non modo noctem, sed etiam persæpe diem cum nocte aliquando, quod a nobis vix crederetur si non ab ipsius ore hoc audissemus, quatuor dies cum noctibus absque somno transigens, fere exsiccato cerebro periculum incurreret, nisi sopore prælibato naturæ satisfacere maturaret. Denique et cum vi naturæ dormire compelleretur, non lecto aut lectosterniis membra ad soporem fovebat, sed super aliquod scamnum ecclesiæ, libro, in quo orabat sive legebat, caput sustentans, paulisper se reclinabat. D
Post aliquod autem tempus, defuncto Agelwino priore monasterii, ipse vir [3]venerandus prior et pater congregationis ab Aldredo episcopo ponitur. Quod officium valde laudabiliter adimplens, prioris conversationis austeritatem minime reliquit, immo ut cæteris exemplum bene vivendi daret, multipliciter adauxit. M.LXVI. [b]Anglorum decus, [c]pacificus rex Eadwardus, Æthelredi regis filius, postquam XXIII. annis, mensibus VI., et XXVII. diebus, potestate regia [3]præfuerat Anglo-Saxonibus, Indictione IV., Epiphaniæ Domini vigilia, feria quinta, mortem

B obiit Lundoniæ, et in crastino sepultus regio more, ab omnibus qui tunc affuere non sine lachrimis plangebatur amarissime. Quo tumulato, subregulus Haraldus, Godwini ducis filius, quem rex ante suam decessionem regni successorem elegerat, a totius Angliæ primatibus ad regale culmen electus, die eodem ab Aldredo Eboracensi archiepiscopo in regem est honorifice consecratus. [d]Qui mox, ut regni gubernacula susceperat, leges iniquas destruere, æquas cœpit condere, ecclesiarum ac monasteriorum patronus fieri, episcopos, abbates, monachos, clericos colere simul ac venerari; pium, humilem, affabilemque se bonis omnibus exhibere, malefactores exosos habere. Nam ducibus, satrapis, vicecomitibus, et suis in commune præcepit ministris, fures, raptores, regni disturbatores comprehendere; et pro patriæ defensione ipsemet terra marique desudare.

C Eodem anno octavo Cal. Maii, stella cometes non solum in Anglia, sed etiam, ut fertur, per totum mundum visa, per VII. dies splendore nimio fulgebat. Non multo post, comes Tostius de Flandria rediens, [e]ad Vectam insulam applicuit; et postquam insulanos sibi tributum et stipendium solvere coegerat, discessit, et circa ripas maris, donec ad Sandicum [4]portum veniret, prædas exercuit. cognito, rex Haraldus qui tunc Lundoniæ morabatur, classem non modicam et equestrem exercitum congregari præcepit: ipse vero Sandicum portum adire parabat. Quod dum Tostio nunciatum fuisset, de butsecarlis quosdam volentes, quosdam nolentes, secum assumens recessit, et cursum ad [f]Lindesegiam direxit: in qua villas quamplures incendit, multosque homines neci tradidit. His cognitis, dux Merciorum Eadwinus, et Northimbrorum comes Morcarus cum exercitu

Interea rex Haraldus ad Sandicum portum venit, ibique classem suam expectavit. Quæ cum fuisset congregata, Vectam insulam adiit; et quia [5]Normannorum comes Willelmus, Eadwardi regis consobrinus, in Angliam cum exercitu venire para-

Haraldus Harfager autem rex Nordmannorum, minus mille navibus venit in Angliam regnaturus, et in urbe Eburaci plusquam mille laicos centumque presbiteros occidit de Anglis. Haraldus vero rex Anglorum cum septem legionibus superveniens et eum Haraldum imparatum invenit et occidit, mense Octobris. Hoc anno stella cometis visa est. Willelmus dux Normannorum cum Francis intravit in Anglia: qui cum statim bello occidisset Haraldum regem Anglorum, rexit Anglos. Marian. N. Cometa stella visa est. Araldus rex Normannorum, mille navibus venit in Angliam mense Septembri regnaturus: qui Eboraci in autumno ultra MC. sacerdotes Anglos occidit. Araldus vero rex Anglorum cum VII. aciebus bellicis statim pervenit illo, Araldum imparatum absque loricis invenit et bello occidit, mense Octobri. Gulielmus vero, qui et Bastard, hoc est nothus, cum Francis intrat. Interim Anglos et Araldum bello occidit, et ipse regit Anglos. Marian. Ed.

Filium autem ejus Olavum, et comitem de Orcada insula Paulum nomine, qui ad naves custodiendas cum exercitus parte fuerant dimissi, acceptis ab eis prius obsidibus et sacramentis, cum XX. navibus, et [5]reliquiis exercitus in patriam redire libere permisit.

Unde rex statim versus Lundoniam suum movit exercitum magna cum festinatione; et licet de tota Anglia fortiores quosque in duobus prœliis bene sciret jam cecidisse, mediamque partem sui exercitus nondum convenisse, quam citius tamen potuit, in Suth-Saxonia suis hostibus occurrere non formidavit, et IX. miliariis ab Heastinga, ubi sibi castellum firmaverant, priusquam tertia pars sui exercitus ordinaretur, [e]undecimo Cal. A comites cum civibus Lundoniensibus, et butsecarlis, clitonem Eadgarum, Eadmundi [1]regis Ferrei-lateris nepotem, in regem levare voluerunt, et cum eo se pugnam inituros promiserunt: sed dum ad pugnam descendere multi se paraverunt, comites suum auxilium ab eis retraxerunt, et cum suo exercitu domum redierunt.

Interea comes Willelmus Suth-Saxoniam, Cantiam, Suthamtunensem provinciam, Suthregiam, Middel-Saxoniam, Heortfordensem provinciam devastabat; et villas cremare, hominesque interficere non cessabat, donec ad villam quæ Beorcham nominatur, veniret. Ubi Aldredus archiepiscopus, Wulstanus Wigornensis episcopus, [2]Walterus Herefordensis episcopus, clito Eadgarus, comites Eadwinus et Morcarus, et de Lundonia quique nobiliores, cum multis aliis ad eum venerunt, et datis obsidibus, illi deditionem fecerunt, fidelitatemque juraverunt. Cum quibus et ipse fœdus pepigit; et nihilominus exercitui suo villas cremare, et rapinas agere permisit. [5] HWICCIA.

Egregio Merciorum regi Wlfario, qui regum totius Merciæ fidem Christi primus suscepit, germanus suus gloriosus rex sanctus Æthelredus in regnum B successit. Cui Hwicciorum subregulus Osherus, vir multum laudabilis, Hwicciam, cui dignitate præsidebat regia, proprii antistitis dignitate honorari sublimarique desiderans regimine, consilium dedit utile, rogavitque summopere quatenus suum, quod tunc cæteris regnis præminebat Angliæ, pluribus antistitibus decoraret venustius, ac honoraret sublimius, sicut quosdam reges Angliæ noverat olim fecisse. Qui cum prius id idem faciendi magno flagraret desiderio, mox ejus suasionibus salubribusque consiliis acquievit, et archipræsule Doruberniæ Theodoro ad se accersito, rogavit ut, regno suo plures in parochias diviso, episcopos locis constitueret opportunis. Ille autem utile satis regis votum gratanter approbans, quod rogabatur sine dilatione maturavit explere. Itaque diocesim, cui tunc Saxulfus pontificali regimine præfuit, cum consensu ejusdem regis ac C principum illius, in quinque parochias divisit, anno ab Incarnatione Domini [7] secundum Evangelium DCC.I., juxta Dionisium, cujus errorem adhuc sancta sequitur ecclesia, anno' DC.LXXIX. Et quia civitas Wigornia tempore quo regnabant Britones vel Romani in Britannia, et tunc et nunc totius Hwicciæ vel Magesitaniæ metropolis extitit famosa, cathedram erexit pontificalem digniter in ea, parochiarum jam divisarum primam constituens Hwicciam. Ad quam de monasterio Hildæ abbatissæ vir strenuissimus ac doctissimus Tatfrithus electus est antistes: sed priusquam ordinari posset, morte præreptus est immatura.

II. Secundam autem illam, quæ pertinet ad episcopatum Licetfeldensem; cui virum religiosum ac modestum Cuthwinum præfecit.

III. Tertiam vero Mediterraneam Angliam; in qua prædictus episcopus Sax- D ulfus, quia ita sibi placuit, resedit, pontificali cathedra illi constituta in civitate Leogera.

IV. Quartam denique Lindissim provinciam; cui præposuit virum sanctum Æthelwinum germanum sancti Aldwini, abbatis monasterii quod Partaneum nuncupatur: statuens ei episcopalem sedem in civitate quæ vocatur Siddena.

V. Quintam vero constituit Suth-Angliam; ad quam de præfato monasterio Hild abbatissæ, singularis meriti et sanctitatis virum [8] Ætlam elegit antistitem, eique præsulatus sedem in loco qui vocatur Dorcacestra constituit. Porro pro Tatfritho venerabilis vir Bosel electus, ab ipso Theodoro sicut et cæteri ordinatus est episcopus, habens episcopalem sedem in prædicta civitate Wigorna, quæ tunc temporis altis muris et mœnibus pulcris decorata, multis urbibus clarior E extitit atque sublimior.''

[28]LINDISSIS.

Rex Northanhimbrorum Ecgfridus, fugato in bello rege Merciorum Wulfero, D provinciam Lindissim obtinuit, et inde Saxulfum episcopum expulit. In cujus locum, anno Dominicæ Incarnationis DC.LXXVIII., primus ad eandem provinciam ab archiepiscopo Theodoro proprius ordinatus est episcopus Eathedus, regis Ecgfridi capellanus. Sed quia anno sequenti Merciorum rex Æthelredus bellica sorte provinciam recuperavit, dimisso præsulatu in Northimbriam rediit, et post a Theodoro archiepiscopo, Rhipensi ecclesiæ præficitur. Cujus post discessum rex Æthelredus, Oshero Hwicciorum rege suggerente, Theodorum archiepiscopum rogavit, ut regno suo plures in parochias diviso, episcopos locis constitueret opportunis. Cujus ille votum gratanter approbavit, et præsulatum Saxulfi in V. parochias divisit; quibus sextam adjecit. E

[1]Principium regni regum Orientalium Anglorum.'

Regno posterius Cantuariorum, et prius regno Occidentalium Saxonum, exortum est regnum Orientalium Anglorum. Cui præfuerunt reges potentes; sed Redwaldus illis omnibus extitit potentior. Omnes enim australes Anglorum et Saxonum provinciæ cum suis regibus, ad confinium usque Humbræ fluminis,
A. 617. ei subjectæ erant. Qui Æthelfridum regem Deirorum et Berniciorum in bello, quo ejus filius Reinherus peremptus est, occidit; et Eadwinum Ællæ filium, ut in regnum perveniret, adjuvit. Cui alter filius suus Eorpwaldus in regnum successit, et, Eadwino rege persuadente, fidem Christi cum sua provincia suscepit. Quem non multo post Ricgbertus, vir gentilis, in bello occidit. Cui frater suus ex parte matris Sigbertus successit. Hic sancto Furseo, ad se de Hibernia venienti, B possessiones ac locum construendi monasterium in castro quodam, quod lingua ⁂ Burgh Castle. Anglorum ⁂Cnobheresburh vocatur, dedit: et [2]post, amore regni celestis, relicto regno, et cognato suo Ecgrico commendato, in monasterio quod sibi fecerat, monachus factus est. Et multo post tempore, contra regem Merciorum Pendan, ad confirmandum militem, invitus [3]in certamen ductus, suæ professionis non immemor, dum nisi virgam tantum in manu habere voluit, occisus est una cum rege Ecgrico. Quorum regni successor factus est Anna filius Eni, fratris Redwaldi. Cujus filia, sancta Sexburga, Erconberto regi Cantuariorum [4]in conjugio copulata est. Altera [5]filia sancta Æthelburga in Gallia, in Brigensi monasterio, abbatissa facta est. Tertia sancta Ætheldritha, prius Northimbrorum regina, et post Eliensis extitit abbatissa. Quarta sancta [6]Withburga ejusdem monasterii C sanctimonialis erat fœmina. Quarum pater Anna rex, a Penda rege Mercio-
654. rum occisus, fratrem suum Æthelherum regni hæredem reliquit. Qui de regina sua sancta Hereswitha, sorore sanctæ Hildæ abbatissæ, duos filios Aldwulfum et Alfwoldum genuit: peremptus est autem in bello ab Oswio cum Penda rege.
655. Cui germanus suus Æthelwoldus successit. Quo defuncto, regnum Aldwulfus suscepit, et annis nonnullis regnavit. Cujus post mortem frater suus Alfwoldus regni regimen suscepit. Regnante autem Merciorum [7]rege Offa, Beorna regnavit in East-Anglia; et post illum Æthelredus, qui de regina sua Leofruna sanctum habuit Æthelbertum. Hic post patrem brevi tempore regnum tenuit Orien-

A serviebant cultibus. Ille vero, prædicante Mellito, verbum veritatis cum sua gente primus illorum suscepit. Qui regna perennia petens, filios suos Sexredum et Sewardum, qui pagani perduraverant, regni temporalis reliquit hæredes. Ii parvo post tempore a West-Saxonibus in pugna sunt occisi. Quibus successit Sigebertus cognomento Parvus, ejusdem Sewardi filius. Quo mortuo, regimen regni suscepit Segebertus Segebaldi filius. Hic, Oswii regis Northimbrorum hortatu, Christo credens, a Finano episcopo est baptizatus in Northimbria: quo regnante, East-Saxones fidem, quam pridem abjecerant, sancto Cedda episcopo prædicante receperunt. Longo autem post tempore occisus est a suis propinquis, quia evangelica præcepta servans, suis inimicis nimium parcere, et factas ab eis injurias placida solebat mente dimittere. Cui frater suus Suithelmus in regnum successit, et ab ipso Cedda in East-Anglia baptizatus est. Cujus post mortem, Sebbi filius Sewardi regis, filii regis S. Seberti, et Sigherus filius regis Sigeberti Parvi, regni gubernacula tenuerunt. Post decessum Sigheri Sebba regni gubernacula rexit. Qui anno regni [1]sui xxx. a Waldhero Lundoniensi episcopo monachicum suscepit habitum, et brevi post tempore defunctus, cœlica regna petivit. Pro quo filii ejus Sigheardus et Swefredus regnaverunt. Quorum post mortem, Offa filius Sigheri regis in regem levatur. Hic juvenis amantissimæ ætatis et venustatis, totique suæ genti ad tenenda servandaque regni [2]sceptra exoptatissimus, suasu et hortatu sanctæ Kineswithæ regis Merciorum Pendæ filiæ, quam adamaverat, reliquit patriam et regnum propter evangelium, et cum rege Merciorum Kenredo et sancto Ecgwino Wicciorum episcopo Romam petiit. Ubi attonsus, et in monachico habitu vitam complens, ad visionem beatorum apostolorum diu desideratam pervenit. Cui in regnum successit Selredus, sancti Sigeberti regis filius. Quo perempto anno [3]regni [4]sui XXXVIII. Suithredus regni solium obtinuit, ac aliquantis annis tenuit. Cujus post mortem, reges pauci super East-Saxones regnavere proprii. Nam eodem anno quo regnum defecit Cantuariorum, cum ipsis et cum Suth-Saxonibus strenuo regi West-Saxonum Ecgberto sponte se dedebant, et ei suisque successoribus tam diu parebant, quoad Danicus rex Guthrum super eos potestatem acciperet. Lundonia tamen, cum terris circumjacentibus, Mercensibus regibus quamdiu ipsi regnaverunt, paruit.

[5]Mercia.

D Post initium regni Cantuariorum, principium extitit regni Merciorum. Qui multis annis, cum suis regibus, cultibus idolatriæ dediti, paulatim regni sui [6]fines dilatavere. Sed Penda, qui regnare cœpit anno Dominicæ Incarnationis, juxta Dionisium, DC.XXVI., multo latius quam aliquis [7]suorum prædecessorum dilatavit. Duos etenim reges Northimbrorum sanctum Eadwinum ac sanctum Oswaldum, et tres reges East-Anglorum, sanctum Sigebertum, Ecgricum et Annam, in bello occidit. Cui regina sua Kineswitha quinque filios, Peadam videlicet, Wulferum, sanctum Æthelredum, sanctum Merewaldum, et sanctum ^Mercelmum, et duas filias, sanctam Kineburgam et sanctam Kineswitham, peperit. Regnavit autem annis xxx. non plene. Quem rex Northimbrorum Oswiu cum xxx. ducibus in bello peremit, et regnum ejus suæ ditioni subegit; filio tamen ejus Peadæ, qui
E a patre suo Mediterraneis Anglis princeps constitutus, in Northimbria a Finano episcopo est baptizatus, eo quod suus esset cognatus, habuit enim in conjugem filiam [8]suam Alhfledam, regnum Australium Merciorum dedit: at ille anno regni sui primo peremptus est nefarie. Tribus annis post interfectionem [9]Pendan regis completis, filium ejus Wulferum duces Merciorum levantes in regem, fines suos fortiter simul et libertatem receperunt. Hic primus regum Merciorum lavacrum regenerationis suscepit, et filiam Erconberti regis Cantuariorum ac reginæ illius sanctæ Sexburgæ, sanctam [10]Ermenildam in conjugem accepit, et ex illa genuit

De regno Cantuariorum.

Reges Cantuariorum dominabantur proprie in Cantia: in quo sunt hii episcopatus; archiepiscopatus Cantuariæ, et episcopatus Roffensis.

De regno West-Saxonum.

Reges West-Saxonum dominabantur in Wiltescire et Berkescire, et Dorsetensi pagis: quibus est unus episcopus, cujus est modo sedes [1]Salesburiæ, quondam erat vel Ramesburiæ vel Scireburnæ: et in Suth-Sexa, quæ aliquanto tempore

De regno Merciorum.

C Porro reges Merciorum dominabantur in pagis hiis: Glocestrensi, Wigorniensi, [4]Warwicensi; in hiis est episcopus unus, cujus sedes est Wigorniæ: et in Cestrensi et in Derbiensi et [5]Staffordensi; in hiis est episcopus unus, et habet partem Warwicensis et Scrobesburiensis pagi; et est sedes ejus apud [6]civitatem Legionum vel Coventreiam, quondam erat [7]Lichesfeld: et in Herefordensi; habetque episcopus dimidium pagum Scrobesburiæ, et partem Warewicensis et Glocestrensis, possidens sedem in Herefordia: et in Oxenfordia, Buckingensi, Hertfordensi, Huntendunensi, dimidia Bedefordensi, Norhamtunensi, Legecestrensi, [8]Lincolniensi; quos regit episcopus qui modo habet sedem Lincolniæ, quondam habebat apud Dorcacestriam: et in Legecestrensi et Snotingensi; quorum Christianitas ad archiepiscopum Eboracensem spectat; habebaturque ibi autem Fulco, filio suo Gaufrido comitatu dimisso, Hierosolimam profectus est, ibique prosperante sibi fortuna in regem coronatus est. Rex itaque Henricus XXXVI° regni sui anno obiit, sepultusque est in monasterio Radinges quod ipse a fundamentis construxerat. Volente igitur G. comite cum uxore sua quæ hæres erat in regnum succedere, primores terræ, juramenti sui male recordantes, regem eum suscipere noluerunt, dicentes, 'Alienigena non regnabit super nos.' Initoque consilio, Stephano comiti fratri Wintoniensis episcopi, nepoti regis Henrici, coronam regni imposuerunt. Comes itaque Andegaviæ injuriam sibi illatam non leviter ferens, regem Stephanum inquietare valde cœpit, et totam Normanniam illi abstulit. Henricus quippe filius ejus, jam ætatem adeptus, cum matre in Angliam venit, faventibusque sibi quamplurimis regni primoribus, eam sibi funditus calumniavit. Multotiens quoque mare transiens et iterum Angliam veniens, parato robusto exercitu, cum rege id nec minus volente grave bellum inire disposuit. Firmatisque diversis in locis contra se repagulis et sera munitionibus, maxime tamen apud castellum Wallingeford, quisque quæ alterius erant diripiendo vehementer Angliam afflixit. Neque enim tunc temporis profuit episcopo mitra, vel abbati cuculla, quin ab eo auferretur si non ab eo quod exigebatur ad primam interrogationem porrigeret. Si cui vero coloni grana quæ in terram spargeret remansissent, ante tempus falcis ad usum equorum potius quam ad hominum hostiliter distrahebantur, tantoque quislibet in carcere durius torquebatur, quanto plus quid daret ne torqueretur habebat. Ille etiam longe gloriosior inter cæteros eminebat, qui plures perimendo inglorios reddere prævalebat. Discurrentibus tandem inter utrumque consiliariis, rex suos exhæredans, Henricum post se regem juravit. Post concordiam vero factam non pleno anno evoluto, XIX. regni sui anno, rex Stephanus finem vitæ fecit. Quo audito, Henricus tunc dux Normanniæ et Aquitaniæ et comes Andegaviæ, pater enim suus jam obierat, cum fratribus suis et uxore Alienorda, quæ prius Ludowici regis Franciæ sponsa, ab eo, quia parentes erant, fuerat dissociata: sed et Rotomagensi archiepiscopo, pluribusque Franciæ nobilibus, tam ordinatis quam laicis in Angliam venit; ibique coronam regni, sicut ei juratum fuerat, adeptus est. B. [1] Salesberiæ B. et sic passim. [2] deest A.B. [3] Cridentuna B. [4] B. deest Ed. [5] Steffordensi B. [6] A.B. desunt Ed. [7] Licetfelde B. [8] Lincoliensi B. [9] erat A.B.
D olim proprius episcopus, cujus sedes [9]fuit apud Legecestriam.

De regno Orientalium Anglorum.

A

Reges Orientalium Anglorum dominabantur in pago Grantebrigensi; et est ibi episcopus, cujus sedes est apud Heli: et in Norfolcia et Suthfolcia; et est ibi episcopus, cujus sedes est apud [1]Norwicum; quondam erat apud Helmam, vel Theotfordiam.

De regno Orientalium Saxonum.

Reges Orientalium Saxonum dominabantur in Est-Saxia, et dimidio Hertfordensi pago; habebaturque et habetur episcopus Lundoniæ.

De regno Northanhimbrorum.

B

Reges Northanhimbrorum dominabantur in omni regione quæ est ultra Humbram fluvium, usque ad Scotiam; erantque ibi archiepiscopus Eboracensis, episcopus Haugustaldensis, et Rhipensis, Lindisfarnensis, de Candida Casa: at Haugustaldensis et Rhipensis defecerunt, Lindisfarnensis vero translatus est in Dunelmum.

Hæ erant partitiones regnorum, quamvis reges, pro vicissitudine temporum, modo hii modo illi terminos prætergrederentur pro fortitudine, vel pro ignavia amitterent.

De archiepiscopis Cantuariensibus et Eboracensibus.

Habebat autem ex antiquo Cantuariensis archiepiscopus hos episcopos; Lun- C

SIMEONIS DUNELMENSIS

HISTORIA

DE GESTIS REGUM ANGLORUM,

Ab A.D. dc.xvi. adusque A.D. dcccc.lvii.[a]

Incipit Historia sanctæ et suavis memoriæ Simeonis Monachi et Præcentoris Ecclesiæ S. Cuthberti Dunelmi de Regibus Anglorum et Dacorum, et creberrimis Bellis, Rapinis, et Incendiis eorum; post Obitum venerabilis Bedæ Presbyteri fere usque ad Obitum regis Primi Henrici filii Willielmi Nothi qui Angliam adquisivit; [b]id est cccc.xxix. annorum et iv. mensium.

[c]INCIPIT PASSIO SANCTORUM ETHELBERTI ATQUE ETHELREDI REGIÆ STIRPIS PUERORUM.

C ANNO ab Incarnatione Dominica dc.xvi. qui est xxi. ex quo sanctissimus Augustinus cum sociis ad prædicandum missus est, Ethelbert rex Cantuariorum, post regnum temporale quod l. et vi. annis gloriosissime tenuerat, æterna cœlestis regni subiit gaudia. Erat autem idem rex filius *Irmirici, cujus pater Octa, cujus pater Oiric, cujus pater Hengest, qui cum filio suo Oisc a Wirtigerno rege invitatus Britanniam primus intravit, ut Beda[a] luculento describit sermone. Eadbaldus vero filius Ethelbyrhti regni gubernacula suscepit, qui genuit duos filios Eormenredum atque Erconbyrhtum. Eadbaldus rex transiens ex hac vita, Erconberto sceptra dereliquit imperii. Hic primus regum Anglorum in toto regno suo idola relinqui ac destrui præcepit, simul et jejunium quadraginta dierum observari principali auctoritate jussit; cui natus est filius nomine Ecgbertus. Natique sunt Eormenredo Ethelbertus atque Ethelredus; quorum vitam et

D passionis triumphum in exordio nostræ historiæ placet inserere, et gloriam sanctitatis eorum demonstrare.

Erat namque rex Ethelbyrhtus perfectus in imperio gloriosæ potestatis, qui delectatus summopere verbis divinæ agnitionis, tinctus est baptismate salutis. Cujus studio vel sagaci auxilio ubique ecclesiarum Dei diffusus est status, et rerum suarum collatione fidelium roboratus extitit conventus. Unde regni monarchia solertissime pro sibi illato posse disposita, vocante, sequi enim inter omnia fecerat, justi Remuneratoris clementia carnalibus privatur, et ad ardua ætheris cum sanctis regnaturus sustollitur. Huic vero in regiminis sumministratione succedit filius Eadbaldus, sicut superius præfati sumus, de quo procreantur bini regalis stirpis filii, Eormenredus et Erconbyrhtus, quorum junior imperialis principatum

E regni, patre disponente, suscepit. Post autem Erconbyrhti decessum, filius ipsius nomine Ecgbyrhtus illud potenter gubernavit. Eormenredus vero major absque imperii dominio in hujus caducalis vitæ permansit volubili stadio: cui justo ex

[a] Historias de regibus Anglorum duas circa An. 1129, ut videtur, composuit Simeon Dunelmensis. Una ab anno 731 adusque A. 957 pertingit: alia vero ab An. 849 ad An. 1129 perducitur. Primam ex editione Twysdeni, Londoniæ 1651, cum unico codice MS^to, quo et ipse usus est, denuo comparatam repræsentamus; cui et subjecimus varietates quæ in altera Simeonis Historia aut in Annalibus Hovedeni vel Melrosensium occurrunt, et quas apud auctores unde ipsi sua plerumque hauserunt invenire haud licuit. cœlo, quia quos in terris destinari conspiciebant, ipsos fortiores post hujus vitæ gravia certamina ad se redituros videbant. Gavisa est telluris sublimitas, se ornari sentiens duplicis doni gratia, et quia ex nimio multatur contrariorum infortunio, se semper sperat inmeliorari tali subsidio. Gratulatur insuper et mater sancta ecclesia, dum sui tanto Sponsi illustratur dotalitio, quo et merito-culmen crescat. Hujus nempe præcellentis doctrinæ utero traditi, ut sine accusanctæ meditationis illius sacrario, nitido salutaris aquæ sunt abluti baptisterio, in cujus puri septem gradibus liquoris, septem sunt sortiti dona Spiritus Sancti, episcopali benedictione perfusi, et sancto crismate delibuti. Quibus undique decentissime fulti, vivere studuerunt virgines et corpore sancto tenerrimi, septenis dierum curriculis, ut septem septies augmentatis et monade supposito, singucitatis. Hoc deinde insignium illustri cura virtutum duplicato corpore et anima, post peractum vitæ cursum, fructum caperent centesimum sacratissimis virgini-

Quid plura? mortifera idem in se ipsum armatur pestifer turbo nequitia, qua, absente regis præsentia, manus nisus est extendere in Deo cernua innocentium colla.

Etenim intempesta noctis quiete visa est divinitus chorusca super aulam palatii regis fulsisse luminis columna, quæ illustratione insolita plures turbavit ex regis familia; dantesque fragorem clamoris in admiratione nimia, expergefactus est rex, et hoc minime cognoscens surrexit a stratus sui cubiculo, et iter paravit ad nocturnales matutinorum hymnos. Cum digressus a domo, videt orbem novi splendoris incanduisse albedine, cujus procreatio diffluebat a præfato lucis mira-

Enimvero tam recentis stupefactus intuitu, mentis agitari cœpit sollicitus rex cogitationibus, et ubi essent quos pridie præviderat, et de confabulatione perdendorum martyrum quam minister iniquitatis cum eo jamdudum habuerat, movebatur siquidem meditatione acerrima. Tunc celerrime ascito tanti criminis auctore, sciscitatur qua forent propinqui sui positi regionis longinquitate, quorum non fruebatur præsentiæ inclita pulchritudine. Igitur cum hominum exequiis etiam non defuerunt magnalia perpetuæ Deitatis. Coronatos namque in regni æternitatis solio etiam hic visitare dignatur miro potentiæ suæ miraculo. Talia gerebantur in villa regali quæ vulgari dicitur [a]Easterige pronunciatione. Cum ergo sanctorum pretiosissima innocentum corpora terræ secreto forent superstatuta feretro, propositum est ut delata in urbem Cantiæ, Christi sepelirentur in monasterio; et moveri non quiverunt B ab illo in quo statuta fuerant loco. Propositum est ut ad S. Augustini ferrentur ecclesiam; siquidem levari nequiverunt. Ad plurima quoque et honorabilia portare decreverunt loca, et tumbis appositarum manuum deficiebant brachia. Tandem salubri reperto consilio, ut ad famosissimum gestarentur monasterium [b]Wacrinense vocitatum; tam citissimæ agilitatis insperato levantur officio, ut nihil oneris videretur in gestamine diu desiderato. Quo cum perventum fuisset, cum pulcherrimis hymnorum cantilenis, lenibusque psalmorum melodiis, multis resonantibus choris et jubilationum cymbalis suscipiuntur, tradunturque principalem retro aram sepulturæ decenti. Hic multis annorum curriculis eis positis, excelsus Dominus qui humilia respicit et alta a longe cognoscit, eos creberrimis ditare miraculis voluit; de quibus duo posterorum notitiæ nunc propalare præsenti C sermone [statuo.]

Accidit ut quidam, alterius bonis cæcatus, ovem cujusdam pauperis tolleret secretius, quam gestans in humeris, ligatis pedibus, deferre gliscebat secus arcisterium sanctorum martyrum, sed non potuit. Portari ibidem potuit, sed dehinc vehi non valuit. Reus itaque hujus sceleris continuo frustratur flatu vitali, prosterniturque mortuus humi, ovem viventem habens in manibus, eo insequente cui furtum fuerat illatum. Recipit innocens proprium, dimittit reum morte præventum subitanea sanctorum ultione innocentum. Continuo currens ad ædituum sciscitatur si peremerit latronem illum: a nullo mortali didicit jugulatum. Acceptaque licentia reportandi quod suum fuerat, lætus et hilaris revertitur in sua, Deo ac sanctis ejus multas gratias agens. D

Igitur quoniam passiones sanctorum martyrum prout potuimus strictim prælibavimus, restat quomodo divina ultio super iniquissimum judicem piissimæ necis eorum auctorem pervenerit, breviter tangamus. Fuerat eis ex paterno maternoque soror procreata semine, Eormenburga vel Domneva nomine, quam habebat in conjugium copulationis legitimæ rex Merciorum Mearwoldus nomine, quam Ecgberhtus rex ad se, misso legationis suæ gerulo, disposuit vocare. Quæ veniens, suscipitur ab omnibus primatibus illius regionis, uti dignum erat, honorabili perspicuæ ambitionis dignitate. Decernens itaque eam honorare, ut quodcunque vellet honestatis sibi competentis in potestatis suæ ditione rogaret, et sine mora acciperet, sancta mulier humili responsione subinfert, ut tantum terræ illi concederet quantum cerva quam sibi nutrierat, in una die divino instinctu pede E peragraret. Rex vero gratanter continuo jubet in crastinum præparari comitum agmen, quo fretus, navibus ad insulam Tenet dictam faceret callem. Quo positi, ipsaque cum cerva insulam navigio ingressa; viam cerva lustrandi arripit, a principeque et Christi famula cum plebe militari insequitur equis. Jam ex parte quamplurima circumita, nefandus carnifex turbatur invidia, et quasi pro fidelitate regis cui nihil remanere videbatur ex ipsius vastitate amœna, cœpit quasi in viis ejus compatiens garrire talia: ‘Cum cuncta peragas perspicacis prudentiæ gubernaculo, quare hoc brutum animal sicut aliquid magni gerat sequeris

Unde unum narramus miraculum, quod sine dubio confirmat quia fecerat ei Dominus plurima quæ sunt mortalibus inedicibilia. Quadam namque temporis serie lassescentibus membris pro nimia laboris diuturnitate quiescebat in lectulo, modico gravata sopore : cui astitit angelus Domini in columbæ specie residens in ejus capite, ut eam tueretur a malignorum spirituum illusione. Hæc beata virgo sicut ejus felix genitrix, bona relinquens sequacibus vestigia, omnipotente spirituum Patre ejus animam sumente, terra plorante, cœlo gaudente, vivit in æterna beatitudine, sacratissimo ipsius corpore in templo beatæ Dei genitricis Mariæ

Præterea dum spurcissimi persecutoris piorum martyrum subitum mortis interitum statuimus describere, postmodum infleximus oculos ad veneranda sororis neptisque eorum gesta, quibus insimul Christus fuit vivere, et mori lucrum; cujus gratia ad alia narranda, eo succurrente, est properandum, retinentes ordinem narrationum.

'Mors spernit altam gloriam,
Involvit humile pariter et celsum caput,
Æquatque summis infima.'

Octavus in regno refulsit Ethelfryth fortissimus regum qui xx. et VIII. annis regno potitus, vita et regno est privatus. Huic successit Edwinus rex, qui fidem Christianitatis percipiens, rex et martyr cœlos penetravit pro meritis, XVII. annis regnum conservans cum honore summæ potestatis. Oswaldus vero post hunc regnum Northanhymbrorum Christianissimus suscepit, quod et octo annis tenuit: qui supernæ civitatis gaudia petens, et cœli secreta scandens, regnum post ipsum Oswius rex suscepit ad tuendum xx. et VIII. annis. Quo ablato ab imis ad supera, Egfrido commisit terrena imperia, qui regnum XV. annis tenuit. Quo a Pictis interfecto, quia injuste vastaverat Hiberniam, regnavit pro eo Alfridus frater ejus XIX. annis. Alfrido vero successit filius ejus Osredus XI. annis. Quo occiso, Coenredus regni gubernacula suscepit XI. annis. Cui in regnum successit Osricus XI. annis. Osrico vero successit Ceolwlfus frater Coenredi VIII. annis. Huic Beda historiographus Anglorum Historiam destinavit. In regni statu regis prædicti Egfridi anno IV. constructum est quoddam nobile monasterium in Wiremuthe, [a]et anno VII. regni ejusdem natus est Beda magnus.' Sed qualiter id factum sit veriloquus Beda testatur in vita beatissimi abbatis sui Benedicti atque Ceolfridi, quam ipse lenibus exaravit verbis, quæ in plerisque habetur descripta locis. Ædificatus est idem locus et in honore principis apostolorum Petri consecratus. Sed et aliud est cœnobium constructum in veneratione doctoris gentium

[b]Fuit vir vitæ venerabilis, gratia Benedictus et nomine, ab ipso pueritiæ suæ tempore cor gerens senile, ætatem quippe moribus transiens, nulli animum voluptati dedit. Nobili quidem stirpe gentis Anglorum progenitus, sed non minori nobilitate mentis ad promerenda semper angelorum consortia suspensus. Denique cum esset minister Oswii regis, et possessionem terræ suo gradui competentem illo donante perciperet, annos natus circiter xx. et v. fastidivit possessionem caducam ut adquirere posset æternam. Despexit militiam cum corruptibili donativo terrestrem, ut vero Regi militans regnum in superna felicitate mereretur habere perpetuum. Reliquit domum, cognatos et patriam propter Christum et propter evangelium, ut centuplum acciperet et vitam æternam possideret. Respuit nuptiis servire carnalibus, ut sequi valeret Agnum virginitatis gloria candidum in regnis cœlestibus. Abnuit liberos carne procreare mortales, prædestinatus a Christo ad educandos ei spirituali doctrina filios cœlesti in vita perennes. Dimissa ergo patria Romam adiit, beatorum apostolorum quorum desiderio semper ardere consueverat [c]adorare curavit, ac patriam mox reversus, studiosius ea quæ viderat ecclesiasticæ vitæ instituta, diligere, venerari et quibus potuit prædicare non desiit. Profectus est dehinc ad limina sanctorum apostolorum tempore Vitaliani papæ; qui inde egrediens ad Lirinensem insulam se monachorum cœtui tradidit, tonsuram accepit, ubi per biennium institutus, rursus B. A Incarnatione Domini DC.LXXIV., Indictione secunda, anno autem IV. imperii ejusdem regis. Deinde cæmentarios adquisivit, vitrique factores invitavit, et omnia quæ necessaria erant copiose est adeptus. Qui quinquies, ut liber vitæ ejus demonstrat, est profectus ultra maris salsi gurgites; qui tanta munera, et tanta attulit dona in omnibus speciebus, ut præ multitudine nequeant referri.

Igitur venerabilis Benedicti virtute, industria ac religione rex Egfridus non minimum delectatus, terram quam ad construendum monasterium ei donaverat, quia bene ac fructuose ordinatam conspexit, quadraginta adhuc familiarum data possessione augmentare regali munere curavit. O benigna clementia Christi, O clemens pietas regis, quæ non solum libens contulit sua bona bonis, verumetiam data possessione augmentare curavit, ut illud impleretur quod legitur:
B 'Nonne cor nostrum ardens erat in eo!' Væ inimicis Christi, væ qui destruunt, Luc. xxiv. 32.
qui comburunt templa Dei. Comburuntur et ipsi, ubi vermes eorum non moriuntur, et ignis non extinguitur. De his nunc taceamus, et quid gestum sit læti dicamus. Peractis bissenis mensibus, coadunati sunt monachi numero ferme decem et VII. præposito ac presbytero eis constituto Ceolfrido.

Benedictus vero Jesu Christi famulus, consultu imo etiam jussu præfati regis Egfridi, aliud construxit monasterium in honore sanctissimi Pauli apostoli non procul ab altero constitutum; ea duntaxat ratione, ut una utriusque loci pax et concordia, eadem perpetuo familiaritas conservaretur et gratia, ut sicut, verbi gratia, corpus a capite per quod spirat non potest avelli, caput corporis sine quo non vivit nequit oblivisci: ita nullus hæc monasteria primorum apostolorum fraterna
C societate conjuncta, aliquo ab invicem temptaret disturbare conatu. Constituit denique religiosus vir Domini Benedictus reverentissimum Ceolfridum monasterio S. Pauli apostoli, et Eosterwinum præfecit abbatem in cœnobio S. Petri apostoli. Ipse vero Benedictus iccirco hoc gessit, ut regularis custodia semper servaretur, ne propter illius laboris profectionem minus custodiretur sanctæ disciplinæ monarchia. Et ipse magnus abbas Benedictus, sicut de illo beatus papa Gregorius scribit, XII. abbates sub se præfecit sine caritatis detrimento, imo pro augmento. Suscepit igitur Eosterwinus curam monasterii regendi nono ex quo fundatum est anno, permansitque in ea usque ad obitum suum annis IV., vir ad sæculum nobilis; sed insigne nobilitatis non ad jactantiæ materiem ut quidam despectumque aliorum, sed ad majorem, ut Dei servum decet, animi nobilita-
D tem convertens. Patruelis quippe erat abbatis sui Benedicti; sed amborum tanta ingenuitas, talis mundanæ ingenuitatis fuit pro nihilo contemptus, ut neque iste monasterium ingressus aliquem sibi præ cæteris ob intuitum consanguinitatis aut nobilitatis honorem quærendum, neque ille putaret offerendum: sed æquali cum fratribus lance boni propositi juvenis gloriabatur se singularem per omnia servare disciplinam. Et quidem cum fuisset minister Egfridi regis, relictis semel negotiis sæcularibus, depositis armis, assumpta militia spirituali, tantum mansit humilis fratrumque simillimus aliorum, ut ventilare cum eis et triturare, oves vitulasque mulgere, in pistrino, in horto, in coquina, in cunctis monasterii operibus jocundus et obediens gauderet exerceri. Sed et abbatis nomine assumpto, idem animo qui prius manebat ad omnes, juxta id quod quidam sapiens admo-
E net, dicens, 'Rectorem te constituerunt, noli extolli; sed esto in illis quasi unus ex illis.' Erat enim mitis, affabilis et benignus omnibus, et quidem ubi oportunum competebat, peccantes regulari disciplina coercens, sed magis tamen ingenita diligenti consuetudine sedulus admonens, ne quis peccare vellet, et limpidissimam vultus ejus lucem, nubilo sibi suæ iniquitatis abscondere. Sæpe procurandis monasterii negotiis alicubi digrediens, ubi operantes invenit fratres, solebat eis confestim in opere conjungi, vel aratri gressum stiva regendo, vel ferrum malleo domando, vel ventilabrum manu concutiendo, vel aliud quid gerendo. Erat enim et viribus fortis juvenis, et lingua suavis, sed animo hilaris et beneficio largus, et honestus aspectu. Eodem quo fratres cæteri cibo, semper eadem vescebatur in domo. Ipso quo priusquam abbas esset, communi dormiebat in loco, annis, VII. presbyteratu functus est annis, IV. ex eis monasterii regimen agebat, ac sic terrenos artus moribundaque membra relinquens, cœlestia regna petivit, ut duo diademata capiti imponeret secundum nominis sui palmam, hoc est Easter et Wine, verum Pascha ipse inclitus percipiendo, quod est verum epinicion.

Verum his de vita venerabilis Easterwini breviter prælibatis, redeamus ad ordi- B nem narrationis.

Constituto illo abbate monasterio B. Petri apostoli, constituto et domino Ceolfrido monasterio B. Pauli, non multo post temporis spatio Benedictus impiger miles Domini quinta vice de Britannia Romam accurrens, innumeris sicut semper ecclesiasticorum donis commodorum locupletatus rediit.

Nec multo post etiam felix Benedictus morbo cœpit ingruente fatigari, quo per triennium languore paulatim accrescente, paralisi dissolutus est infirmitate, ut ab omni prorsus factus sit parte præmortuus inferiorum membrorum, superioribus solum, sine quorum vita vivere nequit homo, ad officium patientiæ virtutemque reservatis. Studebant in dolore semper Auctori gratias referre utrique abbates, Benedictus scilicet atque Sigfridus, semper Dei laudibus fraternisve C hortatibus vacare.

Multa quidem fratribus colloquebatur, sed et hoc sedulus eisdem solebat iterare mandatum, Ne quis in electione abbatis generis prosapiam, et non magis vivendi docendique probitatem putaret esse quærendam. At ubi uterque abbas lassatus infirmitate diutina jam se morti vicinum, nec regendo monasterio idoneum fore conspexisset, tanta eos namque affecit infirmitas carnis ut perficeretur virtus Christi in eis[a]. Cum vero quadam die desideratus′ eis, se invicem priusquam de hoc sæculo migrarent, videre et alloqui, Sigfridus in feretro deportaretur ad cubiculum ubi Benedictus et ipse suo jacebat in grabato, eisque uno in loco ministrorum manu compositis, caput utriusque in eodem cervicali locaretur lacrimabili spectaculo, nec tantum habuere virium ut propius posita ora D ad osculandum se alterutrum conjungere possent. Inito Benedictus cum eo cumque universis fratribus salubri consilio, acciit abbatem Ceolfridum, quem monasterio B. Pauli apostoli præfecerat, virum videlicet sibi non tam carnis necessitudine quam virtutum societate propinquum, et eum utrique monasterio cunctis faventibus atque hoc utilissimum judicantibus præposuit patrem, salubre ratus per omnia ad conservandum pacis unitatem concordiamque locorum, si unum perpetuo patrem rectoremque tenerent ; commemorans sæpius Israelitici regni exemplum, quod inexterminabile semper exteris nationibus inviolatumque perduravit, quamdiu unis eisdemque suæ gentis regebatur a ducibus. At postquam præcedentium causa peccatorum inimico ab invicem est certamine direptum periit paulisper, et a sua concussum soliditate defecit. E

Igitur postquam cuncta complessent quæ Dei erant, revolutis mensibus duobus, primo venerabilis ac Deo dilectus abbas Sigfridus, pertransito igne et aqua tribulationum temporalium, inductus est in sempiternæ quietis refrigerium, introivit in domum regni cœlestis in holocaustis perpetuæ jubilationis.

Benedictus vero victor vitiorum deinde adjunctis aliis mensibus quatuor, victus infirmitate carnis ad extrema pervenit. Tunc virtutum patrator egregius ut purpuraret terminum sui exitus, catervas contempsit inimicorum funditus. Qui sacræ fidei militiam proferens, qui dispensationis suæ talenta sustollens, qui egregiæ castitatis fructus in manibus retinens, qui oleum recondidit in thalamo cor-

Die mox sancto nascitura æternæ felicitatis, serenitatis et lucis.

Suscepit sanctus Domini servus Dominici corporis et sanguinis sacramentum, hora exitus sui instante, pro viatico; et sic anima illa sancta longis flagellorum felicium excocta atque examinata flammis, luteam carnis fornacem deserit, et supernæ beatitudinis libera pervolat ad gloriam. Sextodecimo postquam monasterium fundavit anno quievit in Domino pius confessor, pridie Iduum Januariarum. 12 Jan. A. 690.

Ceolfridus vero abbas illustris per omnia, vir acutus ingenio, actu impiger,
B maturus animo, religionis fervens zelo, pius sicut et supra meminimus, jubente pariter et juvante Benedicto, monasterium B. Pauli apostoli VII. annis fundavit, perfecit, rexit, ac deinde utrique monasterio, vel, sicut rectius dicere possumus, in duobus locis posito uni monasterio beatorum apostolorum Petri et Pauli, XXVIII. annis sollerti regimine præfuit, et cuncta quæ suus prædecessor egregia virtutum opera incepit, ipse non segnius perficere curavit. Statuit igitur plurima altaria, fecit et oratoria, et vestimenta omnis generis ampliavit, tresque bibliothecas adquisivit, duas utrique monasterio reliquit. Privilegium monasterio a papa Sergio accepit, quod perlatum et coram synodo patefactum, magnifici regis Alfridi subscriptione est confirmatum. At ubi post multam regularis observantiæ disciplinam, post incomparabilem orandi psallendique sollertiam, post mirabi-
C lem et coercendi improbos fervorem et modestiam consolandi infirmos, post insolitam rectoribus escæ potusque parcitatem, et habitus vilitatem, vidit se jam senior et plenus dierum non ultra posse subditis spiritualis exercitii vel docendo, vel vivendo præfigere formam; multa diu secum mente versans, utilius decrevit, dato fratribus præcepto, ut juxta sui statuta privilegii, juxtaque regulam sancti abbatis Benedicti, de suis sibi ipsi patrem qui aptior esset eligerent. Obnitentibus licet primo omnibus et in lacrimas singultusque genua cum obsecratione crebra flectentibus, factum est quod pius pater desideravit.

Eligitur igitur Hwetbyrhtus, vir bonus et justus, qui erat discipulus abbatis Sigfridi, ad cujus consecrationem Acca episcopus[a] invitatus est, qui illum solita in abbatis officium benedictione confirmavit. Profectus est beatus vir Ceolfri-
D dus ad limina sanctissimi Principis apostolorum, sed priusquam ibidem pervenire potuisset, tactus est infirmitate, qua et mortuus est. Pervenit autem Lingonas miles emeritus circa horam diei tertiam VII. Kal. Octobris ut diximus, applicavitque in pratis ejusdem civitatis. Contigit autem Dei dispositione, ut ipso die circa horam decimam migraret ad Dominum. Cujus beatum corpus sepultum est in ecclesia sanctorum martyrum Speusippi, Eleusippi, et Meleusippi, ubi multa signa et sanitates patratæ dinoscuntur, donante Eo qui sanctos suos et in præsenti certantes juvare, et in futuro consuevit victores coronare. [a] Hagustaldensis. 25 Sept. A. 716

Hæc autem quæ scripta sunt ex dictis beatissimi Bedæ excerpsimus. Jam ratum videtur ut de eo quid loquamur, reminiscentes memoriam sanctitatis ejus, et gratias ei referentes pro suis laboribus. Ait enim de annalibus, hoc est de

A Æternus fuerit placidus te [1]vindice Judex,
Nec Deus æthereus bis crimina vindicat ulli,
Spernere tu noli veniæ tibi tempora certa.
Quanta malis maneant etiam tormenta memento,
Vel quod celsithronus metuendus ab arce polorum
Adveniet Judex rationem reddere cunctis,
Præcurrent illum vel qualia signa, repente
Terra tremet, montesque ruent, collesque liquescent,
Et mare terribili confundet murmure mentes,
Tristius et cœlum tenebris obducitur atris,
Astra cadunt, rutilo et Tytan [2]tenebrescit in ortu,
B Pallida nocturnam nec præstat luna lucernam,
De cœlo venient et signa minantia mortem ;

Sis memor illius, quis tum pavor ante tribunal
Percutiet stupidis cunctorum corda querelis,
Dum simul innumeris Regem comitata polorum
Angelica advenient cœlestibus agmina turmis
C Atque omnes pariter homines cogentur adesse,
Qui sunt, qui fuerant, fuerint, vel quique futuri,
Cunctaque cunctorum cunctis arcana patebunt,
Quod cor, lingua, manus tenebrosis gessit in antris,
Et quod nunc aliquem verecundans scire verebar,
Omnibus in patulo pariter tunc scire licebit.

Sordibus [5]ablutus veniat nisi ab omnibus illuc.
Tunc tribus et populi ferient rea pectora pugnis ;
Stabit uterque simul timidus pauperque potensque,
Et miser et dives simili ditione timebunt.
Fluvius ignivomus miseros torquebit amare,
Et vermes scelerum mordebunt intima cordis.

posset, quod penes se reponens alicui ecclesiæ ad honorem Dei et S. Accæ donaret. Sed id irreverenter perpetrare non ausus, prius humi procumbens septem pœnitentiales psalmos devote cantavit, Deum exorans quatinus tale furtum ei non displiceret, quod non sacrilega mente, sed piæ devotionis et venerationis gra-tia facere cogitabat. Post hanc orationem se erigens, quod proposuerat explere temptabat. Cumque ostio interioris porticus in qua erant venerandæ reliquiæ, appropinquasset, ecce subito calor quidam quasi ignis vaporantis de ore clibani C ardentis, ei obvius fuit, eumque magno timore perculsum retroire coegit. Ille vero credens hoc ei ideo contigisse, quod cum minori devotione quam deberet tantam rem assequi vellet, solo tenus iterum prostratus, multo uberiores et devotiores preces quam antea fecerat Domino fudit, quatinus quod devote desiderabat digne adipisci valeret. Post aliquantum itaque intervallum surgens, cum timore et reverentia magna ad ostium porticus accessit; sed multo ardentiore calore quam antea de illa egrediente, repercussus est. Quo facto, intelligens non esse voluntatem Dei ut aliquid de reliquiis S. Accæ furtim asportaret, tertio id temptare non ausus est. Sed et aliud miraculum de eodem Deo dilecto con-fessore non est silentio prætereundum, quod multi qui usque hodie supersunt per reliquias ejus patratum esse testantur. Cum venisset ad præfatam Hagus- D taldensem ecclesiam quidam canonicus regularis et sacerdos, scilicet Edricus, qui illuc primus canonicorum a viro venerabili Thoma archiepiscopo missus est, invenit acervum de terra congestum juxta majus altare quod infra cancellos ecclesiæ erat, quem inde auferre volens, effodere eum cœpit. De quo cum aliquam partem fodisset, reperit thecam ligneam non admodum magnam. Quam aperiens, invenit duo sigilla plumbea, insculptis literis, quid intus continerent intimantia.
In quorum altero scriptum erat, quod de S. Acca reliquiæ intro haberentur.
Mox ergo illud confringens, invenit pulverem cineri simillimum, nonnullaque ossa de sancto ejus corpore pulveri immixta, quæ inde tollens in honestiori theca reposuit. Erat tunc temporis paupercula quædam sanctimonialis femina in ipsa villa, quam prædictus frater pro simplicitate ejus et innocentia vitæ E oppido diligebat. Ista multo tempore extiterat cæca, ita ut ad ecclesiam, et ubi-cumque necesse ire habebat, semper ab alio duceretur. Quadam die repente venit in cor fratris præfati talis cogitatio, ut unum de ossibus illis quæ nuper invenerat, in aqua benedicta abluere deberet, mulierique de ipso lavacro dare, ut inde oculos suos lavaret, si forte Deus, meritis sancti confessoris sui Accæ intercedentibus, lumen oculorum hoc venerando lavacro ei restituere dignaretur.
Fecitque ille quod divino instinctu ammonitus, sicut postea claruit, faciendum cogitaverat. Abluensque unum de ossibus in aqua benedicta, mulieri dedit, præcipiens ei quatinus de illa oculos suos lavaret. Quæ cum ita fecisset, quasi

A pit. Fuit alter quidam homo pauper in eadem villa cujus guttur intercutaneo morbo in tantum intumuerat, ut nec loqui nec manducare posset. In cujus ore cum idem frater de ipsa aqua parum infudisset, repente post unius horæ spatium disrupta est cutis ex inferiori parte tumoris, sicque exeunte tumore sanatus est. Qualiter vero Malcolmus rex Scottorum ab invasione pacisque violatione ecclesiæ Hagustaldensis, S. Acca cæterisque sanctis qui in ea requiescunt, meritorum suorum præsidiis illam conservantibus coercitus sit, silentio tegere nimis impium est. Licet enim vulgo etiam notissimum sit, tamen ne penitus cum tempore a memoria hominum transeat, notitiæ posterorum scripto tradendum est. Malcolmus igitur rex Scottorum[1], homo scilicet ferocissimus mentemque bestialem ge- [1] A.D. 1054-93.
rens, Northumbrensem provinciam crebra irruptione misere devastare solebat,
B plurimosque de illa viros et mulieres captivos in Scotiam deducere. Qui cum quadam vice cum numerosiore solito exercitu fines provinciæ illius, eam devastaturus, ingressus fuisset, provinciales ejus adventum audientes, fere omnes ad ecclesiam Hagustaldensem cum rebus suis quas secum portare poterant sub protectione sanctorum in illa quiescentium confugerunt. Quod ut Malcolmus comperit, proposuit illo pergere, omnesque qui eo confugerant expoliare; ipsamque ecclesiam funditus evertere. Quod audiens presbyter ejusdem ecclesiæ, perrexit obviam ei ammonuitque illum ne tantum nefas in sanctos Dei ecclesiæ illius patronos committere præsumeret. At ille ejus spernens monita, eum a se cum injuria projecit. Qui ad ecclesiam festinato rediens, omnes qui ibidem confugerant in commune exhortatus est, gloriosos sanctos Dei, sub quorum præsidium confugerant, instan-
C ter deprecari, quatinus illos solita pietate sua a tam inmani hoste Scottisque bestiis crudelioribus protegere dignarentur. Et fecerunt ita. Nocte vero sequenti cum idem presbyter præ tristitia in soporem decidisset, apparuit ei vir quidam vultu et habitu venerandus, qui ab eo sciscitabatur, quasi ignorans, causam tantæ tristitiæ. Cumque pro hostium imminentium sævitia se pavere respondisset. Ait illi: 'Ne timeas, quoniam antequam illucescat, rete meum in fluvium mittam, per quod omnino Scottorum transitus inpedietur.' Hæc cum dixisset evanuit. Mane autem facto, inventus est amnis qui Tyna dicitur, absque pluviarum inundatione et ventorum violentia, in tantum excrevisse, ut absque navis amminiculo minime transiri posset. Præterea eadem nocte et die sequenti tanta repente nebula accidit, ut maxima pars exercitus supradicti regis per tenebras dispersa,
D a se invicem dilaberetur, ita ut plures ad aquilonem, multi ad orientem, nonnulli quoque ad meridiem, aperte miraculo divino confusi per intercessionem sanctorum Hagustaldensis ecclesiæ, cum magna festinatione tenderent. Rex vero Malcolmus cum illa particula exercitus sui quæ cum eo remanserat veniens, omnem transmeandi copiam sibi negatam vidit. Resedit ergo supra ripam fluminis, expectare volens donec aqua diminueretur ut transire posset. Sed cum tribus diebus expectasset, aquamque absque omni pluviæ amministratione cotidie magis ac magis crescere videret; tam evidenti miraculo perterritus, cum magna festinatione recessit: sicque ab ejus crudelitate omnes qui ad præfatam Hagustaldensem ecclesiam confugerant, meritis sanctorum in illa requiescentium erepti sunt.

Anno DCC.LXXXI. [a]Hibaldus consecratus est episcopus.' Alchmundus Hagustaldensis ecclesiæ præsul, eximiæ religionis et magnarum vir virtutum, postquam XIII. annis sublimiter præfatam rexisset ecclesiam, regnante gloriosissimo 781.

B Northanhymbrorum rege Elfwaldo, anno III. regni ejus, VII. Idus Septembris huic vitæ modum fecit, qui pro meritis, æternæ beatitudinis est particeps factus. Sepultus vero est juxta prædecessorem suum reverendæ memoriæ S. Accam episcopum. De quo loco post annos plusquam CC.L. divina revelatione translatus est hoc modo. Tempore illo fuit quidam Dregmo in territorio Hagustaldensis ecclesiæ, Deum valde timens, et eleemosinarum operibus, prout facultas sibi suppeditabat, haud segniter deditus, ac per omnia a comprovincialium moribus vita discordans. Erat enim miræ simplicitatis et innocentiæ homo, ac erga sanctos Dei devotionis et venerationis immensæ. Quapropter eum omnes vicini sui in magno honore habebant, illumque verum Dei cultorem appellabant. Huic itaque quadam nocte in stratu suo quiescenti apparuit quidam vir pontificali infula decoratus, virgam- 7 Sept.

C que pastoralem in manu tenens. Cum qua eum pulsans, sic ait illi: 'Surge, vade et dic Elfredo filio Westneor presbytero Dunelmensis ecclesiæ, quatinus plebe coadunata territorii Haugustaldensis, transferat corpus meum de loco illo ubi sepultus sum, ac intra ecclesiam in honestiori loco reponat. Dignum est enim illos venerationem ab omnibus in terris accipere, quos Rex regum dignatus est in cœlis stola gloriæ et immortalitatis induere.' Quem cum ille interrogasset, 'Domine tu quis es?' Ille respondit: 'Ego sum Alchmundus ecclesiæ Hagustaldensis episcopus, qui eidem loco quartus post B. Wilfredum gratia Dei præfui. Corpus vero meum juxta prædecessorem meum venerandæ memoriæ S. Accam episcopum positum est. Ad quod transferendum tu quoque cum presbytero simul adesto.' Hæc cum dixisset, disparuit. Mane autem facto, homo ille cum magna

D festinatione ad præfatum presbyterum perrexit, quicquid vidisset, quodve mandatum ei deferre jussus esset, per ordinem ei indicavit. Qui lætus admodum effectus, convocavit plurimam populi multitudinem, rem notam eis faciens, diemque statuit quo venerabiles reliquias transferrent. Die ergo statuta presbyter præfatus ad sepulchrum accedens, illud a terra denudari præcepit. Quod cum factum esset, adjuvante se viro illo cui revelatio facta fuerat, populorum turbis hinc inde stantibus, veneranda ossa de tumulo collegit, linteoque involuta ac in scrinio recondita super feretrum collocavit. Et quia pro tantæ veneratione diei sacrosanctas hostias Domino offerendi hora transierat, posuerunt eum nocte illa in porticu S. Petri ad orientalem plagam ipsius ecclesiæ Hagustaldensis; sequenti die cum canticis, et hymnis, et missarum solemniis in ecclesiam illum transferre statu-

Cuthberti Dunelmensi ad honorem Dei et S. Alchmundi conferre. Luce itaque terris reddita, ad transferendum corpus almificum plurima populi multitudo convenit. Cumque jam hora tertia appropinquaret, jubente presbytero, manus apponentes feretrum levare conati sunt; sed illud movere minime valebant. Animo vero consternati seseque mutuo intuentes omnes qui aderant, mirabantur rei novitatem stupentes. Tunc sacerdos illius reatus se ipsum causam esse nesciens, exhortatus est omnes Deum deprecari, quatinus illis revelare dignaretur pro qua culpa hoc eis contigisset. Et factum est. Illis autem in ecclesia pernoctantibus, Deumque pro jam dicto negotio exorantibus, apparuit iterum S. Alchmundus eidem homini cui prius apparuerat, forte tunc infra ecclesiam irruente subito sopore prægravato, et cum aliquantum severo vultu ait ad eum : ‘ Quid est quod facere voluistis ? Putastis membris desectum me in ecclesiam referre, in qua Deo et S. Andreæ apostolo ejus integro corpore et spiritu servivi ? Surge ergo, et contestare coram omni populo ut corpori meo citius restituatur quod inconsulte inde ablatum est, alioquin me de loco in quo nunc sum nullatenus movere poteritis.’ Et cum hæc dixisset, ostendit ei manum suam medietate unius digiti carentem. Facta autem die, vir ille in medio populi astans, quid sibi nocte illa revelatum fuisset universis propalavit, vehementi verborum invectione multari dignum esse indicans quicumque hoc facere præsumpsisset. Tunc sacerdos se deprehensum cernens, in medium prosiluit, et qua de causa quave intentione hoc perpetrasset, omnibus patefecit. Restituensque S. Alchmundo quod pie devotionis gratia ei abstulerat, congrua satisfactione veniam illico impetravit. Et accedentes clerici qui aderant, absque ulla vi levaverunt eum, ac in ecclesia transtulerunt IV. Nonas Augusti ; ubi usque hodie a fidelibus condigno honore veneratur, ad laudem et honorem Domini nostri Jesu Christi. A Anno DCC.LXXXVIII. Elfwaldus rex[a], conjuratione facta ab ejus patricio Sicgan nomine, miserabili occisus est morte IX. Kal. Octobris, in loco qui dicitur Scythlescester juxta murum. Corpus vero eximii regis ad ^Hehstealdesige cum magnis monachorum cuneis et clericorum cantilenis perlatum est, et in ecclesia sanctissimi Andreæ apostoli honorifice sepultum est, quam construxit dignissimus pater Wilfridus archiepiscopus ad laudis præconium supradicti apostoli. [b]Præcellit opus ipsius cœnobii cætera ædificia in gente Anglorum, licet multa sint et inedicibilia in plerisque locis; sed in eo loco longitudines latitudinesque atque pulchritudines excellunt. In quo cœnobio sunt parietes variis coloribus exornati, et historiæ depictæ, sicut supradictus Wilfridus episcopus instituit. Verumetiam domnus Acca qui post ipsum illum locum gubernavit, glorioso compsit ornatu. B Sepulto rege ut prædiximus, regnavit Osred filius Alcredi regis nepos ejus pro eo unum annum. In loco vero quo Elfwaldus rex justus interfectus est, cœlitus lux emissa dicitur videri a plurimis. Constructa est ibidem ecclesia a fidelibus illius loci, atque in honore Dei et sanctorum Cuthberti episcopi et Oswaldi regis et martyris consecrata. A.D. 788. 23 Sept. ^ Hexham.

Anno DCC.XC. Ethelredus de exilio liberatus est×, et iterum per gratiam Christi regni solio est subthronizatus. Osredus autem rex, dolo suorum principum circumventus et captus ac regno privatus, attonsus est in Eboraca civitate, et postea necessitate coactus exilium petit. Cujus anno secundo ϒ Eardulf dux captus est et ad Ripun perductus, ibique occidi jussus extra portam monasterii a rege præfato. Cujus corpus fratres cum Gregorianis concentibus ad ecclesiam portantes, C et in tentorio foris ponentes; post mediam noctem vivus est in ecclesia inventus. Eodem anno Baduulf ad Candidam Casam ordinatur episcopus in loco qui dicitur [c]Hearrahaleh, quod interpretari potest, 'locus dominorum.' Anno vero +priori Ethelberht episcopus sua sede^ relicta, sancto Tilberhto episcopo jam obeunte, prædictus præsul episcopatum Haugustaldensis ecclesiæ accepit in propriam dominationem. 790. × v. 779. ϒ 791. + 789. ^ Candida Casa.

Anno DCC.XCI. filii Elfwaldi regis ab Eboraca civitate vi abstracti, et de ecclesia principali per promissa fallaciæ abducti, miserabiliter sunt perempti ab Ethelredo rege in Wonwaldremere; quorum nomina [d]Oelf et Oelfwine′ fuere. Eo quoque anno * Lamberhtus Dorovernensis ecclesiæ archiepiscopus ex hac lucis tenebrositate transmigravit ad veræ lucis beatitudinem. Abbas vero Ethelherdus [e]Hlu- D densis monasterii ad eandem sedem est electus et ordinatus episcopus. 791. * Jainberhtus.

Anno DCC.XCII. Karolus rex Francorum misit sinodalem librum ad Britanniam sibi a Constantinopoli directum; in quo libro, heu, proh dolor! multa inconvenientia et veræ fidei contraria [f]reperientes, maxime quod pene omnium orientalium doctorum non minus quam trecentorum vel eo amplius episcoporum unanima assertione [g]confirmantum imagines adorare debere, quod omnino ecclesia Dei execratur. Contra quod scripsit Albinus epistolam ex authoritate divinarum scripturarum mirabiliter affirmatam, illamque cum eodem libro, [h]et persona episcoporum, ac principum nostrorum regi Francorum attulit. Ipso denique anno Osredus de exilio sacramentis et fide quorundam principum clam de × Eufania venit, ibique, deficientibus ab eo suis militibus, captus est a rege præfato, scilicet E Ethelredo, atque eo jubente occisus in loco qui dicitur [i]Aynburg, XVIII. Kal. Octobris. Corpus vero ejus ad ostium Tyni fluminis perlatum est, et in basilica ejusdem eximii cœnobii sepultum. Eodem anno Ethelred rex accepit reginam Elfledam filiam Offæ regis Merciorum III. Kal. Octobris apud Cataractam. 792. × Eubonia. 14 Sept. 29 Sept.

Anno DCC.XCIII., qui est annus Ethelredi regis quartus, dira prodigia miseram Anglorum terruere gentem. Siquidem fulmina abominanda, et dracones per aera, igneique ictus sæpe vibrare et volitare videbantur; quæ scilicet signa 793.

A.D. 793. famem magnam, et multorum hominum stragem pessimam atque inedicibilem, A quæ subsecuta est, demonstravere. Ipso quoque anno Sicga dux qui interemit Elfwaldum regem[a], interiit propria [a]nece; cujus corpus ad insulam Lindisfarnensem perlatum est IX. Kal. Maii. [b]Lindisfarnensis insula magna est per ambitum, verbi gratia VIII. vel amplius miliariis se extendens. In qua est nobile monasterium quo eximius Cuthbertus antistes positus erat cum aliis præsulibus qui ejus successores dignissimi extiterant. De quibus dici congruenter potest quod canitur: 'Corpora sanctorum in pace sepulta sunt.' Lindis dicitur flumen quod excurrit in mare duorum pedum latitudinem habens, quando ledon fuerit, id est, minor æstus, et videri potest: quando vero malina fuerit, id est, major æstus maris, tunc nequit Lindis videri. Æstus oceani lunam sequitur, tanquam ejus aspiratione retrorsum trahatur in accessum, ejusque impulsu retracto refundatur. B Qui quotidie bis affluere et remeare, unius semper horæ dodrante et semiuncia, quæ est dimidia, transmissa videtur, ut Beda testatur[x]. Sicut enim luna quatuor punctis spatio quotidie tardius oriri, tardius occidere, quod pridie orta est vel occiderat, solet: ita etiam maris uterque æstus sive diurnus sit et nocturnus, seu matutinus et vespertinus, ejusdem pene temporis intervallo tardius quotidie venire, tardius redire non desinit. Punctus vero, quinta pars est horæ: quinque enim puncti horam faciunt. De concordia maris et lunæ sic quidam cecinit rhetor, id est, Aldelmus præsul[y]:

'Nunc ego cum pelago fatis communibus insto,
Tempora reciprocis convolvens menstrua cœlis.
Ut mihi lucifluæ decrescit gloria formæ, C

Farne autem insula, qua beatissimus Cuthbertus heremiticam duxit vitam, non tanta est ut Lindisfarne; sed est posita in mare, magnis exturbata fluctibus diebus et noctibus.

His strictim dictis, ad ordinem revertamur narrationis. Eodem sane anno Pagani ab aquilonali climate navali exercitu ut aculeati crabrones Britanniam venientes, hac illacque ut dirissimi lupi discurrentes, prædantes, mordentes, interficientes non solum jumenta, oves et boves, verumetiam sacerdotes levitasque chorosque monachorum atque sanctimonialium; veniunt, ut præfati sumus, ad Lindisfarnensem ecclesiam, miserabili prædatione vastant cuncta, calcant sancta pollutis vestigiis, altaria suffodiunt, et omnia thesauraria sanctæ ecclesiæ rapiunt. D Quosdam e fratribus interficiunt, nonnullos secum vinctos assumunt, perplurimos opprobriis vexatos nudos projiciunt, aliquos in mare demergunt. Apte de illis dicitur quod sequitur:

'Fortuna vices premit insontes
Debita sceleri noxia pœna:
At perversi resident celso more solio,
Sanctaque calcant injusta vice colla nocentes:
Latet obscuris condita virtus clara tenebris,
Justosque tulit crimen iniqui.'

Illis vero recedentibus, et de præda vel malis actibus gratulantibus, quid eis fortuna sequentis anni advexit stilus fidelis demonstrabit. E

794. Anno DCC.XCIV. prædicti Pagani portum Ecgfridi regis vastantes, monasterium [c]ad ostium Doni amnis prædarunt. Sed S. Cuthbertus non sine punitione eos sinebat abire. Princeps quippe eorum ibidem crudeli nece occisus est ab Anglis, et post exigui temporis spatium vis tempestatis eorum naves quassavit, perdidit, contrivit, et perplurimos mare operuit. Nonnulli itaque ad littus sunt ejecti, et mox interfecti absque misericordia. Et recte illis hæc contigerunt, quoniam se non lædentes graviter læserunt. His diebus [d]Colcu presbyter et lec-

A.D. 798. plurimis interfectis, Wada dux cum suis in fugam versus est, et Eardwlfus rex victoriam regaliter sumpsit ex inimicis. Eodem anno Lundonia igne repentino cum magna hominum multitudine consumpta est. His tempestatibus [a]Kenwlf rex Merciorum cum omni exercitus sui virtute provinciam Cantuariorum ingressus, miserabili prædatione pene usque ad internecionem potenter vastavit. 'Suscipimus sanctas et universales quinque synodos beatorum et Deo acceptabilium patrum, sicut præsentis libri continet textus. Glorificamus sane et adoramus atque veneramur Dominum nostrum Jesum Christum sicut isti glorificaverunt; nihil addentes vel subtrahentes. Et anathematizamus corde et ore quos anathematizaverunt prædicti patres; glorificantes Deum Patrem omnipotentem sine initio, et Filium ejus Unigenitum ex Patre generatum ante sæcula, et Spiritum Sanctum procedentem ex Patre et Filio inenarrabiliter, sicut prædicaverunt hii quos supra memoravimus, sancti apostoli, et prophetæ, et doctores, et nos credimus, propter quod et locuti sumus. Hujus fidei integritatem sic alibi esse descriptam legimus, per quam salvari speramus sicut cæteri justi confidebant:

'Cum Pater in Verbo sit semper et in Patre Verbum, Sitque unus Verbi Spiritus atque Patris:
Sic de Personis tribus est tibi non dubitandum,
Unum ut tota fide confiteare Deum.'

Et infra:

E

'Corde Patris genitum creat, et regit omnia Verbum,
Nec tamen est aliquid quod sine Patre gerat.
Unus enim amborum motus, ratio una, voluntas,
Par virtus, idem spiritus, unus amor.'

Et juxta:

'Sic magnus Deus est de se, valet, et manet in se,
Cui summum et proprium est semper id esse quod est.
Splendet enim verum vero de lumine lumen,
Ut genitum agnoscens noverit ingenitum.

Tandem cum consilio episcoporum ac principum Anglorum ex utraque parte, pacem inierunt per gratiam regis [a]Anglorum. Factaque firmissimæ pacis concordia inter eos, quam sub jurejurando in evangelio Christi ambo reges confirmaverunt, Deum testem atque fidejussorem interponentes, ut in diebus eorum quamdiu vita potirentur præsenti et regni essent infulis suffulti, pax firma veraque inter eos amicitia inconcussa et inviolata persisteret. Contigit in illis esse completum quod legitur:

‘ Gratius astra nitent, ubi Notus
Desinit imbriferos dare sonos;
Lucifer ut tenebras pepulerit, D
Pulchra dies roseos agit equos.’

‘ Astra splendebant gratius;’ hoc est, principes gaudebant profusius dum reges pacem dabant inter se clementius. ‘ Notus’ ventus est calidus qui solet imbriferos dare sonos. ‘ Ut dies roseos agit equos;’ id est, totius regni status exultabat dum serena redierunt tempora illius ævi mortalibus, gratia Domini largiente, qui tempestatibus et choruscis præstat quietudinis serenitatem,

‘ Et numeris elementa ligat, ut frigora flammis,
Arida conveniant liquidis, ne purior ignis
Evolet, aut mersas deducant pondera terras.’

Eodem anno Hathuberht Lundoniæ civitatis antistes vitæ hujus contempsit tempora. Et paulo post magna pars vici ipsius repentino igne consumpta est. E

A sicque ut omnibus esset perosa, non solum ducibus et magistratibus, verumetiam cunctis populis. Omnes religiosos viros ad regem semper accusare non cessavit, et ita maledicta virum suum constrinxit blanditiis, ut illos quos accusare cœpit, aut vita aut regno privaret; et si a rege impetrare non posset, veneno eos clam disperdere non distulit. Erat eodem tempore quidam [a]prædives adolescens, præamabilis regi prædicto et carus, quem cum accusare vellet ad regem et minime prævaleret, veneno ipsum ipsa malivola necavit. De quo veneno cum ipse rex inscienter gustasset, periit. Neque etiam illa venenum regi proposuerat dare sed puero, quem princeps ducum præoccupans, ambo necis poculum biberunt, ambo gustu amarissimo perierunt. At illa sine deliberatione stulte respondit, dicens: 'Si mihi optio daretur, filium tuum magis eligerem quam te, quia junior esse videtur.' Cui rex Carolus ita respondisse fertur: 'Si me eligeres, haberes filium meum; sed quia illum elegisti, nec me nec illum propitium habebis.' Contulit tamen illi propter improbitatem ejus optimum monasterium, in quo, deposito sæculari habitu, sub specie [d]hypocrissima indumento sanctimonialium assumpto, perpaucis fungebatur annis: sicut enim execrabilis et flebilis ipsa nequiter et irrationabiliter in propria vixit regione; ita multo nequius, miserabilius et irrationabilius in terra aliena vixisse C deprehenditur.

A Anno Dominicæ Incarnationis DCCC.LIII., nativitatis Elfredi v°, Burhred Merciorum rex per nuncios deprecatus est Ethelwlfum Occidentalium Saxonum regem ut ei auxilium conferret, quo Mediterraneos Brittones qui inter Merciam et mare occidentale habitabant dominio suo subdere posset, qui contra eum frequenter reluctabantur. Rex autem Ethelwlf, legatione ejus accepta, exercitum movit, stipendia distribuit, cum Burhredo rege intrepidus ad bellum exiit. Mox ut ingressus est ad gentem illam devastandam, cepit, occidit subdiditque regi Burhredo; qui gratias agens dimisit eum cum gaudio ad propria remeare. Omnes quoque ecclesiæ ab aqua quæ vocatur Tweda usque Tinam australem, et ultra desertum ad occidentem pertinebant illo tempore ad præfatam ecclesiam, et hæ mansiones: Carnham et Culterham, et duæ Geddewrd ad australem plagam [1]Teinetæ quas Ecgredus episcopus condidit, et Mailros et Tigbrethingham et [2]Eoriercorn ad occidentalem partem Edwinesburch, et Pefferham et Aldham et Tinningham et Coldingaham [3]et Tillemuthe et Northam supradictam. Condidit etiam Billingaham in Heorternysse et duas alias villas Ileclife et [5]Wilegeclife ad australem plagam fluminis Teisæ, quas Sancto Cuthberto ad victum sibi servientium dedit: similiter et Wudecestre et Hwitingeham et Eadulfingaham, Egwilvingeham, donante rege Ceolwlfo, antiquitus S. In ipsius quoque regni statu magnus Paganorum exercitus de mari adveniens, Wintoniam civitatem hostiliter invadens depopulatus est. Exercitus vero prædictus cum reverteretur cum ingenti præda ad naves, Osric dignissimus dux Hantunnensium cum suis populis advenit, et Ethelwlf comes insignis cum Bearrocensibus viriliter occurrit cum immenso exercitu, consertoque prælio, Pagani passim trucidantur ab Anglis suffultis a spiritibus angelicis. Cumque diutius hostes dirissimi stare nequirent præ vulneribus, cadebat crudeliter perplurima multitudo, alii per latibula densarum veprium se abdentes, nonnulli muliebriter fugam arripientes. licis thoracis circumdatus. Cernens autem multitudinem Barbarorum, princeps Christianorum populorum, dixit suis: 'Horum numerosus est exercitus, sed tamen est spernendus. Qui si aliquando contra nos aciem struens valentior incubuerit, noster quidem dux, qui Christus est, fortior illis est.' Obviant denique Christiani Danis confidentes in tuitione Christi nominis, dux præfatus suos hortatur præcipue ut resisterent adversariis, constitutus cum suis inclitis legionibus in loco qui appellatur Englafeld. Ubi dimicatum est satis atroci bello, quo ex utraque parte ceciderunt vulnerati multi et occubuerunt. Occubuit ibidem quidam princeps Danorum cum magna multitudine sui exercitus; cæteris fuga elapsis, Christiani victoriæ palmam adepti sunt, et loco funeris dominati sunt. A.D. 871.

His ita peractis, post, bis binis dierum curriculis expletis, rex præpotens Ethelredus ac frater ejus Elfred, adunatis exercitibus copiosis, ut regum est potestas et virtus, ad Readingum venerunt, desiderantes aut gloriose vivere in regno, aut in bello occumbere pro Christo. Cumque armipotens rex Ethelred cum fratre dilectissimo ad portam arcis pervenissent, cædendo et prosternendo hostes ante et retro; Pagani e contra cædebant, hostica rabie resistentes. Sed heu proh dolor! victoriam eo die inimici Anglorum assumebant. Ethelwlfus quoque Bearrocensis qui prius ut leo fremuit in bello, tunc cum cæteris fidelibus occubuit in Christo. Quo dolore et verecundia Anglorum populus commotus, auxilium implorabant angelorum, ut eis dignarentur impendere adminiculum divini adjutorii. Iterum enimvero post quatuor dies contra præfatos inimicos exercitum commovent, arma arripiunt, statuunt legiones in loco qui dicitur *Etscesdun, quod Latine 'mons fraxini' potest reverenter interpretari. Ibi autem totis viribus et plena voluntate ad prælium prodeunt viri famosi ad bella fortissimi. Dani quoque, ut sunt astuti, in duas se turmas dividentes viriliter pugnare cum suis. Habebant et ipsi duos reges multosque duces, qui cauta ratione utentes, mediam partem exercitus duobus regibus concedebant, dimidiam vero omnibus ducibus. Quod Angli cernentes, constituunt et ipsi duas turmas, et construunt machinas et machinatorum propugnacula. Elfred autem rex promptissime cum suis legionibus procedit ad bellum, sciens proculdubio non in multitudine hominum affore victoriam, sed Dei in miseratione et misericordia. Rex quoque Ethelred in tentorio erat in oratione constitutus, missam et quæ Dei sunt sollicite audiendo. Quæ sancta mysteria regi et Christiano populo multum proficiebant, uti in sequentibus ostendetur.

* Escesdun.

Decreverant ergo Christiani populi et Angli devotissime, audacter committere contra inimicos bellum, et ut Ethelred rex fortissimus principum contra legiones dimicaret cum suis miriadis, unus videlicet rex Anglorum contra duos Danorum: Elfred vero rex cum suis ducibus et commilitonibus, satrapis et populis debuit contra omnes Paganorum duces belli sortem sumere, ut decretum est. Quibus res publica utrisque regibus et populis sat satis bene complacuit. Quibus ita firmiter ab utraque parte dispositis, cum rex Ethelred in oratione diutius moraretur, et Pagani parati ad locum diri certaminis citius advenissent, Elfred tunc *secundus in regno non potuit hostiles diutius acies sufferre, nisi eos aut bello superaret aut morte. Repente vero consternatus animo irruit super aggregatas multitudines Danorum cum sacris agminibus Anglorum: venit autem rex præcinctus armis et orationibus, qui intuitus exercitum fratris satis eleganter esse ordinatum, quasi Judas bellicosus processit ad bellum. Dimicatum est virili intentione ab utrisque partibus, quo in loco ceciderunt quinquageni et centeni necnon milleni. Qui pro patriis legibus et patria ceciderunt, perducti sunt, ut credi libet, ad patriam æternæ felicitatis: alii vero ad eum perducti sunt, de quo dictum est: 'Ipse est caput omnis injustitiæ.' Reges autem non solum verbis populum constantem hortabantur, verumetiam armis hostes bellica virtute prosternebant. Tandem Dani videntes suorum corruisse sociorum agmina, turbati sunt, admirati sunt, commoti sunt, timorque inmensus apprehendit eos. Erant enim divino perculsi Dani timore infra cordis cubicula, impetus Anglorum diutius non ferentes in ipso

Fugerunt hac illac ignobile vulgus, quos per totius diei horas Angligenus persecutus est populus. Bello peracto glorioso, reges et omnis populus inmenso repletus est tripudio, B videntes Danorum fugam et Anglorum constantiam. Post quatuordecim dierum excursum, rex Ethelred præstantissimus, ignorans annum jubilei habere remissionem, adjutus fidelissimo auxilio fratris sui coadunavit exercitum, congregavit spolia, divisitque arma et dona perplurima suis commilitonibus. Sciebant pro certo ipsi principes populorum, beatas fore res publicas, si eas vel studiosi sapientiæ regerent, vel si earum rectores studere sapientiæ contigisset. Congregati sunt rursum ad bellum Angli atque Dani; quibus cum durissimum esset illatum robur, Pagani victoriam prope assumpserunt. Eodem vero anno rex Ethelred plenus ætate et perfectus in bonitate, post perpetrationem insignium bellorum, futuræ vitæ et perpetui regni felicitatem cœpit videre cum Rege sæculorum in terra viventium. Subtracto ab hoc sæculo rege prædicto, mox Elfredus a ducibus et a præ- C sulibus totius gentis eligitur, et non solum ab ipsis verum etiam ab omni populo adoratur ut eis præesset ad faciendam vindictam in nationibus, increpationes in populis. Adepto regni gubernaculo totius gentis, semper bellicosus refulsit, et victor in omnibus bellis, fortuna arridente Christoque faciente. Rebellavit contra eum prædictus exercitus satis acerrime, qui Anglorum intuentes austeritatem, et suam cognoscentes imbecillitatem, terga in fugam verterunt. Sed proh dolor! per audacitatem persequentium reversi rursum ad prælium sunt provocati, capientes victoriæ munus, et loco funeris sunt dominati. Ipso quoque anno Saxones cum isdem Paganis pacis concordiam pepigerunt, ea ratione ut ab eis discederent.

Sequente vero sane anno in ostio fluminis quod appellatur Iona intraverunt, non sine magno regionis damno, et illic morati sunt uno anno. Ipso denique tempore Elfredus rex Saxonum divino instinctus munere legere et interpretari sacros apices potuit. Erat itaque multis tribulationibus hujus mundi afflictus, quamvis
* ab Abel in regia foret potestate constitutus. Nam etiam de Ierosolima *a Bel patriarcha epistolas et dona illi diversa directa [c]vidimus et legimus. Qualiter dilatavit regni sui imperia, et renovavit urbium mœnia, atque civitatum munitiones roboravit quæ erant dirutæ, et quæ non erant fecit, quis urbana facundia suffultus possit labiis exultationis edicere? Sancta quoque loca qualiter ditavit ornamentis D et regalibus donis quis enunciet? Perturbatus erat frequenter animo contra principes et pentecomarchos et omne genus perversorum, quoniam ipsi noluerunt eum sequi in studiis quibus ipse desudabat. Sed tamen ille solus divino suffultus amminiculo, regni gubernacula velut præcipuus gubernator navim suam, hoc est, vitam suæ gloriosæ mentis ad portum pacifici Paradisi studuit transferre. Solebat frequenti memoria hoc retinere quod canitur,

'Quisquis volet perennem
Cautus ponere sedem,
Stabilisque nec sonori
Sterni flatibus Euri.'

Et infra: E

'Quam tenet ruinis hujus sæculi status,
Miscens æquora ventus.
Tu conditus quieti,
Felix robore valli,
Duces serenus ævum,
Ridens ætheris iras.'

Hæc spirituali indagine secum rex piissimæ mentis revolvens, inedicibilibus

A bonitatum fructuum actibus redolebat. Diebus solemnibus festis quanta munera suis episcopis et ducibus atque militibus contulit, quis enarret? Tunc pauperes jubilando exultabant; tunc orphani et viduæ nimio gaudio cordis applaudebant. Noverat illud scholastici: 'Tunc est pretiosa pecunia cum translata fuerit in alios; largiendi usu desinit possideri.' Cœpit denique assidue non solum episcopos ætherea claritate nitentes admonere, ut populi delicta corrigerent, et vulgarem stultitiam castigando acrius coercerent: et non solum pastores admonuit populorum, verumetiam ducibus et dilectissimis ministris præcepit, ut semetipsos ad communem totius regni utilitatem sapientissime suppeditarent. A.D. 887.

Fecerat idem rex monasterium præpulchrum in loco qui dicitur Ethelingaige,[a] [cui] vicina occidentali limite arx munitissima præfati regis imperio et opera-
B tione consita est. In quo cœnobio diversi generis monachos undique congregavit, et in eodem loco collocavit. Aliud quoque constituit monasterium juxta orientalem portam civitatis quæ Sceftesburg appellatur, satis habitationi sanctimonialium habile, in quo filiam suam Ethelgyfam devotam Deo virginem abbatissam constituit. Tanta enim dona et possessiones ambobus concessit monasteriis, ut sufficeret eis ad victum et ad vestitum quamdiu vita comes afforet.

His quæ supra retulimus pleniter firmiterque peractis, sæpe nominatus rex Elfredus solito suo more intra suæ mentis thalamum cœpit sagaci ingenio pertractare, et pertractando ruminare illud quod in divinis scriptum est literis: 'Si,' inquit, 'recte offeras, et recte non dividas, peccasti.' Et illud medullitus est præmeditatus quod ait Salomon sapientissimus regum: 'Cor sane regis in manu Prov. xxi. 1.
C Domini est omnipotentis.' Censum quoque suum trifarie divisit, ita ut istic libet prætitulari. Primæ partis sectionem sui census, bellatoribus annualiter largitus est: secundam, operatoribus quos ex multis gentibus aggregaverat: tertiam, advenis undique ad se venientibus; sciens illud corde tenus: 'Hilarem datorem diligit Deus.' Erat enimvero in multis et in multifariis tribulationum stimulis constitutus, quamvis in regia esset potestate subthronizatus.[b]

Anno Dominicæ Incarnationis DCCC.LXXXVIII. Beocca princeps Romam detulit eleemosynam regis Elfredi. Illo itinere obiit Ethelsuith[c] soror ejusdem regis, et sepulta est in Pavia. 888.

A Anno DCCCC.XLV. Edmundus rex, expulsis duobus regibus, regnum obtinuit Northanhymbrorum. A.D. 945.

Anno DCCCC.XLVIII. Edmundus rex occisus est; et frater ejus Edredus regnum suscepit, cultor justitiæ et pietatis. Moxque Northumbriam circuiens, totam possedit; sed post juratam ei fidelitatem, Northymbrenses quendam Danum, Eiricum præfaciunt regem.[a] 948.

Anno DCCCC.LI. Ouvel[c] rex Brittonum obiit. 951.

B Anno DCCCC.LII. defecerunt hic reges Northanhymbrorum; et deinceps ipsa provincia administrata est per comites. 952.

Anno DCCCC.LIII. comes Osulf suscepit comitatum Northanhymbrorum.[d] 953.

[a] Aldredus, qui post Uchtredum fuit episcopus, obiit, et Ailsi ei successit. Simeon Hist. alia in margine MS.; sed male. v. inf. sub An. 968. et Sim. Hist. Dunelm. II. 20.

[c] Howel Dha, id est Bonus.

Ultimus regum illius provinciæ, [1]ut paulo ante dictum est,' fuit Eiricus, quem Northimbrenses, violata fide quam regi Eadredo juraverant, sibi regem fecerunt. Quare offensus rex, jussit ut tota provincia funditus vastaretur. Illico Northimbrenses, expulso rege suo, atque occiso [2]a Macco filio Onlafi, juramentis et muneribus placaverunt regem Eadredum, commissa provincia Osulfo comiti, qui regnante [3]postmodum Eadgaro, socium accepit Oslacum: deinde Osulfus ad aquilonalem plagam Tine, Oslac vero super Eboracum, et ejus fines, curas administrabat. [4]His successit [5]Waltef senior, qui successorem habuit filium [6]Ucthredum. Is cum regnante [7]Ægelredo, rex Cnuto hostiliter invaderet Northimbriam, necessitate compulsus, se cum suis ad Cnutonem contulit, factoque juramento et obsidibus datis, peremptus est a quodam Dano prædivite Thurebrando cognomento [8]Hold, permittente Cnutone, in cujus locum frater ejus Eadulf [9]Cudel substituitur, reliquerat autem comes Ucthredus tres filios; Aldredum, Eadulfum, Cospatricum: quorum duo primi comites fuerunt Northimbrorum, alter post alterum: tertius vero sine comitatus honore habuit filium Ucthredum, cujus filius erat Eadulfus cognomento Rus, qui postea ducem se exhibuit eorum, qui Walcherum episcopum occiderunt, ipseque dicitur sua illum interfecisse manu; sed mox et ipse a fœmina occisus, sepultus est in ecclesia apud Geddewrde, sed post, a Turgoto [10]quondam priore Dunelmensis ecclesiæ et archidiacono, talis inde spurcitia projecta. Post Eadulfum Cudel, Aldredus filius præfati comitis Ucthredi, suscepto comitatu, in vindictam patris occisi homicidam Thurebrandum occidit; cujus Thurebrandi filius Carl, et præfatus comes Aldredus, dum vitæ suæ invicem insidiarentur, tandem repacificantur; sed non multo post Aldredus nil mali suspicans dolo in silva, quæ Risewde vocatur, a Carl, conjurato sibi fratre, occiditur. Post fratris interitum Eadulfus comes efficitur [11]Northimbrensium; qui cum superbia extolleretur, Brittones, [12]id est, [13]Walas,' satis atrociter devastavit: sed tertio post anno cum ad Hardecnut reconciliandus in pace venisset, interfectus est a Siwardo, qui post illum totius provinciæ Northimbrorum, id est, ab Humbra usque ad Twedam comitatum habuit, cui mortuo successit Tosti: quo propter graves injurias quas intulerat Northimbrensibus de Anglia expulso, ducatus illius Morkaro committitur a rege Eadwardo, et postmodum a rege Willielmo. Morkarus vero quoniam alias gravibus negotiis impeditus fuerat, comitatum ultra Tine tradidit Osulfo adolescenti, filio præfati comitis Eadulfi: capto postmodum, et custodiæ mancipato Morkaro, rex Willielmus comitatum Osulfi commisit Copsio, qui erat [14]partis Tostii comitis, viro consiliario et prudenti. [15]Iste Sancto Cuthberto devotus, donavit servientibus in sua ecclesia, scilicet Dunelmensi, has terras: in Merscum decem carucatas terræ et dimidiam, et ejusdem villæ ecclesiam Sancti Germani, et in [16]Tortuna duas carucatas, et in [17]Theostrota decem bovatas terræ, et in Readeclive dimidiam carucatam, et in [18]Gisburham unam carucatam terræ.' Pulsus a Copsio de comitatu Osulfus, in fame et egestate silvis latitans et montibus, tandem collectis quos eadem necessitas compulerat sociis, Copsium in [19]Niwebirn [20]convivantem concludit, qui inter

HENRICI ARCHIDIACONI HUNTENDUNENSIS

HISTORIÆ ANGLORUM

LIBRI OCTO,

AB ANNO SCILICET A.C. LX. ADUSQUE A.D. M.C.LIV.[a]

PROLOGUS AD ALEXANDRUM EPISCOPUM [b]LINCOLNIENSEM.

CUM in omni fere literarum studio dulce laboris lenimen et summum doloris solamen, dum vivitur, insitum considerem, [1]tum delectabilius et majoris prærogativa claritatis historiarum splendorem amplectendum crediderim. Nihil namque magis in vita egregium, quam vitæ calles egregie indagare et frequentare. Ubi autem floridius nitescit virorum fortium magnificentia, prudentium sapientia, justorum judicia, temperatorum modestia, quam in rerum contextu gestarum? Audivimus quidem quid Homericam laudans historiam Flaccus intimaverit, dicens:

'Qui quid sit pulchrum, quid turpe, quid utile, quid non, Plenius et melius, Chrysippo et Crantore dicit.' [a] Epist. i. 2.

Crantor siquidem et Chrysippus circa doctrinam morum philosophantes, multis codicibus desudaverunt: Homerus autem velut [2]spectaculo eliquans prudentiam Ulissis, fortitudinem Agamemnonis, temperantiam Nestoris, justiciam Menelai; et e contra imprudentiam Ajacis, debilitatem Priami, intemperantiam

[a] Henricus Huntendunensis Archidiaconus versus finem sæculi undecimi natus, duodecimi medio supervixit. Historiam Anglorum a Julio Cæsare exorsus, primo ad annum 1135, postea vero ad annum 1147, et inde adusque obitum regis Stephani deduxit. Hanc ex editione Saviliana, Londoniæ An. 1596, ope quatuor codd. MSS., scilicet A. Bibliothecæ Norfolchianæ, B. Dom. Comitis Grosvenor, C. Coll. Corp. Christi Cantabrigiæ, et D. Bibliothecæ Regiæ, emendatam proferemus: sed quoniam liber ejus tertius præter paucissima e Bedæ Historia Ecclesiastica excerptus sit, eum fere missum faciendum duximus. Chronologiam vero, cum Huntendunensis minime accurata deprehenderetur, aliunde quæsitam in margine plerumque supplevimus. Quid autem ultra, sive de scriptore sive de operibus ejus locuti sumus, in præfatione nostra videre licet.

In folio rejectitio codicis A. continetur totius operis summarium quod hic exhibemus.

'In hoc volumine continetur Historia Anglorum noviter edita ab Henrico Huntendunensi Archidiacono, Libris X. Primus liber est de regno Romanorum in Brittannia; in cujus principio agit de situ et habitu Brittanniæ, et de fertilitate ejus; et de nominibus XXVIII. civitatum quæ in ea antiquitus fuerunt: et de quinque plagis, quibus ab exordio usque ad præsens, infestatur ipsa Brittannia: et de VII. regnis in quibus divisa est ipsa insula ab Anglis postquam obtinuerunt ipsam insulam, fugatis Britonibus: et quomodo reges Westsexe, postquam monarchiam regni obtinuerunt, terras per XXXV. provincias sibi diviserunt et nomina imposuerunt. Secundus liber est de adventu Anglorum. Tertius de conversione Anglorum. Quartus de regno Anglorum. Quintus de bellis Dacorum. Sextus de adventu Normannorum. Septimus de regno Normannorum: in quo breviter refertur quomodo Jerusalem capta sit a Christianis, prædicatione Urbani papæ. Octavus liber est de Summitatibus Rerum: qui liber continetur in tribus epistolis; quarum primam auctor hujus operis scripsit Henrico regi Anglorum, de serie regum potentissimorum qui per orbem terrarum usque ad suum tempus fuerunt. Scripsit et aliam ad Warinum Britonem de Origine regum Britannorum qui in hac terra regnaverunt usque ad adventum Julii Cæsaris, sive Gentis Anglorum: in qua commemorat se apud Beccum, cum Romam proficisceretur, invenisse plenarie historiam supradictorum regum Brittanniæ. Scripsit quoque tertiam ad Walterum Archidiaconem Oxenfordiæ consortem suum, de Contemptu Mundi; in qua commemorat breviter episcopos et cæteros magnates qui in Anglia suo tempore fuerunt. Nonus liber est de miraculis Anglorum quæ Beda commemorat in sua Historia, necnon etiam de quibusdam modernis sanctis qui post tempora Bedæ in ipsa insula claruerunt. Decimus liber est de eis qui regnum obtinuerunt Angliæ post obitum primi Henrici nobilissimi regis Angliæ et ducis Normanniæ. Et notandum quod ea quæ Beda in sua Historia prolixe et confusius posuit, iste abbreviando et ordinando elucidavit. Exinde autem ubi Beda suam Historiam finivit, iste res gestas insulæ Britanniæ usque ad suum tempus plenarie conscripsit. Hæc idcirco præmisimus ut in ipso limine operis unde sequens liber agat lectori prælibando notificaremus.

'Incipit Historia Anglorum edita a venerabili Archidiacono Huntendonæ Henrico: quæ quidem a primo adventu Romanorum in Angliam qui in ea obtinuerunt dominatum, usque ad tertium decimum annum regis Stephani protenditur.' A.

Achillis, injusticiam Paridis, honestum et utile, et his contraria, lucidius et delectabilius philosophis historiando disseruit. Sed quid in alienis moramur? Vide quo modo Sancta doceat Historia morum instituta, dum Abrahæ justiciam assignat, Moysi fortitudinem, Jacob temperantiam, Joseph prudentiam: et contra, dum Achab injusticiam, Oziæ invalitudinem, Manasse intemperantiam, Roboam imprudentiam demonstrat. Præsertim, O Deus bone, quantæ humilitatis fax est, quod sanctus Moyses, Deum se protegentem et ulciscentem ut ab hostibus suis averteret, thuris odorationem cum ^ fratre admovens, in medium periculi terribilis se injecit, et pro Maria se× blasphemante lachrymas effudit; et pro malevolis semper orando sudavit! Quantæ benignitatis lux est, quod David maledictis, injuriis Simei, et blasphemiis læsus, et irritatus ab eo vehementer, unum et persequentem et debilem, armatus et comitatus et fortissimus contra feriri prohibuit; et postea, victor et regno restitutus, ultionem fieri in eum non permisit? Sic etiam in rebus gestis omnium gentium et nationum, quæ utique Dei judicia sunt, benignitas, munificentia, probitas, cautela, et his similia, et contraria, non solum spirituales ad bonum accendunt, et a malo repellunt; sed [1]et sæculares ad bona sollicitant, et in malis muniunt. Historia [2]igitur præterita quasi præsentia visui repræsentat; futura ex præteritis imaginando dijudicat. Habet quidem et præter hæc illustres transactorum notitia dotes, quod ipsa maxime distinguat a brutis rationabiles: bruti namque homines et animalia unde sint nesciunt, genus suum nesciunt, patriæ suæ casus et gesta nesciunt, immo nec scire volunt. Quorum, homines quidem illos infœliciores judico; quia quod bestiis ex creatione, hoc illis ex propria contingit inanitione; et quod bestiæ si vellent non possent, hoc illi nolunt cum possint: sed de his jam transeundum est, quorum mors et vita sempiterno dotanda est silentio. Hæc ergo considerans, hujus regni gesta et nostræ gentis origines jussu tuo, præsul Alexander, qui flos et cacumen regni et gentis esse videris, decurrenda suscepi: tuo quidem consilio Bedæ venerabilis Ecclesiasticam, qua potui, sequutus Historiam, nonnulla etiam ex aliis excerpens auctoribus, inde chronica in antiquis reservata librariis compilans, usque nostrum ad auditum et visum præterita repræsentavi. In quo scilicet opere, sequenda et fugienda lector diligens dum invenerit, ex eorum imitatione et evitatione, Deo cooperante, melioratus, mihi fructum afferet exoptabilem. Plerumque etenim ad ipsam morum puritatem juxta callem directum historiæ resilivimus; nihil autem sine divina invocatione incipientes, Deo invocato incipiamus.

HENRICI HUNTENDUNENSIS HISTORIÆ ANGLORUM

LIB.[a] I.

BRITTANNIA igitur beatissima est insularum, fœcunda frugibus et arboribus, copiosa rivis et nemoribus, jucunda volucrum et ferarum venatibus, ferax avium multi et diversi generis terra, et mari, et fluviis; alendis autem mira pecoribus et jumentis [1]ut Hibernia.' Unde Solinus[λ]: 'Ita pabulosa in quibusdam locis est *Brittannia, ut pecua, nisi interdum a pastibus arceantur, ad peri- B culum agat satietas.' Fluviis vero abundat valde piscosis, fontibus præclara copiosis; et quidem præcipue isicio redundat et anguilla; abundat et vitulis marinis; nec non et halecia et ostrea mire in ea redundant, et varia conchyliorum genera: inter quæ sunt et musculæ, quibus sæpe inclusam margaritam omnis quidem coloris optimam inveniunt, rubicundam scilicet et hyacinthinam, purpuream et prassinam, sed maxime candidam: nec desunt cochleæ, quibus tinctura coccinei coloris conficitur; cujus rubor pulcherrimus nullo unquam solis ardore, nulla valet injuria pluviarum pallescere; sed quo vetustior, eo solet esse venustior. Capiuntur et sæpe delphines et balenæ: unde Juvenalis,

C Venis etiam metallorum æris redundat, ferri scilicet, stanni, et plumbi, nec non et argenti, sed rarius. Advehitur autem argentum a proxima parte Germaniæ per Rhenum pro mira fertilitate piscium et carnium, lanæ pretiosissimæ et lactis, armentorumque absque numero; ut major ibi videatur copia argenti, quam in Germania: unde omnis moneta ejus argento puro conficitur. Gignit etiam lapidem gagatem plurimum optimumque. Est autem nigrogemmeus et ardens: igne accensus serpentes fugat, attritu calefactus adplicita detinet æque ut succinum. Fontes etiam salinarum habet: adsunt et fontes calidi, et ex eis fluvii balneorum calidorum omni ætati et sexui, per distincta loca juxta suum cuique modum, accommodi. 'Aqua enim,' ut S. Basilius dicit, 'fervidam qualitatem recipit cum per certa quædam metalla transcurrit, et fit non solum calida sed et D ardens.'

Hæc autem insularum nobilissima, cui quondam nomen Albion fuit, postea vero Brittannia, nunc autem Anglia, inter Septentrionem et Occidentem sita est; octingentis millibus longa, et ducentis millibus lata, exceptis duntaxat prolixioribus diversorum promontoriorum tractibus, quibus efficitur ut circuitus ejus quadragies octies septuaginta quinque millia compleat. Habet autem ab Oriente Germaniam et Daciam, ab Occidente Hyberniam, a Meridie Galliam Belgicam; cujus proximum littus transmeantibus aperit civitas quæ dicitur Rutubi portus, a gente Anglorum nunc corrupte Reptacester vocata, interposito mari a Gessoriaco Morinorum gentis littore proximo, trajectu millium quinquaginta, sive, ut quidam scripserunt, stadiorum quadringentorum quinquaginta. E Gallia autem Belgica a Belvaci nobilissima quondam urbe Galliæ dicta est: quæ provincia nunc in duas divisa videtur: in eam scilicet quæ vocatur Pontica, et in eam quæ vocatur Normannia, ubi modo Normanni, gens nova sed validissima, degunt. Habet autem a Septentrione, unde oceano infinito patet, Orcadas insulas novem, de quarum ultima, [2]Thule, dictum est: ϒ'Tibi serviat ultima Thule.' Cum autem plurimas insulas habeat Brittannia, tres majores habet; unam Orcadas, de quibus dictum est: aliam Man, vel Euboniam, quæ in umbilico maris inter Hyberniam et Brittanniam sita est: tertiam Wicht, quæ australis est, et vergit contra Normannos et Armoricos, qui nunc Brittanni dicuntur: sicut in A proverbio dicebatur antiquo, quando de judicibus et regibus sermo fiebat:

'Judicabit Brittanniam cum tribus insulis.'

Erat autem et civitatibus quondam viginti octo nobilissimis insignita, præter castella innumera, quæ et ipsa muris, turribus, portis, ac seris erant instructa firmissimis. Civitatum autem nomina hæc erant [a]Brittannice: Kair-Ebrauc, id est, Eboracum; Kair-Chent, id est, Cantuaria; Kair-Gorangon, id est, Wigornia; Kair-Lundene, id est, Lundonia; Kair-[1]Legion, id est, Leiceastria; Kair-Collon, id est, Coleceastria; Kair-Glou, id est, Glouecastria; Kair-Cei, id est, Ciceastria; [b]Kair-Bristou; Kair-Ceri, id est, Cireceastria; Kair-Guent, id est, Winceastria; Kair-Grant, id est, Granteceastria, quæ modo dicitur [2]Cantebrigia; Kair-Lion, quam vocamus Carleuil; Kair-Dauri, id est, Doreceastria; Kair- B
Dorm, id est, Dormeceastre, quæ sita in Huntendonensi provincia super flumen quod vocatur Nen, penitus destructa est; Kair-Loitchoit, id est, Lincolnia; Kair-Merdin, quæ nunc quoque sic vocatur; Kair-Guorcon; Kair-Cucerat; Kair-Guortigern; Kair-Urnac; Kair-Celemion; Kair-Meguaid; Kair-Licelid; Kair-Peris, id est, Porcestre; [3]Kair-Legion, in qua fuit archiepiscopatus tempore Brittonum, nunc autem vix mœnia ejus comparent ubi [4]Usca cadit in Sabrinam; Kair-Draiton; Kair-Mercipit; Kair-Segent, quæ fuit super Tamesin non longe a Redinge, et vocatur Silcestre. Hæc erant nomina civitatum tempore Romanorum et Brittannorum.

Romanos, qui Brittanniam expugnaverunt, sed postea recesserunt; secundam per Pictos et Scottos, qui gravissime eam bellis vexaverunt, nec tamen obtinuerunt; tertiam per Anglicos, qui eam debellaverunt et obtinent; quartam per Dacos, qui eam bellis obtinuerunt, sed postea deperierunt; quintam per Normannos, qui eam devicerunt, et Anglis impræsentiarum dominantur. Quando autem Saxones hanc terram sibi subjugaverunt, reges septem statuerunt, regnisque nomina pro libitu imposuerunt. Primum regnum vocatum est Cent: secundum Sudseax, in quo sita est Ciceastria: tertium Westseax, cujus caput erat [c]Wiltonia, quæ nunc data est sanctimonialibus, in quo sunt urbes Winceastria, Salesburia, et plures aliæ: quartum regnum Estseax, quod non [5]diu duravit, sed cæteris regnis subjugatum est: quintum Eastangle, in quo sunt provinciæ quæ vocantur D
Nordfolc et Sudfolc: sextum Merce, in quo est Lincolnia, et aliæ complures: septimum Nordhumbre, in quo est Eboracum. Postquam autem reges Westseax cæteris prævaluerunt et monarchiam obtinuerunt, terras per triginta quinque provincias sibi diviserunt; quarum situs et nomina, quamvis inhabitantibus notissima sint, non tamen pigeat subscribere. Deveniet enim forsitan, ut quemadmodum nomina civitatum prædicta, quæ olim grata et excelsa erant, modo in barbariem et risum vertuntur, ita [6]et decursu temporum, quæ modo notissima sunt, incognita et incredibilia fiant. Unde patet quam misere et frustra nominis nostri famam incolæ provinciarum appetamus, cum nec ipsarum urbium vel provinciarum nomina durare possint. Prima igitur provincia est Cent, in qua est archiepiscopatus Cantuariæ, et episcopatus Roveceastriæ; secunda est Sudseax, E in qua est episcopatus Ciceastriæ; tertia Suthrie; quarta Hamtesyre, in qua est episcopatus Winceastriæ; quinta Bercsyre; sexta Wiltesyre, in qua est episcopatus Salesberiæ; septima est Dorsete; octava Sumersete, in qua est episcopatus Badhe, vel Acemanecestriæ; nona Devenesyre, in qua est episcopatus Exceastriæ; decima [7]Cornuallie; undecima Eastseax; duodecima Midleseax, in qua

A est episcopatus Lundoniæ; tertiadecima Sudfolc; quartadecima Northfolc, in qua est episcopatus Norwiciæ; quintadecima [1]Cantebrigesyre, in qua est episcopatus Ely; sextadecima Lincolesyre, cujus caput est Lincolnia, cui subjacent septem aliæ provinciæ, scilicet provincia Leiceastriæ, et Hamtoniæ, et Huntendoniæ, et Herteford, Bedeford, Bukingeham, Oxeneford; extenditur enim episcopatus Lincolniæ a magno flumine Humbræ usque ad flumen Tamesis; vigesima quarta est Glouceastresyre; vigesima quinta est Wireceastresyre, in qua est episcopatus Wigorniæ; vigesima sexta Herefordsyre, in qua est episcopatus Herefordiæ; vigesima septima Salopsyre; vigesima octava Ceastresyre, in qua est episcopatus [a]Ceastriæ; vigesima nona Warewic; trigesima Stafford; post trigesimam, prima est Dereby; secunda Notingeham; tertia Everwicesyre,
B in qua est archiepiscopatus Eboraci; quarta est Northumberland, cui præest episcopus [2]Dunolmiæ; quinta, illa regio in qua est novus episcopatus [b]Carluil. 'Syra' vero Anglice, Latine dicitur provincia. Igitur septemdecem episcopatibus insignita nostro tempore florescit Anglia. Urbes vero multo plures sunt quam episcopatus, ut Glouueceastria, Leiceastria, Oxenefordia, et aliæ plures episcopis carentes. Sed in occidentali parte Brittanniæ, quæ vocatur Wallia, tres supersunt episcopatus. Unus apud Sanctum David; alius apud [3]Bangor; tertius apud [c]Clamorgan. Sunt tamen hi tres nullarum urbium episcopi propter desolationem Walliæ, quæ sola devictis remansit Brittannis. Tempore autem nostro recepit episcopus S. David pallium a papa, quod scilicet fuerat olim apud Kairlegion[A]; sed [A] Caerlion super Uske.
C statim tamen amisit. Urbes autem prædictæ amœnis insitæ locis super flumina coruscant fertilia et pulcherrima. Sunt autem duo flumina cæteris clariora, Tamesis et Sabrina, quasi duo brachia Brittanniæ, per quæ sibi suas et alienas effert et infert divitias. Proprie vero proprium Brittanniæ est, ut incolæ ejus in peregrinationem tendentes, omnibus gentibus cultu et sumptu clariores, ex hoc unde sint, dignosci possunt. Cum autem tot rebus abundet Brittannia, vineæ quoque fertilis est, sed raro; ut habeant, qui divitias ejus emendas appetunt, secum quod inferant. De cujus laude quidam ita scripsit:

'Illa quidem longe celebri splendore beata
Glebis, lacte, favis supereminet insula cunctis,
Quas regit ille Deus, spumanti cujus ab ore
Profluit oceanus.'

D

Et paulo post:

'Testes Londoniæ ratibus, Wintonia Baccho,
Hereforda grege, Wirecestria fruge redundans,
[4]Batha lacu, Salesbira feris, Cantuaria pisce,
Eboracum silvis, Excestria clara metallis,
Norvicium Dacis, Hibernis Cestria, Gallis
Cicestrum, Norwageniis Dunelma propinquans.
Testis Lincoliæ gens infinita decore,
Testis Ely formosa situ, Rouecestria visu.'

Nec tacendum arbitror quod temperie gratissima, et ideo inhabitantibus saluE berrima sit Brittannia. Cum enim inter Septentrionem et Occidentem sita sit, frigus, quod recipit a Septentrione, temperat calor, quem recipit a sole occidente. Nunquam autem in ea aliquos arripuit ignis sacer, sed a Galliis allati ibi solent sanari. [×]Et quia prope septentrionalem mundi verticem jacet, lucidas æstate [×] v. Bedam, I. 1.

Quatuor autem sunt, quæ mira videntur in Anglia. Primum quidem est, quod ventus egreditur de cavernis terræ in monte qui vocatur Pec, tanto vigore, ut vestes injectas repellat et in altum elevatas procul ejiciat. Secundum est, apud ^Stanenges; ubi lapides miræ magnitudinis in modum portarum elevati sunt, ita ut portæ portis superpositæ videantur: nec potest aliquis excogitare qua arte tanti lapides adeo in altum elevati sunt, vel quare ibi constructi sunt. Tertium est apud [1]Chederhole; ubi cavitas est sub terra, quam cum multi sæpe ingressi sint, et ibi magna spatia terræ et flumina pertransierint, nunquam tamen ad finem evenire potuerunt. Quartum est, quod in quibusdam partibus pluvia videtur elevari de montibus, et sine mora per campos diffundi. B ^ Stonehenge.

Tantæ autem gratiæ inhabitantibus fuit Brittannia, quod quatuor in ea calles a fine in finem construerent regia sublimatos authoritate, ne aliquis in eis inimicum invadere auderet. Primus est ab Oriente in Occidentem, et vocatur [2]Ichenild: secundus est ab Austro in Aquilonem, et vocatur *Erningestrete: tertius est ex transverso a Dorobernia in Cestriam, scilicet ab Euroaustro in Zephyrum Septentrionalem, et vocatur Watlingestrate: quartus, major cæteris, incipit in Catenes et desinit in Totenes, scilicet a principio Cornugalliæ in finem Scottiæ; et hic callis vadit ex transverso a Zephiro Australi in Eurum Septentrionalem, et vocatur Fossa, tenditque per Lincolniam. Hi sunt quatuor principales calles Angliæ, multum quidem spatiosi, sed nec minus [3]speciosi, sanciti edictis regum, scriptisque verendis legum. C

* Ermingestrete.

Quinque autem linguis utitur Brittannia: Brittonum videlicet, Anglorum, Scottorum, Pictorum, et Latinorum, quæ doctrina scripturarum, cæteris omnibus est facta communis: quamvis Picti jam videantur deleti, et lingua eorum ita omnino destructa, ut jam fabula videatur, quod in veterum scriptis eorum mentio invenitur. Cui autem non comparet amorem cœlestium, et horrorem terrestrium, si cogitet non solum reges eorum, et principes et populum deperiisse; verum etiam stirpem omnem et linguam et mentionem simul defecisse? Et si de aliis mirum non esset, de lingua tamen, quam unam inter cæteras Deus ab exordio linguarum instituit, mirandum videtur. D

v. Bed. I. 1.

Huc usque de situ et habitu Brittanniæ, licet de multis pauca dixerimus, dicta sufficiant. Nunc a quibus et quo tempore primum inhabitata fuerit dicendum est: quod in Beda non inventum, in aliis auctoribus reperi. ×Scripserunt enim a Dardano principium emanasse Brittonum. Dardanus autem pater fuit Troii, Troius autem pater Priami et Anchisæ, Anchises pater Æneæ, Æneas pater Ascanii, Ascanius pater Silvii. Silvius autem cum uxorem duxisset, et prægnans esset; prædixit magus quidam filium, unde prægnans erat, interfecturum patrem suum. Occiso igitur mago pro vaticinatione illa, natus est filius, et vocatus est Bruto. Post multum vero intervallum, dum ipse luderet cum pueris, ictu sagittæ occidit patrem, non industria sed casu. Quamobrem expulsus ab Italia, pervenit in Galliam, ibique condita civitate Turonorum, quæ vocatur Turonis, invasit tractum Armoricanum. De tractu autem Armoricano huc adveniens, australes sibi partes insulæ ingentis vendicavit, et ex nomine suo Brittanniam vocavit. Dicunt autem illi auctores, quod quando Bruto regnabat in Brittannia, Hely sacerdos judicabat Israel, et Posthumus sive Silvius filius Æneæ regnabat apud Latinos, cujus nepos erat Bruto. Post intervallum vero octoginta annorum, contigit gentem Pictorum de Scythia oceanum ingressam, circumagente flatu vento- E

A rum, extra fines Brittanniæ Hyberniam pervenisse, ejusque septentrionales oras intrasse, atque inventa ibi gente Scottorum, sibi quoque in partibus illis sedes petisse, nec impetrare potuisse. Dixerunt itaque Scotti: 'Nos ambos insula hæc non caperet, sed novimus insulam esse aliam non [1]procul a nostra contra ortum solis, quam sæpe lucidioribus diebus de longe aspicere solemus: hanc adire si vultis, habitabilem vobis facere valetis: vel si quis resistere voluerit, nobis auxiliariis utimini.' Itaque petentes Brittanniam Picti, habitare per septentrionales insulæ partes cœperunt: nam austrinas Brittones occupaverunt. Cumque uxores Picti non habentes peterent eas a Scottis, ea solum conditione dare consenserunt, ut ubi res veniret in dubium, magis de fœminea regum prosapia quam de masculina regem sibi eligerent: quod usque hodie apud Pictos
B constat esse servatum. v. Bed. I. 1.

Hæc sunt quæ a scriptis veterum traduntur de adventu Brittonum in partem illam terrarum quæ Brittannia vocatur, et de adventu Pictorum in insulam eandem. Quæ quamvis insula sit, cum maximi sit spatii, non minoris excellentiæ est quod insula est, cum totus mundus insula sit. Sed quia vulgo dicitur, 'Vento pluvia, et risus dolori miscetur;' ob prærogativas ipsius Brittanniæ divitias, omnium circumadjacentium in se livorem et invidiam movit. Quamobrem sæpe expugnata, sæpissime vero impugnata est. [†]Procedente namque tempore venerunt [2]et Scotti ab Hibernia in Brittanniam, duce Reuda, qui in Pictorum parte, vel amicitia vel ferro, sedes sibi, quas hactenus habent, vendicarunt: a quo videlicet duce Dalreudini vocantur. Nam lingua eorum 'Dal' partem significat.
C Dicendum est igitur paucis de Hibernia: quod quamvis de proposito non sit, prope tamen est, et ad laudem Dei Omnipotentis hoc scribere apponam. † v. Bed. I. 1.

Hibernia enim post Brittanniam omnium insularum optima est: quæ quamvis Brittanniæ divitiis cedat, latitudine tamen sui status, et salubritate ac serenitate aerum multum ei præstat: quæ sicut contra Aquilonem brevior est, ita in Meridiem se trans illius fines plurimum protendens, usque contra Hispaniæ septentrionalia, quamvis magno æquore interjacente, pervenit. Nunquam aut raro ibi nix plusquam triduana remanet. Nemo propter hyemem aut fœna secat æstate, aut stabula fabricat jumentis. Nullum ibi reptile videri solet, nullus serpens vivere valet; nam sæpe illo de Brittannia allati serpentes, mox ut proximante terris navigio, odore aeris illius attacti fuerint, intereunt. [3]Quin potius omnia
D quæ de eadem insula sunt, contra venenum valent: denique quibusdam vidimus a serpente percussis rasa folia codicum quæ de Hibernia fuerunt, et ipsam rasuram aquæ immersam, ac potui datam, talibus protinus totam vim veneni grassantis, totum inflati corporis absumpsisse ac sedasse tumorem. Mirabili igitur dono Deus hanc ditavit insulam, multitudinemque sanctorum ad ejus tuitionem in ea constituit: præterea lacte et melle ditavit, vinearumque non expertem, venatu piscium et volucrum, cervorum et caprearum insignivit. Hæc autem proprie patria Scottorum est. Si quis autem scire voluerit quo tempore primum habitata fuerit, de hoc nihil apud venerabilem Bedam; sed apud quendam [×]auctorem reperi, quod Ægyptiis in Mari Rubro submersis, illi qui superfuerant, expulerunt a se quendam nobilem Scyticum qui apud eos degebat, ne dominium
E super eos invaderet: at ille expulsus, diu circuiens per Africam, pervenit cum familia ad aras Philistinorum, et per lacum Salinarum venerunt inter Russicadam et montana Syriæ, et venerunt per flumen Malua, transieruntque per Mauritaniam, et ad columnas Herculis navigarunt Tyrrhenum mare, et pervenerunt usque ad Hispaniam, et ibi per annos habitarunt multos, et progenies eorum multiplicata est valde. Inde autem venerunt Hiberniam, post mille et duos annos a transitu Israel per Mare Rubrum. Brittones tamen occuparunt prius Brittanniam; Brittones namque in tertia mundi ætate Brittanniam, Scotti in quarta venerunt Hiberniam. Hæc cum non certissima sint, hoc tamen certum × v. Nenn. IX.

est, quod ab Hispania Hiberniam venerunt, et inde pars eorum egressa, tertiam in Brittannia Brittonibus et Pictis gentem addiderunt: nam et pars [1]eorum quæ ibi remansit, adhuc eadem utitur lingua, et Navarri vocantur. Est autem sinus maris permaximus qui antiquitus gentem Brittonum a Pictis secernebat, qui ab Occidente in terras longo spatio erumpit, ubi est civitas Brittonum munitissima usque hodie, quæ vocatur [2]Aldclud; ad cujus videlicet sinus partem septentrionalem Scotti, quos diximus, advenientes, sibi locum patriæ fecerunt. A.C. 60. v. Bed. 1. 2.

Julius vero Cæsar primus Romanorum Brittanniam bello lacessivit, LX. annos ante Incarnationem Domini nostri, anno ab Urbe condita sexcentesimo nonagesimo tertio. Ipse ergo functus gradu consulatus cum Lucio Bibulo, cum Germanos et Gallos jure prœlii superasset, qui tum Rheno tantum flumine dirimebantur, inde venit ad Morinos, unde in Brittanniam brevissimus est transitus. B Fecit igitur naves parari octoginta onerarias et actuarias, et ipse cum legionibus in Brittanniam transvolat: nec tamen secundum quod sperabat evenit; egrediens enim de navibus, Brittonum pugnam acerbam plusquam credere posset sensit. Videns ergo suos pauciores, aliosque quam putaverat præstantiores, vi compulsus est naves reintrare. Tunc vero tempestate correptus, magnam classis partem, magnum militum numerum, equites vero omnes pene amisit. Confusus et reversus in Galliam acrius exarsit; legionibusque hyemantibus, sexcentas naves utriusque commodi paravit. Vere autem vix expectato, cum maximis copiis Brittanniam revehitur: egrediens cum exercitu in hostem pergebat. Naves interim anchoris fixæ tempestate corripiuntur, colliduntur, confringuntur. Ex quibus quadraginta perierunt; cæteræ post longum non sine difficultate sunt C reparatæ. Dux igitur magnus, spe fugiendi amissa, acrius animos militum hortatur, et in ipso hortatu hostibus commiscetur. Unanimiter utrinque viribus et animis extensis pugnatur, dum Romanis spes fugiendi nulla, Brittannis spes vincendi ex solito certa. Labienus ergo tribunus militum, dum primam aciem in Dolobelli cuneum, qui proconsul erat Brittannici regis, acrius immergit, cedentesque cædit, prosternit et persequitur, regalis acies inter Cæsareas et Labieni phalanges infigitur. Rex autem vocabatur Belinus frater Cassibellani regis, et erat filius [3]Liud[a] regis fortissimi, qui multas insulas maris bellis occupaverat. Circumventum igitur Labienum cum tota acie sua cædunt, subitoque morti transmittunt. Videns Julius diem infaustum, dicensque pugnandum cum Brittannis magis artibus quam viribus, antequam majora detrimenta sustineret, fugæ in- D dulsit: persecuti sunt Brittanni Romanos, multisque peremptis, nemorum vicinitate cohibiti sunt. Tertio Cæsar congressus est Brittannos, taliterque suos exhortatus est:

[b]‘ Consortes fortissimi, quorum virtuti nec asperitas maris, nec labor terrarum refragari potuit; quorum vires nec audacia Gallorum, nec fortitudo Germanorum perferre sustinuit; non me exhortari vos arbitremini, ut vestram verbis augeam probitatem: quæ enim summa et perfectissima est, et tot in periculis toties probata crescere nequit, decrescere nescit: illa, inquam, virtus, quæ semper in asperrimis clarius refulsit, et ubi alii desperarent, spe certa progrediens, et secura hilaritate confligens. Quid nota vobis, imo cunctis gentibus memorem, quoties victi victores nostros vicerimus, et ira compulsi fortioribus fortiores deveneri- E mus? Debet læsa probitas irasci: nunc igitur, si aliqua laus Romani nominis, nunc disciplinam militarem, quam perfecte didicistis, perfectius exercuistis, perfectissime supremo in periculo demonstretis. Ego certe ex duobus alterum inevitabiliter elegi, aut hodie vincere, quod beatum est; aut mori pro patria, quod securius est: sola fuga miserorum est. Unde si alicui vestrum idem animus est, erigat dextram inexpugnabilem, stupeantque hostes nos detrimentis refo-

A cillari, et diminutione roborari.' Sic loquutus erexit dextram, cunctusque tollens ad sydera clamorem exercitus, dextris erectis, infrenduit, et in ipso clamore miscentur hostibus; apparuitque virtus Romana, dum sagacius ordinati cautius pugnant, obstinatius perseverant. Fatigatis ergo Brittannis percutiendo, Romanisque studentibus in se protegendo, cum diu prœlium durasset, fessis insulanis, Cæsarei recentes videntur. Tunc igitur, non sine magno suorum discrimine, victores fiunt Romani. Inde ad flumen [1]Tamesim provectus. In hujus ulteriore v. Bed. I. 2.

B immobiliter fundo fluminis infixæ perseverant. Sed hoc Romani deprehenderunt, vitantesque, Barbaris irruerunt. Illi impetum legionum non ferentes, silvis se occuluerunt, unde crebris irruptionibus Romanos graviter ac sæpe vexabant. At Trinovantum firmissima civitas, cum Androgeo duce, datis septuaginta obsidibus, Cæsari sese dedit: similiter et aliæ urbes complures in fœdus Romanorum venerunt. Iisdem demonstrantibus, Cæsar oppidum Cassibellauni, inter duas paludes situm, obtentu insuper silvarum munitum, omnibus rebus confertissimum, tandem gravi pugna cepit. Postquam vero Cæsar a Brittannis reversus in Galliam, legiones in [2]hiberna misit; repentinis bellorum curis circumventus, pro legionibus quæ remanserant in Brittannia et in [3]hibernis misit, ut secum Romam irent; de qua re Lucanus:

Laus Tiberii: [a]'Tiberius prudens in armis fortunatusque fuit, unde sub Augusto meruit ut ei succederet: erat literarum scientissimus, sed magis eloquio clarissimus; repentinis responsionibus aut consiliis melior quam præmeditatis: arguebatur autem simultatis, quasi infensus his quos diligebat, his vero quos oderat quasi benevolus apparens.' B

Caius cognomento Caligula regnavit super orbem terrarum annis fere quinque.
v. Bed. I. 3. Claudius post sexaginta duos annos ab Incarnatione Domini, anno ab Urbe condita septingentesimo nonagesimo octavo imperium suscepit. Quarto anno regni sui Brittanniam adiit, quosdamque rebelles sine ullo prælio vel sanguine citissime in deditionem recepit. Orcadas etiam insulas ultra Brittanniam in oceano positas, de quibus prædiximus, Romano adjecit imperio, et sexto, quo profectus erat, mense Romam rediit, sibique et filio suo Brittannici nomen indidit: de quo Juvenalis:

[x] Sat. vi. 124. [x]'Ostendensque tuum generose Britannice ventrem.' C

Quo etiam anno fames gravissima per Syriam facta est, quæ a Luca in Actibus Apostolorum per prophetam Agabum prædicta esse memoratur. Temporibus Claudii Petrus fidei nostræ princeps, cathedram Romæ suscepit, quam XXV. annis tenuit, id est, usque ad ultimum Neronis annum. Ab eodem Claudio Vespasianus missus in Germanniam, ac deinde in Brittanniam, trigesies et bis cum hoste conflixit: duas validissimas gentes afflixit: XX. oppida armis cepit: insulam quoque Vectam Brittanniæ adjacentem Romano subjecit imperio. Cum autem regnasset

Romanum imperium auxit: vir bellicosus fuit. Adeo civilis circa quosdam amicos extitit, ut etiam Paulinum nobilem virum, qui in expeditione Brittannica multa egregie fecerat, triumphantem ipse prosequeretur, et conscendenti Capitolium lævus incederet.' D

Nero regnavit annis XIII. et plusquam dimidio. [1]'Eadem veste nunquam bis usus est.' Hic quamvis juvenis strenuus fuisset, tamen cum imperaret, in re militari segnis factus est: unde inter alia Romani imperii detrimenta Brittanniam pene amisit. Nam duo sub eo nobilissima oppida illic subversa et destructa fuerunt. Hic eo anno quo Petrum et Paulum occidit, ignominiose deperiit.

Vespasianus, qui Jerusalem destruxit, regnavit annis fere decem: ipse scilicet qui Brittanniam sub Claudio adierat, et insulam Vectam Romanæ ditioni subjecerat: quæ habet ab Oriente in Occasum triginta millia circiter passuum, ab Austro in Boream XII., in orientalibus sui partibus mari sex millium, in occidentali trium a meridiano Brittanniæ littore distans. Hic etiam vir nobilissimus Colossum erexit, habentem altitudinis C.VII. pedes. Laus authentica Vespa-

A mor fuit; convitia a causidicis et philosophis leviter tulit; senatui, populo, cunctis amabilis et jucundus.'

Titus filius ejus regnavit annis duobus et mensibus duobus; vir omnium virtutum genere mirabilis, adeo ut amor et deliciæ humani generis diceretur. Hic amphitheatrum Romæ ædificavit, et in dedicatione ejus quinque millia ferarum occidit. Laus Titi summa: [y] 'Titus facundissimus, bellicosissimus, moderatissimus: causas Latine egit, poemata et tragœdias Græce composuit. In oppugnatione Ierosolymorum sub patre militans, duodecim propugnatores duodecim sagittarum ictibus confixit. Romæ tantæ civilitatis imperio fuit, ut nullum omnino puniret; convictos adversum se conjurationis dimisit, et in eadem familiaritate qua ante habuit; facilitatis et liberalitatis tantæ fuit, ut cum nulli quicquam
B negaret, et ab amicis reprehenderetur; responderit: 'Nullum tristem debere ab imperatore discedere.' Pro hoc inusitato favore dilectus est, et tantus luctus eo mortuo publicus fuit, ut omnes tanquam in propria dolerent orbitate. Cum procul a Roma mortuus esset, senatus obitu ipsius circa vesperum nuntiato, nocte irrupit in curiam, et tantas [1]ei mortuo laudes gratiasque [2]congessit, quantas nec vivo unquam egerat, nec præsenti.'

[y] Eutrop. VII. 14.

Domitianus frater Titi annos regnavit quindecim mensibus quinque. Hic secundus post Neronem Christianos persequitur, quem, divina providentia omnibus invisum, senatus coegit, ut se ipse perimeret.

Nerva anno uno et paulo plus imperium terrarum tenuit.

Trajanus annos regnavit XIX. et dimidium. Hic tam Brittanniam quam cætera
C regna mirabili vigore rexit. Romanum enim imperium, quod post Augustum defensum magis fuerat quam ampliatum, longe lateque diffudit. Hic est ille qui causa justitiæ oculum sibi et oculum filio eruit: quem Gregorius ab inferis [a] revocavit. Intelligite igitur legentes quanti sit justitia, quæ nec infidelem tam perfectum amatorem sui relinquere potuit desolatum. Laus Trajani ex Suetonio[x]: 'Trajanus, inusitatæ civilitatis et fortitudinis, Daciam subegit, et ea quæ sunt circa Danubium, et Armeniam, quam occupaverant Parthi. Albanis regem dedit; Hiberorum regem, et Sauromatarum, et Bosphoranorum, et Arabum, et Osdroenorum, et Colchorum in fidem accepit; Corduenos, Marchamedos occupavit; et Antemusium magnam Persidis regionem, Seleuciam, et Ctesiphontem, Babylonem, et Messenios vicit ac tenuit. Usque ad Indiæ fines et Mare Rubrum
D accessit, atque ibi tres provincias fecit, Armeniam, Assyriam, Mesopotamiam, cum his gentibus, quæ Madenam attingunt. Arabiam postea in provinciæ formam redegit. In Mari Rubro classem instituit, ut per eam Indiæ fines vastaret. Gloriam tamen militarem civilitate et moderatione superavit, Romæ et per provincias æqualem se omnibus exhibens, amicos salutandi causa frequentans, vel ægrotantes; cum festos dies habuissent, convivia cum eisdem indiscreta vicissim habens, sæpe in vehiculis eorum sedens: nullum senatorem lædens; nil injustum ad augendum fiscum agens, liberalis in cunctis; publice privatimque ditans omnes, et honoribus augens, quos vel mediocri familiaritate cognovisset; orbem terrarum ædificans, multas immunitates civitatibus tribuens; nihil non tranquillum et placidum agens; adeo ut omni ejus ætate unus senator damnatus
E sit, atque is tamen per senatum ignorante Trajano. Ob hoc per orbem terrarum Deo proximus, nihil non venerationis meruit et vivus et mortuus. Inter alia dicta hoc ipsius fertur egregium: amicis enim culpantibus quod nimium circa omnes comis esset, respondit: 'Se talem imperatorem esse privatis, quales sibi imperatores esse privatus optasset.' Solus omnium intra urbem sepultus est: ossa collata in urnam auream in foro, quod ædificavit, sub columna posita sunt, cujus altitudo C.XL. pedes habet: hujus tantum memoriæ delatum est, ut usque ad nostram ætatem non aliter in senatu principibus adclametur, nisi 'fœlicior Augusto, melior Trajano.'

Contra Germanos fœliciter conflixit; bellum Marcomanicum gessit contra Squados, Wandalos, Sarmatas, Suetos et omnem barbariem, quantum nulla memoria tradit, adeo ut Punicis conferatur. Vir igitur divinus tanti prœlii victor cum Commodo filio triumphavit. Cum igitur ærario exhausto regios cultus vendidisset, eis qui reddere voluerunt, postea pretia restituit; eis qui noluerunt, immolestus fuit. Hic permisit viris clarioribus, ut convivia eodem cultu, quo ipse, et ministris similibus exhiberent: in editione munerum post victoriam adeo magnificus extitit ut centum simul leones exhibuisse tradatur.' Ælius Pertinax menses sex; qui Juliani jurisperiti scelere occiditur in palatio.

v. Bed. I. 5. Severus Pertinax, interfecto Juliano jurisperito, regnavit XVII. annis. Hic genere Afer, Tripolitanus ab oppido Lepti, natura sævus, multis semper bellis lacessitus, fortissime quidem rempublicam sed laboriosissime rexit. Murus etenim de lapidibus, vallum vero, quo ad repellendam vim hostium castra muniuntur, fit de cespitibus; quibus circumcisis e terra velut murus exstruitur altus super terram, ita ut in ante sit fossa, de qua levati sunt cespites, supra quam sudes de lignis fortissimis præfiguntur. Itaque Severus magnam fossam, firmissimumque vallum, crebris insuper turribus communitum a mari usque ad mare duxit; ibique apud Eboracum oppidum morbo obiit. Reliquit duos filios Bassianum et Getam: quorum Geta hostis publicus judicatus interiit: Bassianus, Antonini cognomine assumpto, regno potitus est. Laus Severi ex

Cum autem vigesimo regni sui anno Diocletianus Nicomediæ, Maximianus Mediolani purpuram deposuerunt; cœpit persecutio mitigari usque ad tempus Arrii. Laus Diocletiani: [y]'Diocletianus moratus callide fuit, sagax præterea et admodum subtilis ingenio, et qui severitatem suam aliena invidia vellet explere. Diligentissimus tamen et sollertissimus princeps, quamvis contra Romanam libertatem adorari se jusserit, cum ante eum cæteri salutarentur. Gemmas vestibus calciamentisque indidit, inusitata virtute usus, ut solus omnium ex tanto fastigio sponte privatus fieret. Contigit igitur ei quod nulli post natos homines, ut cum privatus obiisset, inter Divos tamen referretur. Maximianus vero vir crudelissimus et vultu fuit horrendus.'

A autem quod Alaricus rex Gothorum Romam invasit et cepit, anno conditionis ejus millesimo centesimo sexagesimo quarto: cumque partem ejus cremasset incendio, deprædata urbe, sexto die egressus est, post annos ferme quadringentos septuaginta ex quo Julius Cæsar sibi Brittanniam subjecit[a]. Habitabant autem Romani intra vallum, quod Severum trans insulam fecisse commemoravimus, ad plagam meridianam, quod civitates, pontes, fari et stratæ ibidem factæ usque hodie testantur; cæterum ulteriores Brittanniæ partes, vel eas etiam quæ ultra Brittanniam sunt, insulas, jure dominandi possidebant. Brittannia igitur militaribus copiis floridaque juventute spoliata, quæ maxime per Maximum tyrannum fuerant abductæ, post etiam reliquiæ per proxime dictum Constantinum, prædæ siquidem tantum patuit Scottis et Pictis, gentibus sævissimis. Orientalis autem habet in medio sui urbem Guidi: occidentalis supra se, hoc est ad dextram sui, habet urbem Aldclyhit: quod lingua eorum significat 'petram Clyht,' est autem juxta fluvium nominis illius. Ob harum ergo infestationem gentium, Brittones legatos Romam cum epistolis mittunt auxilia flagitantes; quibus mox legio destinatur, quæ hostium magnam multitudinem sternens, cæteros a finibus expulit; sicque domum cum magno triumpho reversa est, indicentes Brittannis ut super vallum Severi murum constituerent, quatenus ubi munitio aquæ deerat, præsidium valli adesset. At Brittanni murum non tam lapidibus quam cespitibus construentes, ad nihil utilem statuunt; vesti-

Verum priores inimici ut Romanum militem abiisse conspexerunt, mox advecti navibus irrumpunt acrius. Unde prece Brittannorum rursum Romani redeunt, et cæsum hostem trans maria fugant; conjunctisque sibi Brittannis, murum non ut ante ex cespitibus, sed ex saxo a mari usque ad mare collocant. Sic et in littore meridiano, quia et inde hostis timebatur, turres per intervalla ad prospectum maris statuunt; sic valedicunt sociis tanquam ultra non reversuri, dicentes ultra se tam laboriosis expeditionibus non posse fatigari. Romanis igitur domum reversis, hostes acrius insultant, insulæque partem usque murum capessunt, deinde murum urbesque appositas sternunt;
D postea cis murum longe patriam vastant, ut et ipsi Brittanni latrocinio ac rapacitate famem temperarent, donec omnis regio totius cibi sustentaculo, excepto venandi solatio, vacuaretur. Laus Honorii: 'Fuit Honorius moribus et religione patri Theodosio non valde absimilis: cujus temporibus quamvis externa multa et civilia bella surrexerunt, vel nullo vel minimo sanguine quievere.' Theodosius secundus, qui vocatur Junior, Brittanniæ potestatem amisit. Imperavit autem Romanis XXVIII. annis; cujus regni anno XXIII. Aetius vir illustris cum Symmacho gessit consulatum. Ad hunc Brittonum reliquiæ mittunt epistolam: in processu epistolæ, cujus hoc principium est: 'Aetio ter consuli:' ita suas calamitates explicant: 'Repellunt barbari ad mare, repellit mare ad barbaros: inter hæc oriuntur duo genera funerum; aut jugulamur aut mergimur.' v. Bed. I. 13, 14.
E Neque hoc tamen agentes quicquam ab illo auxilii impetrare quiverunt; utpote qui gravissimis eo tempore bellis cum Bledda et Attila regibus Hunorum erat occupatus; et quamvis anno ante hunc proximo Bledda Attilæ fratris sui interemptus sit insidiis, Attila tamen ipse adeo intolerabilis reipublicæ remansit hostis, ut totam pene Europam, excisis invasisque civitatibus atque castellis, corroderet. ras provincias præfata fames affecit: tunc igitur Brittanni videntes humanum A deesse auxilium invocant divinum: misertusque est eorum Dominus omnipotens et tentavit eos, immisitque eorum robur brachiis et aciem gladiis. Exiluerunt igitur de montibus et latebris et silvis, irruentesque in Scottos et Pictos undique cœperunt indeficienter cædere et sternere. Hostes vero nec se in ictibus suis cognoscebant, nec in protectione armorum jam confidebant; quæ scilicet jam Brittannorum armis erant quasi vestis: contabuit ergo cor hostium, dissolutisque viribus horrescentes aufugiunt; fit itaque in eis strages innumera. Scotti cum dedecore Hyberniam redeunt. Picti in extrema insulæ parte tunc primum et deinceps quieverunt: deditque Dominus victoriam populo suo, et confusi sunt qui eos confundebant. His temporibus, scilicet anno Theodosii octavo, mittitur Palladius a papa Celestino ad Scottos primus eorum futurus episcopus. Theodo- B sius etiam potestatem Galliæ et Hispaniæ et Africæ amisit: gens quippe Wandalorum et Alanorum et Gothorum omnia ferro, flammis, arripuerant et destruxerant, sed B. Augustinus Hipponensis episcopus, ne civitatis suæ ruinam videret, tertio obsidionis ejus mense migravit ad Dominum, Geiserico crudelissimo eam obsidente.

v. Bed. I. 14. Brittannis ergo victoribus et quieti datis, misit Dominus ineffabilem frugum abundantiam, quantam nulla ætas retro meminit: ut sicut confusiones ante habitas triumpho relevaverant, ita famem præfatam opulentia relevarent: probavitque Deus utrum omnimoda prosperitas redderet gratiosos, quos nulla adversa reddiderant correctos. Illi tunc vero omnia scelera transacta superantes, in luxuria furere, et in omnium lue scelerum sine respectu Dei cœperunt. Ita vero de- C mum crudelitas et odium [1]veritatis amorque mendacii in eis exarsit, ut si quis eorum mitior et veritati aliquatenus propior videretur, in hunc, quasi Brittanniæ subversorem, omnium odia telaque sine respectu contorquerentur. Et non solum hoc sæculares viri, sed et ipse grex Domini ejusque pastores egerunt; ebriositate, animositate, litigio, contentione, invidia, cæteris hujusmodi facinoribus sua colla, abjecto levi jugo Christi, subdentes. Respexit ergo Dominus, et in iram concitatus, corruptæ mentis homines acerba peste contrivit, quæ in brevi tantam ejus multitudinem stravit, ut ne sepeliendis quidem mortuis vivi sufficerent. Sed nec morte quidem suorum, nec timore mortis, hi, qui supererant, a morte animæ, qua peccando sternebantur, revocari poterant. Justo itaque et patenti judicio constituit Deus exterminare gentem illam, mandavitque statim stimulos iræ suæ, D Scottos scilicet et Pictos, qui cædes suas vindicaturi iracundius solito adveniunt, irruuntque Brittannis, quasi lupi in agnos; cognoveruntque se in ictibus suis, et Brittannos in fuga sua. Rursumque igitur ex more Brittanni latebras et silvas et saltus repetunt: postea vero inierunt consilium quid agendum, ubi quærendum esset [2]præsidium ad evitandas vel repellendas tam feras tamque creberrimas gentium aquilonalium irruptiones: placuitque omnibus cum rege suo Vortigerno, ut Saxonum gentem de transmarinis partibus in auxilium vocarent. Quod Domini nutu dispositum esse constat, ut veniret contra improbos malum, sicut evidentius rerum exitus probavit.

simo quarto anno postquam regnum Francorum inchoaverat; quorum primus rex fuit Pharamundus. Saxones igitur in orientali parte insulæ, jubente eodem rege, locum manendi, quasi pro patria pugnaturi, re autem vera hanc expugnaturi, susceperunt. Inierunt autem certamen contra Pictos et Scottos, [a]qui jam venerunt usque ad Stanfordiam, quæ sita est in australi parte Lincolniæ, distans ab ea quadraginta miliariis. Cum igitur illi pilis et lanceis pugnarent, isti vero securibus gladiisque longis rigidissime decertarent, nequiverunt Picti pondus
C tantum perferre, sed fuga saluti suæ consuluerunt: Saxones victoriosi, triumpho et præda potiti sunt. Quod ubi Saxoniæ nuntiatum est, simul et insulæ fertilitas ac segnities Brittonum, mittitur confestim illo classis prolixior, armatorum ferens manum fortiorem: quæ præmissæ adjuncta cohorti invincibilem fecit exercitum. Susceperunt ergo qui advenerant, donantibus Brittonibus, locum habitationis inter eos: ea tamen conditione, ut hi pro patriæ pace et salute contra adversarios militarent, illi militantibus debita stipendia conferrent. Advenerunt autem de tribus Germaniæ populis fortioribus, id est, Saxonibus, Anglis, Jutis: de Jutarum origine sunt Cantuarii, et Victuarii; hæc est ea gens quæ Vectam tenet insulam; et ea, quæ usque hodie in provincia Occidentalium Saxonum Jutarum natio nominatur, posita contra ipsam insulam Vectam: de Saxonibus, id

Duces eorum primi fuisse perhibentur duo fratres, Hengist et Horsa: erant autem filii Widgils, filii Wicta, filii Vecta, filii Woden, filii Frealof, filii Fredulf, filii Fin, filii [b]Flocwald, filii Ieta: quem dixerunt filium Dei, scilicet alicujus idoli: de quorum patrum progenie, multarum provinciarum regium genus originem duxit. fusior eis copia alimentorum detur, se cuncta insulæ loca rupto fœdere vastaturos. Nec segniter minas prosequuntur effectibus: inito namque fœdere cum Pictis, et congregato innumerabili exercitu, neminem, qui eis restare auderet usquam invenerunt. Accensus igitur manibus paganorum ignis, justas de sceleribus populi Dei ultiones expetiit; non illius impar, qui quondam a Caldæis succensus, Hyerosolymorum mœnia, imo ædificia cuncta consumpsit: sic enim et hic, agente impio victore, imo disponente justo Judice, proximas quasque civitates agrosque depopulans, ab orientali mari usque ad occidentale, nullo prohibente, suum continuavit incendium, totamque prope insulæ pereuntis superficiem obtexit. Ruebant ædificia publica simul et privata, passim sacerdotes inter altaria trucidabantur, præsules cum populis, sine ullo respectu honoris, ferro pariter et flammis absumebantur; nec erat qui crudeliter eos interemptos sepulturæ traderet. Itaque nonnulli in montibus comprehensi jugulabantur, alii fame confecti procedentes, manus hostibus dabant; pro accipiendis alimentorum subsidiis æternum subituri servitium, si tamen non continuo trucidarentur: alii transmarinas regiones dolentes petebant: alii perstantes in patria trepidi pauperem vitam in montibus, silvis, vel rupibus arduis, suspecta semper mente, agebant. Rex autem Vortigernus in occidentali parte Brittanniæ inter præ-

A.D. 455. Anno septimo adventus Saxonum in Angliam commissum est bellum apud [b] Aeilestreu. Principio ergo percussit Hors aciem Catigerni tanto vigore ut ad modum pulveris dispersa prosterneretur, et filium regis prostratum cecidit. Gortimer autem frater ejus, vir vere strenuissimus, ex obliquo aciem Horsi disrupit, et ipso Horso interfecto virorum fortissimo, reliquiæ cohortis ad Hengistum fugiunt, qui cum Ambrosii cuneo invicte confligebat. Totum ergo pondus prœlii versum est super Hengistum, et probitate Gortimeri coarctatus, cum diu perseverasset, non sine magno detrimento Brittannorum, victus, qui nunquam fugerat, fugit. Scripserunt quidam Hengistum postea in eodem anno ter contra eos pugnasse, nec potuisse resistere probitati Gortimeri et numero Brittonum; sed semel in insulam Tenet, semel ad naves fugisse, et pro his qui abierant in patriam misisse.

456. Anno vero sequenti, regnante Leone imperatore, qui regnavit XVII. annis, morbo periit flos juvenum Gortimerus, cum quo simul spes et victoria Brittonum exstincta est. Hengist igitur et Esc filius suus, receptis auxiliis a patria sua,
457. et morte juvenis freti, bello se præparant apud Creganford. Brittanni vero quatuor phalanges maximas quatuor ducibus munitas fortissimis bello prostituunt. Sed cum ludum belli Brittones inissent, numerum Saxonum majorem solito male ferebant: recentes quippe qui supervenerant, et viri electi erant, securibus et gladiis horribiliter corpora Brittonum findebant: nec tamen cesserunt donec quatuor duces eorum prostratos et cæsos viderunt. Superatis igitur hostibus mentis et corporis, beati pontifices ad sua remearunt. Sed non multo post Pelagiana hæresi iterum pullulante, precibus omnium sacerdotum Brittanniæ rediit Germanus cum Severo episcopo Treveris, fidemque rectam restituens, filium Elafii principis, contractum nervis et poplite, in conspectu omnium sanavit: omnibusque prospere ges-

Supervenientibus vero auxiliariis, post aliquantum temporis Hengist rex et Esc filius suus invictissimum congregaverunt exercitum anno XVII° adventus eorum in Angliam: contra quos omnis Brittannia, viribus congregatis, duodecim phalanges nobiliter ordinatas opposuit apud [a] Wippedesflede. Tunc vero cives diuturna fame contriti, cum jam pondus infestantium perferre nequirent, omnes ore gladii devorati sunt cum mulieribus et parvulis, ita quod nec unus solus evasit: et quia tot ibi damna toleraverant extranei, ita urbem destruxerunt quod nunquam postea reædificata est; locus tantum, quasi nobilissimæ urbis, transeuntibus ostenditur desolatus.

A Septimo autem anno post adventum Certici, venit Port et duo filii ejus, Beda et Megla cum duabus navibus maximis apud Portesmudham; statimque clamor maximus implevit omnem provinciam. Dux igitur provinciæ et omnis multitudo pugnam aggressi, absque ordine ut quisque adveniebat, in ictu oculi deperiere: audacia namque agebat Brittones in hostem; fortitudo vero hostis agebat imprudentiam eorum in confusionem. Duce igitur et populo perempto vel fugato, victoria potiti sunt Port, de quo dicta est Portesmudam, et duo filii ejus. A.D. 501.

Certic regebat cornu dextrum, Cinric vero sinistrum. Inito ergo prœlio, rex Nazaleod dextrum cornu videns præstantius, irruit ipse et omnes vires ejus, ut illud quod fortissimum erat prius prosterneretur: prostratis ergo vexillis et acie perforata, Certic in fugam versus est, et facta est strages maxima aciei ejus in momento. Videns autem sinistrum cornu ductum a filio, quod dextrum cornu patris sui destructum esset, irruit in terga persequentium, et aggravata est pugna vehementer, et cecidit rex Nazaleod, et versi sunt sui in fugam, et interfecti sunt ex eis quinque millia: cæteris vero celeritas fuit subsi-

Ea tempestate venerunt multi et sæpe de Germania, et occupaverunt East-angle et Merce: sed necdum sub uno rege redacta erant. Plures autem proceres certatim regiones occupabant, unde innumerabilia bella fiebant: proceres vero, quia multi erant, nomine carent.

Arthurus [a]belliger, illis temporibus dux militum et regum Britanniæ, contra illos invictissime pugnabat: duodecies dux belli fuit, duodecies victor [1]bellatorum. Hæc autem bella et loca bellorum narrat [4]Gildas historiographus. Quæ tamen omnia loca nostræ ætati incognita sunt; quod providentia Dei factum esse putamus, ad despectum popularis auræ, laudis adulatoriæ, famæ transitoriæ. Interim tamen ubique multa bella fiebant, in quibus quandoque Saxones, quandoque Britones victores erant: quanto magis autem plures Saxonum prosternebantur, tanto plures in auxilium eorum veniebant, ab omnibus circumjacentibus terris invitati.

Regnum Estsexe, id est, Orientalium Saxonum incipit: quod primus, ut putatur, tenuit [b]Erchenwin, secundum quod ex veterum scriptis conjicere possumus; qui fuit filius Offæ, filii Biedcan, filii Sigewlf, filii Spoewe, filii Gesac, filii Andesc, filii Saxnat. Kinric rex anno XVIII. regni sui pugnavit contra Britannos, qui venerant cum maximo exercitu usque ad Salesbirig. Ille autem, undique congregatis auxiliis, occurrit eis invictissime, ingentibusque copiis fusis, utrinque dispersit eos et in fugam convertit. 552.

Nec hoc mirum videri debet, cum illi maximæ staturæ et vigoris et audaciæ fuerint; quamvis nostri temporis exercitus in ipsa prima collisione statim alteruter in fugam convertatur; viris scilicet modo parvæ staturæ et vigoris et audaciæ existentibus.

A plus omnibus Anglorum regibus gentem vastabat Brittonum. Kinegils fuit filius [1]Ceola, filii Cutha, filii Kinric, filii Certic. Quarto autem regni sui anno, assumpsit secum [2]filium suum *Kichelmum in regnum, et inierunt bellum contra Brittannos apud ×Beandune. Ordinatis igitur C manipulis et cuneis et aciebus; cum eis, lege rata, centuriones et consules et duces utrinque præessent, bellum inceptum est. Cum igitur obviarent sibi acies terribiliter et pulcherrime, vexillis inclinatis, in ipsa prima collisione invasit horror Brittannos, timentesque aciem securium maximarum splendentium et framearum magnæ longitudinis, fuga in principio, sero tamen, potiti sunt. Saxones igitur, sine detrimento sui victores, numeravere mortuos Brittannorum, et inventi sunt mortui duo millia et sexaginta duo. 611. 614. * Cuichelm. × v. Chr. Sax.

Kinegils vero cum sex annis regnasset, mortuus est Ethelbert rex Kentensis: cui successit Ædbold filius ejus. Sequenti quoque anno Edelfridus rex Nordhumbrorum, et Redwaldus rex Estangle obviaverunt sibi, provocati utrinque, cum exercitibus copiosis. ϒPugnatum est igitur in finibus Merciorum, ad orientalem D plagam amnis qui vocatur Idle; unde dicitur : ‛ Amnis Idle Anglorum sanguine sorduit.’ Edelfridus rex ferus, dedignans et mirans quod aliquis ei auderet resistere, cum militibus electis et bello assuetis, audacissime quidem sed inordinate, irruit in hostem, quamvis acies Redwaldi eleganter ordinatæ terribiles essent aspectu. Nam hirsutæ galeis et hastis, et innumeris decoræ vexillis, terno procedebant ordine, multoque majores erant numero quam hostes. Rex tamen Nordhumbrorum, quasi præda inventa, subito proruens in cuneos conglomeratos, Rainerum filium regis cum tota acie sua gladiis prostravit, et ad inferos ante se misit. Redwaldus autem tanta clade non perterritus sed iracundior, invincibiliter cum duabus aciebus perstitit. Cumque impenetrabiles essent Nordhumbris, Edelfridus findens cuneos ultra posse suum, longe a suis super magnam stragem hostium E prostratus est. Fugit igitur, rege adempto, totus ejus exercitus. Huic ergo in regnum successit Edwinus, qui postea factus est Christianus. Tanta autem pax erat in Brittannia tempore regis Edwini, ubicunque imperium ejus attingebat, ut mulier cum nato parvulo a mari ad mare secura gradi posset. Rex autem ad lucidos fontes juxta vias, ob refrigerium viantium, erectis stipitibus, æreos caucos suspenderat, quos nullus vel magnitudine timoris auderet, vel amoris vellet, attingere. Ubique autem ante regem vexilla gestabantur; necnon per plateas illud genus vexilli, quod Romani ‛ Tuffam’ vocant, Angli [3]vero ‛ Tuf’ appellant, ante eum ubilibet ferri solebat. 616. 617. ϒ v. Chr. A.D. 626. Kinegils, cum regnasset sexdecim annis, et Kichelmus, pugnantes contra A Edwinum regem prædictum, quem prius morti proditione paraverant tradere, jure [1]victi sunt, ut post dicetur. Eodem anno Penda Strenuus cœpit reg-nare super Merce: regnavit autem triginta annis. Penda autem fuit filius
* Pybba. *Wibba, filii Crida, filii Cinewald, filii Cnibba, filii Icil, filii [a]Comer, filii Angeltheau, filii Offa, filii Weremund, filii Witlac, filii Woden. Eodem anno obiit Sebertus rex Estsexe, cui duo filii ejus successerunt in regnum; nec longe post pugnaverunt contra Kinegels et Kichelm; audacter quidem cum paucioribus contra plures, sed infœliciter: uterque enim juvenis acie gladii corruit, et ex toto eorum exercitu vix aliquis fugam capessere potuit, obstantibus cadaverum suorum montibus et sanguinis torrentibus. Quibus successit Sigebertus cognomine Parvus, cui postea Sigebertus, vir sanctus et virtutibus plenus, quem sui B proditione occiderunt.

628. Kinegils et Kichelm, tertio anno post hunc, pugnaverunt contra Pendam apud Cirancestre, congregata utrinque multitudine gravi. Cumque uterque exer-citus, fuga abjurata, invincibiliter persisterent, solis occidentis gratia dirempti sunt. Mane autem cum se utrosque in perniciem redigendos, si applicarentur, viderent, moderatis utrinque impetitionibus concordati sunt.

633. Kinegils cum regnasset viginti tribus annis, occisus est rex Edwine per Pen-dam Strenuum, quæ res in libro sequenti digne et prolixe tractabitur. Anno 634. vero sequente Oswald rex sanctus adeptus est regnum Nordhumbrorum et

* patre. Anno etiam proximo baptizatus est Kichelm, regnans cum Kinegils *fratre suo, C qui obiit eodem anno. Diebus in iisdem conversus est [2]Earpwald rex Est-Anglorum filius Redwaldi regis ad fidem rectam; et eo mox occiso per Pen-dam Strenuum, conversus est Sigbert frater et successor suus per Fœlicem 640. episcopum, et tota gens Orientalium Anglorum cum eo. Quarto post hunc anno obiit Eadbald rex Kent, qui regnavit viginti tribus annis. Post quem regnavit filius suus [3]Ercombert XXVI. annis; tempore Eraclonas imperatoris, qui impera-vit duobus annis.

643. Kinegils cum regnasset XXXI. annis vita caruit; tempore Constantini imperatoris, qui imperaverat XXXIII. annis, filius scilicet Constantini prioris, qui regna-verat dimidio anno. Successit autem Kinegilso filius ejus [4]Cenwalh, et regnavit uno et triginta annis super Westsexe, sicut et pater ejus fecerat. Eodem anno D
642. occisus est rex sanctus Oswald, sicut in consequenti libro dicetur; et post eum regnavit Oswi frater ejus, viginti octo annis.

645. Cenwalh quinto anno regni sui invasus est a rege Penda, quia sororem ejus dimiserat: sed non potuit ei resistere ut pater ejus fecerat, sed prœlio victus,
648. fugit ante faciem ejus, et fugatus est a regno suo. Post triennium vero, regno
* Cuthredo. recuperato, dedit Cenwalh *Ædredo cognato suo et adjutori, ter mille villas juxta
[5]Esesdune. His temporibus successit Earpwaldo regi Est-Anglorum Sigebert frater ejus, Dei servus. Qui nimirum Deo tantum adhæsit, ut, cognato suo Egrico regno commendato, monasterium intraret et tonsuram acciperet. Post multos annos autem coegerunt eum exire contra regem Pendam; ille tamen non nisi virgam in manu habebat in prœlio: occisus est igitur cum rege Ecgrice et totus E eorum exercitus. Successit autem eis Anna filius Eni de regio genere, vir optimus et optimæ pater sobolis.

654. Cenwalh cum regnasset tredecim annis, invasit Annam prædictum regem Est-
Anglorum Penda Strenuus. Cui bene poterat aptari illud Lucani:

Gaudet habere vias.'

A Insurrexit igitur exercitui perituro regis Annæ, insurrexit et infrenduit,

Ora fluunt sanie, latus undique sanguine manat,

Devorati sunt igitur Anna rex et exercitus ejus ore gladii in momento, ita quod vix aliquis superfuit ex iis. Successit autem Annæ frater ejus Edelhere. Quo mox occiso a rege Penda, successit [1]Adelwold in regno. Prædato igitur regno, acies et vexilla in Nordhumbre direxit Penda Strenuus.

B Cenwalh cum regnasset quatuordecim annis, Penda, qui cæteros gladio perimebat, gladio peremptus est; secundum illud: 'Qui gladio percusserit, gladio peribit.' Percussus vero est per Oswium regem apud amnem Winwed; unde dicitur, A.D. 655. Matt. xxvi. 52.

'In Winwed amne vindicata est cædes Annæ,
Cædes regum Sigbert et Ecgrice,
Cædes regum Oswald et Edwine.'

Successit ei filius ejus Peda, qui primus regum Merce baptizatus est; et gens regni Merce, quæ etiam vocatur Midelengle, id est, Mediterranea Anglia, cum eo, et per eum ad fidem conversi sunt. in Anglia. Quod ut credibilius videatur, hoc etiam tempore nostro contigit in Normannia, [1]regnante rege Henrico, qui primus regum Angliæ sic vocatus
est. Hoc autem determinatum est, quia sic aliquis alius futuro tempore forsitan causa pompæ et tumoris et inanis gloriæ ingessissent, alter eorum, scilicet Wlfere, eodem anno morbo periit, alter vero sequenti. Post hunc Edelred reg-navit super Merce.

Mercensis urbem Rovensem destruxit, provinciam Kentensem transmeavit, præ-dam innumerabilem reduxit.

[a]LIB. III.[b] B

A.D. 582. ANNO gratiæ quingentesimo octogesimo[c] secundo Mauricius, qui quinquagesimus quartus ab Augusto imperavit, imperium suscepit: cujus principis anno quartodecimo, misit servus Dei Gregorius Augustinum et alios plures cum eo monachos prædicaturos in Angliam, anno adventus Anglorum in Brittanniam circiter centesimo quinquagesimo, &c.

Pertractatum est igitur quo modo rex et populus Cantiæ ad fidem Christi sunt conversi.

Secunda pars incipit, qua aperitur quo modo rex et populus Estsexe, id est

Tertia pars incipit, de conversione Nordhumbrorum, id est eorum qui ad
II. 9. aquilonalem Humbræ fluminis plagam inhabitant. Rex vero eorum Edwinus tanta potestate terreni creverat imperii, ut, quod nemo Anglorum ante eum, omnis Brittanniæ fines acciperet, et omnes provinciæ, quas vel Angli vel Brittones habitabant, sub ditione ejus essent, &c.

Urbs autem Lincolniæ, quæ tunc Lindicolina vocabatur, et provincia Lindissæ ei adjacens, quæ circumquaque clauditur vel fluviis vel paludibus vel mari, ad Merce regnum pertinet. Urbs autem illa et situ splendida est, et provincia rerum multarum locuples; unde quidam:

'Urbs in colle sita est, et collis vergit ad Austrum.' D

II. 20. At vero Edwinus post septemdecim annos regni sui conserto gravi prœlio in campo qui vocatur Hethfeld occisus est..... Dicitur autem quod Hethfeld rubens undique nobilium fumabat cruore. Ibi namque miserabilis et inopinata fortissimorum facta est strages. Cedwalla siquidem rex potentissimus innumerabilem multitudinem secum adduxerat, &c.

Quinta pars sequitur, de conversione Occidentalium Saxonum, qui antiquitus Gevissæ vocabantur; quæ facta est per Birinum episcopum, &c. Bed. III. 7.

Eo quoque tempore Oswaldus cum regnasset novem annis, internumerato illo anno aliorum prædicto, occisus est etiam a Penda Strenuo, commisso gravi prœlio apud *Mesafeld, anno ætatis suæ XXXVIII., die v. Augusti. Unde dicitur: ‘ Campus Mesafeld sanctorum canduit ossibus.’ Occulto autem Dei judicio, invisi Deo pagani dilectos ejus mactaverunt, et escas volatilibus cœli dederunt. B Sexta pars sequitur, de conversione Midelengle, id est de Mediterraneorum Anglorum, sub principe Peda, quem pater illi genti præfecerat, &c. III. 21.

Inito ergo certamine, fugati sunt et cæsi pagani duces triginta. Deus enim omnipotens cum suis aderat, dissolvitque fortitudinem regis Pendæ, solitumque robur nervorum brachiis ejus dempsit, et cor magnanimum contabescere jussit: ideo nec se in ictibus suis cognovit, nec armis hostium impenetrabilis fuit. Stupuitque hostes tales esse, qualis ipse hostibus esse solebat; se vero talem quales illi esse solebant. Qui ergo semper alienum sanguinem fuderat, sensit quod egerat, dum jam cruore suo terram imbuit, et cerebro respersit: ergo qui ad auxilium ejus venerant pene sunt omnes interfecti. In quibus Adelhere frater Annæ, &c. III. 24.

C Septima pars sequitur, de conversione Australium Saxonum per Wilfridum episcopum facta, &c. IV. 13.

Hoc ergo ordine postquam omnes Brittanniarum provinciæ fidem Christi susceperant, Theodorus archiepiscopus ad confirmandam fidem tam recentium quam veterum, concilium constituit cum episcopis Brittanniæ de fide catholica tractaturus: et tractatum synodalibus literis æternæ memoriæ commendavit. Quas literas in exordio sequentis libri, quem de gestis regum Anglorum fidelium usque ad adventum et bella Dacorum perducturi sumus, dignum duxi proponere. ‘IN nomine Domini nostri Jesu Christi Salvatoris nostri, imperantibus dominis nostris piissimis Egfrido rege Hymbronensium, anno decimo regni ejus[d],’ &c.

Intererat autem huic synodo Johannes archicantator ecclesiæ S. Petri Romæ, et abbas S. Martini, qui nuper inde venerat jussu papæ Agathonis, cum Benedicto abbate venerabili. Benedictus autem construxerat monasterium S. Petro IV. 18.

Anglorum quem in fine libri secundi desecuimus: connectendusque est illi tractatui tractatus iste, ut in directum protendatur narratio. A

A.D. 686. Centwino igitur Occidentalium Saxonum rege defuncto, Cedwalla post eum ץ v. Chr. Sax. regnans, auxilio Mul fratris sui, insulam Vectam suam viribus suis fecit; ץnamque frater ejus Mul laudabilis et gratiosus, terribilis erat viribus, et decorus aspectu: ideoque et omnibus amabilis erat, et famæ prærogativa clarissimus. Perrexerunt ergo fratres prædicti in Centensem provinciam, causa virium suarum exercitandarum et famæ ampliandæ. Ipsi namque necdum baptizati erant, quamvis prædecessores eorum et populus omnis [1]Christi essent. Igitur ingredientes Cent, nullo obsistente, [2]prædati sunt totam provinciam.

685. Cedwalla namque cum regnum suum invaderet, Lotarius, rex Cantiæ, regnum suum moriens deseruit. Vulneratus namque est rex impiger Lotarius in pugna B
Australium Saxonum, quos contra eum Eadric filius Egberti aggregaverat, et vulnerum immanitate inter medendum defunctus est. Ac post eum idem Eadric anno uno et dimidio sine amore et reverentia Centensium, regnavit. Eo quoque
684. tempore Egfridus rex Nordhumbre mortuus est. Miserat namque anno præ-
× Bed. IV. 26. cedente ×Hiberniam ducem Berctum cum exercitu, qui misere gentem innoxiam et nationi Anglorum semper amicam vastavit. At Hiberni, et pro posse suo repugnantes, et divinæ auxilium pietatis invocantes, cœlitus se vindicari continuis Deum imprecationibus postulabant. Et quamvis maledici regnum Dei possidere non possint, creditum est tamen quod ii qui merito impietatis suæ maledicebantur, ocyus Domino vindice pœnas sui reatus luerent. Siquidem anno post hunc proximo, idem rex, cum temere exercitum ad vastandum Pictorum C provinciam duxisset, multum prohibentibus amicis, et maxime beatæ memoriæ Cutberto, qui nuper fuerat ordinatus episcopus, anno namque eodem fecerat eum rex idem Lindisfarnensem episcopum, introductus est, simulantibus fugam hostibus, in angustias inaccessorum montium, et cum maxima parte copiarum quam secum adduxerat, extinctus: datumque est illi, ne audiret amicos revocantes se, quia noluerat audire patrem Egbertum, ne Scotiam nil se lædentem impugnaret. Exinde spes cœpit et virtus Anglorum fluere, et retro sublapsa referri: nam et Picti terram suam, cujus partem tenebant Angli, recuperaverunt; Brittones quoque nonnullam libertatem receperunt, quam hactenus habent. Vir autem Domini Trumwine abbas Ebercurni, positi quidem in regione Anglorum, sed juxta fretum quod Anglorum terras Pictorumque disterminat, fugit D inde, et in monasterio Streneshal sæpe dicto obiit. Successit autem Egfrido in regnum Alfrid, vir in Scripturis doctissimus, qui frater ejus et filius regis Oswi esse dicebatur: destructumque regni statum, quamvis intra fines angustiores, nobiliter recuperavit.

687. Cedwalla secundo anno regni sui misit fratrem suum Mul fortissimum, et juvenes cum eo fortissimos, prædatum Cent, petitione ejusdem fratris sui[3].
ץ v. Chr. Sax. ץAllexerat enim eum præteriti anni lucrum gloriosum, et famæ pretium non exosum. Pergens igitur in Cent, non invenit qui ei resisteret, et terram prædando in solitudinem redigens, et Christi servos immeritos affligens, maledicta eorum merita sensit. Nam cum hostes effœminatos duceret, et nihil sibi pro viribus prævideret, irruit in domum quandam longe a suis, cum duodecim tantum mili- E tibus prædaturus; ubi inopinata multitudine circumventus, cum hostes interficiendo non deficeret nec proficeret, qui armis cædi non poterat, in ipsa domo cum duodecim militibus suis igne combustus est. Periit ergo flos juvenum, et juvenilis evanuit exercitus. Unde comparet quam nihili sit confidentia fortitudinis ad Dei omnipotentiam. Hæc audiens Cedwalla, rursus ingressus est Cantiam, ubi mirabili cæde et innumera satiatus rapina, cum non inveniret quid cæderet vel raperet, ad sua magnus vindex et victor sævus rediit.

688. Cedwalla rex cum duobus annis regnasset, se regnumque suum abdicans prop-

A ter Deum regnumque perpetuum, Romam[λ] petiit; illud gloriæ singularis sibi æstimans si ibi baptizaretur et moreretur. Sergius ergo papa baptizavit eum, et ex nomine apostoli Petrum vocavit. Rex vero, secundum votum, infra septem dies in albis mortuus est, duodecimo Kal. Maii, et sepultus est in ecclesia S. Petri; super quem scriptum est hoc epitaphium. [λ] Bed. v. 7. A.D. 689. 20 Apr.

'Culmen, opes, sobolem, pollentia regna, triumphos, &c.[×] [×] v. Bedam, v. 7.

Ine regnavit post hunc super Westsexe [1] xxxvii. annis. Ine fuit filius Cenred, filii Ceolwold: [a] Ceolwold fuit frater Cinewold, fueruntque ambo filii Cudwine, filii Ceauling, filii Chenric, filii Certic. Hujus regis anno secundo Theodorus archiepiscopus, xxii. anno episcopatus sui, transiit: cujus loco Britwold abbas B Raculf electus est, et sacratus archiepiscopus. Ad hoc usque tempus fuerunt Romani archiepiscopi: exinde fuerunt Angli. Ipse vero Britwoldus ordinavit Tobiam Rovensem episcopum, Latina, Græca, et Saxonica lingua multipliciter instructum. Eo tempore erant duo reges in Cent, non tam secundum stirpem regiam quam secundum invasionem: scilicet [b] Nithred et Webhard. 688. 690. 692.

Ine vi. anno regnante, legitimus rex Centensis Withred confortatus in regno, religione simul et industria suam gentem ab extranea invasione liberavit. Withred namque fuit filius Egbrith, filii Erchenbricth, filii Eadbald, filii Edelbrith. Tenuit autem regnum Centense xxxii. annis nobiliter et pacifice. Anno eodem Ine rex [ϒ] castrorum acies ordinatas et terribiles in Cantiam deduxit, vindicaturus combustionem Mul cognati sui. Rex autem Withred obviam ei affuit, non cum C feroci arrogantia, sed pacifica supplicatione; non cum frendentibus minis, sed rhetorici mellis dulcedine, qua regi fero persuasit ut, armis depositis, multam pecuniæ a Centensibus acciperet pro cæde juvenis; et sic lis finita ruit, pax confirmata revixit. Rex vero Centensis abhinc semper in pace regnavit. Tertio post hunc anno Merci, qui dicuntur etiam Sudhumbri, turpe scelus commiserunt; reginam namque Ostridam, uxorem Edelredi regis sui et Egfridi regis sororem, inhumane occiderunt. 694. [ϒ] v. Chr. Sax. 697.

Ine xi. anno regnante, [2] Bertus prædictus consul Egfridi sensit maledicta Hybernensium, quorum ecclesias destruxerat, sicut et dominus suus senserat. Sicut enim Egfridus rex ingressus terram Pictorum cædem ibi pertulit; ita et iste, ingressus terram eorundem vindicaturus dominum suum, ab iisdem occiditur. Circa hoc D tempus ab Incarnatione Domini septingenti anni fuerunt. Ædelred filius Pendæ rex Merce, Omnipotentis benignitate visitatus, fit monachus anno xxix. regni ejus, et sepultus est apud Bardenie fœliciter: cui successit Cenred cognatus ejus, similis virtute et fœlicitate. Cum enim quinque annis regnum nobiliter tenuisset, nobilius multo sceptra regni reliquit. Veniens namque Romam, et monachus ibi factus, Constantino pontificante, usque ad diem permansit ultimum: cum quo etiam Offa filius Sigheri regis Orientalium Saxonum, rex si remansisset futurus, pari ductus devotione Romam ivit et monachatum suscepit. Imitamini ergo reges horum duorum regum fœlicissimam strenuitatem, scilicet Edelredi et Cenredi, quorum nomen permanet in æternum; qui diademata, uxores, urbes, cognatos, et omnia relinquentes, multis millibus idem faciendi exemplum E fuerunt. O Deus bone! quæ et qualia diademata eis reddes, et ipse manu tua cervicibus eorum summus Pontifex impones in die exultationis et lætitiæ, quando cunctis millibus legionum cœlestium et terrestrium tecum reges prædictos suscipientibus cum triumpho, et faciem eorum videre desiderantibus, afferent fructum non centenum tantum, sed potius millenum! fructum odoriferum, fructum expectabilem et tibi ipsi visu delectabilem. igne Sancti Spiritus accensus exempla regum illorum, et vere regum sequatur, ut adhuc etiam crescat eis exultatio novi fructus, et uberiora tibi sequentium probitate munera offerant cum devotissima jocunditate? Heu miseri! dimittendus est sermo de regibus cœli, qui, O utinam, perennis in cordibus nostris miserulis et inertissimis figatur. Sed redeundum est de cœlo ad terras. Successit namque regibus prædictis Merce Ceolred in regno, quod idem octo annis patriæ et avitæ virtutis hæres clarissime rexit. A

A.D. 705. Ine vicesimo anno regni sui [a]divisit episcopatum Westsexiæ in duo, qui unus esse solebat; partem orientalem a silvis tenuit Daniel, occidentalem Aldelmus.
709. Aldelmo vero successit Forthere. Eodem anno Wilfridus episcopus, de quo inter miracula non silebitur, obiit apud Uundalum, XLV. anno episcopatus sui, et
710. sepultus est apud Ripun. Anno huic proximo pugnavit rex Ine, et Nun cognatus ejus contra Gerente regem [b]Wales. Cujus pugnæ principio occisus est dux Higebald; ad ultimum vero Gerente cum suis faciem ab Anglis avertit, et fugiens, arma et spolia sequentibus reliquit. Tunc etiam Berfrid consul restitit superbiæ Pictorum, dimicans inter Heue et Cere; ubi multitudine magna Pictorum strata, ultor extitit regis Egfridi et consulis Berti. Acca presbyter successit Wilfrido
705. episcopo. Alfridus vero rex Nordhumbre, quarto ante hunc anno, infirmatus perierat apud Driffeld, anno regni sui vicesimo nondum impleto. Cui succedens Osredus filius ejus, puer octo annorum, regnavit XI. annis. Osred vero rex, belli
716. infortunio, juxta Mere pugnans, interfectus est. Cui succedens Cenred regnavit
718. duobus annis, et mortuus est. Post quos Osricus regnavit ibidem undecim annis. Hi namque quatuor [1]reges regnaverunt in Nordhumbre tempore Ine regis. B C

715. Ine XXVI. anno regni sui pugnavit contra Ceolred regem Merce, filium Edel-
* Wodnesbeorg. redi regis, apud *Wonebirih; adeo autem horribiliter pugnatum est utrinque,
716. ut nesciatur cui clades detestabilior contigerit. Anno vero sequente idem rex Merce Ceolred mundo exiit, et sepultus est apud Lichfeld. Adelbold successit ei in regnum Merce, vir fortis et vehemens, regnavitque victoriose XLI. annis.

† Bed. v. 22. Eodem anno †Egbertus vir venerabilis convertit monachos qui erant in Hii, ad catholicum Pascha et canonicam tonsuram. Cumque cum iisdem conversis moratus fuisset XIII. annis, jam securus de correctione fratrum, ipso die Paschali, cum missarum solemnia celebrasset, exultavit ut videret diem Domini: vidit, et ga-

Eo tempore Naiton rex Pictorum conversus fuerat ad rectum Pascha, literis instructoriis a Ceolfrido abbate directis, qui post Benedictum, de quo prædiximus, rexit monasterium quod est ad ostium Wiri amnis, et juxta amnem Tina, in loco qui vocatur Ingirvum. Scripsit ergo regi literas de Pascha et de tonsura, magna plenas auctoritate: quod autem ille literis persuasit, rex in toto D

* Cwenburg. burh, constituit abbatiam apud Wineburn; quæ data fuerat [2]Egferdo* regi Nord-

725. Ine XXXVI. anno regni ejus exercitum suum in Sudsexe promovit, pugnavitque contra Sudsexas potenter et victoriose, et interfecit in eodem prœlio Ealdbriht,
722. quem prius fugaverat a castro quod vocatur Tantune, quod quidem rex Ine construxerat; sed quia juvenis prædictus Ealdbriht castrum introierat, qui regius hostis erat, Edelburh regina, uxor Ine, castrum cepit armis, captumque de- E

A Ine rex potens et fœlix, relinquens Adelhardo cognato suo regnum, Romam petiit, et ibi peregrinans in terris, stipendia promeruit in cœlis. Hujus autem regis tempore, ut mundi volubilitas quam velox sit ex hinc perpendatur; fuerunt imperatores Justinianus minor, qui regnavit decem annis; Leo, qui regnavit tribus annis; Tiberius, qui regnavit septem annis; Justinianus secundus, qui regnavit sex annis; Philippus, qui regnavit anno et dimidio; Anastasius, qui regnavit tribus annis; Theodosius, qui regnavit uno anno; Leo, qui regnavit novem annis; Constantinus etiam, cujus regni anno tertio Ine Romam profectus est. Apostolici autem in ejus tempore hi fuerunt: Sergius papa, Johannes, alius Johannes, Sisinnius, Constantinus, Gregorius; cujus tempore rex Ine sponte victor cupiditatis exulavit. Reges autem Francorum hi fuerunt ex ordine tem-
B pore ejus: rex Childericus, rex Theodoricus, rex Clodoveus, rex Childebertus, rex Dagobertus. Tempore etiam hujus regis, cœli palatia conscenderunt S. Heddi episcopus Wincestrensis, S. Guthlacus heremita Croilandensis, S. Johannes Eboracensis archiepiscopus. Reges vero contigui Cedwalla et Ine, magni viribus, quod commune fuit eis cum belluis; majores vero sanctitate, quod proprium est angelorum, et hominum sed paucorum, egregie fecerunt: unde beatos dicent eos omnes generationes. Sicut et duo reges contigui Merce fecerunt, scilicet Edelred et Cenred: qui relictis omnibus bonis falsis, verum et summum bonum, quod Deus est, adepti sunt. Reges ergo terræ præsentes imitamini reges prædictos sapientes et beatos, non furiosos et infœlices, quorum distinctionem opera et finis operum in præsenti tractatu demonstrant. Quatuor ergo reges prædicti

Si enim cum illi majora reliquerunt, vos minora relinquere nolueritis, sancti reges prædicti vestræ damnationis judices erunt.

Cum autem juvenis, impar numero regalibus turmis, pondus prœlii diu pertulisset, et ultra non posset, fuga regi regnum reliquit. Rex igitur prædictus in regno confortatus est.

Quo tempore gravissima Sarracenorum lues Gallias et Hispanias late misera cæde vastabat: et ipsi post non multo in eadem provincia dignas suæ perfidiæ pœnas luebant. Eodem quoque anno Osricus rex Nordhumbre vita discedens, regnum quod XI. annis gubernaverat Ceolwlfo reliquit, fratri illius, qui ante se regnaverat tempore Cenredi regis. Rex autem Ceolwlf VIII. annis regnum tenuit. Hic

A.D. 734. Ædelhardi regis anno VIII., [a] Tadwinus archiepiscopus, vir religione et prudentia insignis, sacris quoque literis nobiliter instructus, hominibus ultra non apparuit.

735. Ascendit autem in loco ejus Egbricht, recepto Romæ pallio. Anno eodem venerabilis Beda, semper mente inhabitata, cœli conscendit palatia; qui regia virtute sua et aliorum vitia compescens, cum regibus ipsis inferior non sit, dignissime regum in ordine quasi rex ponatur.

Bed. v. 24. Beda igitur presbyter monasterii quod est ad Wiremudham et Ingirvum, a Benedicto abbate ejusdem loci, ac deinde Ceolfrido educatus et eruditus, semper scripturis studuit; reliquit autem mundum anno LXII. ætatis suæ, senex annis B et sapientia, et plenus dierum non in vano consumptorum, quod apparet in operum suorum numero. Scripsit ergo a principio Genesis usque ad nativitatem Isaac, libros tres: de tabernaculo, et vasis ejus, et vestibus, libros tres: in primam partem Samuelis usque ad mortem Saulis, libros quatuor: de ædificatione Templi allegorice, duos: de libris Regum librum xxx. quæstionum: in Proverbia Salomonis, tres: in Cantica Canticorum, sex: [1] Omeliarum Evangelii, II.: in Esdram et Neemiam, tres: in canticum Abacuc, unum: in librum Tobiæ, unum: Capitula quoque lectionum Veteris Testamenti: in Evangelium Marci, quatuor: in Lucæ, sex: in Apostolum quæcunque in opusculis Augustini invenit, cuncta per ordinem transcripsit: in Actus Apostolorum, duos: in septem Epistolas Canonicas, libros septem: in Apocalypsim, tres: item capitula lectionum C in totum Novum Testamentum excepto Evangelio: item librum Epistolarum ad diversos: item de Historiis sanctorum: item de vita S. v. 23. De statu autem ecclesiastico in suo tempore ita idem Beda ait: In præsenti Cantuariensis archiepiscopus est Tadwine, Rovensis episcopus Aldulfus, Londoniensis Ingualdus: super Orientales Anglos sunt Edbertus et Hedhelac episcopi: [1] provinciæ Occidentalium Saxonum Daniel et Forthere episcopi: super Merce D est Aldwinus episcopus: super gentem quæ ad occidentem Sabrinæ amnis habitat, est [2] Walestod episcopus: in provincia Huicciorum est Wilfridus episcopus: in provincia Lindisfarorum Chinebertus: Vecta insula ad Danielem episcopum Wentæ pertinet; et provincia Australium Saxonum, jam aliquot annis sine episcopo, eundem colit. A posteritatis literis mandare studuimus. Namque sicut in prologo Historiæ Anglorum doctissimus Beda testatur, ‘ Vera lex historiæ est simpliciter id, quod fama vulgante colligitur, scribendo posteris notificare.’

Ædelhardi regis anno decimo, Nothelmus archiepiscopus accepit pallium a papa: nec longe post Forthere episcopus ⁂ et *Frigedida regina, relictis possessionibus splendidis et deliciarum voluptatibus, Romam profecti sunt. Quod iis temporibus plures de gente Anglorum nobiles, ignobiles, clerici, laici, viri, ac fœminæ, certatim facere consueverunt. Eo etiam tempore Edilwaldus Lindisfarnensis episcopus vivendi finem fecit; post quem episcopatus honorem Chenewlf adeptus est. Nec segnius venerabilis Acca presbyter, et Haugustaldensis postea præsul, corporeis rebus exutus est. A.D. 736. 737. ⁂ Wintoniæ. * Frithogitha.

B Ædelhardi regis anno XI. Ceolwlf rex nobilissimus Nordhumbre nobilissime fecit. Ceolwlf namque fuit filius Cutha, filii Cuthwine, filii Ledwold, filii Egwold, filii Aldelm, filii Ocche, filii Idæ regis. Ceolwlf igitur cum sæpe viventi Bedæ colloqueretur, et sæpe ante mortem ejus, et post mortem, Historiam ejus ad se scriptam oculis adhiberet, cœpit diligenter regum singulorum facta et finem secum discutere, viditque luce clarius regna terrena et res humanas cum labore perquiri, cum timore possideri, cum dolore amitti. Et quia quibusdam minus callidis, vel ætate teneris, videntibus temporalia pulchra et delectabilia, cum audierint prædicari ea deserenda et temnenda, videtur [1]frivolum et contra rationem, quia nondum perceperunt quomodo mordeant mundi divitiæ, quomodo ad nihilum deveniant, et fructum tandem nullum nisi seram pœnitudinem generent: 737.

C horum nihil regem callentem et expertum impediebat. Senserat enim in seipso regnum sibi cum labore fuisse perquisitum, cum timore possessum: noluit vero cum dolore amittere. Sponte igitur divitiarum non servus, sed dominus, quasi magnus viles abjecit. Maxime autem accenderat eum quod cum pueri vel mulieres, vulgusque vel etiam ditiores prosilirent ad eum conspiciendum et ejus beatitudinem mirandam, ipse horribilibus curis necis et proditionis et multimodæ calamitatis intus cruciabatur, et animo et corpore decoquebatur. Cumque alii judicarent eum beatissimum, ipse qui solus animi sui secreta noverat, judicabat se miserrimum. Quum ergo parvo spatio, id est, octo annis regnasset, permaximum visum est ei, et valde anxiatus est quod tanto tempore vitam suam amiserit, curis [2]et decipulis vanis et [3]disciplinis fragilibus deditam; reliquum [3]autem

D saltem vitæ suæ non erroneæ stultitiæ sed sapientiæ et utilitati propriæ dicare certavit. Exemplumque assumens ex Historia beati viri prædicta, sex reges fortissimos, vir vere fortissimus prosecutus est: scilicet Edelredum regem Merce, et Cenredum successorem ejus; nec non Cedwallam regem Westsexe, et Ine successorem ejus; sed et Sigebertum regem Estangle, qui monachus effectus est, quem postea Penda occidit; et Sebbi regem Estsexe, qui monachus effectus diem jucundum mortis suæ prævidit; vidit et gavisus est. Isti non devorarunt substantias suas cum meretricibus, sed euntes cum dolore, semina sua seminaverunt, ut venientes veniant cum exultatione, suos Deo manipulos afferentes. Complevit ergo Ceolwlfus hebdomadam regum perfectorum; et habitu monachali suscepto, capiti ejus corona de lapide pretioso imposita est a Domino. 738.

E Edbricto vero cognato suo regni sceptra reliquit. Edbrictus namque fuit filius *Eccæ, filii Ledwoldi, regnavitque XXI. annis. In hoc regum commercio ✕ Edelbald rex superbus Mercensis, alterius vir animi, et ideo aliusmodi deditus fini, spreta sanctificatione, gladiisque jura postponens, introivit Nordhumbre, et cum non esset qui ei resistere posset, præda arrepta quantam voluit secum ad suos transvexit. * Eata. ✕ v. Chr. Sax. 737.

Ædelhardus rex decimo quarto anno regni sui mortuus est, et regnavit Cudred cognatus ejus pro eo super Westsexe, sexdecim annis. Edelbaldus vero rex superbus sæpe eum nunc seditionibus, nunc bellis affligebat. Fortuna 741.

A.D. 743. Cudredus anno regni sui quarto, et Edelbald rex Merce tunc simul pacificati, pugnaverunt, viribus conjunctis, contra Brittannorum undique congestorum inⱶ v. Chr. Sax. numerabilem multitudinem. Cumque reges fortissimi, ⱶexercitusque eorum clarissimus, inter se divisi, hinc et inde certatim, et quasi ex invidia Brittannorum phalanges percutientes sternerent, nequierunt tantum bellandi onus perferre Brittanni. Fugam igitur eligentes, dederunt terga percutientibus, et spolia sequentibus. Reges autem victoriosi remeantes ad sua, triumphalibus gaudiis 744. suscepti sunt. Anno vero sequenti obiit Wilfrid, qui fuerat episcopus [2]triginta B annis apud [b]Eboracum. Anno vero eodem visum est signum mirabile in cœlo; stellæ namque hac et illac discurrebant per aera, quod omnibus intuentibus
745. magno fuit monstro. Anno vero hunc sequente decessit [c]Daniel, quadrage-
746. simo [3]tertio anno ex quo fuit episcopus. Anno etiam hos prædictos sequente, rex Selred vitæ ademptus est; scripta namque veterum quod hoc anno occisus fuerit dicunt; quomodo autem vel a quo occisus fuerit non dicunt.

748. Cudredi anno nono, occisus est ×Kinric filius ejus, armorumque decus 'debel-
× v. Chr. Sax. latorque ferarum;' ætate tener, sed armis acer, annis parvus, sed vigore magnus: qui cum successibus suis instaret fortunamque Martis nimis sollicitaret, immoderationem animi cædes militari seditione illata punivit. Eodem anno obiit Edbrit rex Centensis, qui regni infula XXII. annis potitus fuerat. C

750. Cudredus anno undecimo regni sui pugnavit contra Edelhun audacissimum
ϒ v. Chr. Sax. consulem ϒ; qui seditionem movens in dominum, licet numero militum longe domino debilior esset, diu tamen et gravissime Martio perstitit in campo: probitasque consulis excelsa loco millium fuit. Cumque ei jam pene victoria lætis applauderet alis, infixum tandem corpori vulnus, et animo perjurium, justam regis causam triumphare compulerunt.

752. Cudredus decimo tertio anno, cum jam regis Edelbaldi superbas exactiones
+ v. Chr. Sax. et insolentiam ferre non posset +, occurrit ei cum legionibus vexillatis apud Bereford, omni spe vivendi postposita libertati. Adduxit autem secum Edelhun prædictum consulem jam sibi concordem, cujus viribus fretus et consilio, belli discrimen ingredi potuit. Edelbaldus vero rex regum cum Mercensibus D
Centenses adduxerat, Orientalesque Saxones et Anglos, copiasque multiplices. Aciebus igitur dispositis cum in directum tendentes appropinquarent, Edelhun præcedens Westsexenses, regis insigne, draconem scilicet aureum gerens, transforavit vexilliferum hostilem. Unde clamore orto, pars Cudredi valde confortata est; statimque acies sibi invicem offenderunt. Ergo tonitruum belli, scilicet offensionis armorum et sonitus ictuum clamorisque cadentium terribiliter exarsit, bellum maximum et inæstimabile incipitur: quod vel Mercenses, vel eos Westsexe, usque in longam posteritatem vincenti supponeret. Videres igitur acies loricis crispantes, galeis acutas, lanceis hirsutas, vexillis depictas, auro resplendentes, parvo tempore sanguine perfusas, lanceis cassas, ruina dissipatas, cerebris aspersas, visu horrendas. Congregantes autem se ad vexilla utrinque E procaces et fortissimi, gladiis et securibus Amazonicis rem agentes, acies aciebus funeste irruebant. Memoria fugæ nulla, spes victoriæ utrinque certa: Mercenses superbiæ tumor invitabat, Westsexas servitutis horror accendebat. At ubicunque consul prædictus aciebus se infigebat, via ruinarum patebat, dum securis ejus timendissima, modo fulminis, corpora finderet et arma. Rex fortissimus autem Edelbaldus quacunque ruebat strages hostilis fiebat, dum gladio

A ejus invictissimo essent arma pro veste, ossa pro carne. Cum igitur, quasi duo ignes diversis in partibus impositi obstantia quæque consumerent, contigit ut sibi obviam rex et consul venirent. Uterque vero alteri terribilis, corpore infrenduit, dextram excussit, se in armis collegit, et ictibus [1]immensis arma obstantissima pares lacessunt. Deus autem, qui superbis resistit, a quo robur, fortitudo et magnanimitas procedit, gratiæ suæ regi Edelbaldo terminum posuit, animoque regis confidentiam solitam dempsit. Cum igitur nec animum suum nec vires ipse recognosceret, pugnantibus adhuc suis, a Domino omnipotenti territus, fugam primus incepit. Cudredus quartodecimo anno regni sui pugnavit contra Brittannos; qui victori regis Edelbaldi, ut prædictum est, frustra resistentes, cito fugam inceperunt, clademque maximam sine hostium detrimento digne pertulerunt. Anno sequente Cudredus rex magnus et excelsus, tot prosperitatibus et victoriis potitus, mortis inclementia [2]lætitiam finivit. 753. 754.

Cum autem omnibus modis male tractaret eos, legesque vel ad commodum suum depravaret, vel pro commodo suo devitaret, Cumbra consul ejus nobilissimus, prece totius populi querimonias eorum regi fero intimavit. et nequitiæ esset, congregati sunt proceres et populus totius regni, et provida deliberatione et unanimi consensu omnium expulsus est a regno. Kinewlf vero juvenis egregius de regia stirpe oriundus, electus est in regem. Sigebertus vero rex fugatus a suis, non minora meritis metuens, in sylvam magnam quæ voca-
D tur Andredeswald fugiens, se abscondit; ubi quidam porcarius Cumbræ consulis, nequiter, ut diximus, interfecti, regem absconsum invenit, inventum cognovit, cognitum, domini sui vindex, occidit. Ecce manifestum Domini judicium, ecce quomodo Domini justitia non solum in futuro seculo, verum etiam in isto digna meritis recompensat. Eligens namque reges improbos ad contritionem promeritam subjectorum, alium diu insanire permittit ut et populus pravus diu vexetur, et rex pravior in æternum acrius crucietur, veluti Edelbaldum regem Merce præfatum: alium vero cita disterminatione præoccupat, ne populus suus nimia tyrannide oppressus non respiret, et immoderata principis nequitia, citissimas ultionis æternæ debito pœnas incurrat, veluti Sigebertum hunc, de quo tractamus; qui quanto nequior extitit, tanto vilius a subulco interfectus, a dolore
E in dolorem transiit. Unde Domini justitiæ æternæ laus et gloria nunc et semper. Amen.

A Egbricht, anno gratiæ DCCC., octavus numero decem regum fortissimorum quos in secundo libro prærogativa singularis excellentiæ notavimus, regnavit XXXVII. annis et sex mensibus super Westsexe; quem juvenili quidem ætate Brictric præcessor ejus, et Offa rex Merce ab hac terra fugaverant: exulavit igitur III. annis cum rege Francorum, nobiliter tamen et egregie. Defuncto autem rege prædicto, cum reversus regnum suscepisset, eodem die Edelmund consul recessit a Wicum, et veniens Kinemeresford, obviavit Wicstan consuli cum Wilsatis: et ilico simul pugnaverunt; et ambo consules occisi sunt, et Wilsates vicerunt. Quarto post hunc anno decessit *Edelred archiepiscopus Centensis, et Wlfred loco suo sacratus est. Inde vero post biennium, Cudred rex Centensis vitali privatus est aura. Anno vero sequenti Hardulf rex Nordhumbre fugatus est a B regno suo.

Egbricht XIV. anno regni sui prædavit in regnis Brittonum ab Oriente usque ad Occidentem, nec fuit qui ejus immanitati vel conaretur resistere. Anno autem huic proximo, Carolus rex Francorum et imperator Romanus vita exierat. Anno autem huic proximo, S. Leo papa venerabilis corpus deposuit, et Stephanus ei successit: Stephano vero Paschalis. Post parvum vero spatium tempore Cenwlf rex Merce morti datus est. Post quem regnavit Ceolwlf in loco ejus: sed tertio ab hoc anno regnum amisit, et Beornwlf sibi illud occupavit.

Egbricht XXIV. anno regni sui commisit prœlium contra Beornwlf regem Merce apud Ellendune; unde dicitur: 'Ellendune rivus cruore rubuit, ruina restitit, fætore tabuit.' Ibi autem, maximo gentis exterminio utrinque peracto,
C Egbricht victor funestus extitit. Inde vero successus urgens suos, et fortunæ instans, misit Adelwlf filium suum, qui postea rex devenit, Alcstan[*] episcopum et Wlfard consulem cum magno exercitu in Cent; qui fugaverunt regem Baldred ultra Tamesim. Tunc ergo populos Cantiæ, et Sudriæ, et Sudsexe, et Estsexe rex Egbricht in dominium suscepit, quos prius [a]cognatus suus Pren injuste amiserat. Hoc etiam anno rex Estangle cum gente sua recepit Egbricht regem in patronum: et postea hoc eodem anno Estangli occiderunt Beornwlf regem Merce; cui successit Ludecen. Eodem anno maximum prœlium fuerat inter Brittones et gentem Davenescire apud Gavelford; ubi multa millia utrinque corruerunt. Anno vero proximo Ludecen rex Merce et quinque consules cum eo occisi sunt.

Egbricht XXVII. anno regni sui fugavit Wilaf regem Merce, qui regi Ludecen
D successerat, regnumque sibi acquisivit. Cum ergo obtineret omne regnum ex australi parte Humbre, duxit exercitum contra Nordhumbras apud Dore. Illi vero regi magno devote concordiam offerentes et subjectionem, pacifice separati sunt. Anno vero sequente rex Egbricht, misericordia motus, concessit Wilaf ut regnum Merce teneret sub eo. Et inde rex Egbricht duxit exercitum in Nordwales, et eam sibi patrocinio armorum subdidit. Anno vero hos sequente, Wlfredo archiepiscopo Centensi defuncto Ceolnod successit.

Egbrichti regis anno XXXIII. redierunt Daci in Angliam, XXXVIII. anno postquam apud *Donemutham victi, et fugati sunt. Primum igitur prædaverunt Sepeige. Rex vero Egbricht pugnavit cum exercitu suo contra eos, qui triginta et quinque maximis puppibus advecti fuerant anno sequente apud Carrum, et ibi
E Dacenses alea belli prævaluerunt: et duo episcopi scilicet Herefert et Wigfert, et duo duces, scilicet Dudda et Osmod perierunt. Anno vero sequente venit exercitus Dacorum navalis in Westwales: et Walenses cum Dacis coadunati sunt, et contra regem Egbricht insurrexerunt. Rex vero secunda usus fortuna, Dacos et Walenses contritione contrivit, et triumphose fortissimos fugavit apud [1]Hengistesdune. Anno his proximo Egbricht, rex et monarcha Brittanniæ, fatis concessit. [2]Regnorum, quæ in manu propria tenebat, [×]filios fecit hæredes: Edelwlfum

HENRICI HUNTENDUNENSIS HISTORIÆ ANGLORUM

LIB. V.[2]

PROLOGUS.

E IN hujus historiæ principio, quinque plagis percussam diximus Brittanniam: quarum de quarta, quæ per Dacos facta est, præsenti libro tractabimus: hæc siquidem longe immanior, longe crudelior cæteris fuit. Romani namque sibi Brittanniam brevi subjugaverunt et lege dominantium splendide rexerunt. Picti vero et Scotti crebras irruptiones ex boreali parte Brittanniæ faciebant, sed nec eam ex omni parte aggrediebantur, nec nunquam perniciose repulsi tempore non pauco ab invasione cessabant. Saxones autem pro viribus paulatim terram bello capessentes, captam obtinebant, obtentam ædificabant, ædificatam legibus regebant. Nec non et Normanni cito et breviter terram subdentes sibi, victis vitam et libertatem legesque antiquas regni jure concesserunt; de A quibus in antea dicendum est. Daci vero terram undique creberrime, diutissime insilientes et assilientes, eam non obtinere sed prædari studebant, et omnia destruere, non dominari cupiebant. Qui si quandoque vincerentur, nihil [1]proficiebant victores,' cum alibi classis et exercitus major insurgeret: miroque modo cum reges Anglorum in orientalem partem contra eos pugnaturi tenderent, antequam hostilibus turmis appropinquarent, advolabat nuntius dicens: ' Rex quonam tendis? Classis Paganorum innumerabilis ex australi parte Angliæ littora occupavit, urbesque et villas depopulans, omnia cædi tradit et igni.' Eadem die accurrebat alius dicens: ' Rex quo fugam capessis? Terribilis exercitus in occidentali parte Angliæ appulit, contra quos nisi festinus revertaris, te fugisse existimantes, cæde et flamma a tergo persequentur.' Adveniebat eadem die, B vel crastina, nuntius alius, qui diceret: ' Quo tenditis proceres? Daci borealibus plagis appulsi, jam domos vestras combusserunt, jam res vestras asportarunt, jam pueros sursum jactatos lancearum acumine susceperunt, jam conjuges vestras quasdam vi oppresserunt, quasdam secum abduxerunt.' Sic [2]tot rumorum miserabili plaga percussi, rex et populus manibus et corde dissolvebantur et tabescebant. Igitur nec cum vincerent, lætitia ut [3]assolet erat eis ulla, nec spes salutis aliqua. Cur autem tanto furore Dei justitia in eos exarserit, causa hæc est. In primitiva Angliæ ecclesia religio clarissime splenduit, ita ut reges et reginæ, duces et episcopi, vel monachatum vel exilium, ut præmonstravimus, appeterent. Processu vero temporum adeo omnis virtus in eis emarcuit, ut gentem nullam proditione et nequitia sibi parem esse permitterent: quod maxime apparet in C historia regum Nordhumbre. Sicut autem in regalibus gestis impietas eorum descripta est, ita uniuscujusque ordinis et officii homines dolo et proditione insistebant. Nec erat dedecori nisi pietas; et causa dignissima cædis innocentia. Immisit ergo Dominus omnipotens, velut examina apium, gentes crudelissimas, quæ nec ætati nec sexui parcerent, scilicet Dacos cum Gothis, Norwagenses cum Suathedis, Wandalos cum Fresis; qui ab exordio regni Edelwlfi regis usque ad adventum Normannorum Willielmi regis ductu, ducentis triginta annis terram hanc desolaverunt. Qui etiam nonnunquam ex affinitate Brittanniæ, Dei vindices et stimuli, Galliam pro meritis crudeliter invaserunt. Sed jam ad historiæ ordinem, his explanatis, redeundum est.

A.D. 837. ADELWLF primo anno regni sui, cum ipse adversus hostes prædictos in una parte regni sui persisteret, undique confluente Paganorum multitudine, misit Wlfhard consulem cum parte exercitus ad debellandum Dacos qui cum [4]XXXIII. navibus apud Hamtonam appulerant: ubi, magna strage hostium patrata, clarissime triumphavit. Misit etiam rex [5]Adelwlf Edelhelm consulem ut pugnaret contra alium exercitum apud Port cum exercitu Westsexe. Cumque diu conflixissent, occiso prædicto consule, Daci victores extiterunt. Anno vero
838. sequente Herebertus consul pugnavit contra eos apud Mercsware, Dacisque vincentibus, suisque fugientibus, occisus est. Eodemque [6]anno perrexit Paganorum exercitus per orientales partes Angliæ, scilicet per Lindesie et Estangle

Adelwlf decimo sexto anno regni sui et Edelbaldus filius suus, congregatis omnibus copiis, pugnaverunt cum maximo exercitu, qui cum CC.L. navibus appulerant ad Temesmuth, urbesque præclaras et multis inclitas annis, Londoniam scilicet et Cantuariam, fregerunt, et fugaverunt Britwlf regem Merce victum cum exercitu suo, qui nunquam postea viguit; cui successit Burhred in regnum Merce: ingredientesque Sudreiam regalibus cuneis obviaverunt apud Achlea. Eodem anno Edelstan rex Cantiæ et dux Ealhere navali prœlio contra Dacos pugnaverunt apud Sandwic: et magna strage hostium facta, novem puppes eorum ceperunt; aliæ vero fugerunt. Consul quoque nomine Cheorl cum gente Davenescyre pugnavit contra Paganos, multosque percussit, et victor extitit apud *Wienorne. Hic igitur annus Anglorum genti fortunatus extitit. A.D. 865. Adelbricti regis anno quinto, venit exercitus Paganorum apud Tenet; quibus cum Centenses causa induciarum pecuniam promisissent, infra inducias, nocte quadam improvise proruperunt, et Cantiam ex orientali parte deprædati sunt. Eodem anno Adelbrictus cum regnasset super Westsexe quinque annis, 866. super Cantiam vero decem annis, mortem gustavit. Post quem Adelred frater ejus regni suscepit insignia. Hoc autem anno venit maximus exercitus Paganorum in terram Anglorum, quorum duces fuerunt Hinguar et Ubba, viri strenuissimi sed crudelissimi: Hinguar erat ingentis ingenii, Ubba vero fortitudinis admirandæ. Perendinantes igitur in hyeme in Estangle, inducias et equos ab iis acceperunt, et quietis gratia fortitudini suæ ad tempus pepercerunt. A

867. Adelredi regis anno secundo, venit exercitus prædictus, quem Hinguar et Ubba rexerunt, in Nordhumbre apud Eoverwic; eratque inter gentem patriæ illius, solita proditione, magna discordia, quia regem suum Osbrict abjecerant, et alium degenerem, nomine Ellan, acceperant: ideoque tarde concordati, congregato exercitu, venerunt ad Eoverwic, in qua erat Paganus exercitus; fractoque muro intus irruentes, cum eis pugnaverunt, et ibi occisus est uterque rex Osbrict et Ælla, et innumera multitudo gentis Nordhumbre intra urbem et extra: et qui residui fuerunt, inducias cum Paganis ceperunt. Hoc anno obiit Alcstan episcopus; sepultus apud Scyreburne, ubi fuit episcopus quinquaginta annis. B

868. Adelredus rex, anno tertio regni sui, ivit Snotingham cum fratre suo Alfredo in auxilium Burhredi regis Merce; exercitus namque prædictus venerat Snotingham, et ibi in hyeme fuit. Congregatis igitur omnibus copiis Anglorum, cum suos obsessos et viribus impares Hinguarus videret, vulpeculari astutia, verbisque 869. delinitis, inducias ab Anglis impetravit: rediensque Eboracum, ibi crudeliter uno 870. anno permansit. S. Eadmundus anno [1]Dominicæ Incarnationis DCCC.LXX., Adelredi regis anno quinto, cœli palatia conscendit. Exercitus namque prædictus Hinguari regis veniens per Merce ad Tedforde, ibi in hyeme permansit, clademque maximam genti miserrimæ intulit. Rex vero Eadmundus magis eligens mortem perferre, quam desolationem suorum videre, captus est ab iis, corpusque sanctissimum sagittis impiorum ad stipitem undique transverberatus: Dei vero clementia multa super eo signavit miracula. C

871. Adelredi regis anno sexto, venit exercitus novus et maximus, quasi fluvius inundans et omnia secum volvens, in Westsexe usque ad Redingum; præ nimia vero multitudine cum simul non possent procedere, diversis turmis et locis gradiebantur. Duces eorum autem fuerunt duo reges [a]Basreg et Aldene. Itaque post tres dies dux Edelwlf duobus obvians consulibus exercitus apud Englafeld, pugnavit cum eis et vicit, et unum occidit, qui vocabatur Sidrac. Et post quatuor dies rex Edelred et frater suus cum magna gente venientes Redingum, pugnaverunt cum exercitu; et multi ceciderunt ex utraque parte; et Daci victores fuerunt. Et post quatuor dies iterum pugnaverunt rex Adelred et frater suus Alfred contra totum exercitum apud Escesdune, qui fuit divisus in duas partes: ex una parte fuerunt Basreg et Alfdene reges Pagani, contra quos pugnavit rex Edelred, et occidit regem Basreg: ex alia vero parte fuerunt Pagani consules, contra quos pugnavit Alfred frater regis, et occidit quinque consules; Sidroc senem et Sidroc juvenem et Osbearn et Frena et Harolde: et exercitus fugatus est, et multa millia occisa sunt; duravitque prœlium usque ad noctem. Iterum post quatuordecim dies Adelred rex et frater suus Alfred pugnaverunt cum exercitu apud Basingum; et Daci vicerunt. Iterum post duos menses rex Adelred et frater suus Alfred pugnaverunt cum exercitu apud Meredune; et multi ex utraque parte ceciderunt, et Daci diu fugati in fine vicerunt. Ibi occisus est [b]Edmundus episcopus et multi proceres Angliæ. Post hoc prœlium venit in æstate magnus exercitus apud Redingum. Hoc anno obiit Adelred rex post D E

Tunc Alfred frater suus, filius Adelwlfi, regnavit super Westsexe; et postea circa unum mensem pugnavit cum pauca gente apud [1]Wiltune contra exercitum, et diu fugavit eum; et postea Daci vicerunt. Hoc anno fuerunt novem prœlia campestria contra exercitum in regno ex australi parte Temese; præter invasiones quas Alfred frater ejus et duces regis sæpe fecerunt. Et hoc anno sunt occisi rex unus et novem comites; et proceres Westsexe ceperunt inducias cum exercitu [2]Paganorum.

Alfredi regis anno primo, exercitus venit Londoniam a Reding, et ibi per hyemem fuit; et Mercenses ceperunt inducias cum exercitu. Secundo vero anno, rex Haldene duxit exercitum eundem hyematum in Lindesei apud Torche- A.D. 872. 873.

Tunc vero congregati sunt cum eo tres alii reges, Godrun et *Oscetin et [3]Anwend, et facti sunt invincibiles; et Burhred regem, qui regnaverat XXII. annis super Merce, trans mare fugaverunt. Rex autem Burhred Romam perrexit, ibique moriens, sepultus est in ecclesia S. Mariæ apud [a]Anglecnescolam. Daci autem tradiderunt regnum Merce Ceolwlfo cuidam insipienti regi, ad servandum ad opus eorum. Ipse autem juravit, et obsides iis dedit, se redditurum illis regnum quandocunque vellent, et seipsum præsto esse cum omnibus quos adducere posset in auxilium eorum. 874. * Oscytel.

C dene rex cum parte quadam exercitus perrexit in Nordhumbre et fuit in hyeme juxta Tinam, et saisivit terram et divisit eam suis, et coluerunt eam duobus annis; et sæpe prædavit super Pictos. Tres vero reges Dacorum prædicti venerunt cum majori parte exercitus ad Grantebrige, et ibi uno permanserunt anno. Hoc anno pugnavit rex Alfred navali prœlio contra VII. puppes, quarum unam cepit, ceteras fugavit. Anno vero sequente, exercitus trium regum venit apud Werham 876. in Westsexe. Rex vero Alfredus cepit inducias cum exercitu, acceptis ab eo obsidibus ex nobilioribus eorum. Ipsi autem juraverunt ei, quod nunquam alicui antea fecerant, se cito exituros a regno illius; et in proxima nocte furtim recedens exercitus qui equos habebant, perrexerunt Exanceastre. Hoc anno Rollo cum suis Normanniam venit. Anno vero sequente exercitus perjurus venit a 877.

D Werham ad Exanceastre, et navalis exercitus circum remigans tempestate obrutus est, perieruntque C.XX. puppes apud Swanawic. Rex autem Alfred cum magna gente secutus est exercitum, qui equos habebant, nec eos consequi potuit ante Exanceastre. Tunc exercitus tradidit illi quotquot obsides ipse volebat, et pacem tenere juravit; et bene tenuit. Tunc exercitus ivit in Merce, et partem regni tenuit, partem dedit Ceolwlfo.

Tres igitur reges venerunt Cipenham in Westsexe cum mira multitudine quæ nuper a Dacia venerat: operientesque terram quasi locustæ, cum nullus eis posset resistere, occupaverunt eam sibi. Pars igitur populi trans mare fugit, pars Alfredum regem secuta est, qui cum paucis se in nemoribus abscondebat, pars vero subdita est hostibus. Cum autem rex Alfredus jam nec terram haberet, nec spem habendi; respexit in reliquias plebis suæ Dominus. Venit namque frater regis Haldene cum XXIII. navibus in Westsexe in Davenscyre. Gens autem regis Alfredi occidit eum et DCCC.XL. homines exercitus sui; captumque est ibi vexillum eorum quod vocabatur Raven. Ergo rex Alfredus, hoc successu confortatus, paravit firmitatem quandam apud Ethelingeie; et sic fretus, pugnavit sæpe cum Tunc exercitus tradidit regi obsides, et juravit se recessurum a regno suo. Promisit etiam quod rex eorum baptizaretur; et factum est: venit [3]enim Godrun princeps regum eorum ad Alfredum regem, et baptizatus est. A erunt castrum apud [1]Awldre*. Interim venit Hasteng cum LXXX. navibus in portum Tamesis, et paravit castrum apud Middletune: postea vero regi Alfredo juramenta fecit, ne in aliquo ei noceret. Rex ergo ipsi, et uxori suæ, et filiis multa dona dederat; quorum alterum rex ipse in baptismate tenuerat, alterum vero Edredus dux magnus. Regi autem Alfredo venit nuntius dicens: 'Centum puppes venerunt a Nordhumbre et Estangle, et obsident Exanceastre.' Rex igitur dum illuc tendit, exercitus qui erat apud Awldre invasit Estsexe, et castrum fecit apud Scobrih: indeque permeantes,

B venerunt usque ad Budingtune juxta Savernam, et ibi castrum fecerunt; unde tamen bello repulsi, fugerunt ad castrum suum in Estsexe. Illi autem qui obsederant Exanceastre, audito adventu regis, ad puppes fugerunt, et in mari prædantes manebant. Quartus exercitus venit eodem anno a Nordhumbre usque in Legecestriam[A]; sed ibi obsessi sunt, et tanta fame afflicti sunt, quod etiam equos [A] Cestriam.

portuno dedit suis Dominus omnipotens. Cum ergo fugissent Daci ad castrum, fecit rex aquam Luye findi in tria brachia, ne puppes suas per eam reducere possent. Quod Daci comperientes, relictis puppibus, perrexerunt usque ad [a]Quadruge juxta Savernam, et ibi castrum fecerunt, et ibidem hyemaverunt; commendatis uxoribus suis in Estangle. Rex vero cum exercitu persecutus est eos: at Londonienses puppes Dacorum relictas quasdam ad Londoniam duxerunt, quasdam combusserunt. Hi igitur his tribus annis prædictis, scilicet ex quo Daci ad portum Limene appulerunt, Anglis multa mala fecerunt, sed et ipsi multo plura

De multis vero conflictibus unum pertractabo, quia insoliti fuit eventus. Rex Alfredus naves longas, scilicet XL. remorum, vel plurium, fecit parari contra puppes Dacorum prædictas: sex autem puppes Dacorum, cum in quodam littore Davenscyre starent, præoccupaverunt eas novem regiæ naves. Quod Daci videntes, tres rates contra eos commoverunt, aliæ namque tres stabant in littore immobiles, Nereo scilicet retracto. Sex igitur puppes Anglorum pugnaverunt contra tres [2]puppes Dacorum. Tres vero reliquæ progressæ sunt ad

Vicit tamen numerus major, duæque rates Dacorum captæ sunt, tertia vero aufugit, omnibus tamen occisis qui inerant, præter quinque. Hoc autem perpetrato, cum ad naves sociorum, quæ juxta puppes Dacorum ex adverso littore erant, reverti vellent, exsiccatæ sunt: quod Daci videntes, egressi de tribus puppibus pugnabant contra gentem Anglorum quæ erat in tribus ratibus. A.D. 901. Alfredus rex, cum regnasset viginti octo annis et dimidio super totam Angliam, præter illas partes quæ subditæ erant Dacis, mortis sensit aculeum.
De cujus regimine laborioso, et inextricabili vexatione, versifice proloqui dignum B duximus:

'Nobilitas innata tibi probitatis honorem
Armipotens Alfrede dedit, probitasque laborem.
Perpetuumque labor nomen: cui mixta dolori
Gaudia semper erant, spes semper mixta timori.
Si modo victor eras, ad crastina bella pavebas:
Si modo victus eras, ad crastina bella parabas.
Cui vestes sudore jugi, cui sica cruore
Tincta jugi, quantum sit onus regnare, probarunt.
Non fuit immensi quisquam per climata mundi,
Cui tot in adversis vel respirare liceret, C
Nec tamen aut ferro contritus ponere ferrum,
Aut gladio potuit vitæ finisse labores.
Jam post transactos vitæ regnique dolores,
Christus ei sit vera quies, sceptrumque perenne.'

Winburna permanens januis clausis, dicebat quia ibidem persisteret aut occum-

Edwardus rex vicesimo [a]sexto anno regni sui, exhæreditavit ex dominio Merce totius Alfwen *sororem Adelfled, quæ postea regnum illud tenuit, magis curans an utiliter vel inutiliter [1]ageret, quam an juste vel injuste. Postea vero construxit burgum apud Glademuthan. Nec longe post migravit a corpore apud Ferandune, et Alfwarde filius ejus cito post patrem defecit apud Oxineforde; et sepulti sunt apud Wincestre. Nec multo ante [2]Sidric rex Nordhumbre occiderat fratrem suum Nigellum; quo scelere patrato, rex Reginaldus conquisiverat B Eoverwic. A.D. 920. *filiam. 921. 924. 921. 923.

Adelstan filius Edwardi electus est rex in Merce, et sacratus apud Kingstun: qui regno quidem parum vixit, sed clare gestis non parum splenduit; qui a fortissimis lacessiri, sed bello nunquam potuit vinci. Curriculo siquidem sequentis anni, Gudfridum regem Dacorum, patrem Reginaldi prædicti regis, bello lacessitus, bello repulit, repulsum fugavit, fugatum perdidit. Nec multo post adversa percussus fortuna, fratrem suum Edwinum, magni vigoris juvenem, et bonæ indolis, maris fluctibus flebiliter amisit. At vero rex Adelstan, his transactis, gentem perfidam Dacorum, et infidam Scottorum in exterminium traducere disponens, confertissimum duxit exercitum terra et mari in Nordhumbram et Scotiam; cui cum non esset qui resistere inciperet, vel qui resistere persisteret, ubique terrarum C progrediens et pro libitu prædans, cum triumphali rediit lauro. 924. 927. 933.

Adelstan rex anno gratiæ [b]DCCCC.XLV., regni vero sui anno quarto, commisit prœlium ad Bruneburh, prœliorum maximum, contra Anlaf regem Hiberniæ, qui vires suas gente Scottorum et Dacorum in Anglia conversantium adauxerat. De cujus prœlii magnitudine Anglici scriptores quasi carminis modo proloquentes, et extraneis tam verbis quam figuris usi, translatione fida donandi sunt, ut pene de verbo in verbum eorum interpretantes eloquium, ex gravitate verborum gravitatem actuum et animorum gentis illius condiscamus. 937.

Ibi viri jacuerunt multi a Dacia oriundi, telis perforati, sub scutis lanceati, simul et Scotti bello fatigati. Gens vero Westsexe, tota simul die, prius electi, post indefessi, invisæ gentis globos straverunt; viri elegantes, hastas cædebant, viri Mercenses acuta jacula mittebant, duro manus ludo. Edredus frater Eadmundi regis, * filiusque regis Adelstani fratri suo successit in regno : et eodem anno Nordhumbras jugum dominationis suæ ferre nolentes, cum valida armatorum manu petiit, totamque sibi conquisivit. quod tamen juramentum diu non duravit.

949. Edredo namque reverso in australes regni sui partes, Anlaf, qui a regno Nordhumbre aufugatus fuerat, rediit cum magna classe in Nordhumbram, et cum gaudio susceptus est a suis, et regno iterum restitutus: quod in fortitudine tenuit

A humbre; gens namque patriæ illius dominum diu non perferens unum, tertio anno regni sui Hyrc filium Haraldi ut leviter acceperat, leviter abjecerat, et regem Edredum ad se sponte vocatum regni sede reponunt.

Edredus rex eximius et invictus, cum super omnes partes Angliæ tandem rex solus regnasset, fatis exigentibus, hominem exuit, octavo anno postquam diadematis insigni sublimatus fuerat. A.D. 955. 28 Nov.

Edwi filius regis Edmundi super universam Angliam post hunc regnavit. Edmundus namque *filius Adelstani probissimi regis, filii Edwardi fortunati principis, filii Alfredi laboriosi ducis, filii Edelwlfi magni patris, filii Egbricti, qui regnum Westsexe maxime primus in sublime provexit, et in monarchiam suæ fortitudinis diligentia protelavit, duos filios habuit; Edwi primogenitum, et Edgar B minorem, quos secundum ordinem nativitatis ordo regnandi disposuit. Secundo autem anno regni ejus Wlstan archiepiscopus^ vitali privatus est aura. Rex autem prædictus Edwi non illaudabiliter regni infulam tenuit. 956.

* frater.

^ Eboracensis.

Edwi rex anno regni sui quinto, cum in principio [1]regni ejus decentissime floreret, prospera et lætabunda exordia mors immatura perrupit. 959.

Edgarus pacificus, frater regis prædicti, XVI. annis regnavit: in diebus ejus hæc terra maxime meliorata est, et Dei omnipotentis gratia, quam ipse pro posse suo devotissimus meruit, semper dum vixit in pace regnavit. Ille namque Christi fidem in regno suo validissime dilatavit, et opera salutis exemplo suo clarissime fœcundavit. Dilectus namque Deo et hominibus, gentes terræ suæ semper pacificare studuit, nec aliquis prædecessorum suorum tanta pace et gaudio
C regnum tenere potuit. Ipse siquidem nomen Dei honorabat, et de lege Dei sæpius inquirens, libenter eam discebat, et gaudenter docebat, et verbis et operibus populum suum bonorum operum exercitationi promptus invitabat. Domini autem omnipotentia servo suo Edgaro, bene gesta, non solum in futuro, verum etiam in præsenti sæculo retribuit; quia regulos omnes et consules et patriæ totius gentem cum tremore et amore pro velle suo subdidit, absque prœlio et aliqua Martis perturbatione. Fama vero et nomen regis clarissimum terris universis dilatabatur amplissime, et veniebant extranei videre gloriam ejus et audire doctrinam oris ejus. In hoc tamen peccabat, quod Paganos eos qui in hac patria sub eo degebant nimis firmavit, et extraneos huc adductos plus æquo diligens valde corroboravit: nihil [2]enim in rebus humanis perfectissimum est.

D Edgari pacifici anno quinto, Edelwoldus venerabilis fœliciter episcopatum Wincestre suscepit. Hic secundo episcopatus sui anno, quosdam canonicos in Veteri monasterio Wincestre degentes et ordinem suum pigre et negligenter observantes ejecit, et monachos imposuit. Quæ ecclesia [a]nostris temporibus loco avulsa est, quia nimis conjuncta erat matri ecclesiæ, quæ sedes est episcopi: consensu igitur episcopi et abbatis ejusdem monasterii extra muros urbis fundata est. Edelwoldus vero egregius præsul, ædificator sepium fuit, avertens semitas iniquitatis, et plantans radices charitatis. Ipse namque seminator optimi consilii fuit; cujus monitis rex Edgarus novellas plantationes et arbusta teneritudinis Deo gratissima instituit. Abbatiam namque Glastinbirh construxit; abbatiam Abandune super Tamesim composuit; abbatiam apud Burch prope Stanfordiam
E stabilivit; abbatiam Thornei prope illam quæ est apud Burch, in mediis paludibus, loco tamen amœnissimo fixit. Consilio etiam Edelwoldi episcopi, Ailwinus consul ejusdem regis abbatiam Ramesei in insula pulcherrima intra easdem paludes fixit. Est autem palus illa, de qua loquimur, latissima, et visu decora, multis fluviis decurrentibus irrigata, multis lacubus magnis et parvis depicta, multis etiam silvis et insulis florida: intra quam sunt ecclesia Heliensis, abbatia Ramesiensis, abbatia Chateric, abbatia Thorneie, abbatia Crulande; sed juxta eam sunt abbatia Burgensis, abbatia Spaldinge, ecclesia S. Ivonis super Usam fluvium Hun- 963. 964.

A.D. 968. Rex Edgarus undecimo anno regni sui, jussit prædari insulam Tenet, [a]quia jura regalia spreverant, non ut hostis insaniens, sed ut rex malo mala puniens.

973. Edgarus rex XIII. anno regni sui sacratus est in die Pentecostes apud * Baham: inde vero post Pentecosten duxit exercitum suum ad Legecestre, ubi venerunt contra eum sex reges, qui omnes ditioni [1]ejus subjecti sunt, et omnes illi domino debitam dederunt fidem, se terra et mari servituros ei ad ejus imperium.

975. Edgarus pacificus, rex magnificus, Salomon secundus, cujus tempore nunquam exercitus advenarum venit in Angliam, cujus dominio reges et principes Angliæ sunt subjecti, cujus potentiæ Scotti etiam colla dedere; cum regnasset sedecim annis et duobus mensibus, fœliciter vivens fœliciter obiit. Nec potuit male mori B qui bene vixerat, qui tot ecclesias Deo fundaverat, qui tot bona perennia brevi tempore statuerat: cujus plantationum [2]gratiæ quanto instantius Deum laudare non cessant, tanto beati regis in cœlestibus gloria crescere non desistit. De cujus laude musam aliquantulum dicere pro meritis promovimus:

'Auctor opum, vindex scelerum, largitor honorum,
Sceptriger Edgarus regna superna petit.
Hic alter Salomon, legum pater, orbita pacis;
[3]Quod caruit bellis claruit inde magis.
Templa Deo, templis monachos, monachis dedit agros,
Nequitiæ lapsum, justitiæque locum.
Novit enim regno verum perquirere falso, C
Immensum modico, perpetuumque brevi.'

975. Edwardus filius Edgari regis, qui dicitur Sanctus, regnavit pro patre suo: cujus regni principio apparuit cometa, signum scilicet maximæ famis quæ in anno sequente secuta est. Tunc vero consul quidam nequissimus, Elfere nomine, abbatias plures quas rex Edgarus et Edelwold episcopus construxerant, quorundam potentum assensu et factione destruxit. Inde Dominus ad iram permotus, pristinam renovare statuit cladem.

978. Edwardi sancti regis anno quarto, omnes optimates Anglorum ceciderunt a quodam solio apud Calne præter S. Dunstanum, qui trabe quadam apprehensa restitit; unde quidam eorum valde læsi sunt, quidam vero mortui: signum scilicet D
Dei excelsi fuit quod proditione et interfectione regis sui, ab amore Dei casuri essent, et a diversis gentibus digna contritione conterendi.

978. Edwardus [4]rex sanctus cum [b]quinque annis regnasset, occisus est proditione
18 Mar. gentis suæ perfide, die advesperascente apud Corvesgate: et inimicitias, quas viventi ingesserant, in mortuum protelantes, sepelierunt eum sine regio honore apud Warham; ut sicut [5]vitam regis extinxerant, ita et nomen ejus extinguerent. Hic vero compertum est, contra divinam providentiam non sufficere pravum cor hominis et inscrutabile. Quem enim perfidi terris abjecerant, Deus in cœlo gloriose suscepit: et memoria æterna insignivit eum Dominus, cujus mentionem proditores obnubilare studuerant. Inde Dominus iterum ad iram promotus et plus solito irritatus, genti pessimæ malum inextricabile conferre cogitavit. Dicitur E autem, quod noverca ejus, mater scilicet regis Edelredi, dum ciphum ei porrigeret, cultello percusserit.

978. 14 Apr. Edelred filius Edgari regis, et frater Edwardi, coram ducibus Anglorum sacratus est in regem apud Kingstun omine sinistro, sicut de eo, cum parvulus esset, S. Dunstanus prophetaverat. Minxit namque cum baptizaretur in sacro fonte: unde vir Domini exterminium Anglorum in tempore ejus futurum prædixit.

More autem solito lux apertionis, ex ordinata abbreviatione genita, perstrictis hujus libri summitatibus, lectori diligenter anteponenda est.

De regno Canciæ pauca dicenda sunt: siquidem cum Egbrictus rex Westsexe, Baldredo fugato, regnum Canciæ in dominio suo tenuisset, Adelstano filio suo moriens illud reliquit. Adelstano vero defuncto, ad fratrem Edelwlfum regem Westsexe regnum illud rediit, quod cum hæreditario jure Adelberto filio suo C reliquisset, et alius filius ejus Athelbaldus rex Westsexe post v. annos periisset, regnum utrumque Adelbricto subditum est, et nunquam postea divisum. Hic igitur omnino regnum Canciæ explicit.

De regno vero Westsexe hæc elucidatio adhibeatur.

Ethelwlfus regnavit xix. annis, victusque a Dacis apud Carrum, perniciose vicit eos apud Aclea.

Athelboldus filius regis prædicti regnavit quinque annis; et sepultus est apud Scireburnam.

Ethelbricht frater ejus regnavit v. annis; cujus duces et exercitus Dacos vicerunt apud Wincestre. D

Athelred frater eorum v. annis, et paulo plus; qui contra Dacos apud Redingum mire, cum fratre suo, conflixit.

Alfredus [1]frater ejus′ regnavit xxviii. annis et dimidio; de quo nihil breviter dici potest, quia multa fecit et miranda.

Edwardus [2]filius Alfredi′ [3]xxiiii. annis, et pugnavit contra Dacos in Nordhumbre, et in egressione Merce, vicit eos gloriose, et occidit reges fortes; vicit quoque Dacos apud Totenhale, et conquisivit Merce.

Adelstan filius Edwardi quatuordecim annis; qui fecit maximum prœlium apud Bruneburh.

Edmundus [4]filius Adelstani′ vi. annis et dimidio; qui super Dacos Quinque Urbes cepit, et eisdem victis, Nordhumbram in dominio tenuit. E

Edredus frater Edmundi ix. annis omnes Angliæ partes fœliciter obtinuit.

Edwi filius Edmundi iv. annis, eodem spatio et potentia tenuit.

Edgarus filius Edmundi, xvi. annis pacifice et gloriosius omnibus aliis imperavit.

Edwardus [5]filius Edgari′ rex sanctus, [c]v. annis regnum tenuit, et fœliciter occisus est.

Edelred frater ejus, ira Dei perturbatus, ærumnose regnavit; de quo nobis multa restant dicenda.

A tempore regis Athelwlfi regnavit ibidem; quem, more suo, abjicientes, constituerunt Ellam regem. Qui utrique cum a Dacis occisi fuissent, regnaverunt Daci multo tempore in Nordhumbre: scilicet rex Haldene, et Gudfert, et Nigellus, et Sidric, et Reginaldus, et Anlaf. Confuse autem regnaverunt Daci; ita quod modo ibi rex unus erat, modo duo, modo reguli multi: postea vero Edredo regi Westsexe in dominium contigit et successoribus ejus. Hic igitur omnino regnum Nordhumbre explicit.

De regno vero Merce paucis dicendum est. Brituulf namque rex Merce *tertio anno regni sui fugatus est a Dacis. Burhred etiam cum regnasset viginti et duobus annis fugatus est a regno. Daci ergo regnum illud sibi conquisitum prius Ceolwlfo ad servandum tradiderunt, postea vero sibi minute diviserunt.

B [1]Itaque pars patriæ et procerum quandoque erat sub legibus Westsexe: Eadmundus vero rex Westsexe totam sibi in dominium subdidit. Hic igitur regnum Merce dominio Westsexe penitus subjectum explicit.

Regnum vero Estangle, quod dudum regnis aliis, ut prædictum est, variis modis subjectum fuerat, nunc reges Westsexe vel Cantiæ in dominio tenebant, nunc alicui vel aliquibus dabant. Igitur rex unus ibi erat aliquando, multi [2]aliquando reguli: ultimus tamen Anglorum sub rege Westsexe regnavit ibidem S. Eadmundus; quo interfecto, regnavit Godrun Dacus: postea regnum minutim Daci partiti sunt, fuitque sub eis usque dum regi Edwardo ex maxima parte subjecta est. Hic igitur regnum Estangle dominio Westsexe contingens explicit; et jam ad primordia causamque adventus Normannorum pervenimus.

HENRICI HUNTENDUNENSIS HISTORIÆ ANGLORUM

LIB. VI.

ANNO millesimo ab Incarnatione Domini, Ricardi consulis Normannorum filiam rex prædictus Edelred in conjugem assumere præcogitavit ad tuitionem regni sui. Ille enim [3]vir fortissimus erat, et omni regno Francorum formidabilis: ipse autem se suosque valde debilitatos videbat, futuramque cladem non

D mediocriter horrebat. Hoc autem Dei nutu factum esse constat, ut veniret contra improbos malum. Genti enim Anglorum, quam sceleribus suis exigentibus disterminare proposuerat, sicut et ipsi Brittones peccatis accusantibus [4]humiliaverant, Dominus omnipotens duplicem contritionem proposuit, et quasi militares insidias adhibuit. Scilicet ut hinc Dacorum persecutione sæviente, illinc Nordmannorum conjunctione accrescente, si ab Dacorum manifesta fulminatione evaderent, Nordmannorum improvisam cum fortitudine cautelam non evaderent. Quod in sequentibus apparuit, cum ex hac conjunctione regis Anglorum et filiæ ducis Normannorum, Angliam juste, secundum jus gentium, Normanni et calumniati sunt et adepti sunt. Prædixit etiam eis quidam vir Dei, quod ex scelerum suorum immanitate, non solum quia semper cædi et proditioni studebant, verum

E etiam quia semper ebrietati et negligentiæ domus Domini dediti erant; eis insperatum a Francia adventurum dominium, quod et eorum excellentiam in æternum deprimeret, et honorem sine termino restitutionis eventilaret. Prædixit etiam quod non ea gens solum, verum et Scottorum, quos vilissimos habebant, eis ad emeritam confusionem dominaretur. Prædixit nihilominus varium adeo sæculum creandum; ut varietas quæ in mentibus hominum latebat et in actibus patebat, multimoda variatione vestium et indumentorum designaretur. Hac igitur providentia, cum, legatariis ad ducem Normannorum missis, rex Anglorum suæ petitionis concessionem obtinuisset, statuto tempore, tanto [5]digni ministerio, ad dominam suam recipiendam et adducendam, proceres Anglorum mittuntur in Normanniam; quæ longo et digno regibus apparatu dirigitur in Angliam. A

A.D. 1002. Millesimo secundo anno, Emma, Normannorum gemma, venit in Angliam et diadema nomenque reginæ suscepit. Quo proventu rex Adelred in superbiam elatus, et perfidiam prolatus, omnes Dacos qui cum pace erant in Anglia, clan-
13 Nov. destina proditione fecit mactari una eademque die, scilicet in festivitate S. Bricii; de quo scelere in pueritia nostra quosdam vetustissimos loqui audivimus, quod in unamquamque urbem rex præfatus occultas miserit epistolas, secundum quas Angli Dacos omnes eadem die et eadem hora, vel gladiis truncaverunt impræmeditatos, vel igne simul cremaverunt subito comprehensos. Eodem anno rex præfatus Lefsium ducem exulavit, quia Effic regis vicecomitem occiderat.

1003. Millesimo tertio anno, ira Daci exarserunt digna, sicut ignis, quem [1]sagimine velit aliquis extinguere. Advolantes igitur quasi multitudo locustarum, quidam Exaceastriam venerunt, et urbem totam funditus destruxerunt, et omnia spolia secum, cineribus tantum relictis, deportaverunt. Hugonem vero Normannum, quem ibi jam regina Emma vicecomitem statuerat, in perniciem compegerunt. Congregatæ sunt itaque gentes Hamptunescire et Wiltunescire pugnatum cum exercitu. Cum autem appropinquarent ad prœlium, finxit se dux eorum Alfricus infirmum, et cogebat se ad vomitum; sicque gentem Anglorum, quam ducebat, prodidit. Et quoniam verum est quod vulgo dicitur: 'Quando dux deficit, exercitus vilescit:' Daci videntes defectum hostium, persequuti sunt eos usque ad Wiltune, quam prædantes et comburentes venerunt ad Salesbiri; et inde ad puppes suas cum præda et triumpho remearunt. B C

1004. Anno IV°, Suain rex Dacorum fortissimus, cui Deus regnum Angliæ destinaverat, cum navibus multis venit ad Nordwic, et eam prædatus est et combussit. Quod [2]Wlfketel dux illius provinciæ videns, fecit pacem cum exercitu; improvisum ejus adventum sustinere non sufficiens. Infra pacem vero exercitus post tres hebdomadas furtim perrexit ad Tedford, et eam prædatam combussit. Quod comperiens dux Wlfketel, mane ex improviso cum parva manu revertenti ad puppes occurrit exercitui; quibus graviter et diu resistere, sed non suffecit persistere.

1006. Anno VI°, cum Suain vir audacissimus cum magna classe redisset ad Sandwic, quem semper comitabantur tres sociæ, prædatio, combustio, occisio: frenduit omnis Anglia, et commota est velut arundinetum, Zephiro vibrante, collisum. Rex autem, congregato exercitu, cum toto autumno contra eos persisteret, nihil profecit; illi namque classem alio dirigentes, ludum solitum exercebant. In principio vero hyemis in insula Vecta manserunt; et sicut per prophetam dictum
Amos, viii. 10. est: 'Dies festos vertam in luctum:' in Natale Domini perambulaverunt Hamtonescire et Bercscire, usque ad Redings, inde ad Wallingford, inde ad Coleseige, inde juxta [3]Etsesdune ad Chichelmeslaue. Quocunque autem pergebant, quæ parata erant hilariter comedentes, cum discederent, in retributionem procurationis, reddebant hospiti cædem, hospitio flammam. Revertentibus autem Dacis ad mare, obviavit exercitus Westsex et pugnavit cum eis. Quid autem aliud profecit nisi, quod spoliis suis Dacos victus ditavit. Vidit igitur gens Wincestre exercitum hostilem, superbum et audacem juxta portas urbis transeuntem: et cibum, quem ultra L. milliaria a mari conquisiverat, et spolia, quæ a bello victis acceperat, secum deferentem. Rex autem Adelred cum mœstitia et confusione erat ad firmam suam in Salopscire, sæpe rumorum sauciatus aculeis. E

1007. Anno VII°, rex et senatus Anglorum dubii quid agerent, quid omitterent, communi deliberatione gravem conventionem cum exercitu fecerunt: et ad pacis observationem triginta millia librarum ei dederunt. Eodem anno, Dei provi-

Anno VIII°, qui est annus XXX° regni prædicti regis, fecit rex parari per totam Angliam ex trecentis et decem hidis navem unam, et ex octo hidis loricam et galeam. Hida autem Anglice vocatur terra unius aratri culturæ sufficiens per annum. A.D. 1008.

Anno IX°, Ricardo Normannorum duci misit rex nuncios suos, causa consilii et auxilii postulandi. Puppes autem prædictæ congregatæ sunt apud Sandwic, et viri optime armati: nec fuit tantus numerus navium tempore alicujus in Brittannia. Illusit autem eos Deus. Siquidem rex exulaverat Wlnod puerum nobilem Sudsexe. Ille vero cum XX. navibus cœpit prædari juxta littora maris. 1009.

B Igitur Brictric frater ducis Edrici laudem sibi volens adquirere, LXXX. ex puppibus prædictis secum duxit; et hostem vivum vel defunctum se regi allaturum promisit. Sed inter eundum, ventus ultra modum horribilis naves ejus omnes ad terram perniciose jactavit: Wlnod vero superveniens, statim eas combussit. Sinistris angariatæ nunciis, puppes reliquæ Londoniam redierunt: exercitus quoque divisus est; et sic omnis labor Anglorum cassatus est. Tempore igitur messis, venit exercitus Dacorum novus et innumerabilis apud Sandwic; et inde ad Cantuariam progressi, statim cepissent eam, nisi ter mille libras dando, cives pacem impetrassent. Daci ergo in Vectam devenerunt: et inde Sudsexe et Hamtunescire et Bercscire prædati sunt. Rex autem Ædelred, collectis omnibus Anglorum viribus, regredientibus Dacis obviavit; finemque sævitiæ eorum im-

C posuisset, nisi dux Edricus, semper proditor, rumoribus fictis et terroribus falsis regi pugnam dissuasisset. Postea Daci redeuntes hiemaverunt in Tamese, Londoniamque sæpe assilientes, sæpe repulsi sunt. Trans Natale vero perrexerunt per Chiltern ad Oxineford. Qua combusta redeuntes, perstantes in Cantia puppes suas contra se adductas in Quadragesima emendaverunt.

Daci vero victores, terram Estangle tribus mensibus, et etiam paludes, præcedenti libro descriptas, cum ecclesiis, vel prædati sunt, vel combusserunt. Destruxerunt etiam Tedford; combusserunt quoque Grantebrige: et inde recedentes per montana amœnissima loci delectabilis qui vocatur [2]Balesham, quosquos invenerunt in eodem loco, neci dederunt; puerosque jactantes, super acumina lancearum recipiebant. Quidam vero fama dignus extenta, in gradus turris templi, quod adhuc ibidem stat, ascendit: et tam loco quam probitate munitus, ab omni solus exercitu se defendit. Inde vero Daci transeuntes per Estsexam venerunt ad flumen Tamesis. Nec segnes, inde promoverunt acies in Oxineford-

Flumen vero Usæ per tria castra, quæ sunt capita provinciarum, decurrit: scilicet, Bukingham, Bedeford, et Huntendune. Huntendonia vero, id est, 'Mons venatorum,' loco Godmundcestre, nobilis quondam urbis, nunc vero villæ non inamabilis, ex alia parte fluminis sita, castris duobus prædictis, tam situs fulgore, quam sui decore, tam prædictarum paludum vicinitate quam ferarum et piscium fertilitate longe præminet. A.D. 1012. 19 Apr. Anno XII., cum Sabbatum adesset in hebdomada Paschali, commoti sunt Daci erga archiepiscopum, quia prohibebat pecuniam dari pro se. Erant etiam ebrii vino, quod venerat ab austro. Adducto igitur archiepiscopo in medio eorum, jactaverunt in eum ossa et capita boum: unde cum Deo omnipotenti grates lætissimas ex intimo corde redderet, percussus est capite cum securi. Cecidit ergo vir Dei, sanctoque cruore terram aspergens, anima beata cœli decoravit templa. Mane autem episcopi [a]Ednod et Helhun susceptum corpus cum debito honore detulerunt, et sepelierunt ad monasterium S. Pauli: quo in loco Deus merita sancti martyris ostendit. Successit autem ei *Lefwing archiepiscopus. Tunc vero rex nimis sero pacem fecit cum Dacorum exercitu, dans eis VIII. millia librarum. Nunquam enim tempore opportuno pax fiebat, donec nimia contritione terra langueret. Subdiderunt autem se regi XLV. puppes Dacorum, promittentes quod Angliam tuerentur; rex vero inveniret eis victum et vestitum. C

1013. Anno XIII., Suain rex Dacorum venit per Humbram usque Gainsburh: stamque subditus est ei Ucthred dux Nordhumbre et tota gens illa. Gens etiam Lindsey, et gens Urbium Quinque, et omnes ex boreale parte Watlingstreet dederunt ei obsides. Rex vero tradidit obsides et puppes Cnut filio suo custodiendas; pergensque ad Oxinefordiam et Wincestriam, gentes illas in ditionem accepit. Inde revertens Lundoniam, populum multum amisit in Tamesi; quia non curabant ire ad pontem. Cives vero, quia rex Adelred inerat, fortiter ei restiterunt. Suain igitur inde recedens ivit ad Wallingford, et inde ad Bathan: et omnis Westsex subdita est ei. Postea vero cum Suain reversus esset ad puppes suas, Londonienses etiam subditi sunt ei; quia timebant ne eos in perniciem redigeret. Quod videns rex Ædelred, misit Emmam reginam Ricardo fratri suo in Normanniam: et postea Edwardum et Ælfredum filios suos. Suain vero ab omni populo habebatur pro rege, jussitque dari per Angliam victum et censum exercitui suo: Turchil vero similiter jussit dari exercitui suo qui erat in Grenewic. Rex autem Ædelred petiit Withland, quo per Natale moratus, transfretavit fugitivus ad Ricardum Normanniæ ducem. D

1014. Anno XIV., Suain jam rex Anglorum, in exordio regni sui subita morte periit. Exercitus autem ejus elegit Cnut filium suum in regem. Angli vero in Normaniam Ædelredo regi nuncios direxerunt; intimantes ei quod si humanius solito vellet eos tractare, nullum eo libentius se in regem recepturos. Ille autem per Edwardum filium suum præmissum, omnia rege et populo digna spondens eis, adveniens ab omni Anglorum gente cum lætitia susceptus est. Cnut vero cum exercitu suo moratus apud Gainsburh usque ad [y]Pascha, [1]cum hominibus Lindsey concordatus est. Quod audiens rex Adelred, cum maximo exercitu superveniens, provinciam illam combussit, et provinciales pene omnes interfecit. Anno XV., dux Edricus prodidit Sigeferd et Morchere proceres egregios; vocatos namque in cameram suam fecit occidi. Edmundus [1]vero filius regis Adelredi terram eorum saisivit, et uxorem Sigeferdi duxit. B sum est. Igitur Westsexe subdita est Cnut regi Dacorum.

Anno XVI., dux Edricus cum XL. [2]navibus subdens se Cnut regi, et rex cum C.LX. navibus, convenerunt in Tamasim; pergentesque apud Crikelade, Warewicsire ferro et flamma destruxerunt. Rex autem Adelred fecit edictum ut quicunque Anglorum sanus esset, secum in bello procederet. Cum autem congregata esset gens innumera, dictum est regi, quod sui prodere volebant eum. Quamobrem dimisso exercitu rediit Londoniam. Edmundus vero ivit ad Uctred ducem Nordhumbre; prædaveruntque simul in Staffordscire et in Scropscire et in Legeceastre. Cnut vero ex alia parte ivit per Bukinghamscire in Bedfordscire, et sic in Huntendunescire, et inde juxta paludes ad Stanford: et sic in Lincolnscire, et inde in Snotinghamscire, et sic in Nordhumbre erga Everwic. Quod 1016.

C audiens Uctred dimisit prædationem suam et reversus est in Nordhumbre, et necessitate subditus est Cnut, et cum eo tota Nordhumbre; et dedit obsides: et tamen ibi occisus est. Edmundus vero rediit Londoniam ad patrem suum. Sed Cnut statuens Hyrc consulem super Nordhumbre in loco Uctredi, rediit ad puppes suas ante Pascha; post Pascha vero cum navigio suo tendebat Londoniam.

Adelred cum regnasset XXXVII. annis, post multos labores et anxietates vitæ suæ, decessit in Londonia, antequam navigium hostile advenisset. 23 Apr.

Post quem Edmundus filius ejus electus est in regem, qui [3]cognominatus est 'Ireneside,' id est, 'Ferreum latus;' quia maximi vigoris, et mirabilis patientiæ bellicis erat in negotiis. Edmundus rex ivit in Westsexe, et omnis gens ei subdita est. Interea venerunt Dacorum puppes ad Grenewic, et inde Londoniam: 1016.

D facientesque foveam magnam ex australi parte, traxerunt puppes suas [a]ex occidentali parte pontis, fodientesque circa urbem ita quod nemo intrare vel exire posset, urbem sæpe et graviter assilierunt; sed cives eis caute et [4]viriliter restiterunt.' De bellis vero regis Edmundi, et de fortitudine ejus, nonne hæc scripta sunt in historiis veterum cum laude summa?

Edmundus primum bellum gessit contra exercitum Dacorum apud Peonnam juxta Gillinges, successusque manifestior contigit Edmundo. Secundum bellum gessit contra Cnut regem apud Sceorstan; ubi pugnatum est acerrime. Dux vero Edric, et Almer Derling erant in prœlio contra regem Edmundum: igitur multi ex utraque parte ceciderunt, et exercitus per se divisi sunt. Tertio cum manu electa bellatorum venit Londoniam: et fugato exercitu ad puppes

E qui obsederat urbem, fortissime liberavit eam; et cum debito triumpho ingressus est in eam. Quartum bellum gessit contra eundem exercitum post duos dies apud Brendforde. Multi autem suorum in eo transitu nimis festinantes, flumine submersi sunt: ipse tamen belli festivum decus obtinuit. Rex igitur Cnut summo timore perstrictus, manum suam multis copiis ad se mandatis augmentavit. Cogitaverunt etiam Cnut rex et dux Edricus, ut quem armis vincere nequibant, proditione vincerent. Igitur dux Edricus concordatus est ei ut eum proderet. Ivit ergo consilio ejus in Westsexe, ut maximum contra Cnut duceret vit: sed cives ei viriliter obstiterunt. Quinta vice rex Edmundus transiens iterum Tamasim fluvium apud Brendeforde, ivit in Kent pugnatum cum Dacis. Sed in ipsa obviatione præcedentium vexillatorum, horror nimius Dacos invasit, et in fugam versi sunt. Edmundus vero persequutus est eos cum occisione magna usque ad [1]Eilesford. Quod si eos persequi persisteret, ultimus ille dies bello Dacisque fuisset. Dux vero Edricus consilio nequissimo fecit eum resistere. Consilium pejus datum non fuerat in Anglia. Sextum bellum commisit Edmundus cum maxima gente, et Cnut cum omnibus Dacorum exercitibus congregatis in Estsexe apud Esesdune. Bello igitur acerrimo et finali pugnatum est, et utrique invincibiles, cæde despecta, persistebant. Apparuit autem ibi virtus Edmundi juvenis. Cum enim Dacos solito acrius pugnare videret, loco regio relicto, B quod erat ex more inter draconem et insigne quod vocatur 'Standard,' cucurrit terribilis in aciem primam. Vibrans igitur gladium electum et brachio juvenis Edmundi dignum, modo fulminis fidit aciem: abrumpensque mediam pertransiit, seque sequentibus obruendam dedit. Inde in aciem regalem advolat; ubi cum clamor et stridor horrendus inciperet, videns dux Edricus ruinam Dacorum imminere, clamavit Anglorum genti: 'Flet Engle, flet Engle: ded is Edmund:' quod [2]sic interpretatur: 'Fugite Angli, fugite Angli: mortuus est Edmundus.' Sic igitur clamans, fugam cum suis primus incepit, quem tota gens Anglorum in fugam subsequuta est. Illic igitur miranda strages Anglorum facta est: illic occisus est Ednod dux, et Ælfric dux, et Godwine dux, et Wlfketel dux de Estangle, et Ailward filius Alfsi ducis, et omnis flos nobilitatis Brittanniæ. Rex vero Cnut, C tanta fretus victoria, Londoniam et sceptra cepit regalia. Septima tamen vice congregati sunt exercitus in Gloucestrescyre. [a]Hinc autem formidantes fortitudinem regis Edmundi, illinc vero regis Cnut, dixerunt inter se proceres: 'Cur insensati necis periculum totiens incurrimus? pugnent singulariter, qui regnare student singulariter.' Placuit sententia regibus; nec enim mediocris erat rex Cnut probitatis. Positi igitur reges [3]in Olanie, duellum inceperunt. Telis igitur et lanceis utrinque fractis super arma omnium armorum præstantissima, rem gladiis egere. Audiebant igitur, et videbant horribiles tinnitus et igneas collisiones populus uterque cum gemitu et clamore. Tandem vigor incomparabilis Edmundi fulminare cœpit. Cui Cnut rex cum magno vigore resistens, et tamen sibi timens, inquit: 'Juvenum omnium fortissime, quæ necessitas est alterum D nostrum, regnandi causa, ferro perire. Simus fratres adoptivi, regnumque partiamur, imperemusque, ego rebus in tuis, tuque in meis. Dacia quoque tuo disponatur imperio.' His verbis juvenis mens generosa delinita est: et osculum pacis invicem datum est. Conveniente igitur populo, et præ gaudio lacrimante, Edmundus regnum suscepit Westsexe; Cnut vero regnum Merce suscipiens reversus est Londoniam.

1016. 30 Nov. Edmundus rex post paucos exhinc dies proditione occisus est apud Oxineford. Sic autem occisus est. Cum rex hostibus suis terribilis et timendissimus in regno floreret, ivit nocte quadam in domum evacuationis ad requisita naturæ, ubi filius Edrici ducis in fovea secretaria delitescens consilio patris, regem inter celanda cultello bis acuto percussit; et inter viscera ferrum figens, fugiens reli- E quit. Edricus igitur ad regem Cnut veniens, salutavit eum dicens: 'Ave rex solus.' Cui cum rem gestam denudasset, respondit rex: 'Ego te ob tanti obsequii meritum cunctis Anglorum proceribus reddam celsiorem.' Jussit ergo eum excapitari, et caput in stipite super celsiorem Londoniæ turrim figi. Sic periit Edmundus rex fortis cum uno anno regnasset; et sepultus est juxta Edgar avum suum in Glastengebirh.

A redi, duxit. Postea vero rex dignam retributionem nequitiæ Anglis reddidit. Ipse namque in dominio suo Westsexam habebat, Hyrc Nordhumbram, Turchillus Estangle, Edricus Merce. Rex vero Cnut Edricum occidit; Turchillum exulavit; Hyrc fugere compulit: præterea summos procerum aggressus, Normannum ducem interfecit; Edwi Adelinge exterminavit; Adelwoldum detruncavit; Edwi Ceorleking exulavit; Bridric ferro vita privavit. Fecit quoque per Angliam mirabilem censum reddi, scilicet [1]LXXII. mille librarum, præter undecies mille librarum quas Londonienses reddiderunt. Mare vero de more conscendens, pedes regis et crura sine reverentia madefecit. Rex igitur resiliens ait: 'Sciant omnes habitantes orbem, vanam et frivolam regum esse potentiam, nec regis quempiam nomine dignum præter Eum, cujus nutui cœlum, terra, mare, legibus obediunt æternis.' Rex igitur Cnut nunquam postea coronam auream cervici suæ imposuit, sed super imaginem Domini, quæ cruci affixa erat, posuit eam in æternum, in laudem Dei regis magni: cujus misericordia Cnut regis anima quiete fruatur.

* Ælfgivæ. Haraldus, filius Cnut regis et *Ailivæ filiæ Alfelmi ducis, electus est in regem. Fuit namque placitum magnum apud Oxenford; ubi Lefricus consul et omnes B

Godwinus vero consul, pater Haraldi postea regis, et principes Westsexe cœperunt contradicere; sed non profuit. Edwardus rex, in patrocinium regni sui, duxit filiam Godwini fortissimi consulis, nomine Edgitham, sororem regis Haraldi futuri. Circa hoc tempus tanta fames Angliam invasit, quod sextarius frumenti, qui equo uni solet esse oneri, venundaretur v. solidis, et etiam plus. Postea vero Stigandus, qui erat episcopus in Estangle, factus est episcopus etiam apud Wincestre. Rex autem exulavit Suain consulem, filium Godwini prædicti consulis: qui recedens ad Baldwinum consulem Flandriæ, ibidem hyemavit apud Bruge. 1044. 1047.

Edwardi regis anno sexto, commissum est bellum apud Walesdune inter 1047.

D Suain consulis ad auxilium ejus, nequiter occisus est ab eis: cadaverque ejus projectum sepelierunt amici sui apud Wincestre, juxta Cnut regem avunculum suum. Suein vero reversus est in Flandriam. Sequenti vero anno Suein regi concordatus 1050.

Eo tempore Leo papa tenuit synodum apud Verzelei, ubi Ulf episcopus Dorcescestriæ interfuit: et pene fractus est baculus ejus episcopalis, nisi majus pretium dedisset: nesciebat enim officium suum sicut episcopum deceret. E cum sine obsidibus venire recusarent, rex exulavit. Itaque Godwinus et Suein iverunt in Flandriam, Haraldus vero in Hyberniam. Rex vero in iram promotus, dimissa regina, thesaurum suum et terras ei abstulit. est archiepiscopus Cantuariæ. Circa hoc tempus [a]Siwardus consul fortissimus
Nordhumbre, pene gigas statura, manu vero et mente prædura, misit filium suum in Scotiam conquirendam. Quem cum bello cæsum patri renuntiassent, ait:
'Recepitne vulnus letale in anteriori vel posteriori corporis parte?' Dixerunt nuntii: 'In anteriori.' At ille: 'Gaudeo plane, non enim alio me vel filium meum B digner funere.' Siwardus igitur in Scotiam proficiscens, regem bello vicit, regnum totum destruxit, destructum sibi subjugavit.

A.D. 1053. Edwardus XII. anno regni sui cum pranderet apud Windleshores, ubi pluridixit: 'Sæpe tibi rex falso delatum est me proditioni tuæ invigilasse: sed si Deus cœli verax et justus est, hoc panis frustulum concedat ne [1]mihi guttur pertranseat, si unquam te prodere vel cogitaverim.' Deus autem justus et verax audivit vocem proditoris; et mox, eodem pane strangulatus, mortem prægustavit æternam. Haraldus vero filius ejus habuit consulatum patris sui: sed Algarus consul Cestriæ habuit consulatum Haraldi.

1054. Edwardi regis anno XIII. pugnaverunt proceres Normanniæ contra gentem C Francorum apud castrum quod vocatur Mortuum-mare: et interfectus est Radulphus camerarius, princeps exercitus Francorum; contigitque victoria Norventris ductus, mortem sensit imminere: dixitque: 'Quantus pudor me tot in bellis mori non potuisse, ut vaccarum morti cum dedecore reservarer! Induite me saltem lorica mea impenetrabili, præcingite gladio, sublimate galea: scutum in læva, securim auratam mihi ponite in dextra, ut militum fortissimus modo militis moriar.' Dixerat: et ut dixerat, armatus honorifice spiritum exhalavit. Sed quia Walteof filius ejus adhuc parvulus erat, datus est consulatus ejus Tosti filio Godwini consulis. Eodem anno Algarus consul Cestriæ exulatus est, quia de D proditione regis in consilio convictus fuerat. Ille vero pergens ad Griffinum regem Nordwales, rediens cum eodem rege combussit Hereford et ecclesiam

S. Athelbricti. Postea venit Edwardus filius Edmundi Irenside in terram istam; 1057. et statim mortuus est, et sepultus apud Londoniam in ecclesia S. Pauli. Hic fuit pater Margaretæ reginæ Scottorum, et Edgari Atheling. Margareta vero fuit mater Matildis reginæ Anglorum, et Davidis urbanissimi regis Scottorum.
Lefricus quoque consul nobilissimus Cestriæ defunctus est eo tempore: cujus uxor Godiva, nomine perpetuo digna, multa probitate viguit, et abbatiam apud Coventre construxit; et auro et argento incomparabiliter ditavit. Construxit etiam ecclesiam Stow sub promontorio Lincolniæ, et multas alias. Algarus vero filius ejus suscepit consulatum Cestriæ. E

A ejus servaturum. Summo igitur honore susceptus et muneribus amplis ditatus, cum reversus esset in Angliam perjurii crimen elegit. Anno vero sequenti A.D. 1064.
Haraldus et Tosti perrexerunt in expeditionem in Walliam. Gens vero patriæ subdita est eis, et obsides dedit. Post ea siquidem occiderunt regem suum Griffinum, et attulerunt Haraldo caput ejus: Haraldus vero statuit ibi alium regem. Contigit autem eodem anno quod in aula regia apud Windleshores, Tosti Haraldum fratrem suum regi vina propinantem capillis coram rege ipso arripuerit. Invidiæ namque et odii fomitem ministraverat, quod cum Tosti ipse primogenitus esset, arctius a rege frater suus diligeretur. Igitur, impetu furoris propulsus, non potuit cohibere manus a cæsarie fratris. Rex autem perniciem eorum jam appropinquare prædixit, et iram Dei jam non differendam. Tantæ
B namque sævitiæ fratres illi erant, quod cum alicujus nitidam villam conspicerent; dominatorem de nocte interfici juberent totamque progeniem illius, possessionemque defuncti obtinerent: et isti quidem justiciarii erant regni. Tosti igitur furibunde discedens a rege et a fratre suo, perrexit ad [a]Hereforde, ubi frater suus corrodium regale maximum paraverat: ubi ministros fratris sui omnes detruncans, singulis vasis vini, medonis, cervisiæ, pigmenti, morati, siceræ, crus humanum vel caput vel brachium imposuit. Mandavitque regi quod ad firmam suam properans cibos salsatos sufficienter inveniret, alios secum deferre curaret. Rex ergo eum ob scelus adeo infinitum delegari, et exulari præcepit.

Quod rex concessit, et remisit Haraldum ad eos ad Hamtune, qui hoc eis affirmavit. Ipsi vero interim comburentes et prædantes et occidentes, provinciæ illi non pepercerunt, sed multa millia hominum secum abducentes cum petitionem suam obtinuissent, multis annis deteriorem partem illam regni reddiderunt. quam ipse construxerat et possessionibus multis ditaverat, quidam Anglorum Eadgar Atheling promovere volebant in regem. Haraldus vero, viribus et genere fretus, regni diadema invasit. Willielmus vero dux Normanniæ tribus de causis mente stimulatus et intrinsecus irritatus est. Primo, quia Alfredum cognatum suum Godwinus et filii sui dehonestaverant et peremerant: secundo, quia
E Robertum episcopum et Odonem consulem et omnes Francos Godwinus et filii sui arte sua ab Anglia exulaverant: tertio, quod Haraldus in perjurium prolapsus, regnum quod jure cognationis suum esse debuerat, sine aliquo jure invaserat. Principes vero Normannorum convocans, auxilium Angliæ conquirendæ ab eis petiit. Quibus ad se consiliandos euntibus, Willielmus filius Osberti dapifer ducis interfuit: qui gravissimum iter ad Angliam capessendam gentemque Anglorum fortissimam perhibens, contra paucissimos in Angliam ire volentes acerrime litigavit: quod audientes proceres, valde gavisi, fidem dederunt dixit: ‘ Paratus sum in hac expeditione cum omnibus meis devote proficisci.’

Oportuit ergo omnes Normannorum principes verbum ejus prosequi. Classis itaque maxima parata est ad portum qui vocatur S. Walerici. Quod audiens rex Haraldus, vir bellis acerrimus, cum navali exercitu contra Willielmum ducem in mare profectus est. Interea venit Tosti consul in Humbram cum LX. puppibus: Edwinus vero consul veniens cum exercitu fugavit eum. Ille vero fugiens in Scotiam, obviavit Haraldo regi Norwagiæ cum CCC. puppibus: et Tosti, gavisus valde, subditus est ei. Deinde ambo venerunt in Humbram usque ad Eoverwic; 20 Sept. et juxta urbem pugnaverunt cum eis Edwinus et Marcherus consules: cujus locus pugnæ in australi parte urbis adhuc ostenditur. Haraldus vero rex Nor-wagiæ et Tosti cum eo Martis omine glorioso potiti sunt. Quod audiens Harал- B dus rex [1]Anglorum, cum manu valida obviavit eis apud Steinfordesbrige. Pugna 25 Sept. igitur incepta est, qua gravior non fuerat. Coeuntes namque a summo mane usque ad meridiem, cum horribiliter ruentes utrinque perseverarent, maximus numerus Anglorum Norwagenses cedere sed non fugere compulit. Ultra flumen igitur repulsi, vivis supra mortuos transeuntibus, magnanimiter restiterunt. Qui-dam vero [a]Norwagensis, fama dignus æterna, super pontem restitit, et plus XL.
viris Anglorum securi cædens electa, usque ad horam diei nonam omnem exer-citum Anglorum detinuit solus: usquequo quidam navim ingressus per foramina pontis in celandis eum percussit jaculo. Transeuntes igitur Angli, Haroldum regem et Tosti occiderunt, et totam Norwagensium aciem vel armis straverunt vel igne deprehensos combusserunt. C

Haraldus rex Anglorum eadem die reversus ad Eoverwic cum summa lætitia, dum pranderet, audivit nuntium dicentem sibi: ‘ Willielmus dux Normanniæ littora australia occupavit, et castellum construxit apud Hastings.’ Rex igitur non segnis advolans, aciem suam construxit in planis Hastinges. Willielmus vero v. catervas equitum splendide promovit in hostem; quibus terribiliter dispositis orationem hujuscemodi habuit: [b]‘Vos alloquor Normanni gentium for-tissimi, non quasi vestræ probitatis incertus, non quasi de victoria non securus:
quæ nunquam casu aliquo, vel impedimento a vobis evadere potuit. Quod si semel non vincere potuissetis, exhortandi forsitan essetis, ut probitas vestra præradiaret. Quod autem nativum vobis est et quasi necessarium, qua indiget ex-hortatione? O mortalium validissimi, quid potuit rex Francorum bellis proficere D cum omni gente quæ sunt a Lotaringa usque ad Hispaniam contra Hasting ante-cessorem nostrum? Qui quantum voluit Franciæ sibi adquisivit, quantum voluit regi permisit; dum placuit, tenuit; dum satiatus est, ad majora anhelans, reliquit. Nonne Rou pater meus, dux primus et author nostræ gentis, cum patribus nostris regem Francorum Parisius in medio regni sui bello vicit? nec Francorum rex potuit sperare salutem, nisi et filiam suam et terram, quæ ex vobis Nor-mannia vocatur, supplex obtulisset? Nonne patres vestri regem Francorum in Rotomago ceperunt et tenuerunt, donec Ricardo puero, duci vestro, Normanniam reddidit, eo pacto, quod in omni collocutione regis Franciæ et ducis Nor-manniæ gladio dux accingeretur, regem vero nec gladium nec etiam cultellum ferre liceret? Hanc æternam sanctionem patres vestri regi magno cogentes sta- E tuerunt. Nonne idem dux patres vestros usque ad Mirmandam juxta Alpes adduxit: et urbis ducem, generum scilicet suum, sponsæ suæ prœlians parere coegit? Et ne parum sit vobis homines vicisse, vicit et ipse diabolum corporaliter colluctans et prosternens, ligansque manus ejus post terga, confusumque victor

A telis? Vos autem, Radulfo summo duce Francorum interfecto, fama spoliisque potiti, naturale bonum solita necessitate tenuistis. Eja! procedat aliquis Anglorum, quos centies antecessores nostri et Daci et Norwagenses bellis vicerunt: demonstretque gentem Rou ex ejus tempore usque nunc semel militiæ naufragia perpessum esse; et ego victus abscedo. Nonne igitur pudori vobis est gentem vinci solitam, gentem [1]arte belli cassam, gentem nec etiam sagittas habentem, contra vos, O fortissimi, quasi bello ordinatam procedere? Nonne vobis pudet regem Haraldum contra me in præsentia vestri perjurum, faciem suam vobis ostendere ausum fuisse? Mihi tamen stupori est, quod eos, qui parentes vestros cum Alfredo cognato meo proditione nefanda excapitaverunt, oculis vestris vidistis, et eorum capita [2]nefanda adhuc humeris eorum supersunt. Erigite
B vexilla, viri: nec sit iræ promeritæ modus vel modestia. Ab Oriente ad Occidentem videatur fulmen gloriæ vestræ; audiatur tonitruum impetus vestri, vindicesque generosissimi sanguinis.' Nondum peroraverat dux Willielmus: omnes ira accensi ultra quam credi potest secundum acies suas impetu ineffabili provolabant in hostem, ducemque jam sibi soli loquentem relinquebant. Quidam vero nomine Taillefer [3]dudum antequam coirent bellatores, ensibus jactatis ludens coram gente Anglorum, dum in eum omnes stuperent, quendam vexilliferum Anglorum interfecit. Secundo similiter egit. Tertio idem agens, et ipse interfectus est; et acies sibi offenderunt. Incipit letifera nubes sagittarum. Tonitruum sequitur ictuum. Insilit ignita collisio galearum et ensium. Cum ergo Haraldus totam gentem suam in una acie strictissime locasset et quasi castellum
C inde construxisset, impenetrabiles erant Normannis. Docuit igitur dux Willielmus genti suæ fugam simulare. Fugientes autem, ad quandam foveam magnam dolose protectam devenerunt: ubi multus numerus eorum corruens oppressus est. Dum igitur Angli insequendo persistunt, acies principalis Normannorum mediam Anglorum catervam pertransiit. Quod videntes qui persequebantur per foveam prædictam, redire compulsi ibidem ex magna parte perierunt. Docuit etiam dux Willielmus viros sagittarios ut non in hostem directe, sed in aera sursum sagittas emitterent, cuneum hostilem sagittis cæcarent: quod Anglis magno fuit detrimento. Viginti autem equites strenuissimi fidem suam dederunt invicem, quod Anglorum catervam perrumpentes, signum regium, quod vocatur Standard, arriperent. Quod dum facerent plures eorum occisi sunt: pars autem
D eorum, via gladiis facta, Standard asportavit. Interea totus imber sagittariorum cecidit circa regem Haraldum: et ipse in oculo [4]percussus corruit. Irrumpens autem multitudo equitum regem vulneratum interfecit, et Girdh consulem interfecit, et Lewine consulem [5] fratres [6]ejus cum eo. Sic igitur contritus est exercitus Anglorum. Willielmus vero tanta potitus victoria, susceptus est a Londoniensibus pacifice, et coronatus est apud Westminster ab Aldredo Eboracensi [7]archiepiscopo. [8]Et facta est mutatio dextræ Excelsi; quam cometa ingens [9]in exordio ejusdem anni designaverat. Unde dictum est: 25 Dec.

'Anno milleno sexageno quoque seno,
Anglorum metæ flammas sensere cometæ.'

E Commissum est autem bellum mense Octobris in festivitate S. Calixti. Quo in loco rex Willielmus abbatiam nobilem postea pro defunctis suis construxit: et eam digne nomine Belli vocavit.[a] 14 Oct.

[a] The ‘ Estorie des Engles’ of Geoffry Gaimar, which begins with the arrival of Cerdic, in the year 495, and ends with the death of William Rufus, in 1099, appears to have been composed about the middle of the twelfth century. Its basis is supplied by the Saxon Chronicle ; but it has many and large additions from other sources, at present for the greater part unknown, and often of questionable authority. It is now first printed from a MS. in the Royal Collection, collated with three others, belonging to the Dean and Chapter of Durham, the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln, and to the Arundel Collection at the Heralds' College ; respectively marked 13 A. XXI., C. IV. 27., H. 18., and No. 14., and here designated by the letters A., B., C. and D. More on this subject will be found in the preface to the present volume : but it may here be observed, that the occasional insertion of an apostrophe or of an acute accent seemed all the addition necessary to the text of the MS.

[b] In all the known MSS. of Gaimar's ‘ Estorie,’ it is preceded by the ‘ Brut’ of Wace ; and in the abrupt introduction to the story of Haveloc, with which the ‘ Estorie’ begins in three of these copies, it seems to refer to that version of Geoffry of Monmouth's British History ; though it is possible the lost portion of Gaimar's own work, which, he says, began with Jason and the Golden Fleece, may be intended.

[c] Compare this with Geoffry of Monmouth, XI. 3, 4, and the remainder of the page with IX. 9. XI. 1, 2.

[b] If we accept Geoffry of Monmouth's chronology, Arthur was succeeded by Constantine in the year 542. A prince of that name is mentioned by Gildas about the year 560; who, according to the 'Annales Cambriæ,' seems to have become a monk in the year 587. Whether the following tale of Haveloc was originally inserted by Gaimar in his history, or whether it was added at an indefinite period by a later hand, cannot now be determined; but, on either supposition, there can be little doubt that previously to its insertion it existed in a separate form, differing, to a certain extent, as well from that in which it is here found, as from the fuller narrative which, in the Arundel copy, follows Gaimar as a separate work. For although both have the same story in substance, and often contain lines exactly alike, yet, besides the different order in which the incidents are narrated, each has occasionally circumstances wanting in the other, and such too, it should seem, as would leave the story incomplete unless supplied from the other copy. Thus, the visit to the hermit, p. 768 [a], which is omitted in Gaimar, was probably in the original romance; for without it Argentille's dream tells for nothing: and in the Arundel copy there is a particular account of Haveloc's defence of a tower by hurling stones on his assailants, which here, at p. 772, is so obscurely alluded to as to be hardly intelligible. On the other hand, instead of the description of the extraordinary virtues of Sygar's ring in Gaimar, p. 773, it is merely said in the Arundel copy that Sygar would give his 'anel d'or' to whoever could sound the horn: and, to omit other instances, at p. 774 of Gaimar, a festival is described on the authority of 'l'Estorie,' of which no notice whatever occurs in the Arundel MS. This latter copy begins as follows:

'VOLENTERS deveroit l'om oir,
Et reconter, & retenir,
Les nobles fez as anciens,
Et les provesces & les biens.
Essamples prendre & remembrer,
Pur les francs homes amender.
Vilainies & mesprisions,
Ceo devereit estre li sermons
Dont l'om se deust chastier;
Car mult i ad mauvais mester.
Chescuns se garde come pur soi,
L'aventure d'un riche roi,
Et de plusurs autres barons,
Dont jeo vus nomerai les nons.
Assez briefment je vus dirrai,
L'aventure vus conterai.
Haveloc fut cil roi nomé,
E Cuaran est appellé.
Pur ceo vus voil de lui conter,
Et s'aventure remembrer,
Q'un lai en firent li Breton:
Si l'appellerent de son non,
Et Haveloc e Cuarant.
De son piere dirrai avant.
Gunter out non, si fut Danois;
La terre tint, si estoit rois.
En icel tems qe Arthur regna,
Vers Danemarche mer passa.
La terre vout souzmettre a soi,
Et le treu aver del roi.
Au roi Gunter se combati
Et as Danois, sis venqui.
Li rois meismes i fut occis,
Et plusurs autres del pais.
Hodulf l'occist par traison,
Qui touz jors out le queor felon.
Quant Arthur out finie sa guerre,
Hodulf dona tote la terre,
Et les homages des barons:
Puis s'en ala od ses Bretons.
Qe par destreit, qe par poour,
Hodulf servirent li plusour.
Tieus i out li quistrent mal
Par le consail Sigar l'estal,
Qui prodome fut & riche bier,
Et bien savoit guerroier.
Cil avoit le corn a garder,
Qe nuls homs ne pout soner,
Si dreit heir ne fust del lignage,
Sur les Danois par heritage.'

Haveloc.

Tant cum il [1]fu si poestis,
Edelsi [1]fu bien sis amis.
Mes [2]donc avint ke Adelbrict fu' mort
[3]Enz en la cité de [4]Teford[a].
A Colecestre [5]fu portez,
Iloc [6]fu li reis [7]enterrez :
E [8]Orewain e Argentille,
Co [9]fu la raine e sa fille,
En sunt alé [10]en Lindeseie,
A [11]son frere, [12]reis Edelsie.
[13]Li regnes ke' Adelbrict teneit
Li unt [14]liveré, que [15]garde en seit :
[16]Car la [17]raine ert enfermee,
Ne [18]mais vint jurs' ad duree
Apres Albrict : quant [19]fu finie,
Unt la [20]raine ensepelie ;
E Argentille [21]fu norie
A [22]Nicole, e en Lindeseie.
Si [23]com dit' l'antive gent,
Ele [24]n'out nul [25]cheval parent
De [26]par sun [27][pere] des Daneis :
[28]Oiez ke fit cel felons' reis.
Pur l'erité [29]k'il coveitat,
Sa [30]nece [31]mesmariat.
Il la [32]donat a un garcon,
Ki [33]Cuheran aveit a nun :
Pur co [34]k'abeisser la voleit,
Se purpensa [35]k'il li durreit.
Cil [36]Cuheran estait' quistrun,
Mes mult [37]par ert' bel [38]valetun.
Bel vis aveit, e [39]bele mains,
Cors [40]eschevi, suef e plains.
Li [41]sons semblanz ert tut tens [42]lez ;
Beles jambes [43]out, e bels piez.
Mes pur co que [44]hardi estait,
E [45]volunters se combateit,
N'aveit [46]valet en la [47]meison,
Si [48]lui feseit ahataison
E sur lui [49]comencast mellees,
K'il nel [50]rueit jambes levees :
E quant il [51]ben se [52]corucout,
De sa ceinture le liout :
E [53]si cil [54]donc n'aveit' guarant,
Bien le bateit a un [55]vergant.
E [56]nepurhoc tant [57]frans esteit,
Si [58]lui vallez li prometteit
[59]Ke pur [60]ico mains' nel amast,
[61]Ignelure le [62]deliast.
Quant il [63]se erent entrebaisez,
[64]Donc estait Cuharan haitez ;
E li reis e li [65]chevaler
[66]Li donouent' de lur [67]manger.
Asquanz [68]li donouent gastels,
Asquanz [69]quarters de simenels,
Les altres hastes e gelines,
Ki lur [70]veneint des quisines,
[71]Ke tant aveit pain e conrei,
[72]Ke dous [73]vallez aveit od sei :
E as [74]vallez de la [75]meisons
Feseit [76]sovent mult larges [77]dons,
[78]De simenels e de canestels,
E de hastes e de gastels.
Pur co [79]estait si [80]ben amez,
E si [81]preisez, e si loez,
N'aveit [82]frans hom en la meison,
Si [83]Cuheran en voleit [84]don,
[85]K'il ne lui donast volunters :
Mes il n'aveit [86]soing de luers.
De tant [87]doner com' il aveit,
Co [88]lui ert vis [89]ke poi [90]estait :
E quant il n'aveit [91]ke doner,
[92]Volunters l'alout enprunter :
Puis le [93]donout, e despendeit.
Co [94]k'enpromtout tresbien [95]soldout:
[96]Quant k'il aveit, trestut [97]dunout ;
Mes nule rien ne [98]demandout.
Il [99]ert issi, en la [1]meison,
[2]Esqueler a une quistron.

Il [1]quidout k'il' fussent si frere :
Mes ne lur [2]apartint son' pere,
Ne sa mere, ne [3]son linage,
Ne [4]n'estait de lur [5]parage.
[6]Purhoc s'il estait en tel' despit,
[7]Venuz esteit de gentil lit :
E si li reis [8]s'aparceust,
Ne [9]quid ke ja sa nece' eust.
Dunt il [10]ert nez pas ne saveit :
De lui [11]son jugleur feseit.[a]
Pur la terre [12]Albrict tolir,
Feseit sa nece od lui gisir ;
La fille al rei [13][en] povere lit.
Ore est mesters ke Deus ait :
Car ci out feit grant cruelté,
Pur coveitise de cel regné ;
Quant pur le regne sul aveir,
Honist sa nece, a son espeir,
[14]E la dona a son quistrun,
Ki Cuheran aveit a nun.
Cil ne saveit ke femme [15]estait,
Ne k'il fere [16]li deveit :
Tresk'il unkes el lit veneit,
Adenz giseit, si se dormeit.
Argentille ert en grant purpens,
Pur quei il giseit si adenz ;
E mult forment s'esmerveillout,
Ke unkes vers lui ne se turnout,
Ne ne la voleit aprismer,
Com home deit fere sa muller.
La nece [17]al rei se compleigneit ;
Sovent son uncle maldisseit,
Ki si l'aveit disherité,
E a un tel hom donee ;
Tant k'il avint a une nut,
K'il firent primes lur deduit.
Apres ico si s'endormirent :
Mult s'entreamerent, e joirent.
La fille al rei, en son dormant,
[18]Songat k'ele ert, od Cuherant,
Entre la [19]mer e un boscage,
U conversout un urs salvage.
Devers la mer veait venir
Pors e senglers, [20]prist asaillir
Icel [21]grant urs, ke [22]si ert' fier,
Ki voleit Cuheran manger.
Od l'urs aveit asez gopillz,
Ki puis le [23]jur ourent' perilz :
Car les senglers les entrepristrent ; Haveloc.
Mult en destruistrent, e oscistrent.
Quant li gopil furent destruit,
Cel urs, ke demenout tel bruit,
Un sul sengler, fier e hardi,
L'ad par son cors sul asailli.
Tel lui [24]dona del' une dent,
En dous meitez le [25]quer li fent.
Quant l'urs se sent a mort [26]ferii,
Un cri geta, puis est chaý :[27]
E li gopil vindrent corant,
De tutes parz, vers Cuherant,
Entre lur quisses lur [28]cuetes,
Les chefs enclins, [29]a genuletes ;
E funt semblant de merci quere
A Cuheran, [30]a ki' firent guere.
Quant il les out feit tuz [31]lever,
Envers la mer volt repairer.
Li grant arbre, ki el bois erent,
De totes [32]parz l'enclinerent.
La mer montout e li floz vint,
De si k'al bois [33]ne se tint.
Li bois [34]si chaeit, la mer veneit,
Cuheran ert en grant destreit.
Apres veneient dous leons :
Si chaeient a genullons.
Mes des bestes mult oscieient
El bois, ki en lur veie estaient.
Cuheran, pur pour k'il out,
Sur un des granz arbres montout :
E les leons vindrent avant,
Envers cel arbre, agenullant.
Par tut le bois out si grant cri,
Ke la dame s'en [35]eveilli :
E cum ele out ico sungé,
Son seignur ad fort enbracé.
Ele le trova gisant envers :
Entre ses bras si l'ad aers.
Pur la pour ses oilz overit,
Une flambe vit, ki [36]issit
Fors de la buche son [37]marri,
Ki uncore ert tut endormi.
Merveillat sei del avision,
E de la buche son baron,
E de la flambe k'ele vit :
Ore entendez k'ele [38]dit.

Haveloc. De vostre buche une flambe ist ;
Jo ne sai unkes [1]ki i mist.'
Tant l'enbrasca e trest vers sei,
K'il s'esveilla ; e dist : ' Pur quei,
Pur quei m'avez eveillé bele amie :
Pur quei estes [2]espontie ?'
Tant la preia, e tant la blandist,
K'ele li conta tut, et [3]regehit
De la flambe, e del avision
K'ele out veu de son baron.
Cuheran [4][l'en] respondi :
Del avision k'il oi,
Solum son sens, espeust le songe :
Kank'il dist, tut ert menconge.
' Dame,' [5]dist il, ' co serra bien,
Anbure a vostre [6]oes, e al mien.
Ore m'est avis ke co pot estre :
[7]Li reis tendra demain [8]sa feste ;
Mult i avera de ses barons.
Cerfs, e cheverels, e veneisons,
E altres chars tant i avera,
[9]E en la quisine [10]tant remaindra,
Tant en prendrom a espandant,
Les esquiers ferai manant
Des bons lardez e de brauns,
[11]Des [12]esqueles as baruns.
Li esquier me sunt aclin,
Ambure al vespre e al matin :
Cil signefient li gopil
Dunt vus songastes ; co sunt il.
E l'urs est mort, hier fu oscis ;
En un bois fu salvage pris.
Dous tors i ad pur les leons ;
E pur la mer, pernum les pluins,
U l'ewe monte come mer,
De si que freit la feit cesser ;
[13]La char des tors i serra quite :

Argentille, quant ot co dire ;
' Uncore avant me dites, sire,
Quei i cel fu put espeleir,
K'en vostre buche vi ardeir ?'

Ke co m'avient en dormant.'
[a]Dist Argentille : ' A moi entent :
Nus sumus ci hontusement.
Mielz nuz vendreit estre exillez
Entre [17]alienz, e [18]enpairez,
Ke ci gisir en tel hontage.
Amis, u est li ton linage ?'
' Dame,' fet il, ' a Grimesby :

[a] In the Arundel copy, the following lines, which connect the dream with the narrative, occur :

' Del sounge lessent a tant,
Puis s'endorment li enfant.
Mes lendemain la matinee,
Quant Argentille fut levee,
Un chamberlenc, qui fut od li,
Qui son piere avoit nurri,
L'avision dist & conta.
Icil a bien la tourna :
Puis li ad dit, en Lindesie
Estoit uns homs de seinte vie:
Heremite fut, en bois manoit.
S'a lui parlast, il lui dirroit
Del sounge, quei ceo porroit estre :
Car Dieu l'amoit, si ert prestre.
' Amis,' fet ele, ' mult te croi,
Pur amour Dieu vien od moi.
A cel heremite voil parler,
Si tu i voels od moi aler.'
Cil li otrie bonement,
Q'od lui irra priveement.
Une chape li affubla ;
Al heremitage la mena :
Al seint home la fist parler,
Et son corage tut mustrer,
Del songe dont ele out poour,
Et de la bouche son seignour,
Dont ele avoit le feu veu,
Mes ne savoit qui ceo fu.
Par charite li quiert et prie,
Q'il la conseilt, si l'en die
Son avis, & sa volenté.
Li heremites ad suspiré.
A Deu comence s'oreison :
Puis li dist del avision.
' Bele,' fet il, ' ceo qe sungé as
De ton baron, tu le verras.
Il est né de real lignage ;
Oncore avera grant heritage.
Grant gent fra vers li encline ;
Il serra roi & tu reyne.
Demande li qi fut son piere ;
Et s'il ad sorour ne frere :
Puis, si meint en lur contree.
Iloec orras la destinee
Dont ert nez, & dont il est :
Et Dieu del ciel vertu te prest,
Et te dount tieu chose oir,
Que te pusse a bien revertir.'
Argentille congé demande ;
Et li seinz homs a Dieu la comande.
Ele s'en vet a son seignur.
Priveement, & par amur,
Le demande ou il ert nez,
Et ou estoit sis parentez.
' Dame,' fet il, ' a Grimesby :
La les lessai quant jeo vinc ci.
Grim le peschere ert mon piere,
Saburc ad non, ceo quid, ma mere.'

[a] The passage here wanting probably described the meeting of Cuheran with Kelloc, his foster sister. In the Arundel copy the narrative proceeds thus:

'Sire,' fet ele, 'aloms querre,
Si deliverom au roi sa terre,
Dont il m'ad exillé a tort,
Et vus & moi; cil si demoert.
Mieuz voil aillors estre mendive,
Q'entre les miens estre cheitive.'
Coaran li ad respondu:
'Dame, tost i serroms venu.
Volenters vus merrai od moi.
Alom prendre congé au roi.'
Si firent il par matin:
Puis si mistrent au chimin.
Les II. fiz Grim amenerent,
A Grimesby s'en alerent.
Mes li prodoms estoit finiz,
Et la dame, qis out nurriz.
Kelloc sa fille i ont trovee;
Un marchant l'out esposee.
Il saluerent le seignur:
Si parlerent a lur sorour.
Il li demandent de lur piere;
Coment le fesoit lur miere?
Ele lur ad dit qe mort estoient;
Et li entrant grant doel fesoient.
Kelloc appella Coarant,
Si li demanda en riant:
'Amis,' fet il, 'par ta foi,
Ceste femme qu'est od toi,
Qui est ele? mult par est bele,
Est ele dame ou damoisele?'
'Dame,' fet il, 'rois Alsi,
Q'ai lungement ci servi,
La me dona des l'autre jor;
Sa niece est, fille de sa sorour.
Fille est au roi de grant parage:
Mes il la tout son heritage.'
Kelloc oit qe cil li dist;
Merveillouse pité li prist,
De ceo qe fiz a roi estoit,
Et de la femme q'il avoit.
Haveloc avant appella,
Et a consail li demanda,
Qui fiz il ert, s'il le savoit,
Si son parenté conoissoit?
Il li respont: 'Grim fut mon piere.
Tu es ma soer, cist sont mi frere
Qi sont ci od moi venu,
Bien sai qe nostre soer es tu.'

Haveloc. Respont Kelloc : ‘ Tut i ad el :
Unc [1]ton pere′ ne vendi sel,
Ne ta mere ne fu salnere ;
Grim vendi sel, si fu peschere.
De mes freres grant gré te sai ;
[2]De co kes as nuri te mercierai.
Hier arivat [3]leus al port,
Un grant kenart, e bon e fort.
Pain e char [4]menied, e vin e blé ;
[5]Di cel unt il mult grant plenté.
Ultre la mer volent passer.
Si vus volez od els aler,
[6]Jo quid k'il irrunt el pais
U sunt vos parenz, e vos amis.
Si vus volez od els aler,
Nus les vus prairums bien aluer.
Dras vus durrum a [7]remuers,
[8]Si porterez de nos deners,
E pain, e char, e bon cler vin,
Pur prendre al vespre e al matin.
Conrei averez tant cum voldrez,
Vos dous vallez od vus merrez ;
Mes celez ben vostre segrei :
Vus fustes fiz a un bon rei.
[9]Danemarche out par heritage,
Si out son pere e son linage.
Li vostre pere out nun [10]Gunter ;
Si prist la fille al rei [11]Gaifer,
[12]Alvive out nun ; ele me nuri ;
Maint ben me fit tant cum [13]vesqui.
[14][Ele me levad, co dist ma mere ;
Fille sui Grim, un sun cumpere.

Li reis Arthur, la vint conqueere,
Pur sun treu, que li detint ;
Od mult grant gent el pais vint.]
Al rei Gunter [semblad contraire ;]
Juste la mer li tint [bataille.]
Oscis i fu li reis Gunter,
E d'ambes parz maint chevaler :
Ki [a]Artur [15]volt, dona la terre.
Meis la reine, pur la guere,
Ne pout [16]en la terre′ remaneir ;
Si s'en fui od le dreit air.
Co estes vus, si cum jo crei,
Danz Haveloc, le fiz le rei.
Mis pere aveit mult bon nef ;
La raine amenout suef :
Vers cest pais [17]l'amenout,
Quant si avint, cum Deu plout,
De [18]utlagles fumes encontrez :
En mer furent trestuz ruez
Nos chevalers, e nostre gent,
E la raine ensement.
Unc [19]ne guari′ hom, fors mun pere,
Ne nule femme, fors ma mere.
Mis pere estait lur conussant ;
Pur co guarirent li enfant,
E jo, e vus, e mi dui frere,
Par la priere de mun pere.
En cest pais quant arivames,
Nostre grant nef par mi trenchames ;
Car tute [20]fu freite, e malveise,
Quant la raine fu oscise.
De nostre nef meison feimes :
Par un batel ben guarisimes,
Dunt nostre pere ala pescher.
Peison eumes a manger ;
Turbuz, salmuns e mulvels,
Graspeis, porpeis e makarels
A grant plenté ; e a fuison
Eumes pain, e bon peison.
[21][Del peissun cangium le pain,
Hom nous aportout a plain.
E cum nous eumes deniers,
Mis peres dunc devint salniers.
Tant cum vesqui, il e ma mere
Bien vus nurrit, mielz que mi frere.
E jo remis, si pris seignur,
Cil m'ad tenud a grant onur.
Marchant ert, mer sot passer,
E set bien vendre e achater.
En Danemarche fud le autreer,]
E a plusurs [oid preier,]
S'il [22]vus trovast′ ke [venissiez.]
E le pais chalengissez.
Bien vus loum ke turnez,
Vos dous vallez od vus menez ;
Pur vus servir saient od vus.
Si bien vus prent, mandez le nus :
Nus [23]siwerons, si vus volez,
Si Deu vus rent vos heritez.’
Dist [24]Haveloc, e sa mulier ;
‘ Nus vus rendrum mult bon luer ;
[25]Plus vus ferum′ ke ne [26]querez,
Si Deus nus rent nos heritez :
E les vallez od nus merrum ;
[27]Par Deu bien en penserom.’
Respont la dame : ‘ Veirement,

E si jo puis, ainz ke passez,
De meillur dras vestuz serrez.'
Cil remistrent donc, a sujur ;
Vestuz furent [1]par honur.
Tant sujurnent, ke vint l'oré,
E puis si sunt en nef entré.
E Dans [2]Algers, li marchanz,
Ad fet pur els li covenanz.
[3]Lur froc dona, il e Kelloc,
Pur la meisné Haveloc :
[4]E asez lur [5]i mist' vitaille ;
Tresk'a [6]treis meis ne [7]volt ke' faille.
Pain e vin, e char e [8]bon peisson,
[9]Lur mist el nef a grant fuson ;
E [10]treskes la nef flota,
Li esterman bien se dresca.
Dous niefs i out, tut verement ;
Lur [11]sigles drescent [12]al vent.
Tant unt nagé e governé,
K'en Denemarche sunt arivé.
En la contree u ariverent,
A une vile s'en alerent.
La quistrent somers e carrei ;
Mener i firent lur conreï.
Les marchanz sunt tuz remes,
[13]Od lur herneis, es dous nefs,
E Haveloc e sa moiller,
Vont a la vile herberger.
ILoc maneit uns riches hom,
Sigar [14]Estalre[a] aveit nun :
Seneschal [15]fu al rei Gunter,
E de sa terre justiser.
Maes ore [16]ert tels k'en peis teneit ;
E icel [17]riche rei forment haeit,
Ki donc ert reis [18]poestifs
Sur l'altre gent de cel pais,
[19]Pur son seignur, k'il aveit mort,
Par [20]la vertu de Artur le' fort ;
K'il out par treison mandé,
E cel pais li out doné.
Pur co k'il ert traitres e fel,
[21]Plus en' unt tenu [22][le conseil]
Ke ja od li ne se [tendrunt,]
Ne de lui terre [ne prendrunt,]
Desci k'il sache[nt del dreit eir,]
De sa vie u [de sa mort le veir.]
Cist [b]reis ki [donc ert el pais,]
Il [23]esteit [frere al rei [24]Aschis]
Ki pur Artur [25][suffrid la mort
La u Modret li fist tel tort :
Il ot a nun [26]Odulf le reis ;
Mult fud haiz de ses Daneis.
Si cum Deu plut, e aventure,
Deus mist en Aveloc sa cure,]
Pur sa moiller, ke trop ert bele,
La fille al rei, dame [27]Argentele.

Haveloc.

Sis bachelers donc l'asaillirent,
Pristrent [28]la dame,' lui ferirent ;
E ses vallez mult leidengerent,
En plusurs lius lur [29]chef bruserent.
Si cum [30]il s'en [31]unt od s'amie,
Danz Havelocs en out envie :
Prent une hache mult trenchant,
[32]K'en une meison trova pendant ;
Cels ad ateint en la ruele,
Ki menouent dame Argentile :
Treis en oscist, dous en tua,
E al siste le poing trencha ;
Prent sa femme, vint al ostel ;

[c] Here, in MS. A., only, is a blank space equal to six lines. The narrative may be thus connected from the Arundel copy :

'Tant ont travaillé & erré,
Qu'il parvienent a la cité
La ou le seneschal manoit ;
Au chastel alerent tut droit.
Le riche home en la curt troverent ;
Par charité li demanderent
Le conroi q'il lur otriast ;
Et q'amunt les herbergast.
Li senesceaus le lur granta :
Dedenz la sale les mena.
Quant fut houre del manger,
Et qe tuz alerent laver,
Li prodoms a manger s'assist ;
Les III. valez seeir i fist,
Argentille lez son seignur ;
Servi furent a grant honur.
Li bacheler & li esquier,
Qui servirent au manger,
La bele dame ont esgardee,
Et sa beauté forment loee.
En une part se truvent sis :
Ensemble ont lur consail pris,
Q'au valet sa femme toudront :
S'il s'en coruce, si le bateront.
QUANT il leverent del manger,
Li valez se vont herberger.
Li senescaus les fet mener
A un ostel, pur reposer.
Cil qui la dame ont coveitee,
Qi mult ert bele & enseignee,
Apres eus vont en une rue :
Au valet ont sa femme tolue.'

Haveloc. Prist ses vallez e sa moiller,
Si s'en entra en un muster ;
Ferma les us, pur la pour,
Puis monterent sus en le [1][tur].
Iloc aveit [2][tel defensail
Ja ni fust pris senz grant travail :
Kar cil tres bien se defendirent ;
Blescied i erent cels kis asailirent.
Quant Dan Sigar vint puignant,
Veit cum les pieres vait ruant.
Danz Avelocs, qui mult ert fort,
Les cinc Bricuns aveit il mort.
Sigar le vit, si l'avisat ;
Del rei Guntier dunc li membrat :
Tresqu'il unques l'ot choisid,
Unc pur ses humes nel haid :
A sun seignur resemblot,
Que quant le vit tel pitied en ot,
Qu'a mult grant paine pot parler.
Tut l'asalt ad fait cesser :]
Peis e trues lui afia,
[3]En sa sale l'en amena,
Lui e sa femme, e ses compaienz,
Les dous vallez, dunt dis ainz.
E quant furent aseurez,
Li riches hom ad demandez,
Ki il estait, e com ad nun,
E dunt erent si compaignon :
E de la dame demanda,
Dunt ele vint, e ki li dona.
' Sire,' fet il, ' ne sai ki sui :
En cest pais quid ke nez fui.
Un mariner, ki Grim out nun,
M'en menat petit valetun.
En Lindeseie [4]volt aler :
Com venimes en halt mer,
De uthlages [5]sumes asailliz,
Par ki sui si mal bailliz :
Ma mere i ert, si fu oscise ;
Jo guari, ne sai en quele guise ;
E li prodom en eschapa,
Ki me nuri, e mult m'ama :
Il e sa femme me nurirent,
E mult [6]me nurirent' e [7]cherirent.
Quant furent mort, si m'en turnai,
[8][Un rei servi] u jo alai ;
[9][E dous vadlez furent od mei

Dist li prodom : ' Cum as tu nun ?'
[13]' Sire, ne sai,' sil li respon,
' Mes [14]cum jo [15]sui en la curt grant,
Si m'apelerent Cuherant :
[16]E tant cum jo sui valleton,
Sai ben que Haveloc [17]eut nun.
A Grimesby [18]l'altr'er,
Haveloc m'apelat Alger ;
Ore sui ici, quel ke voldrez
De ces dous nuns [19]m'apelerez.'
Sygar s'estut, si escultat :
Del fiz le rei [20]bien li membrat.
[21]E icel nun dunt il [22]diseit,
Le fiz Gunter cel non aveit.
Si li membrat de un altre vice ;
Kil [23]vit jadis, par la nurice,
De la flambe ki ert issant
De sa buche, quant ert dormant.
La nuit le fist tres bien guaiter,
La u il just od sa muller.
Pur co k'il ert forment lassé
De la bataille, e del pensé
K'aveit eu le jor devant,
S'il s'endormi, nuls nel demant.
[24]Ignel-pas com [25]il dormi,
De sa buche la flambe issi.
[26][E li] [27]servant ki l'unt [28]guaité,
[29][A lur seignur l'unt] tost [30]nuncié.
[31][E li prodom levat del lit ;
Quant il i vint la flambe vit.
Dunc sot il bien que veirs esteit
Co que de lui pensez aveit.

Li mandat pur ses chevaliers,
Pur geldons e pur [1]peoniers.
De tutez parz i vienent asez.
Quant il en ot mult asemblez,]
Donc vait a Haveloc parler:
Baigner le feit e conreier.
De novels dras l'ad feit vestir:
En la sale le feit venir.
Com en la sale est entrez,
[2]U vist tant homes asemblez,
Pour out grant ke cele gent
Ne li fascent mal jugement:
Pur les cinc homes k'out tuez,
Quidat ke fussent asemblez.
Pur une hache [3]volt aler,
Ke iloc teneit un bacheler,
Saisir la volt pur sei defendre.
Sigar [4]le vait, si l'ad fet prendre.
[5]Com il le tindrent de tuz leez,
Sigar li dist: 'Ne vus dotez:
N'aiez guarde, li mien ami,
Bien le vus jure, [6]sil vus' afi,
K'ore vus aim plus ke ne fis hier,
Quant vus asiz a mon manger.'
Puis si l'asist delez sei;
Aporter feit le corn le rei.
Co fu le corn [7]al rei Gunter;
Suz ciel [8]n'aveit nul' chevaler
[9]Ke ja [10]cel corn' pust soner,
Ne venur, ne bacheler,
Si ke nuls ja corner l'oist,
Si rei [11]u dreit air [12]le feist:
De Denemarche le dreit air
Le [13]pot bien soner,' pur vair;
Mes altre home ja nel cornast:
Nuls hom pur nient [14]s'en traveillast.
Cel corn aveit Sygar guardé,
Li reis Gunter li out liveré.
Quant [15]le tint, nel pout soner:
A un chevaler le feit liverer:
[16]'Kil [17]sonerat k'il seit cornant,
[18]Si ke jo en saie oiant,
Jo li durrai un bon anel,
[19]Ki a besoin' [20][valt un chastel.]
[21]Celui ki en [sun dei l'aurad,]
[22]S'il chet' en [mer, ne neirad.]
Ne feu nel pot [23]de rien damager,
Ne nul arme nel pot nafrer:
[24]Tels com di est li anel.'

Ore vont corner le mainel, Haveloc.
Li chevaler e li sergant:
[25]Ne volt' soner, ne tant ne quant;
Unc pur nuls d'els ne volt soner.
Donc l'ont baillé al bacheler,
K'il apelouent le prison,
Ki Avelocs out non.
Quant cil le tint, sil eguardat,
E dist, ke unkes [26]ne cornat.
Al seignur dist: 'Lerrai ester;
Quant altre [27]home nel pot corner,
Tut vus claim quite vostre anel;
[28]Ne rois pener le meinel.'
Respont Sigar: [29]'Nun, ferez:
A vostre buche le metez.'
'Sire,' feit [30]cil, [31]'co ne vus ve;
[32]De mai serra ja aseie.'
[33]Donc prist le corn, si l'ad seigné;
A sa buche l'ad asaie.
Tresk'a [34]sa buche [35]le tuchat,
Le corn [36]tant gentement sonat,
Ke unc ne fu ainz oi [37]son per;
Nuls hom ne sout si bien corner.
Sygar l'entent; sailli en piez,
Entre ses bras l'ad enbracez.
Puis s'escriat: 'Deu seit loez,
Ore ai mon dreit seignur trovez:
Ore ai celui ke desirai,
Pur ki la guere maintendrai:
Co est li draiz airs, e la persone
Ki deit porter d'or la corune.'
Tuz ses [38]homes ad donc mandé:
Lores li firent felté.
Il meismes s'agenulla,
De fai tenir l'aseura.
Puis enveia pur [39]les barons
A ki cel reis aveit tencons.
[40]Tuz sunt ses homes devenuz,
E a seignur l'unt receuz.
Quant co unt fet, asemblent gent;
En quatre jurs en ont maint cent,
E al quint jor, des chevalers
Ourent il bien trente millers.
Li reis [41]Edulf donc deffierent:
En [42]un plein s'entrecontrerent.
Asez i out granz colps feruz:
Li reis Edulf fu dunke vencuz.
Car Haveloc si se contint,
Il sul en oscist plus de vint.

Haveloc. Dous princes [1]aveit el′ pais,
Ki ainz erent ses enemis,
E od Edulf s'erent tenuz:
Ore sunt a sa merci venuz.
Del pais la menue gent,
Vindrent a merci ensement;
E Haveloc lur fist pardons,
Par le conseil de ses barons.
Tuz jurerent sa felté
Li chevaler de cel regné,
E li prodome, e li burgeis,
De lui firent seignur e reis.
Grant feste tint, e grant baldoire,
Si cum nus dit la [2]verai estoire.
Apres sumond tute sa navire,
De son realme tute l'empire.
Od sa grant ost la mer passa;
[3]Li reis′ Edelsi donc deffia.
Co li manda, k'il le defie,
S'il ne li rend le drait s'amie.
[4]Li reis′ Edelsi [5]li remandat,
Ke [6]contre lui se combaterat.
[7]Combatirent sei′ en un plain,
[8]Del matin′ tresk'al [9]serain.
Mult i out homes [10]afolez
D'ambedous pars, [11]e mort rueiz,
Quant naire nuit les desevera,
Tresk'al demain, k'il ajurna.
Mes par conseil de la reine,
Ki enseignat une mescine
Certiz. [12]Par ki′ remist le mal [13]en la bataille,
Son regne out sanz [14]greignur [15][contraille.]
[a]Tute nuit fist [16]en terre ficher′ pels,
Plus gros e [17]granz ke tonels.
Les morz homes [18]en sus′ ficherent,
E tute nuit sus les drescerent.
Dous escheles en firent granz,
[19]Ke veirement [20]estait semblant
K'il fuissent combatanz e vifs:
Le jor devant erent oscis.
Home ki de loinz les esguardout,
Tute la char l'en hericout.
Ambure de loinz e de prez,
Hydus semblent morz desconfes.

Lendemain [21]se reparillerent;
De combatre mult s'aficherent.
[22]Les veors vindrent devant,
Veher la gent Dan Cuherant.
Quant unt veu [23]que tant en i a;
Tut la char [24]l'en′ herica:
Car encontre uns hom k'il aveient,
Del altre part set en vaient.
[25]Arere en vont al rei′ nuncier,
[26]Li combatre ni ad mester:
Rende [27][a] la dame son dreit;
E [28]fasce peiz′ ainz ke pis seit.
Li reis ne poit par el [29]aler,
Donc li estut co granter;
Car [30][si] baron li ont loé.
[31]Rendu li fut tut li regné,
Des Hoiland tresk'a [32]Lecestre.
Rei Haveloc la tin sa feste:
Les homages de ses barons,
Recuz par tut ses regions.
Puis apres [33]co, ke′ quinz dis
Ne vesqui li reis Edelsis.
Il [34]n'out nul eir si [35]dreiturer
Com Haveloc e sa muiller:
Il out enfanz, mes morz esteient.
[36]Li barnage′ [37][tresbien otr]eient,
Ke [Haveloc, e sa amis,
Ait la terre rei Edelsis.
Ja si ot il: vint anz fud reis:

[a] A similar stratagem is described by Saxo-Grammaticus, p. 67. Ed. 1644.

[b] With the year 495 Gaimar begins to use the Saxon Chronicle. He omits whatever precedes the arrival of Cerdic, because, apparently, his design was to describe the succession of the West-Saxon kings: and, if such was his scheme, it would seem to strengthen the supposition that the story of Haveloc did not form a part of the original work. In the following genealogy the Saxon patronymic is sometimes mistaken for a descent: and some names are inserted which do not occur elsewhere. Compare the Saxon Chron. An. 552.

E Elese fu fiz Esling,
Esling fiz Eslage, fiz Wising,
Fiz Gewis, fiz Wigening,
Fiz Wilte, frere a Winsing,
Fiz Fretewine, fiz Freodagaring,
Fiz Freodegar, fiz Brending,
Fiz Brand, fiz Beldeging,
Fiz Beldeg, nez Winhing:
Beldeg fu del linage Wodnez,
De ki linage Hors e Henges furent nez.
De lur linage furent nez
Cels ki furent apelez
Le Westsexiens, e le Suthsexiens,
E les Estsexiens, e le Midelsexiens.
Mes pur co ke Henges e Hors,
E Certiz, ki apres lur morz
Ki vindrent en la terre,
E tant sovent i firent guere,
Furent de cest real linage,
Cels e lur barnage,
E nez del pais ki Ange ad nun,
Engleis tuz les apela hom.
[1] VINTEQUATRE[a] anz dura la guere,
Ainz ke Certiz [2]poust conquere
Sur les Bretons gueres de chose:
[b]I donc ert Cirecestre [3]close.
[4]Mes par la mesguarde [5]as Bretons,
Fust alumé par [6]mussons;
Ki feu e [7]suffre dedenz [8]porterent,
E [9]des meisons [10]mulz alumerent:
E li seges ki [11]dehors fu,
Firent l'asalt par grant vertu.
Donc fu cele cité conquise,
E Gloucestre [12]refu prise.

[14]Tuz les meillurs Bretons oscistrent,
E [15]de la mer, u ariverent,
Tresk'[16]a Saverne, [17]a [18]els turnerent
Tut le pais, e le regné;
E les Bretons en unt [19]chascé.

[c]QUINZ anz regna li reis Certiz: Chenriz.
Apres sa mort regna Chenriz.
[20]Fiz fu Certiz, mult guereia,
E grant [21]peis a sei turna:
E les Bretons mult le [22]haeient,
[23]E sovent [24]rancone li feseient.
Les altres Engleis s'espandirent:
En plusurs lius regnes saisirent.
Si com [25]Breton [26]erent ainceis,
Chescon se fesait apeler reis.
De ultre mer [27]Seisnes venaient;
Com arivoeient tut perneient:
E [28]les Bretons, par la lur guere,
[29]Estut guerpir la bone terre.
[30]Envers Wales en l'occident,
U erent lur altre parent,
S'en alouent, e la fuaient.
[31]I cel pais [32]ben defendirent,
E [33]mult sovent ost asemblouent;
[34]Ultre Saverne les menouent.
[35]Si guereioent les Engleis,
Chenriz, lui e les altres [36]reis,
[37]E mult sovent si combatirent,
E lur pais [38]ben cher vendirent.
[d]EN Norfolc erent les Daneis
Del tens ke Haveloc fu reis:
Si defendeient [39]cel pais,
E cel ki [40]fu al reis' Edelsis:

[a] See the Saxon Chronicle, A. 519, the twenty-fourth year from the arrival of Cerdic.

[b] The narrative of the Saxon Chronicle is here mixed with that of Geoffry of Monmouth amplified, or perhaps with a story derived from materials used by him. In the Chronicle, under the year 576, the conquest of Cirencestre is joined with the taking of Gloucester and of Bath; but here that event is identified with the destruction of Cirecestre by fire, assigned to the time of Ceretic by Geoffry, XI. 8. The device of the sparrows is thus noticed in his 'Vita Merlini:'

'Idem Karkeii circumdabit obsidione,
Passeribusque domos et mœnia trudet ad imum.'

Wace, in his version of Geoffry's History, describes it very fully: according to his account, the conflagration was effected by tying nutshells filled with combustibles to the legs of the birds.

[c] An. 534. Sax. Chron. For the successive battles between the Britons and the Saxons, compare the Chronicle from the year 552 to 597: in Gaimar, however, their order is sometimes inverted.

[d] Haveloc is here again mentioned in connection with the transactions of certain Danish princes, of whom no earlier notice has occurred.

[e] Cynric reigned from A. 534 to 560. The battle here noticed seems intended for that of Beranbyrig. Sax. Chr. A. 556.

Furent alez en cele nuit,
Quant [30]Cude° e Cuelins' li reis,
Mistrent en fuie les Kenteis.
Reis Edelbrit fu descunfiz ;
Ses dous barons furent oscis :
Mort i furent si [31]dui baron,
Oslaf e Cnebbe [32]ourent cil non.
Cil Cude fu frere Ceulin :
[p]Bretons venqui un jor matin
A Bedeford ; la les venqui.
Treis bons receis donc lur toli :
Aylesbyres, e Besingtone,
E donc la cité de Luitune.
[33]Entre Ceulins e [34]Cude, son frere,
Firent as Bretons male here.
A [35]Scorham[q] treis reis oscistrent,
[r]Si com li [36]livere ancien distrent,
[37]Coimagil e Candidant,
Farinmagil, un rei poant :
Donc [38]si conquistrent Gloucestre ;
Si pristrent Badhe e [39]Cirecestre.

A els vindrent en la contree
Ki out non [1]Feadetanlee[a].
Cuda i oscistrent li Breton ;
[2]Vont puis′ a grant perdicion :
Destruit furent e descunfiz ;
Li reis Ceulin ad tut saisiz,
E lur [3]herneis, e lur avers,
E lur tresors, e lur maners.
Donc fu mort li reis d'Evrewiz[b] ;
Si firent rei de Edelfriz[c].
Edelfriz fu reis [4]e vaillanz ;
E Edelriz ne fu [5]reis fors [6]cinc anz ;
[7]Edelfrid fu del linage [d]Ida.
[e]Mes Danz Ceulin, Quuicelm e Cridan
[8]Furent alé de ceste vie.
[f]Uns reis d'Escoce fist [9]estucie,

Ceolwulf. EDELFRIT ert [1]nobles e poant,
[2]Si ert reis de' Northumberland.
A [3]Leicestre[a] [4]grant ost' mena;
Maint Briton iloc [5]trova.
Od els idonc se combati;
Mult en oscist, tuz [6]les venqui.
Dous cenz prestres vindrent orer,
Les morz [7]voleient enterrer;
Cil refurent el champ oscis,
Nes un [8]tut sul [9]n'en alat vifs.
Brocmail icist reis out non,
Sei cinquantisme compaignon
[10]Fui, cum home desbaraté:
[11]Si remansist, si fust tué.
Saint Austins par prophecie,
Si[b] com escrit est en sa vie,
Aveit co dist, e ben [12]pramis:
'Tuz les Bretons de cel pais,
Ki la [13]troue freindre' voldrunt,
[14]Es mains [15]de Seisnes' perirunt.'
Isci fu ben [16]sa prophecie
E asummee, [17]e aemplie.
Idonc[c] fu mort li reis de Kent,
Co fut damage a [18]mute gent:
[19]Son fiz regna, [20]Edelbald,
[21]En Crestienté [22]tut [23]se defalt:
[24]Cinquante treis anz out regnez
[25]Edelbrit, li' reis preisez.
Une femme out; son fiz la prist:
E l'arcevesque le contredist;
Laurent out non, guerpir voleit
L'arcevesqué: [26]car cure [27]n'aveit
De consentir [28]le rei' si a errer,
[29]Ne tel [30]awoterie a demener.
SEINT Pere vint, a lui parlat:
[31]Asez al rei [32]comandat,
Ke lest ester cest heresie,
Si [33]maint [34]bonté, [35]ament sa vie.
Cil s'en turna liez e joianz;
Tant ad parlé en sarmunant
Ke li reis [36]prist Crestienité,
E ama [37]sens e honesté.
E quant li reis fu adrescez,
Li arcevesque [38]s'en feit' liez.
Ne demorat gueres longement
Ke [39]ne transit li bon Laurent.
Pres del sarcu l'unt [40]donc posé
[41]Seint Austins, [42]l'out comandé;
Si com [43]il ainz l'amat en vie,
Ore lui refasce compaignie.
[d]DONC fu Melites amené:
A arcevesque l'ont sacré.
Quant cil de Lundres le perdirent,
Crestieneté [44]deguerpirent.
[45][Apres l'arcevesque Mellit,
Idunc si fud Justin eslit,]
Li [46]eveskes de Roucestre,
A [47]Cantorbirs en firent meistre;
[48]E a Romain donent le sie
De Roucestre, e l'evesché.
[e]Reis Edelfrid, en icel tens,
Fu donc oscis, si cum jo pens:
Readwald l'oscist, li reis d'Estengle;
Nortfolc, Sutfolc, e Estsexe[49]out ensemble:
Co ert le regne k'il tenait,
Icist Readwalt saisi l'aveit.
[50]E quant fu morz reis Edelfrid,
Edwine [51]Elline ad' tut saisi.
Tute Bretaigne idonc conquist:
Asquanz chasca, asquanz oscist
[52]Des gentilz homes de la terre,'
Com home ki [53]voleit conquere.[54]
Mes cil de Kent tindrent lur dreit,
E funt la guere a grant espleit.
EDELFRID fu del linage Ide,
Si [55]si enfant [56]out bon aide.
[57]Nul hom n'ad' tel dreit en la terre;
Perdue l'ont, si en firent guere.
Ore vus dirrai cum ourent non
Les fiz Edelfrid le baron.
[f]Heanfrid out nun tut [58]l'aignez,
Li altre Oswald, uns hom amez,
Li tierz apelerent Oswi,
Li quart Oswude, issi le vus di,
Li quint Oslaf apelat l'om,
Li siste Offe, co fu son nun;

[a]Quintelin li reis li guerreiout,
De lui trahir mult se penout.
Un traitur i enveia
Pur li oscire, [1]co pensa;
[b]Emor out nun cel traitur:
Oiez cum fist grant deshonur.
Tant fist cet home de [2]putorine,
[3]Par nuit vint en la chambre Edwine.
A [4]un cultels' cest mal felons
[5]I oscist dous gentilz barons,
E [6]reis Edwine [7]mult naffra:
D'iloc [8]tresbien [9]puis' eschapa.
Fordhere e Liban[c] sunt oscis:
Tresbien [10]furent ensepeliz.
La fille Edwine la nuit fu nee:
Li reis pramet k'ele ert levee.
Par [11]tel [12]covenant a Deu l'ad pramis,
K'il vengance [13]ai des' enemis
Ki [14]cest felon' li envaierent,
E ses amis Deu [15]en preirent.
E PUIS quant out cest pramis,
[16]Ost mena sur ses' enemis,
[17]E as' Westsexe les encontrat:
Fiere bataille lur liverat.
Cinc reis iloc recurent mort,
De ceus ki fet li ourent tort.
Sa fille ad [18]puis a Deu donee;
[d]Heanflet l'ont [19]li parent nomee.
Unze altres enfanz i out levez,
Si com li reis l'out comandez.
Co fu en Pentecoste fet:
Paulins fu mestre [20]de cest plet.
E aprez co, en Paskerez,
Les [21]funt furent bien [22]benez.
[e]Li reis idonc fu baptizé,
[23]E confermé, e primsené,
E od lui tuz cels del pais.
[24]Co fu feit a [25]Everwiz[f];
La ou il ainz out donee
Le liu a Saint Pere, en poesté.
[26]A Sainz Paulin [27]fu cel evesché:
Com erceveske tint le see.
LE reis Pentat donc recout regne,
Tut le [28]realme de Mercenne.

[29]Cil[g] guerreia encontre dous reis, Quicelm.
E anz, [30]e dis, e plusurs mais;
Co fu Quinzheline e Kenegilz: Kinegilz.
Maint home mistrent en exiliz.
Puis avint [31]k'a Cirecestre
Une bataille entr'els dut estre.
Mes donc avint mult gentement;
[32]Kar feit [33]fu acordement.
[h]Apres [34]ico ne demorerent,
Ke tuz lur homes [35]asemblerent;
E lur homes, e lur amis,
E [36]quanke purent [37]el pais.
[38]Encontre Edwine en sunt alez:
En Hedfelde l'ont encontrez.
[39]Mult [40]par i out maint home oscis;
E detrenché e feit cheitifs:
Mal me serreit tut a redire
Com li uns [41]l'autre volt oscire;
Mes li ferirs entr'els ne fine
Treske [42]mors fu' reis Edwine.
Ceadwale [43]out nons' [44]cil [45]kil oscist:
Li reis Pentan le chef en prist.
Osfrid son fiz i refu mort;
Fuiant s'en vont la gent del Nort.
Cil vont apres od lur gent grant:
[46]Tut destruisterent Northumberland.
PAULINS ki arcevesque estait,
Ot ke li [47]tort venqui le dreit:
Mult li pesa ke li paen
Ourent destruit li Crestien.
Donc [48]li avint' tut a [49]deguerpir,
[50]En mer [51]entra pur sai guarir.
La raine mena od sei,
Ki fu femme Edwine le rei.
Edelburg out nun veirement;
Par mer alerent tresk'en Kent.
Eadbald li reis [52]bien les recuilli,
[53]Mult [54]honora Paulins e joi.
Quant arcevesque ne pot estre,
Evesque [55]en fit' a Roucestre:
Tut son vivant i conversa;
E la raine Deus ama.

Kinegilz.
Chenewal.

[1]Firent [2]lur′ rei d'un gentilhom,
Fiz Edelfrid, [a]Heanfrid out non.
E en cel [3]ee, [4]cil de Everwiz
Refirent rei de Oseriz.
[5]E les barons de Northumbreis
[b]Del bon Osewald firent lur reis.
En icel tens ki veir volt dire,
Receut Kenegilz [6]baptisterie,
Li reis ki Westsexe teneit ;
Un altre rei idonc aveit.
A Dorkecestre fu leved,
Uns evesques l'ad confermed :
Berin out nun [7]kil baptizad,
Li reis Osewalt [8]donc [9]le levat :
[10]E ainz ke li anz fust passez,
Refu [c]Quinzeleine levez.
[d]Eadbalt morust li reis de Kent ;
Vint [11]e quatre′ anz [12]tint casement.
Ercherbricht[e] out nun [13]un son fiz :
[14]Celui unt [15]donc a rei′ choisiz.
E celui juna primes Quaresme :
Nul rei Engleis nel tint [16]ainz [17]ensemble.
Cestui tint Paskes tut primer ;
Engleis nel volt ainz comencer.
Il prist moiller, Sexburc out nun,
Fille [18]al rei Ane, uns′ nobles hom.
[19]Erkenbright [20]en out une fille,
Cele fu bele amirabille.
[21]Echenegode[f] l'apelat l'om ;
Mult maintent bien religion.
En icest tens [22]ke cist estaient,
[23]E sainte lai [24]bien mainteneient,
[g]Donc fu oscis [25]un reis vaillant,
Oswald, ki tint Norhumberlant.
A Meserfeld l'ocist Pentan,
Puis k'il fu [26]reis en′ nofisme an.
A Bardeneie [27]en fu porté,
[28]Son cors i fu bien enterré.
Sur Saint Cudbert la gist son chef,
A Durelme est, co dist li [h]bref :
[29]Sa[i] main a Burg tut enter ;
Cil [30]kil guarde l'ad′ mult cher.

[31]E cil tens dunt ci vus di,
[k]Chenewold [32]fu donc [33]a reis choisi ;
Cil de Westsexe [34]en firent reis
[35]Trente un an, sur Engleis.
[36]Il comencat prodom a estre :
Le musters fist fiere a Wincestre.
[37]Kenegilsing fu son surnun,
Il fu del linage a barun.
[l]Apres Oswald Oswy fu reis,
[38]Il regnat sur′ les Northumbreis :
[39]Vint e huit anz regna, nient [40]mains ;
Les lais asist, si ama pais.
Cestui fu frere Osewald li reis :
[41]Bien le maintindrent′ Norhumbreis.
[m]Par li fu [42]mort li reis Oswine,
Le fiz al uncle al rei Edwine,
Co fu [n]frere reis Osriz ;
Lur pere out nun reis [o]Edelriz.
Oswine ne fu reis que seit anz,
Idonc morust ; e Aidanz,
Uns evesques [43]mult vaillanz,
[44]Fust apres lui translatanz :
[45]Entr'els [46]n'en out ke dusze jorz.
Par cel saint cors [47]orent les sorz :
'Saint Aidan, il nus ait,
E Saint Osewald, dunt [48]il ad l'escrit.'
[p]Oswy li reis, [49]apres un an,
A [50]Winwitfel oscist Pentan :
Od lui out oscis [q]trentre treis
Gentilz homes, [51]tuz fiz a reiz :
E [52]reis i out asquanz oscis :
Un [53]i out de [54]mult grant pris ;
De Estengle esteit, [r]frere [55]al marchis,
Ki donc [56]teneient le′ pais.
En icel tens fu anombres
Com bien del secle esteit alez,
Cinc mil anz e huit [57]cenz [58]cinquante ;
Donc receust Peade honur [59]vaillante.
Cil de Mercc le firent reis,
Car il estait des [60]Wencingeis.[s]
Cinquante [61]e sis anz, co contum,
E siz cens anz ovec metum,

Del Incarnacion Jesu
[a]Tres [1]k'al jur' ke Peade oscis fu.
Wolfhere [2]Penting[b] firent reis,
E il regnat sur les Merceis.
Idonc si fu la grant bataille
A Peonum, par grant contraille :
[c]Wlfhere [3]idonc Bretons [4]chasca ;
Tresk'a Pedredan [5]contr'els chevalcha.
Co fu puis que de [6]Estengle vint,
E par exil trais anz [7]se tint.
Li reis Pendan l'out dechascé,
Desherité [8]e toleit son [9]fié,
Pur co k'il sa sorur guerpi :
Ses heritez trais anz perdi.
Puis refist cist altre bataille
[10]Prof de [d]Cestre, [11]al reis [12]Cenwaille :
Co fu a Bosentebiri,
[13]U a Wlfhere mult toli.
[14]Tut Esendune ad donc purpris ;
A Wlfhere [e]tost cel pais.
Li reis [f]Gudret ert del linage
Al rei [g]Quinzeline, [15]si fu sage.
Entre lur e le reis Kenbrit,
Tut [16]purpernent l'ile de With.
Puis ke l'yle fu si preié,
Li reis Wlfhere l'ad doné
A Edelwold, [17]u a' son fillol,
Cil ert reis de Suthsexol ;
E les Witteis fist baptizer
Par lui [18]el comencail' primer.
[h]Donc [19]revint a' nuit [20]le jor ;
Si fu mortalité major :
Tel ne fu ainz ne puis cel tens.
Tuda l'esvesque, al mien purpens,
Il fu donc mort, co sai de [21]fi,
E a [i]Paggle fu enfui.
E Erchenbert, li reis de Kent,
Refu donc mort ensement :
[k]Hecburch [22][son fiz] saisi le regné.
Donc tint l'arcevesque [23]son [l]senee ;

E Coleman,' e ses compaignons, Cenwalh.
En vont a lur possessions :
E Ceadda fu donc [24]leveiz a evesque,
[25]Il e Wlfriz l'arcevesque.
[26]Cel an un arcevesque transit ;
Cil out [27]nun Deus-dedit.
[28]E Vitalianus l'apostoilé
[29]Fist arcevesque de [m]Teodorie.
Li reis Ecbricth a Bas le prestre
Donat [30]la cure[n], [31]mes il nel' volt estre.
Donc morust Oswi li bon reis :
Grant doil en firent Norhumbreis.
Ecferd[o] son fiz [32]rendent l'onur ;
Reis en firent e dreit seignur.
E Theodorie fist donc evesque
Del [33]cler [p]Lohier par tut' Westsexe.
[34]Sis cenz anz e seisante un[q]
[35]Out donc del Incarnation :
Donc combatirent les oiselleuls
Par vallees e par muncels ;
Tant en i out morz e oscis,
Ke co fu dit que nuls n'est vifs.
Li reis Kenwalh un an [r]apres
Fu mort ; son tens ne fu mes.
E puis derichef, en l'altre an,
Sexburg transit, [s]la fille Anan.
El tierz an [t]Ecbrith mort fu :
E [36]une sue ante,' Seint [u]Adeldru,
[37]Nonaine estait,' si amout Deu,
En [38]Ele perz' la est lur [39]liu.
En icel tens [40]lurent Westsexien
Esewine, out nun [41]Chenfusien[x] ; Escwine.
Cil estait hairs, si en firent [42]reis.
Wlfhere [43]od tut ses' Merceneis
Se combati, il e sa gent,
Al [y]Chef de [44]Bede, verrement.
Asez i out [45]homes oscis,
Al rei Wlfhere [46]en estut' pis :
Plus i perdi k'il ne conquist,
Fol conseil out quant il l'enprist.

Escwine. [1]Puis ne vesqui [2]k'un sul' an,
[3]Ne nuls ne [4]siwit rien' de son ban.
Donc firent Edelret seignur
Li Mercien, par grant honur.
[5]Cil fu prodom, si [6]leust,
[7]E si [8]encombres si grant [9]ne fust :
Meis en [a]icel [10]an k'il' rei fu feit,
Od sa grant ost en Kent [11]veit ;
Par le pais homes oscist,
Arst e [12]guasta, grant preies prist.
E en cel an fu mort [13]Oswine[b] :
Centwine. Tote Westsexe saisi Chenwine.
[c]Donc [14]s'aparit une comete,
Une esteile ki li prophete,
E li clerc astronomien,
Quant se demostre, [15]sevent bien
Ke Deus cel signe fet [16]veir,
[17]Pur co' que [18]li puple [19]deit saveir,
Ke li asquanz ne funt nient
De tut [20]le son comandement ;
Ne ses [21]feels n'en ont entr'els peis :
Encontre dreit se [22]funt il reis ;
[23]Par irasce ses serfs travailent,
De tut dreit fere se defaillent.
Pur co [24]se demustra cel signe ;
[25]Tres mais la virent clere e digne :
Par tote Bretaigne fu [26]voue ;
Com rai de solail fu estendue.
Le plus del rai qant s'estendeit,
[27]Sur[d] Sen Wlfrei veneit [28]tut dreit :
Quel part que l'arcevesque alast,
Od lui la comete turnast.
Ecfred li reis l'ad deschascé ;
Dous evesques mist en son sie.
Bos [29]asist sur Deirum,
E [30]Ethan[e] sur [31]Bernicon :
E Seint Wlfrei ala a Rome ;
[32]Si se contint cum [33]uns sainz home.
Le tierz evesque unt ordené,
[34]Lindesware li unt doné :
[f]Hecce out nun ; unkes ainceis
N'urent evesque iloc Engleis.
Donc fu oscis un gentil hom
Sur Trente, Elfwine aveit a non,
A la bataille de dous reis :
Li uns fu [g]Hecferd [35]le Norhumbreis,
Li altres Edelred out non,
Mercenelande ert son region.
Saint [36]Edeldrud idonc transit ;
Colesdesburg idonc bruit,
Li feus celestres l'alumat ;
Si com Deu plout, issi alat.
Dous anz [h]apres [37]Seinte Hilde morut,
De Strieneshalle abbesse fut.
[38]E en cel [i]an fu la bataille
Del [39]barnage de Cornewaille
E des Bretons ; a ki Kentwine
Fit fuir tresk'a la marine.
Dous anz [k]apres, Ecferd li reis
[40]Enveiat [41]ost' sur Escoteis :
Cil destruirent [42]tut par [43]cruelté,
Devant els n'ert muster tensé.
Arstrent musters e chapeles,
[44]Moillers honirent e puceles.
Cinc anz [l]apres li reis Ecferd
Fit evesque de Seint Cuthberd ;
L'arcevesque Theodur
Benesqui icel seignur
En Everwich ; la le sacrad
A [45]Hectilham[m], la l'enveiat ;
Car iloc eirt li mestre sé
Idonc de tut l'arcevesqué,
[46]E Wilfrei ert' deposez,
[47]Ki arcevesque out estez.
Ecferd li reis, en icel [n]an,
Oscistrent li [48]Orkenan,
[49]E mult grant gent la furent mort,
Ultre la mer, devers le Nort.
Ecferd regna quinze anz de [50]fi,
[51]Apres fu reis son frere Ealdfrid.
En icel [52]tens [53]Heota[o] transid.

Grant pece i fu, [1]puis s'en [2]turnat,
Wilfrei son prestre [3]iloc lessat:
Cil fu [4]a evesque' sacré,
E Seint Jon s'en est alé
A Berverlai, a son muster:
Tant servi Deus que mult [5]l'out cher.
[6]E[a] en son tens [7]si fist Cedwale[λ],
[8]Pur son regne, guere mult male.
E en cel [9]an k'il [10]guerreia,
Li reis Lodhere devia:
Cil fu prodom e nobles reis;
[11]Si tint [12]tuz jorz sur' [13]les Kenteis.
[14]Apres[b] sa mort Mol e Ceadwale
Firent en Kent guere mult male:
Arstrent, tolirent e roberent;
L'isle de With trestut preierent.
Apres ico en icel [c]an,
Firent Kenteis a Mol [15]haan.
Sai duszime compaignons
Arstrent en feu, cum felons.
Ceadwale mult s'en coreca.
Cel an mesmes Kent roba.
[16]Apres[d] co' ala a Rome,
E l'apostoile le fist prodome:
[17]En funz tresbien' le baptizat,
[18]Peres idonc si l'apelat:
Ne mais huit jors [19]apres vesqui;
El muster fu enseveli:
Co fu unze jors devant Mai.
D'un altre rei [20]parlerai,
[21]Ine[×] out non, co [22]oi dire,
Westsexien en firent sire.
[23]Trenteseit anz cel rei regna,
E puis a Rome s'en ala.
Iloc fu [24]tuz jors' remanant
[25]Desk'al jor de son moriant.
[26]L'arcevesque Theodorus
Transit cel an[e], ne vesqui plus:
E de Raculve li abbé,
[f]Bruthpat, fu en cel liu posé.
Dous reis en Kent idonc aveit;
Li uns Wihtret nomé esteit,
[27]Sunheart[g] [28][li autres] out non.
Donc transit l'evesque [29]Gefmun[h],
E Tobian receut son sied.
Drithelm morust, Deu gracied:
E cil de Kent unt doné
Trente mil unces de or [i]poisé,
Pur l'arson ke de Mol firent;
Al rei Hinne tut co rendirent.
E [30]Withret firent lur rei
La gent de Kent, solum [31]la lei:
Trente anz regna e tint [32]terre,
Tres bien [33]abati sa guere.
[k]Donc out del Encarnacion,
Seit cens e quatre anz, co lisom,
Li reis de Merce, Edelret,
[34]Prist dras de moigne: mes Chenret
Puis apres li regna, e tint.
Del rei Ealfrid [l]donc mesavint:
Il ert sire de Norhumbreis;
A Drifelde fu mort li reis.
Osret son fiz apres regna,
Si cum son pere devisa.
Un an apres cil de Westsexe
[35]Del bon [m]Ealdelm' unt feit evesque:
Dous eveskez [36]firent donc' de une,
Tut par l'esgard de la [37]commune.
L'un eveské tint Daniel;
L'altre out [38]Ealdelf[m], ki mult fu bel.
Apres [39]Ealdelf[m] [40]Fordhere vint;
Par grant honur l'evesqué tint:
[41]Forhere tint en l'occident,
E Daniel en l'orient:
Bois out entr'els e forez grant,
Mes ambdous furent mananz:
L'un est l'evesqué de Wincestre,
A [n]Salesbires dait l'altre estre.
[o]Devant [42]co ert avenu,
[43]Ultre le' Humbre, devers le Suth,
Vindrent [44]iceus ki la raine
Ostrut oscistrent; e sa cusine,
Reis Edelret, ert son seignur,
Ecfred son frere, [45]ele sa sorur.
Bearth[p] fu oscis par les Pictais.
Kenret[q] regna sur Suthhumbreis:
[46]Co est Lindeseye e Holmedene,

Ine. [1]Del Humbre tresk'en Roteland
Durout cel regne, e plus avante.
Par plusurs [2]faiz fu la devise:
[3]Tels lius i out dreit a Tamise.
Le [4]clef del regne [5]soleit estre
A la cité de Dorkecestre,
E Huntendone e [6]le conté,
[7]Soleit estre de cest regné:
Neis la [8]meité de Grantcestre
[9]I fut jadis, e [10]devereit estre.
[11]Bel [12]s'en poeit' uns reis guarir,
S'il [13]co poust en peis tenir.
En icel tens les Mercenneis
Firent Ceolred [14]seignur e' reis.
[15][Le reis] Chenret[a] alat a Rome,
E Offe od lui, un gentil home.
Chenret [16]i remist tresk'a [17]la fin;
Iloc transit [18]par Deu destin.
En icel an, [19]sai bien e vei,
A Undele [20]fu mort' Saint Wlfrei.
Son cors fu conduit a Ripon;
La [21]teneit l'om' bien religion.
Quarante cinc anz, co est escrist,
Evesques fu [22]jadis elit.
Icel prodom, [23]icil Wlfrei,
[24]Dechacat Ecferd le rei:
E apres[b] lui [25]Acce, son prestre,
Remist el liu pur evesque estre.
En icel [26]an Dan Berefrid
Od les [27]Picteis se combatid,
Entre [c]dous ewes, Hese e Ciere,
[28]En la bataille fort e fere.
E [29]Ine e Nun, son cosin,
Tindrent bataille a Gerentin;
Un rei de Wales cil ert fort:
De [30]tut son dreit [31]li firent' tort.
[32]Et Sibald fu cel an oscis;
Uns [33]riches home ert del pais.
En icel tens Gudlac esteit;
Uns [34]hom ki Dampne' Deu serveit:
Ki la vie de lui vereit,[d]
Mainte miracle i trovereit.

In [e]e Ceolret firent martyre

A [37]Wodnesberghe, en la bataille.
Un an[f] apres, [38]ke di' senz faille,
Donc fu oscis Osred li reis,
[39]Ki regnat [40]sur les Norhumbreis,
En la [41]marche [42]devers midi:
Reis fu seit anz, si cum jo qui.
Donc firent cil de Chenret reis:
Dous anz [43]tint regne' e [44]demi meis.
Donc la [45]retint Osric unze anz.
Celred de Merce li reis vaillands,
Transid cel an, co est acontez;
A Lichesfeld fu [46]enterrez.
E Edelred Pending, li reis,
Enporterent les Merceneis:
A Bardenei l'enterrerent.
A [47]Edelbald Merce donerent:
Cil regnat quarante un anz,
Asez out guere e [48]grant haan.
[49]Uns riches hom, Ecbert out nun,
En icel tens, par bel sarmon,
Se prist a Deu e a Saint Pere;
En oraisons e en praiere

Quant Daniel a Rome ala,
Li evesque ke Deus ama.
Chenewlf fu cel an oscis,
Un fiz de rei [1]ki out′ grant pris.
Li bons Johans idonc transi,
Celui ki gist a Beverli.
E Edelburc l'overe [a]abati,
Ke le reis Inne aveit [2]basti :
A Tantone aveit feit overer ;
Ele fist l'overe degeter.
En icel an ki vint [b]apres,
Furent plusurs de guerre engres.
[3][Li reis] Wihtred, ki Kent teneit,
Fu mort si come Deu voleit :
Trente quatre anz cel rei regnat ;
Bien tint son regne, sa gent amat.
E Inne, li reis de Westesexe,
Guereiat [4]Sutraie e Sutsexe,
E Albrit [5]oscist, un fiz de rei,
K'il ainz chascat de sur sei :
Ainz l'aveit tut [6]desherité,
Ore l'ad oscis e mort rué ;
E [7]de Suthsexiens mult prist,
Asquanz [8]raint, asquanz oscist.
Puis apres [9]ke poi sujurna ;
A Rome li reis Inne ala,
E [c]Edelbert[A], un son cusin,
[10]Recust le regne Westsexin.
[11]Quatorze anz la tint mult sagement :
[12]Amé estait entre sa gent.
Apres[d] dous anz donc trespasserent,
Dous cometes se demustrerent,
Les esteiles, geterent reis :
Asquanz distrent [13]k'encontre peis,
Asquanz distrent [14]contre guerre,
Co signifie exil de terre :
Mes ki k'en di, [15][ou] tort u dreit,
Pur quei co ert nuls ne saveit.
Osric li reis idonc fu mort :
Unze anz regna, asez fu fort.
E Saint Ecbriht idonc devia,
Ki bone vie demena.
Ceolwlf apres [16]uit anz [e]retint.
Donc[f] fu mort Oswald l'Edeling.

Le[g] jur [17]muit, donc se oscura. Ine.
Edelbald Westsexe preia : 1730
Somertone prist e saisi ;
Asez conquist tant cum [18]il vesqui.
[19]Acke[h] l'evesque′ fu [20]donc chascé
De Hextildesham, [21]de son sie.
La[1] lune donc se demustra
En ruge, sanc ert, co semblat
A tuz cels ki la veeient ;
En sanc estait, [22]tuz le′ diseient.
Li arcevesque donc transit,
Cathwine[k] ; [23]Deu mult bien′ servit. 1740
[1]Ecbruth [24]elistrent en son sie ;
Cil tint mult bien l'arcevesqué.
Bede le prestre idonc devia
A Weremude ; iloc [25]l'um le posa.
Ceolwlf[m] li reis moignes devint :
Un son cusin le regne tint,
Eadbrith [26]out nun′ : vint [27][e] un an Tint le regne, [28]par grant [29]haan ;
Car Edelbald le guereiat,
Norhumberlande cel an preiat. 1750
[n]Ecbrith Eatinc,
Eate [30]Leadwalding ;
Issi out nun li riche reis
Ki regnat sur les Norhumbreis.
Ecberith Eatinc out nun son frere ; [A] Ethelheard.
Arcevesque ert, [31]e gentil ere.
[32]Ambedeus gisent, pres a pres,
A Everwich, [33]a portices.
Donc[o] apres [34]un poi de tens,
Morust [35]un rei [36]Westsexiens, 1760
Reis Edelhard : un son cosin,
Gudret[p], regna apres sa fin. Cuthred.
Sesze anz dient k'il tint la terre :
Reis Edelbald li fist grant guerre.
Edelbald ert de Merce reis :
Gudret maintint ses Westsexiens.
[37]Seint[q] Cuthbert tint l'arceveské :
[38]Kar l'arcevesque′ ert exulé.
[r]Gudret e Edelbald li reis,
Se combatirent as [39]Gualeis : 1770

Cuthred. Ke li Gualeis aveient feit :
Ki pout, [1]al ainz k'il pot,' s'en vait.
Un [a]an apres cil de Wincestre,
Quant Daniel ne pout plus estre,
Donc firent [2]Hunfert[b] lur evesque.
[3][De clergie fud mult bon mestre,
Cynewulf. [4]Unc plus sage n'estuet estre.]
[5]Li esteiles del ciel se hautesce,
E remuerent par semblant :

Idonc transit li altre Wlfriz,
[6]Tiers[c] jor dedenz [7]Averil le meis :'
Il fu evesque par trente anz,
[8]Si[d] com nus [9]dit li' ancienz.
Donc fu li reis [e]Celreth oscis.
Li reis [f]Eadbrith donc fu transis ;
E de Westsexe Dan Chenriz,
Un fiz de rei, refu oscis.
En icel tens [10]e en cele seison,
Entre [g]Gudret e Edelhun,
[11]Tindrent bataille e firent guere :
Cil [12]ert un baron de la terre.
Li uns ert reis, l'altre baron :
[13]Bien tint le son cist Edelhon.
[h]Quant Gudret [14][out] dusze anz regné, Encontre Edelbald s'est combaté :
Li reis de Merce en fuie mist ;
De ses homes mult en oscist :
A Berford fu la bataille ;
Les Merceis ourent [15]la contraille.
[16]Dous[i] anz apres, Gudret li reis
Se combati contre Gualeis :
Descunfiz fu ; mes bien guari,
Ne gueres del [17]son ni perdi.
Dous anz apres vet a sa fin :
Donc firent rei de un son cosin,' Sigebryht. Ke [k]Siebrand aveit a nun :
Ne tint ke un an cele regiun.

Ke [23]Kenewolf[1] deseritat
[24]Siebrant ; son cosin [25]enchascat,
E les barons de la [26]contree,
Par treison [27]ke urent mené.
Si tint le conté de [28]Hamtune
E [29]tote Westsexe e Wiltone.[m]
[*]Chenewolf tint lunc tens la terre,
Tresk'un baron la tuilt de guere.
Mult le guereiout e [30]mult se tint,
Desci ke tut mal l'en avint :
Contre Chenewlf tint bataille ;
Tut fu mort sa rascaille,
E il naffré s'en eschapa :
En Andredeswalt se [31]musca,
Tant k'un [32]porker l'ad mort rué
En un [33]busson, u fut [34]trové.

Tut oscistrent [1]k'il troverent,
E pristerent [2]e roberent' e [3]praierent.
Meis ainz k'il fust d'iloc partiz,
La meisnee vindrent [4]al criz
Ki od le rei ourent esté,
K'il aveit cheri e amé.
Quant [5]cil virent mort lur seignur,
Al qer en ourent [6]grant dolur.
Donc [7]ne voldreient pur ren leisser,
Ke lur seignur [8]n'algent venger.
Sure lur corent, [9]sil ferirent:
Cil vassalment les attendirent.
Cil [10]mult pramist,' e bel [11]preia,
E les barons aresuna:
'Seignurs,' feit il, 'ne m'asaillez,
Car jo [12]me sui [13]par dreit vengez.
Vus savez bien, sicom jo crei,
Ke [14]sui fiz Siebrant le rei:
[15]Si dusse par [16]jugement
Tenir le regne, aveir la gent.
Quant [17]cest mien uncle me fist guere,
Ne poai remaner en la tere.
Si jo [18]ne me sui de lui vengez,
A tort vus en emerveillez.
Barons, car feites grant baldur,
Si me fetes rendre m'onur;
Par tel covent com jol averai,
[19]Chescuns [20]de vus' sa honur rendrai;
E [21]cressement vus durrai [22]grant;
Le plus povere ferai manant.'
Cil respondirent: 'Pas nel ferum:
Come felon vus deffium.
Nostre seignur nus avez mort:
Alum ferir, [23]nul nel' [24]desport.'
A tant ferirent vassalment:
Cil les referirent ensement.
K'en diraie? grant fu l'estur:
[25]Sienbrith fu oscis le jur;
Il e trestuz ses compaignuns,
Fors sulement un [26]valetuns:
Icil esteit fillol le rei;
Pur co guarit [27]co crei.
[28]Ici finat iceste guere.
Ore [29]n'out nuls d'els gueres de' la terre:

L'uncle ne les nevoz nel unt; Cynewulf.
Ne les barons ki mort en sunt;
Ne [30]Combran[a] ki [31]s'en combati,
Ki en [32]Andredeswald s'en fui,
Ke li porchers el bois oscist:
[33]Mult mal' aire [34]home ki traist.
Li linages [35]a ces dous reis,'
E as nevoz [36]dunc dis ainceis,'
De lur peres li parentez
Furent al Certiz acontez:
De uncle a nevou, de pere a fiz,
Del linage furent a Certiz.
Ceowlf[b] regnat vint e un an;
Asez suffri paine e haan.
A Wincestre [37]l'en unt' porté,
[38]Par grant honur l'unt [39]iloc enterré:
E ses nevoz ki sunt oscis,
A [40]Axemustre fu l'un mis;
L'altre[c] entererent a [41]Defurel:
Kenehard out nun le dancel.
E en cel an si fu oscis
Li reis Edelbalt, li [42]Merceneis:
A Rependone l'enfuirent;
Pur li le liu [43]maint an cherirent.
Quarante e un an fu cil reis.
Apres li, firent Merceneis
Brithred[d] reis, par [44]tel tenur:
Cel an fu enchacé del honur.
Offe li reis l'en deschascazt:
Trente neif anz [45]tint la terre, e' regnat.
E apres lui les Mercenais
Echferd firent del regne reis.
Il fu fiz Offe, ki ainz tint,
Asez regna, bien li avint:
Cent jors [46]e quarante' [e]anz e un plus,
[47]Tint com hom bien vertuus.
[48]Edbert[f] esteit en [49]Northumbre sire:
Donc prist un jor sovent a dire,
Ke aler voleit [50]a Deu servir,
Moigne u chanoine devenir;
Puis s'en turnat, [51]trestut guerpi.
Osulf son fiz donc ad seisi
Norhumberland, Merce e Deirun,
E Berniche lui rendi l'um.

Cynewulf.

Un an vesqui, puis fust oscis :
Co firent [1]les serganz chaitifs,
Ki puis [2]en furent [3]destruit,
[4]Penduz, deffaiz malement [5]tuz.
A icel jor, co dit [a]l'estorie,
Seit cenz e cincquante nof, memorie
[6]Aveient feit li ancessur,
[7]Del advent' Deu desk'a cel jur :
Itant anz out quant deviat
Li [8]ber [b]Cuthbert, ki Deus amat.
E [c]Mol Edewald fu feit reis :
Ico firent les Norhumbreis.
Dous[d] anz fu reis e bien tint terre ;
[9]Meis mult ama mains peis que guere.
El [e]secund an k'il regnout,
Fu fort iver ; [10]ploveit e negout,
[11]E si gelout e fesait freit,
[12]A vis unkes [13]rien guariseit ;
Home ne [14]gent, [15]aveir ne' beste,
Del fort ivern [16][e] de la tempeste.
Co fu dit ke signifiad
La mort [17]le rei' Mol, ki donc regnat,
Ki fu oscis [18]apres un mont,
[f]Edwines-clive [19]nomé l'unt ;
Iloc l'oscist [20]Anche e Oswine :
A [g]Alchered fu la terre acline.
Nof anz vesqui e tint cel regné ;
Mes les [h]barons, [21]trestuz ensemblé,
L'unt deguerpi pur [22]lur dreit air ;
Si li firent son regne aveir.
A Everwich l'ont receu :
Alchered li reis deschascé fu.
Edelret fu fiz Mol le rei :
Li Norhumbreis li tindrent fei.
Il ne regna [23]ne mais quatre anz.
Donc[i] fu un signe apparissanz ;
[24]De ciel a terre s'estendeit,
En semblance de croiz [25]estait.
Co fu puis solail [26]cuchant,
Ke cest signe fu demustrant.
E donc[k] transit Eadbert li reis ;
Eatinc le clamerent Engleis.

E en cel an[1] firent dous reis,
Le rei de Merce e li Kenteis,
A Otteford bataille grant,
U fu oscis [27]maint home vaillant.
Donc furent [28]veuz unz' serpenz,
Unc ainz [29]itels ne virent [30]gens:
En Suthsexe se demustrerent ;
Co distrent cil kis esgarderent,
Ke blanches e naires estaient,
Ruges e vertes devenaient,
Puis [31]muait main colur,
[32]U seit feiz u huit le' jur ;
E quant veneit encontre nuit,
Si chantouent, par tel deduit,
Ke suz ciel n'out [33]nul estrument
Si volunters oissent gent.
E quant alcuns les enchascout,
[34]Bricon ki prendre les [35]volt,
Tost par les jambes ert [36]liez,
K'il ne poait moveir ses piez.
Idonc[m] fu pleit e [37]grant tencon
Entre dous reis pur Besington ;
Offe li reis donc [38]l'asist,
E Kenewolf [39]mult se marist.
Un an apres[n] furent oscis
Treis vescontes de cel paiz :
Co fist [o]Eadbrith e Edelbald,
Par els fu comencé l'assalt,
[p]Eadwlf, [40]Kenewlf e Ecgan,
A Chinninges-clive e a [41]Eleburnan[q] :
E Elfwolt[r] saisi le regné ;
Rei Edelreth[s] en ad chascé :
Dis anz regna donc icel rei.
En icel tens tel ert la lei,
Ki force aveit [42]si feseit guere ;
A son veisin toleit sa terre.
[t]Idonc [43]fu une bataille
Entre [44]Saeiens e l'asemblaille
Ki de Sessoigne estait venue ;
Co fu al havene de Portesmue :

Ki la terre lur defendirent:
[1]Uthlages erent, pur co le firent.
[2]En cel an, a Seletun,
Fust ars Dan Buern, un riche [3]baron:
Li Norhumbreis tant le hairent,
K'en un grant feu ardeir le firent.
En icel tens, co sevent la gent,
[4]Del Jesu avenement
Aveit seit cenz e quatre vinz anz
E dous avoc, jo en ai guarant:
Car Wereburch idonc [a]transit,
Une raine ki [5]saintist:
Celreth li reis l'out a moiller;
A Cestre gist en un liu cher:
[6]E chescon [7][an] i est veuz,
Ke Deus i feit pur lui grant vertuz.
Dous anz apres son [b]moriant,
Dui rei alerent guereiant:
Li uns aveit nun Kenehert;
Kenewolf oscist en apert;
E quatre vinz homes e quatre,
Fit Kenehert iloc abatre.
En icel tens tint reis [c]Burehtriz [†],
Sesze anz, Westsexe, co est escriz.
A [d]Werlame fu enfuiz,
Des parenz fu al rei Certiz.
Donc fu [8]Ecfred[e] a rei levé,
E a [9]Hibald[f] croce doné.
Li messager vindrent de Rome,
Par Adrian, un seint home,
Pur renoveler la seinte lai:
Si com [10]la fist ainceis, co crei,
Seint Austin e Seint Gregorie,
Issi le fist cest [11]apostioille.
E li reis Offe [g]donc donat
Sa fille, k'il bien enpleiat,
Al rei [12]Bertriz: dona sa fille,
Eadburch, ki bele [13]fu e gentille.
E en cel tens vindrent Daneis
Pur guereier sur les Engleis.
Un senescal [14]al rei oscistrent,
La terre saisirent e pristrent:
Mult firent mal par les contrees,
Si n'en unt ke treis navees.
Puis realerent en lur pais;
Si asemblerent lur amis.
En Bretaigne voldrent [15]venir;
As Engleis la voldrent tolir;
Car entr'els ourent esgardé
E dit ke co est lur herité,
E mulz [16]homes de lur linage,
Urent le regne en heritage.
[17]Ainceis ke' Engleis i entrast,
Ne home de Sessoigne i habitast,
Li reis [18]Danes tint le regnez,
Ki de Denemarch fu nez:
Si fist [19]Ailbrith e [h]Haveloc;
E plus en [20]nomerent [21]ovoc.
Pur quoi il distrent pur verité,
Bretaigne ert lur dreit herité.
[22]Quimhald di co' mult [23]demorerent,
A icel faiz pas ni alerent.
De [24]Guenelinge[i], d'un pais,
[25]Si vindrent sur els lur enemis.
[26][Pur l'achaison de cele guerre,
Si lur [27]estuet garder' la terre.]
En icel tens e en cels dis,
Donc fu li reis [k]Osewald oscis.
Icist [28]retint Norhumberland;
Mult [29]fu seainz' home, [30]seive e vaillant.
Pentan li reis le guereiat;
Sigge [31]un son rei' le decolat.
[32]En [33]Mescesfeld fu oscis;
Le liu serra [34]chers tut dis.
Kar clarté e grant feu celestre,
Sovent i virent [35]clerc e prestre;
Meis son seint cors fu [36]iloc pris,
Si fu porté loinz el pais.
Par pieté e par manaie,
En fu porté a Bardeneie:
Iloc le voldrent [37]sepelir,
Le liu amer, le cors servir.
E es cronices est [l]escriz,
K'il fu iloc ensepeliz:
A [38]Nostle[m], dient asquanz,
La l'emporterent [39]ses amanz:
A [n]Hecthevesham dient plusur,
Qu'il unt reliqis del seignur;

Brihtric.

E a [1]Colesdeburch[a], el Suth,
La est son braz, [2]pur ki' Deu [3]feit vertu;
[4]Enter est, Deu [5]seit loé:
Son chef est [6]inter posé
Sur la paitrine Saint Cuthbert;
Gueredon rend [7]a home [8]kil sert.
E APRES co li Norhumbreis
[9]D'un son nevou firent lur reis.
[10]Osred out nun, fiz fu Alchereth,
Mult poi dura [11]son [12]baudet.
Il fu chascé de son [b]regné;
A Edelreth donc fu doné.
[13]Celui fu fiz Edelwold;
De guereier [14]fu ferm e' bald.
Il aveit ainz la terre eue,
Mais par ses homes l'aveit perdue.
Offe li reis mult le hai,
Pur son [c]nevou k'il [15]out desseisi.
Puis revint [d]Osret [16]del exil,
Ki ainz fu reis e mult gentil:
Meis oscis [17]l'unt par cruelté,
[18]Cil kil' l'ourent desherité.
A [e]Tynemue en gist le cors.
E Edelret prist femme lors,
Elflet out nun; ceste raine,
A son seignur fu mult [19]acline:
De lui servir [20]bien se pena,
E il pur co forment l'ama.
EN icel [f]tens [21]dunt jo vus dis,
Vindrent un signes el pais.
[22]Vermeilles s'en' vont demustrant,
Tels ne vist [23]ainz nul' hom [24]vivant;
Cum escarletes [25]s'estendeient,
Prof de la terre [26]s'aparerent.
Donc veneient turmenz granz;
Puis [27]volouent dragons [28]ardanz.
E les [29]urent [g]e esclistres ke hom' veait,
Ke co [30]espels nuls nel saveit:
Asquanz distrent en lur purpens,
Ke co ert encontre cher tens:
Ne distrent pas grant [31]menconge;
Cest signe ne semble pas [32]songe.
Co fu desus Norhumberland
Ke ces signes fu demustrand.
[33]Enpres ces signes, veirement,
Donc vindrent la paene gent.
El [34]havefne de Humbre ariverent;
En Lindeseie [35]deserterent.
Unc ne remist muster a freindre,
[36]E liu u pussent ateindre.
Idonc morust [h]Sigge li reis;
Cil out oscis Osewald [37]ainceis.
E li reis Offe [38]donc manda
As paens, k'il se [i]combatera.
[39]E les' [40][paens] se combatirent:
Trop ourent gent, pur co venquirent.
E li felon, li Norhumbreis,
Oscistrent [k]Edelret li reis.
E apres Offe Ecferd [41]regnat:
[42]Mercelande tint e' [43]guardat;
Cum [44]il milz' la quidout guarder,
Morust, n'en pout par el passer:
L'an meismes kil [45]out saisiné,
Si li avint k'il perdi la vie.
ECBRITH fu donc feit rei [46]en Kent;
Il out un altre [l]nun [47]priveement.
Les paens ne se targerent mie,
Quant ourent guasté [48]Lindeseie;
Amunt Humbre [49]alerent siglant
Desci k'en Use, [50]puis [51]en vont
En la [m]buche de Don; [52]est dist,
E es cronicles [53]fu escrist,
Ke iloc out grant gent asemblee,
[54]Defendre [55]volent lur' contree.
Homes oscistrent plus ke trente;
En l'ewe aveit mult grant turmente;
Un de lur ducs i fu oscis,
[56]Cil mar entra en cel pais;
E de lur [57]nef i perillerent,
De lur homes asquanz neirent;
E nepurquant [58]non s'en r'alerent,
[59]Meis del pais grant part' guasterent.
Idonc l'arcevesque [n]Heanbald,
E un evesque, Saint [60]Hubald[o],

Mistrent [1]Cearwolf[a] en son sied,
A Everwich, [2]a l'evesquied;
Norhumberland i apendait:
Cist dui l'unt [3]a rei′ beneit.
[4]E li reis Offe [5]donc [b]transit,
Ki quarante anz regnat, co quid.
[6]Ceolwlf[c] recut Merceneland,
Un rei [7]guereier, fort [8]tirant.
En Kent [d]alat, si la preiat,
[9]Edelbrith[e] [10]prist e′ en amenat,
Icil ert sire des Kenteis,
En [11]Merceneland menat cil reis.
De Westsexe Brictriz li reis
Transit del secle en cel [f]meis,
E Ecbert regnat apres lui[A]:
Tote Westsexe tint, co qui.
Donc en cel tens vindrent [12]Gualeis[g],
Guaster la tere a icel reis,
Tut drait a [13]Kenemeresford.
Iloc furent li Gualeis mort;
Car Edelmund, [14]od Wiltechire,
Fist des Gualeis mult grant martire.
[15]Isci[h] transit li reis Cudret;
En Kent regna e en Tanet.
[1]E de Norhumberlant lur reis,
Eardwolf, chascerent Norhumbreis.
[16]Huit[k] anz apres Carle murust,
Ki Cumberlande [17]aveit eut.
Il [l]vesqui quarante cinc anz,
Aclin li ert Norhumberland.
[18]Cel pais′ tint [19]tut son regnant:
Unc puis espeir ni out si grant.
En [20]icel an, co dist la geste,
La dreite istorie [21]de [m]Wincestre,
Li reis Ecbrith Wales preiad,
Tut le pais [22]del West guastat′;
E puis del [23]Est, al returner,
Tut l'aveir prist k'il pout trover.
Seit anz [n]apres [24]Chenwolf de Merce,
Transit el liu de [25]Basewerce.
[26]E [o]Ceawolf regnat apres lui;
Dous anz tint terre a grant ennui,
Al chef de dous [p]anz la perdi:
N'ert pas amé, pur co fui.
Tant aveit feit, tuz le haerent;
Plusurs oscire le voleient.
De [27]li lerrum, e parlerum de el,
D'un vassal rai [28]de altre regnel,
De Westsexe, Ecbrith out nun.
[29]Burnulf[q] li mut grant [30]contencon,
Reis ert de Merce; a Elendune
[31]Parust [32]quels ert meildre persune.
D'ambes [33]dous parz ert grant l'ocise,
A la bataile ke ourent prise:
[34]En la [35]parfin, co dist [r]l'estorie,
Li reis Ecbrith out la victorie.
[36]Li reis Ecbrith un fiz aveit,
Ki Edelwolf apelé esteit.
Lui e l'evesque [37]Alstan,
E Wolfhard, comandat par ban,
Ke preissent mult de sa gent,
[38]Si alassent conquere en Kent.
E cil [39]ki vont′ od mult grant ost,
Baldret enchascerent mult tost.
Cil ourent la terre conquise:
Li reis fui ultre Tamise.
E cels de Kent ont otrié,
Ke Ecbrith eit tuit le regné.
E en Suthsexe e en Sudrie,
Par tut ala sa seignurie.
E cil de Hestsexe de lur [40]fie,
Li unt ostages envaie.
Pur co le receurent [41]cele genz,
Ke de ses anciens parenz
Aveient ainz la terre eue,
E par guere l'ourent perdue;
E pur creme des Merceneis,
Receurent [42]il Ecbrith li reis;
E cil de Estengle ensement,
Pur la [43]cresme de cele gent.
En icel tens aveit dous reis
[44]En[s] realme de Mercenais;
Li uns ert Burnulf, [45]mult menout boban,′
Li altres out nun [46]Lutecan:

Entr'els aveit [1]seit [2]raitels,[a]
Cil dui erent sur tuz [3]chevels.
E ensement el regne aillurs,
Par tut aveit i tels seignurs:
Treque [4]alcuns poait un poi munter,
[5]Si se fesait reis apeler.
Cil Lutecan dunt des ainz dis,
[6]Il fu par les [b]Waleis oscis.
[7][Et Wilaf receut le regné,
Ou Lutecan avoit esté.]
[c]En [8]icel tens Ecbrith li rei
[9]Conquist cel′ regne, [10]e prist vers′ sei:
E quanke out del Suth de Humbre,
Tint l'om de lui, par conte e par nombre.
Ainz aveit [11]uit reis el regné,
Des quels les altres teneient lur [12]fie.
Il en ert li uns, si com jo pens;
Meis devant lui en l'antif tens,
Out en Suthsexe un rei vaillant,
Ki puis conquist Norhumberlant,
[d]Elle out a nun, tut son [13]heed.
Le tiers fu Edelbrith clamez,
Reis fu de Kent, [14]reis fu e bald:
E le quarte out nun Redwold;
En [15]Estengle cist rei regnat,
[16]Mult fu prodom e bel′ finat.
Le quint rei out a nun Eadwine,
Si tint le regne ultre Tine,
E de Everwich l'altre regné,
[e]E tote Westsexe estait son fie.
Le siste Osewald, le setime Oswi;
[17]Meis[f] n'alout pas′ la terre issi,
Ke nuls hom, [18]pur la guere,
Seust coment [19]alout la terre,
[20]Ne cel tens sul ne saveit
Nuls hom ki chescon rei estait;
Mes moignes e chanoines de abeies,
[21]Ki des reis escristrent les vies,
Si adrescat chescon son per,
Pur la veraie raison mustrer
Des reis; cum bien chescon regnat,
Coment out nun, coment [22]deviat;
Quel fu oscis, e quels transi,
Quels est [23]entres, e quels [24]purri:
E des eveskes, ensement,
Firent li clerc adrescement.
[25]Croniz ad′ nun, un livere grant:
Engleis l'alerent asemblant.
[26]Ore est issi auctorizez,
K'a Wincestre, [27]en l'eveskez,
La est des reis la dreite [28]estorie,
E les vies e [29]la [30]memorie.
Li reis Elfred l'out en demaine,
Fermer i fist une chaine.
Ki lire i volt bien i guardast,
Mais de son liu [31]nel remuast.
[32]Cealwines[g] out nun li utimes rei;
Westsexiens [33]aveit od sei:
Il estait reis d'une partie,
[34]En cel regné′ ert sa seignurie.
Del altre part Ecbrith fu reis,
Ki puis regna sur [35]Suthumbreis:
E quant oust issi conquesté,
Ultre Humbre ad [36]son ost′ mené.
A [37]Everwch[h] fu [38]receuz,
[39]Ore fu reis e North e Suth.
[40]Wilaf[i] repurchascat le regne:
Si [41]refud reis [42]sur Mercene.
En icel an Ecbrith li reis
[43]Aclinat a sei les Norwaleis:
Tute de lur bone volunté,
Les ad Ecbrith ad sei [44]acliné.
Dous anz [k]apres, tut verreiment,
Donc vindrent la paene gent:
Si praierent tote [45]Escepaié;
Unckes [46]de home′ n'urent maneié.
[l]L'altre an apres, Ecbrith alat
[47]E sur paiens [48]son ost′ menat.
Od les paiens tint [49]grant bataille;
Mult i out homes morz sanz faille.
La bataille fu a Karrun:
Mult i out mort maint bon barun;
[50]Mes li paen furent plus fort,
Si chascerent Ecbrith a tort.

Donc revint[a] un altre navire;
En Westwales tindrent [1]concire.
Tant unt parlé [2]a Westwaleis,
[3]K'il se tindrent [4]od les' Daneis.
Ensemble [5]alerent guerreiant,
Par le pais [6]grant mal' fesant.
Donc unt rei Ecbrith encontré,
E en sa terre erent entré:
[7]Hengesdune ad nun le munt,
U cil contre lui bataille funt.
Iloc en fist destruction:
Vencuz furent [8]paens felon.
[9]Idonc out le secle duré
De la Jesu Nativité,
Huit cenz e trente [b]seit anz,
Si com [10]distrent les clers' lisanz.
En icel tens, en cel endreit,
Morust Ecbrith ki tant aveit.
Co fu celui ke Offe chascat:
Trente seit anz e un mais regnat.
Puis regnat [11]Edelwlf son fiz,
E Adelstan [12]un rei gentilz:
Li uns out Westsexe; e l'altre Kent,
Suthdreie e Suthsexe ensement.
E tut voleient chalenger,
Co k'out [13]lur pere, a justiser.
[c]Donc [14]revint une navire mult fort,
A Hamtone arivat a port.
Trente [15]treis [16]nefs i aveit:
Jo qui ke Deus mult les heait;
Car [17]par Wolfhard, [18]un bon baron,
[19]En fu feit grant' destruction.
Celui a els se combati:
Mult en oscist e sis venqui.
Meismes l'an transi li ber:
S'il pust [20]alkes durer,
Si com distrent [21]l'antive gent,
Paens meist en mal turment.
Mes les paens [22]se relierent,
E firent mal e guereierent.
Lur gent venaient, Danes felons,
Mult osciaient des barons.
[23]Aelesme[d] donc [24]ont oscis;
Il out la bataille encontr'els pris:
Cil ert si pruz e si vaillant,
E en bataille si ferant,
Ke quant Engleis l'urent perdu, Ecgberht.
Ne lur remist si bon escu.
A Lundres alerent, [25]maneis,
Fere bataille [26]les Daneis:
Iloc firent lur volenté;
Mulz i out homes mort rué.
D'iloc [27]en vont a Rovecestre:
Iloc [28]rout bataille champestre.
Mult [29]oscistrent des paisanz;
Mes [30]les plusurs furent' fuianz.
Ki entrer pout en la cité,
Si fu guari e bien tensé:
E ki ne pout, pas ne guari,
Si alcune part ne s'en fui.
D'iloc alerent a Sanwiz,
Mes ne furent pas recuilliz.
Tut les Kenteis [31]asemblez erent:
En un plein champ les encontrerent.
Mult ferement se combatirent;
Meis nepurquant Daneis venquirent.
Ne fust le burc, ki clos estait, [A] Edelwlf.
Mult i fussent [32]Kenteis destrait;
Mes par le burc plusurs guarirent;
Les remananz trestuz perirent.
Reis Edelwolf idonc regnout;
Par le pais contr'els alout:
E les Daneis de tote parz,
Arivoent en [33]lur kanarz.
A Carrum[e] Edelwolf li reis,
Si combati [34]as Daneis:
Mes les Daneis ourent victorie;
[35]Sil consenti' li Reis de glorie.
[f]Donc out huit cenz quarante cinc [36]anz
[37]Des donc ke Crist el' mond fu venanz.
En icel an si combati
Li ducs [38]Ernuls[g], [39]e Daneis venqui:
Un altre duc, Osrit out nun,
Il fu od lui come baron:
Li uns menat cels de Dorsete,
Li altre [40]cels de Somersete.
A la buche de [h]Pedredan,
Vencuz furent Daneis cel an.
[i]Cheor [41]l'alderman les rechascat,

Edelwlf.

A [1]Wienberghe[a] comencerent,
Tresk'en Taneth les dechascerent.
Iloc furent tut l'iver tens,
Altre navire reparens,
[2]I est venu, contre l'esté.
A Cantorbirie en sunt alé,
La cité [3]frainstrent e roberent.
Li reis [4]Brichwlf[b] desbareterent;
Cil rei de Mercene unt miz en fuie,
Desci [5]ke la cité de [6]Luie[c]:
E les paens wont en Sudrie,
Co fu ultrage e astucie.
Car Edelwolf li maistre rei,
E Edelbald son fiz, co crei,
Ad Aclie se combatirent:
Westsexiens [7]si bien [8]le firent,
Tuz les Daneis unt descunfit;
Maint hom [9]iloc vie perdit.
CEL an meismes, a Sanwiz,
Refurent les Daneis matiz
Par Adelstan e par [10]Alchere:
Adelstan estait al rei frere.
Li uns estait frere Edelwolf,
De [11]Hestengle ert meistre rei il sul:
[12]Alchere ert ducs de li tenant;
Des Daneis oscist plus de vint.
E de lur nefs k'il amenerent,
En Tamise, [13]la u il les troverent,
Pristrent homes e lur aveir,
[14]Ne firent [15]guers grant nun´ saver.
De quanke [16]hom pout de mal overer,
Deit l'om son enemi [17]mater.
[d]EL tens ke furent ces Daneis,
Burhert ert de Merce reis.
Par l'aie de Edelwlf li ber,
Fist Norwaleis a sei cliner.
En icel an ke co avint,
[18]Adelher[e], li reis ki donc Kent tint,
Od les Kenteis, e od ducs Hude,
Ki les Sudreis out en [19]adjute,
En sunt alé sur les Daneis,
En l'isle des [20]Taneteis.
Od les paens se combatirent;
Poi gagnerent, [21]vies perderent:
Oscis furent Hude e [22]Adelher[e];
[23]Unc ne purent [24]mielz [25]eschaper.

Idonc prist Burhret, de Mercenne,
La fille Edelwolf a femme.
Un an[f] apres vindrent Daneis
A Eschepeie, od lur [26]escheiz:
Od [27]escheiz, e od [28]kandart,
L'ivern i furent tresk'en Marz.
En icel an [29]ke ci ai dit,
Reis Edelwolf terres partit:
Tote sa terre bien [30]divisat,
E en l'onur Deu la [31]donat.
[32]Puis apres feit son aire agreie,
Vers Rome tint la dreite veie.
Par grant honur a Rome alat,
E tut un an i sojurnat.
El revenir donc espusat
La fille Charles, il li donat.
Co fust la fille al rei de France:
Tuz jurs se penat [33]de honurance.
DOUS anz apres[g] donc deviad:
Dis e nof anz cel rei regnat,
Si come demustret [34]veille[h] geste;
Enseveli fu a Wincestre.
[35]Cestui fu fiz Ecbrith le rei,
Ki fist le regne aclin vers sei.
Ses dous fiz, recurent [36]son regne,
K'il out de sa primere femme.
Edelbald. [37]Edelbalt[i] out tote Westsexe;
E Edelbrith, Kent e Suthsexe,
E Hestsexe e Sudreie:
Riches reis furent en lur vie.
Cinc anz regna reis Edelbalt;
Idonc [1]transit, [38]vie li falt.
Son cors [39]posat a Schireburnes:
Il fist [40]Daneis [41]en son tens murnes.
Edelbrih. Reis Edelbrith [42]son frere estait;[x]
Westsexe prist, co ert [43]tut dreit.
Sis anz [44]en ces [45]regnez regnat;
Donc si[k] transit: hom [46]le portat
A Schireburne, apres son frere.
Donc chaist as Engleis lur [47]here:
[48]Pur les dous reis ke ourent perduz,
Sovent ourent [49]Daneis vencuz.
EN icel tens ke cil regnouent[l],
Une faiz paens guastouent
[50]La contree de [51]Wincestre.
[52]Mes dous [53]barons, [54]ki esteient meistre,

[e] The Northumbrian tragedy is related in a few words by Asser and the Saxon Chronicle: but the story of Buern, with its accompanying details, has not occurred in any writer preceding Gaimar. There is, however, in a MS. at C. C. Coll. Cambridge, N°. c.xxxix., written about the close of the twelfth century, and containing chiefly matter relating to the northern part of the kingdom, a portion of a very declamatory anonymous tale on this subject; which, though it differ in various particulars from Gaimar's narrative, it has been thought worth while to subjoin.

'Narratio de uxore Ernulfi ab Ella rege Deirorum violata.

'Domino et patri . venerabili atque amando, aliquis unus Deo famulantium, salutem et pacem.

'Plerique modernorum, pater sanctissime, licet persecutionem audierint, quam per Angliam exercitus quondam paganorum exercuit, eo tempore, quo sævissimi hostes Iwar et Ubba, duces paganorum, ecclesias in ea pariter et cœnobia destruxerunt, tamen adventus eorum causam, vel ipsius causæ materiam, seu etiam originem materiæ, plurimos antiquorum latuisse, præsentiumque latere non dubito. Hanc vero mihi tua paternitas non solum narrando aperuit, verum ut scribendo memoriæ commendarem injunxit. Ego autem merito ac juste tam sancto patri, tam illustri viro parere debeo, et tamen invitus scribo, ne dicar præsumpsisse; sed ob hoc solum voluntatem adhibeo, ne tibi videar inobediens esse. Sed qui tot familiares, tot præcipue amicos habes; qui et ipse tam præclara scientia polles; cur me novissimum ad primas sedes erigere, et dignum abscondi conaris exerere? Sed audiant mansueti et lætentur, et muta fiant labia dolosa. Vale semper in Domino.

'Erat in Anglia vir quidam ex provincia Deirorum, cui nomen Aernulfus, quod Latine interpretatione dicitur 'Aquilinus.' Fuit autem dives, sed in terrenis quæ non manent: justus, sed sine fide quæ justificat. Miro modo dives, sed divitiis carens; justus, sed ignorans justitiam. Divitias habuit, sed fallaces, idcirco non erat vere dives. Hæ sunt quæ faciunt vocari divitem; sed non inveniri. Item jura servare videbatur humana, et ab hominibus reputatum est ei ad justitiam. Nichil enim vicinis intulit, quod sibi nollet inferri. Nichil aliis, sed sibi Deum abstulit. Nichil infœlicius se possedit, quem miserabiliter perdidit. Prudens erat in rebus perquirendis, sed rerum nesciit Conditorem. Quippe gentilis erat: alienus pariter a fide et opere: nec animæ lucrum intelligens quo dives fieret, nec fidem qua justus vivit, accipiens ut viveret. Bene autem vivebat juxta suorum traditionem; sed quæ laus viventis: quæ vivendi gratia, ubi vita mors est? Vivere quidem videbatur, et erat sine vita; nam mundo vivebat, non Deo. Mortuus ergo Deo sic vivebat ut mundo: solam videlicet quærens gloriam mundi. Quippe aliam vel esse nec suspicari potuit. Multa igitur ad hanc pertinentia quæsivit, et quoniam alia quæ amanda putaret non vidit, quærendis hiis tantum multæ laborem sollicitudinis impendit. Emptorium namque officium agens, nunc exteras nunc finitimas regiones, tum curru, tum navigio vectus, perlustravit, mercesque varias ac plurimas in quibus vane non sane gloriaretur adduxit. Et quia tunc fere solus erat in provincia Deirorum qui cæteris frequentius uteretur navigio, cognomen a mari quod tam sedulo frequentabat accepit. Lingua enim Anglorum 'Seafar' appellatus est, quod Latine 'Pontivagus' dici potest. Neque enim tunc temporis, ut modo, quicunque duos aut tres argenti solidos habuit institor factus est, sed aliquis talis in una civitate vel provincia solus, cujus affectui copia substantiæ promittebat effectum.

'Igitur Aernulfus Eboraci manens juxta pontem fluminis quod Usa dicitur, vico qui ab eodem flumine vocabulum tenet, uxorem habuit, satis quidem facie pulchram sed non fide: monilibus ornatam, non moribus. Erat tamen pudica, sed impudice, quia pudicitiæ non colebat Auctorem. O damnum fidelis animæ, fidei virtutem nescientis! O vere damnum, talem animum nescire Deum! O ingens damnum tam pulchram creaturam, pulchritudinis ignorare Creatorem! Hæc igitur mulier gratia pulchritudinis a multis est dilecta, sed alios renuit uno contenta. Singulis placuit, sed uni singulariter hæsit: uni dico, sed veram Unitatem non colenti. Unum igitur nec plures amare voluit, pro honestate præsentis gloriæ, non propter amorem cœlestis sapientiæ. O si fructum virginitatis audisset Mariæ et quam pulchra sit casta generatio cum karitate, adeo forsitan dilexisset hunc decorem, ut nec unius thoro præbuisset assensum. Sed quid? Nullus in ea laudabat castitatem, ubi nemo castitatis agnoscebat virtutem. Omnes vero ipsius laudabant pulchritudinem, quibus dabat intuendi libido delectationem.

'Hujus ergo admirandam valde satisque desiderandam speciem rex Deirorum Ælla nomine concupiscens, plurimum æstuabat ardore libidinis. Quem inter cætera moribus humanis adversantia mala, spiritu fornicationis deceptum, singulis noctibus concubinas singulas aut proprias aut communes, seu etiam raptas habere, magnitudo compulit incontinentiæ. Sed in hac re quidem eo minus vituperandus est, quo verius sibi quod libuit simul atque licere putavit. Non enim legi aut præcepto subjacebat, immo ipse etiam toti populo potentia et dignitate præminebat. Deum non habuit. Cui ergo timoris causa reverentiam exhiberet? Umquid Aernulfo? Nequaquam. Hunc enim subditum sibi non præpositum vidit. Quod si ligna vel lapides aut metalla coluit, infirma hæc esse minusque potentia novit. Sic igitur factum est, ut qui nullum timuit, quamvis plurimæ sibi mulieres etiam generosæ nobilesque sufficerent, solam tamen Aernulfi conjugem singulari pulchritudine cæteris prælatam, speciali præ omnibus amore concupisceret. Cupiebat siquidem in ea sceleste libidinis ardorem non satiando extinguere, sed implendo potius accendere et augere. Inter Cupidinis itaque tela deficiens, flammæque Veneris ardorem vix perferens, graviter languebat, et tamen distulit diu scelus operari quod excogitarat. Licet enim caste non potuit, tamen agere vel caute voluit. Callide namque præstolari disposuit, donec eam et absente marito et extra urbana comprehenderet. Sciebat enim Aernulfum longinquas terrarum regiones consuetum gratia mercandi visere. Sciebat et eum rure possessionem, ad quam forte sine viro mulier quandoque ventura esset, habere. Neque enim ausus est violenta prædatione civitatem offendere. Siquidem Eboracus regia civitas et Deiræ metropolis erat; quam et rex ipse non solum regia libertate, sed et civili pace donaverat. Distulit ergo diu memoratum scelus; non quidem ne peccaret, sed ne sibi vel regno detrimentum efficeret. Quis enim pacem teneret, si primitus eam ejus donator infringeret? Tali ergo discrimine, se criminosus servabat a crimine. Lauda igitur tantam in eo discretionem, si tamen aliqua Deum nescientis actio laude sit digna. Igitur post aliquot annos Aernulfus juxta præfixam regis intentionem exiens, mercandi gratia transfretavit. Tunc et mulier acsi frustrari spes amantis non posset, rura petens, ad quendam suæ possessionis locum perrexit. Ælla quoque circa id temporis morabatur non longe ab eadem villa apud quandam videlicet suam mansionem sex inde miliariis distantem, quam et ipse construxerat, et de suo nomine Ælleswrdam nuncupaverat. Hæc autem mansio regis XXIIII. ab Eboraco distabat miliariis; [a]Becwida vero XVIII., per eandem viam. Becwida quippe dicebatur illa mulieris possessio. Illa igitur ibi fuit, sed regem latuit. Quadam vero die cum exeuntes ab Eboraco duo furfurarii regis cum canibus suis curiam adire proponerent, contigit eos per præfatam supradictæ mulieris mansionem procedere. Qui et dixerunt ad invicem: 'Declinemus parumper a via, ut apud Aernulfi conjugem comedamus.' Divertentes igitur apud eam refecti sunt. Dimissi autem, ad curiam vespere pervenerunt. Ælla vero paulo superius a venatu redierat, visisque canibus quos adduxerant, ait: 'Qualiter se habent cives mei? Quos in via rumores audistis? Qui fortunæ casus hominibus?' Dicunt illi: 'En Jove propitio, procul absente Saturno, media rerum temperies prospero statu exultat. Lætantur concordia cives, totique regno pax summa conceditur. Fames nulla, rara pestis, aer salubris, terra fœcunda. Deos cuncti venerantur et edicto regis obediunt. Quid amplius? Nihil adversi domino nostro regi.' Dixit iterum ad eos rex: 'Quisnam vobis hodie mensam refectionis apposuit? An forte non gustatis hodie?' Aiunt illi: 'Audi domine rex. Larga quidem manus, in domo satis gloriosa, splendida nos epulatione lætissimo vultu refecit: et, si vis scire, ad Becwidam divertimus, Arnulfi domum subintravimus, et cum ipsius uxore comedimus. Ipse quidem in partibus transmarinis est, illa vero familiæ curam agit. O fœmina tam pulchra! Regem decet, non rusticum. Non est inquam paupere digna sed principe.' Audit rex et auscultat, et in hoc sermone plurimum delectatus ait: 'Bonus sermo quem dicitis. Et nunc quia meruistis honorem, magistri estote venantium.' Mox acciti clientes in conspectu regis assistunt. Quibus et ille præcipiens ait: 'Cito euntes, crastino mihi de Becwitha ruris ipsius dominam, conjugem videlicet Aernulfi mercatoris adducite. Etiamque si renuerit sponte venire nolens, compellite vel invitam. Non videbitis faciem meam sine illa.' Mox illi, jussu regis accepto, regem adorantes recedunt. Mane autem surgentes villam adeunt; fœminam inveniunt, cui et dicunt: 'Salve cum omnibus tuis venerabilis domina, cui optat dominus noster rex salutem et gaudia: desiderat quoque te videre. Ad hoc enim missi sumus ut venias nobiscum ad thronum ejus. Unde celeriter adornari festina et veni.' Quæ cum audisset turbata est, et cogitabat qualis esset ista salutatio. Plurimumque diu admirans, tandem ad se reversa respondit: 'Quidnam est, karissimi, quod ego ad regem properare debeam, cum vir meus domi non sit cum quo decentius irem? Sola enim non sum solita ad curiam regis accedere, et quomodo nunc absente marito fieri curialis incipiam? Absit a domino meo rege, sic mandare. Quod si forte meorum quid desideret, mittere sum parata quod jusserit.' Ad hæc nuntii: 'Si nobiscum,' inquiunt, 'venire tua sponte contempnis, violenter ducemus invitam. Sed quia venerabilis fœmina es, noli te ipsam tantæ confusioni dare vel injuriæ. Aptius ergo facis, si modo sponte venis.' Fœmina respondit: 'Nullatenus favet mea voluntas, sed potestas aliena compellit. Melius est mihi misericordiam regis exposcere, quam in vestras manus, in me jam paratas, incidere. Paulisper ergo donec modo cultioribus induar vestimentis expectate.' Surgens itaque et thalamum ingrediens hæc secum in mente revolvit, dicens: 'Forsitan apud regem pulchritudinis gratia, gratiam inveni quam non desidero. Quapropter vilibus ero pannis induta, ne coram rege nimis appaream gloriosa.' Sic igitur, scilicet, nec lota facie, nec compto crine, in habitu minus pretioso, ascendens, ibat cum illis. Vespere autem facto, rex de nemore quo venatum ierat reversus, mox ubi fœminam advenisse didicit, ad eam ingressus est, statimque deosculans eam, inter amplexus ait: 'Diu est, karissima, quod te videre optavi et tangere, quod tamen usque nunc dilatum est. Nunc igitur volo ut mea, vel una sis nocte: quia tu sola mihi præ omnibus places.' Quæ suppliciter respondens sic ait: 'Domine mi rex, ancilla tua sum, et uxor hominis tui: fac cum servis tuis secundum misericordiam tuam. Si nos dehonestas, minus te ipsum honoras. Et ecce de humili germine sum, nullatenus idonea tibi. Noli ergo in me tam pusilla, tam modica, tam infirma, tu potens, magnus, nobilis exercere potentiam tuam. Turpe est homini, regi quoque turpissimum, tale scelus operari quod sibi fiat in opprobrium. Sic illa sermocinatur, sed ille non audit. Audit forsitan, sed non exaudit. Nihil putat melius fore quam desideria carnis implere. Implet ergo votum suum, vi reluctantem opprimens.

'Tunc illa prorupit in fletum, quod fœminini doloris esse constat indicium. Et quia peracto scelere nec epulari voluit nec lætari, discedere permissa est. Quæ timens impietatem regis quam semel experta est, iterum sævituram, ruralia deserens habitacula, civitatis se munitioni dedit. Ibi cum vicinis et amicis vultu simulato se lætantem exhibuit, donec vir ejus de transmare jam tertio mense rediret. Quando autem rediit, a vicinis et concivibus suis cum gaudio receptus est. Illa vero adventum ejus præcognoscens cœnam præparaverat, ut epularentur cum eo amici et consortes ejus. Convivantes igitur plurimum lætati sunt, diem sic ducentes ad vesperum. Tunc illis discedentibus, volens quietem somni accipere, ducitur ad cubiculum. Quod cum intrasset, libuit ei ex more cum sua conjuge commisceri. Quæ noluit consentire, sed ait: 'Non dormies mecum nocte ista, domine mi, neque jacebo juxta te, et mane causam indicabo tibi.' Multa igitur prece et obsecratione obtinuit, ut sine ipsa dormiret nocte illa. Mane autem facto venit ad eum, et residens ante lectum ipsius dixit: 'Dormis domine an vigilas?' At ille: 'Non,' inquit, 'dormio, sed vigilans mecum adhuc miror qua de causa juxta me nolueris hac nocte recumbere. Sed nunc, ut promisisti, causam congruentem ostende. Si causa rationalis fuerit, ero flexibilis ad veniam. Sin autem, non habebis gratiam meam. Ecce enim quod intus quod foris sum ; tibi et honori tuo sum. Hoc autem injuste, cum mihi tu non digneris subservire. Quæ enim mulier marito suo jure potest resistere, quandiu velit esse domus ipsius domina.' Ecce auri et argenti copiam, gemmas, vasa et ornamenta plurima tuli, solam te omnium dominam sicut me dominum esse volui. Qua mihi ergo vetuisti ratione quod sub mea esse debuit potestate? Parum desiderasti meum adventum, cujus noluisti habere consortium. Video igitur quod fastidis me, et non est mecum in bono voluntas tua.' Respondit mulier viro suo: 'Quæso domine audi prius, et rectius postea judicabis. Mea quidem voluntas optima tecum est, et non cum viro altero. Nullatenus enim te fastidio, nec placet alterius uti consortio. Sic vero tuum desideravi reditum, ut omne mihi quod agerem verteretur in tædium. Non ergo tibi sine ratione vetui, quod potestati tuæ subesse cognovi. Non negavi quia vellem resistere, sed me subtraxi sciens indignam existere. Neque enim appropinquabo ad tuum lectum, donec scias meum delictum. Nolui enim te, quæ polluta sum, de me polluere. Immunda ego sum, nec debes me, qui mundus es, tangere. Jam misera ego non inter nuptas sed inter communes possum computari fœminas. Nam cum esse deberem tua tantum, uxor alterius effecta sum. Alteri placui, ut displiceam tibi alter me attraxit, dignam a te repelli. Ergo ad te accedere non sum quidem indignata, sed indigna.' O infidelem tam fidam! O legitimam sine lege! O in falsitate non fallacem! O veracem sine veritate! Veritas enim Christus est; heu infelicem quod Christum nesciit. Si enim cognovisset Christum, nunquam dilexisset sponsum alterum. Audite hoc mulieres modernæ, audite inquam et erubescite. Repleatur facies vestra confusione, quæ viro uno non estis contentæ. Ecce non habuit ista legem, et vult esse legitima. Vos autem etiam spopondistis castitatem, et soli vacatis incontinentiæ. Discite ergo, discite vel exemplo paganæ uni viro adhærere quæ vocamini Christianæ. Et ecce ad vestram confusionem pagana luget de commixtione regis validi, et vos gaudetis, prohdolor, de concubitu vilissimi servi. Væ ergo vobis tam fœdis, quoniam, respectu vestri, paganæ sunt mundæ.

'Audiens itaque Aernulfus injuriam talem suæ conjugi violenter illatam, condolet quamplurimum et conturbatur, reverens verecundiam. Fidem quoque mulieris et lacrimas confitentis aspiciens, debuit potius consolari confusam quam confundere desolatam, longaque mox imo suspiria pectore ducens, ait illi: 'Noli flere, noli conturbari karissima. Noli amittere confidentiam, quæ non amisisti justiciam. Si vim cujuslibet passa es, non potuisti resistere. Culpam tibi dimitto, sed tamen quis tecum dormierit, sit parvus sit magnus edicito. Si me minor est, statim poteris vindicari; si autem major, patienter ferre discamus donec subito cadat in manus meas. Vide tamen ne violenter actum simules quod sponte commiseris. Nam hoc si forte comperero, nichil tibi proderit ista præventio. Times enim forsitan ne tuam alius revelet turpitudinem, et idcirco vis callide confitendo prævenire ne alteri fidem adhibeam. Si aliter vel ita sit nescio, utrum vero sit probare et cognoscere volo. Indica ergo mihi et nomen et personam hominis qui tecum particeps istius est criminis. Si enim primitus novero personam, et rei veritatem facilius agnoscam.' Cui illa respondit: 'Non,' inquit, 'ita loquor domine metuens accusationem; sed rei commissæ potius debitam quærens ultionem. Ultionis autem ista sit conditio. Si mea sponte scelus actum fuerit, judicer ut rea, si vero pati sum coacta, de cogente sumatur vindicta. Hoc solum mihi promitte. Hoc solum concede; ut quem culpabilem inveniris, facias solum interire.' Qui dixit: 'Si quidem te audiero violenter oppressam, pro viribus meis spondeo me sumpturum esse vindictam.' Cui mulier: 'Magnum est,' inquit, 'domine quod a te promittitur, et ultra vires tuas esse videtur. Ne tamen diffidas, quia cum omni virtute cœpta perficies. Ecce itaque impius et crudelis rex noster est, de quo promissa vindicta sumenda est. Ille enim est qui me a meis vi rapuit, et violenter in sua recepit. Meum erat tunc plorare, sed clementiam nil profuit implorare. Nefas ergo perpetravit, sed meum consensum non impetravit. Nomen tuum semper opposui, sed iniquum avertere ab iniquitate non potui. Lugens tandem sum dimissa, sed absit luctus, ultione jam promissa. Promissa est ultio, et ne sit quæso longa dilatio. Dilatio non sit ultionis, ne arguaris falsæ promissionis.' Respondens Aernulfus ait: 'Si facere possem quod promisi et non facerem, juste me reprehendi concederem. Sed nos quid possumus contra regem. Non est manus mea sicut articulus digitis ejus. Cessa igitur deprecari quod impetrare non potes. Si enim quod hortaris inciperem, non solum me sed et omnes meos internecioni traderem. Vel quæris occasiones adversum me? Num desideras mortem meam? Si mihi non parcis, si me contempnis, parce vel amicis meis vel tuis, ne occidas eos. Desine igitur et obliviscere penitus memorati sceleris, cujus vindictum incassum exposceres. Neque enim es valde humiliata, si regis extiteris concubina. Nam et aliæ si placuissent regi valde se crederent honorari. Quiesce nunc igitur a fœminea suggestione, ne et ego simul abutar mea ratione. Aut enim raro aut nunquam suggestio profuit mulieris. Et tamen esset quidem ad agendam voluntas ultionem prompta, si non esset manus ad dimicandum infirma. Sit igitur ratio sic juvans manum ut et noxiam refrænet voluntatem. An vis committere pugnam, ubi non speras omnino victoriam? Absit a nobis ne vel tantum cogitemus quid hujusmodi.' Tunc velut repercussa mulier abscedit in cinere sedens, induta cilicio, lugubri lamentatione assumpta, et a thoro viri pariter abstinuit et mensa. Quod ille non ferens lachrymanti sic ait: 'Quid est quod me vivente marito, viduam te ostendis sic sedendo? Neque a mortuo es relicta, neque a vivo repudiata. Cur ergo luges, cur veste viduitatis induta

Ele li ad dit : ‘ Jo vus dirrai ;
Jo meismes [15]m'encuserai.
Puis fetes de moi tel [16]juise,
Cum [17]fusse [18]a larcin prise.’
Cil li respont : ‘ K'est avenu ?’
‘ Ja ad li reis od mei geu :
Par force fist [19]sa felunie ;
[20]Ore est dreis ke perde la vie.
Si co fu feit covertement,
Jo voil murrir overtement.
[21]Mielz voil murrir ke vivere plus.’
Pasmee, chet a ses piez jus.
E cil respont : ‘ Levez amie :
[22]Pur co ne serrez [23]pas haie.
[24]Encontre force ne pout feblesce ;
En vus ad meinte bone tecche.
Quant vus le m'avez primes gehi,
De vus averai bone merci :
Meis si vus le me eussez celez
Tant kel me ust altre mustrez,
Jameis mis quers ne vus amast,
Ne ma buche ne vus beisast.
Si li fels fist sa felunie,
Jo querrai k'il perdrat la vie.’
La nuit se just : mes le matin
Vers Everwich tint son chemin.
Le rei trova entre sa gent :
Buern i aveit meint bon parent.
[25]Li reis le vist ; si l'apelat.
Buern iloches le defiat :
‘ Jo te defi, e tut te rent ;
De tei ne voil [26]tenir nient.
[27]Jameis de tei ren ne tendrai,
[28]Ton homage ci te rendrai.’
A tant eissi de la meison ;
Od lui eissit maint bon baron.
Donc tint conseil od son linage ;
A [29]els se clamat del huntage.
Coment li reis l'aveit mené,
Lur ad tut dit e conté :
Puis lur ad dit k'il s'en irrat,
S'il pout, les Daneis amerrat.
Ja [30]son quer n'ert mes lié,
Desci k'il seit [31]del rei′ vengé :
E ses parenz li ont pramis,
K'il le mettrunt [32]hors del pais.
Si firent il : pur cel forfeit es? Quare non comedis, et quamobrem affligitur cor tuum? Nonne melior sum ego tibi quam decem alii?’ Illa respondit : ‘ Putavi quidem te mihi omnibus meliorem : sed nunc video quod a me tuum avertisti amorem. Hoc enim amisso, viduam me potius quam conjugem puto. Immo et repudiata sum et relicta, quæ non solum contempta sum sed etiam repulsa. Non ergo tantum vidua sum, sed infelicior vidua.’ Cui maritus ait : ‘ Nullatenus verum est quod a me vel repulsa sis vel contempta. Licet enim rex operatus sit tecum voluntatem suam, non tamen proinde potes amittere dilectionem meam. Eo quidem magis te et perfectius diligo, quo fidem in te perfectiorem invenio.’ At illa : ‘ Si ergo me diligis,’ inquit, ‘ exorata perficies. Quod si nolis, nec diligis. Hinc itaque experimentum amoris capiam. Manifesta erit in favore dilectio. Si facies diligis. Sed video quod non facies. Ergo non diligis. Hinc est igitur quod in luctu sedeo, quatinus residuum vitæ meæ in dolore peragam.’ . . . . .

Si firent rei del region,
[1]D'on chivaler, ki Elle out nun.
Ore avint, si cum vus [2]oez,
[3]Cil out les Daneis amenez.
A [4]Kawode[a] [5]erent herbergez
Cil ki furent es nefs chargez,
Meis li plusurs de [6]lur Daneis
Vindrent par milu Holderneis :
E puis [7]par le pais guasté,
Tant ke [8]prof sunt de la cité ;
[9]E li navire' en contre vint.
Li reis ki donc la terre tint,
Ert [10]cel jur en bois alé,
Quant cil vindrent a la cité :
Meis li altres reis ert remis ;
Cil ki [11]desai ert [12]des cles.
[13]Quant les Daneis les assaillirent,
Une pece se defendirent ;
Meis poi durat lur defensaille,
Puis ke Daneis orent [14]la baille.
Tost fu idonc la cité prise :
De homes i out mult grant occise.
Osbreth li reis i fu oscis :
[15]Buern fut vengé sis enemis.
Elle li reis en bois estait,
Quatre bises idonc pris aveit.
Assis esteit a son disner ;
Uns hom [b]oit [16]un cloke' soner :
En sa main tint un clochete ;
Si sonut cler com eschelete.
Li reis rovat k'avant venist,
A manger i eust ; car co requist.
Com li reis sist a son manger,
Si ad dit a un chevaler :
' Mult avom hui bien esplaité ;
Pris avom co k'avom chascé ;
Quatre bisses, e cheverels sis :
Mainte feiz avom chascé pis.'
Li [17]orps l'oit, ki loinz seait ;
Donc dist un mot ki veirs estait :
' Si vus en bois avez tant pris,
Perdu avez tut cest pais :
Les Daneis ont mielz esplaité,
Ki Everwich ont purchacé :
E mulz [18]barons i [19]ad oscis ;
Osbreth ont mort ses enemis.'

Respont li reis : ' Comens le sez ?' Edelred.
' Mon sens le m'ad [20]demostrez.
As enseignes si [21]ne me' creez,
Le fiz ta sour, ke iloc veez,
[22]Orrum, ert li [23]primes oscis
De la bataille a Everwics :
Une bataille i avera grant,
[24]Si tu me creis n'irras pas avant.
E [25]nepurquant ne pot [26]altre estre ;
Uns reis i deit perdre la teste.'
Respont li reis : ' Tu [27]as menti :
Pris en serras, e mal bailli.
Si co n'est veirs perdras la vie,
[28]Cumprer t'estot' ta sorcerie.'
Respont li [29]orps : ' E jol otrei :
Si co n'est veir, osciez mai.'
Li reis l'ad feit od li mener :
Bien le comandat [30]a guarder.
En une tur ki halte esteit,
Mist son nevou, ke iloc [31]seit.
Puis li ad dit [32]un corvi,
[33]Pramet k'enveirat' pur lui.
La gent asemblerent del pais,
Od le rei vont vers Everwics :
Asez encontrent des naffrez,
E des fuianz, ki ont contez
Tut co ke li devins [34]dit ;
[35]Un sul mot [36]ni mentit :
E li reis Elle, out mult [37]grant gent,
Si chevalchat [38]bien ferement.
Mes son nevou fist grant folur,
K'il out leissé [39]desur la tur.
Dous escuz prist k'il ad trovez,
A la fenestre en est alez :
[40]En les escuz mist [41]ses dous braz ;
Voler quida, mes un grant quaz
Prist contre terre, quant [42]chai :
E [43]nepurquant issi guari,
Ke unc [44]nel en fust gueres le pis.
Un chival vit, mult tost l'ad pris ;
Un bacheler iloc estait,
Ki le cheval par le frein teneit,
Trais gavelocs out en sa main :
[45]Orrum, ne [46]fu [47]pas' vilain,
Les gavelocs s'empres saisi,
E le cheval tost li toli,

[a] Cawood, near York.

[b] This is apparently the person who, below, is simply called the ' blind man,' in a way which seems to imply that he had been already fully described : he afterwards appears to be a soothsayer. Beggars, and probably the blind, carried a bell down to a late period.

Edelred.

Puis est monté; [1]alad mult' tost.
Pres de Everwic estait ja l'ost,
[2]E il poinst tant[3], k'il vint devant
[4]Les ostz alerent asemblant;
Purpensat sei, com home leger,
[5]K'il i ferrad le colp primer.
En l'eschele, ke devant vint,
[6]Lancat le gaveloc k'il tint.
Un chevaler en [7]asenad,
Si k'en la [8]buche li entrad;
Derere el [9]col [10]li eissit fors;
Ne pot ester en piez; li cors
[11]Jus cheit mort, ne pot [12]altre estre:
Paiens estait; n'out soing de prestre.
[13]Orrum retint un altre dart,
[14]Ke il lur' lancat de altre part.
Un [15]fel Daneis si en feri;
Bien l'asenat, pas ni failli:
Suz la mamele li entrat,
[16]El quer li vint; mort le getat.
Mes al retur k'il volt turner,
Un archer [17]lest un [18]dart aler;
[19]Si la cumsiwt suz' la [20]furcele,
K'al quer li vint mortel novele.
[21]L'alme s'en veit, li cors chai,
Si com li [22]orps aveit' gei.
[23]Li reis [24]Elle, quant [25]co sout,
Unc [26]en son quer tel doil [27]n'en out.
Par hardement donc s'escria:
Dous des escheles tresperca;
Mes de co fist ke malsené,
Ke trop s'est abandoné.
De totes [28]parz furent' Daneis:
Oscis i fu Elle li reis.
[29]Oscis [30]fu en la champaigne:
Poi eschapa de sa compaigne.'
Li lius u il fut mort rué,
[31]Elle-croft est ore apelé.
De vers le West une croiz [32]i ad;
En milu d'Engleterre estad:
Engleis l'apelent Elle-cros.
Unc [33]Daneis n'ourent repos,
Desci k'il ourent tut conquis,
Del North [34]de Humbre [35]cel pais.
[36]Mes donc asistrent la cité;
Par tut firent lur volunté.
Quant lur gardeins i ourent mis,
En [37]Merce vont, en un pais,
Notingham pristrent Daneis,
[38]Iware e [39]Ubbe esteient lur reis,
[40]Trestut l'ivern' i sujurnerent.
Les Merceneis ost asemblerent:
Ost asembla li reis [41]Bureth,
Si ad manda [a]pur Edelreth,
Reis de Westsexe [42]cil estait:
[43]Elured un son frere aveit,
Ki [44]bien saveit conseil doner,
E bataille [45]bien ordeiner,
E guerreier [46]resaveit bien;
Clerc [47]estait, e bon astronomien.
Cil vindrent od lur ost banie;
Notingham unt assailie.
Mes les Daneis, ki dedenz erent,
Legerement les [48]reuserunt.
Tut furent [49]lez quant triwes pristerent,
Arere a la veie se mistrent:
E li Daneis, solum lur lai,
I funt feste, chescon par sei.
[b]Puis [50]ralerent en Everwics;
[51]Asemblent [52]gent de cel' pais.
Si manderent les Merceneis;
[53]Vengent en [54]l'ost od les Daneis.
[c]Il vindrent, e la gent del North,
Od les Daneis tresk'a Teford.
Il urent [55]ainz triwes donees;
Sis troverent [56]aseurez.
Peis e trius lur unt fruisé;
Tut le pais unt exillé.
[d]Uns reis troverent el pais,
Bon Crestien e Deu amis,
Eadmund out nun, sainz hom estait:
[57]Trestut [58]Hestengle mainteneit.
Od tant de gent cum cel rei [59]out,
Se combati; veincre [60]nes pout,
Pur la grant gent [61]ke cil' aveient.
Mult ferement se combateient;
[62]La victorie [63]del champ' fust lur.

[1]Del rei Eadmund, ki fu chascé′
A un chastel [2]u ert son sie :
E li paien l'ont [3]parsey.
Eadmund lur est encontre eissy.
[4]Tut le primer kil encontrerent
[5]Unt pris, e puis′ demanderent ;
‘ U est Eadmund? dites le nus.’
‘ Jo volunters, tut a estrus.
Tant cum jo [6]ere en cel refui,
Eadmund i ert e jo od lui.
Quant m'en turnai il s'en turnat,
Ne sai [7]s'il vus eschaperat.
[8]Ore est en Deu del rei la fin,
E en Jesu, a ki [9]est aclin.’
Cil [10]kil l'ont′ prist l'unt tant tenuz,
[11]Ke Iwar′ e Ubbe sunt venuz.
Plusurs de lur [12]venuz i sunt,
Ki reconurent Eadmund seint.
E quant co sourent, [13]cil malfee,
Mult cruelement unt comandé
K'il renaiast la lai divine,
Crist qui nasqui de la Virgine.
Li reis lur dist, ke nun ferat,
Mes [14]fermement en lui [15]crerat.
[16]Ke firent donc cil adverser?
A un arbre l'unt feit lier.
Puis si ont dit e mult juré,
D'estrange mort [17]l'unt turmenté.
Donc manderent [18]pur [19]archers ;
Al rei trestrent [20]od arcs [21]manuers.
Tant i unt treit e tant lancé,
Ke son cors fu [22]si effiché
Des darz ke treistrent [23]cil felon,
Com est la pel del hericon
Espes de poignantes brochetes,
Dont del gardin [24]ported pometes.
Uncore, co qui, pussent [25]treire,
Ainz ki [26]li reis volsist rien feire
De quanque cil felon voleient,
Ki son seint cors [27]si baillisseint.
Donc demanderunt un felon,
[28]Coran Colbe out cil a′ non :
La teste al seint cil ad tranché ;
Issi fu Eadmund martirizé.

Mes si [29]Gaimar eust leisir, Edelred.
Il parlast plus del seint martyr :
[a]Pur co que aillurs en est lá [30]veie,
E les lescons, e l'estorie,
[31]Sil ad leissé ceste feie
Pur l'estorie k'out comencé.
Cil felon [32]rei, Ubbe e Iwar,
Co firent de la seinte char :
[b]Quant co [33]unt feit,′ d'iloc turnerent,
Dreit vers Redinges [34]en alerent.
Mes lentement i sunt alez,
Viles destruisterent e citez :
E Crestiens vont [35]osciant,
[36]E lur′ eglises [37]destruiant.
Quant a Redinges sunt venuz,
Westsexiens [38]s'en sunt eissuz.
[39]Contre lur rei [40]en sunt alez,
La u [41]son ost out′ asemblez.
E li Daneis dous jors sojurnerent ;
[42]Tuz tens′ funt mal quel part que turnerent.
Al tierz jor sunt aparillez ;
Dous contes ki ont chevalchez,
A [43]Englesfeld en sunt alez.
Edelwolf ont iloc trovez ;
[44]Riche baron ert del pais :′
[45]Asemblé [46]aveit ses amis,
[47]E ses homes, e son efforz,′
Ki des Daneis ont asez morz :
E l'un des contes fust oscis,
Sidrac ki [48]fel fu [49]e gueris.
[50]Quart jor apres vint Edelret
Li reis, e son frere Elueret,
A Redinges, [51]out mult′ grant ost,
[52]E les Daneis en eissirent tost.
En un plein champ [53]tindrent estur,
Ki ne failli [54]en tut [55]un jor.
Iloc fust Edelwolf oscis,
Li riches hom [56]dunt des ainz vus di,
E Edelret e Eluereth
Furent chascé a [57]Wiscelet[c].
[58]Co est un gué vers Windesoueres,
A unes estand en unes mores :
Iloc l'un ost alat arere,
Ne seurent gué sur la riviere :

[c] Wistley, or Wichelet Green, is near Twyford. The name of the place where the battle was fought and various other circumstances here noticed, are not mentioned by any preceding writer.

Edelred. [1]Thuiforde ad nun li gué tut dis,
U les Daneis sunt resortiz ;
E [2]les Engleis sunt eschapez,
Mes mulz en sunt morz e naffrez :
Ci [3]furent Daneis [4]victur.
Mes apres co, dreit le quarte jor,
[5]Sur Esenesdone' s'asemblerent
La gent ke pas ne s'entreamerent ;
Co sunt Daneis e Engleis,
Ki [6]se [7]erent' combatu ainceis.
[k] Elueret. Iloc firent lur gent partir
En dous batailles, pur ferir :
[8]Par lur orgoil l'unt feit Daneis ;
En l'une furent lur dous reis,
[9]E [10]Baseng[a] [11]e Halfdene ourent [12]cil nun,
Od els ont maint bon [13]champion :
En l'altre eschele contes out,
Sydroc le veil, ki ferir sout,
E od lui, le [14]jovene Sydroc,
Ki fu [15]parent le rei' [b]Heveloc,
E le quens Osbern, e li quens Frane,
Conte Haralt, nevou [16]Dane[b].
[17]Od els erent barons asez,
E chevalers bons e provez.
E [18]les Engleis, del altre part,
[19]Se sunt partiz, nel funt [20]a tart.
Reis Edelreth [21]encontre les reis
Se combati od [22]ses Engleis ;
E Elueret contre les contes.
Le jor receurent [23]les Daneis hontes :
Car les Engleis les [24]ont chascez,
Vencu en champ, e deglaivez.
[25]Mult maint miller en ont oscis ;
Cels mar vindrent en lor pais.
[a]Baseng li reis iloc fu mort,
Li quens Sydroc [26]li grant, [27]li fort,
E [28]les contes dunt des ainz dis,
[c]Unze en i out el champ oscis.
E APRES co une quinzaine,
[29]Resemblerent la gent grifaine :
A [30]Basinges se combatirent ;
Cels sunt chascez ki [31]venquirent.
Un [32]mais apres, a Meredune,
Furent vencu cels de Sessoigne.
[33]Hamund [34]i fut oscis l'evesque,
Ki de [d]Wincestre ert poestifs.
Donc vint un Daneis, un tyrant,
Ki [35]Sumerlede[e] out nun le grant ;
A Redinges vint od son ost,
Quank'il trova destruit mult tost.
Reis Edelret si volt combatre ;
Mes il transid ; si gist en [36]lestre.
A Wineburne est li reis posez,
Ke sul cinc anz ne tint regnez.
[f]DONC regnat li reis [k]Elueret,
Edelwolfing ert apelez.
E li Daneis donc s'asemblerent ;
En Westsexe quere l'alerent.
A Wiltone la l'unt trové,
Od poi de gent, ke out asemblé.
Combati sei, co fu en vain :
Al bois le chascerent del plain.
[37]E en cel an ke cist fust reis,
Nos batailles tint as Daneis,
Estre asemblers e esturs,
K'entre els furent par plusurs jors.
E en icel an furent oscis
[38]Nof contes [39]poestifs,
De Danemarche erent icil,
[40]Od els' homes [41]seit mil,
E li rei [a]Baseng lur seignur :
Elueret sur els out la victur.
E cel an tuz les Daneis
Pristrent triues [42]de Elueret li reis.
[43]Puis[g] de Redinges [44]alerent ;
[45]L'ivern a Londres sujurnerent :
E en l'esté les Merceneis
Pristrent triwes od les Daneis.
[h]L'ivern apres [46]la gent haie'
Pristrent sojurn [47]a Torkeseie :'
[1]Le tierz ivern a Rependone.
[48]Burhert ert rei, e dreite persone :
Mercenne estait le son regné ;
Par lur [49]force l'en ont chascé.
Vint e dous anz [50]l'aveit tenu
[51]Quant del regné chascé fu.

El muster de Seinte Marie,
En [1]Englescole perdi la vie:
Ilokes fu icel seignur
Enseveliz, [2]par grant honur.
Donc firent [3]les Daneis [4]k'enfant:
Ceowolf livererent Mercenelant.
Cil ostages lur livera,
Ke fealment [5]mult les servira.
[a]Puis s'en turnerent plusurs parz:
[b]A Londres [6]sojurnout [7]Iwars;
E Haldene, li altre reis,
Veit guereier sur les Pictais,
E sur [c]Streclued, reis de Geleweie;
Sovent les mist en male vaie.
Li reis Godrum e Oschetel,
[8]Il aveient' [9]pris conseil
K'a Grantebrige tornerunt,
E la cité asegerunt.
Si firent il; od lur grant ost,
De Rapendone vont mult tost.
[10]Trestut un an le sege tindrent,
[11]Al chef [12]del turn,' [13]cum fols [14]vindrent,
Mult i perdirent, poi i gagnerent.
[d]Tut [15]en emble donc chevacherent
[16]Dreit a Warham, si l'unt asis:
En un sul jorn unt le burc pris.
Li reis Elueret donc i alat,
E l'ost [17]de Westsexe i amenat.
Tant menat gent de son regné,
[18]E de' altre gent k'il out [19]mandé,
Ke li Daneis [20]l'unt eschived:
Pleit firent a sa volunted.
[21]Co li jurerent les treis rais,
E les meillors de lur Daneis;
[22]E bons' ostages en livererent,
[23]Tels cum Engleis les demanderent,
Ke sanz demorance s'en irrunt:
Jameis de rien ne [24]li forferunt.
Par itels triwes [25]departirent:
Ore oez ke li Daneis firent.
[26]Nutantre e en emblé
[e]A Excestre en sunt alé.
Cil a cheval [27]la vile emblerent:
Lur altre gent [28]es nefs alerent.

A la cité voldrent aler,
La [29]se [30]devaient encontrer;
Mes [31]donc lur avint un encumbrer,
En mer les estut [32]periller.
[f]Cent e quarante [33]navees
En sunt [34]a Deebles alees.
E li reis Elueret, quant co entent,
Manda ses homes e sa gent.
Idonc avint, ne pout [35]altre estre,
Le [36]sege tint a Excestre.
E li paien [37]ki sunt asis,
[38]Urent suffreite de lur amis
[39]K'il en urent perdu el navie,
E de lur bone compagnie.
Pur [40]co, quant ne se porent' tenir,
Donc firent pleit pur els guarir.
Ostages unt itels liverez,
Com li Engleis ont demandé.
Puis jurerent peis a tenir:
[41]Tut jors le rei voldrunt' servir.
Quant [42]ont feit, en Mercene vont:
Entre els cel regné [43]parti unt.
[44]Cheolwlf partie en unt doné,
Ki reis aveit del tut esté.
[45]Puis[g], el Noel, li' felon Daneis,
[46]Ki peis urent juré ainceis,
[47]Fruissent la pes, li deffaié:
En Westsexe [48]en resunt' alé.
A Sippenham [49]pristrent estal;
[50]Mult volunters i firent mal.
Musters destruistrent e meisons,
Chapeles e religions.
La gent chascerent del pais;
Les plusurs ont en prison mis.
Li reis Elueret, ki ert lur sire,
Ne sout ke fere, ne ke dire.
[51]De tote parz feit gent mander;
Mes mult en pout poi asembler.
Com veit ke si est entrepris,
E si [52]mal bailli [53]par enemis;
[54]As bois se tint e as gastines,
Pur eschaper des mains sanguines.
E [55]nepuroc quant il poait,

Elueret. [1]Si s'asemblout contre dous tanz :
Sovent oscist de lur asquanz.
Un frere [2]Iware e Haldene
[3]En fu oscis el bois [4]de [a]Pene ;
Ubbe out a nun un mal fesant :
Sur li firent [5]hoge mult grant
Li Daneis, quant l'ourent trové :
Ubbelawe l'unt apelé.
La [6]hoge est en Deveneschire :
De gent i out [7]bien grant martyre.
[8]Huit cenz quarante en i morurent,
Quinchald, feluns, perjures furent ;
Conquis i fu le gumfanun
Ubbe, ke Raven out nun.
Apres la Paske en icel an,
Od poi de gent, par grant ahan,
Ferma li bon reis Eluereth,
A Edelingé, un chasteleth :
[9]Fermer i fist un defensal,
Par ki Daneis mist en traval.
Apres [10]Paske [b]quatre' semaine,
Chevacha a Ecbrichstane ;
Co est del hest de Selewode.
[11]Ceolmer[c] vint [12]contre le' [13]e Chude,
Od les barons de [14]Sumersete,
De Wilteschire e de [15]Dorsete.
[16]De Hanteschire i vint Chilman,
Ki les barons manda par ban ;
E cil vindrent ki remis erent
Deça la mer, ki fui [17]n'erent :
E quant il virent lur seignur,
Mult loerent le Creatur,
Di co ke vif l'ourent trové :
Car longement fu [18]adiré,
E [19]quidouent en lur [20]avis,
Ke Daneis l'eussent oscis.
Del rei urent mult grant confort
Ke vif estait ; ne mie mort.
Donc pristrent en lur conseil,
Li reis Elueret e si feail,
Ke tute nuit chevacherunt,
E lendemain, tant cum purrunt.
[21]Donc alerent cele nuit,
Tresk' [d]Aclee urent conduit ;
E lendemain, a hure de none,
Donc sunt venuz a Edenesdone.

Iloc troverent les Daneis :
Combati si Elueret li reis.
[22]Meis ne sai dir par devise,
Des quels i out greignur oscise,
U des Daneis u des Engleis :
Mes co sai bien, ki li bon reis
Elueret, out donkes la victur,
E [23]ses barons,' par grant [24]honur.
Puis chevalcha sur els sovent,
E fist lur maint [25]envaisement.
[26]En quinze jurs les danta si,
[27]Icels Daneis dunt jo vus di,
K'il firent pleit ; si s'acorderent,
E bons ostages [28]livererent.
E jurerent, [29]quanz k'il' sunt,
Ke james nel [30]guerpirunt :
E uncore plus li ont promis,
E Crestieneté li unt requis.
E li reis dist quant [31]ico entent,
K'il le ferat mult bonement.
Le jur lur mist del repairer ;
Vint e huit dis, un mais [32]entier.
[33]Cil vindrent a icel jor,
Si amenerent lur seignur ;
[34]Li rei Gudrum unt amenez :
E de ses parenz, les plus privez,
[35]Vindrent od lui al baptiser ;
Trente en i out al primsener :
Li reis meismes les leva,
[36]Nuns e bons enges lur dona :
Al baptisterie, reis Gudrum
Adelstan [37]donc l'apela' l'om ;
E les trente ses compaignons,
Chescon par sei, [38]out enges e nons.
[39]Ad Alre furent baptizeiz,
Fait Crestiens e primsenez.
Co est mult pres de Edelingee,
U fu feit ceste asemblee.
A Wethmor furent [40]desaleez[e],
E dusze jurs [41]i ont' sujurnez
Od Elueret, le gentil rei,
Ki par honur prist de els conrei :
E il e ses bons compaignons,
Lur donerent mult riches dons.
Donc [42]out de la Nativité,
[43]Huit cenz anz li secles duré,

E [a]dis e nef anz de surplus,
Si com es [b]liveres est [1]respous,
Dont li prodome ont la memorie,
Ki parsevent la dreit estorie.
En icel [2]tens, co dist [3]mi meistre,
Vint rei [c]Gurmunt a Cirecestre:
Puis ad mandé pur [4]icel ost
De Sippenham, ke viengent tost.
[5]E il vindrent, n'en unt demoré,
Trestut [6]l'ivern ont sujurné:
Puis en [7]leste, el meis de Averil,
Mistrent maint cheitif en exil.
De Cyrecestre sont turnez,
En [8]Hestengle s'en sunt alez.
Li reis Gurmund par son devis,
Mist ses gardains en cel pais.
Apres ico, manda par ban
Pur l'ost ki [9]ert a Fuleham;
[10]Contre li vengent a la mer,
Par tut manda [11]par son empier.
[12][Celui qui ne volt venir,
De male mort estuet murir.]
Bien asemblad plus de cent reis,
Od lur grant ost, od lur herneis.
A Gernemue entrent en mer,
De suz [d]Chaihy vont ariver.
Lur [13]nefs firent' a terre treire;
[14]N'en quident [15]mes aver a feire.
Puis ont guasté [16]tut cel' pais,
[17]A la terre Seint [18]Galeris[e].
Avant s'en vont, en [19]Pontif[f] entrent,
Les paisanz mult se dementent.
Donc violerent Saint [20]Richer[g],
Les crucifixs funt [21]despecer;
Par [22]tut s'espandent el pais,
Maint baron [23]e maint hom i ont oscis.
Pur co k'el pais out plenté,
Gurmund i ad mult sujurné.
Mais [24]si grant ost ala avant:
Unc ne finerent tresk'a Gant.
Iloc furent tut l'ivern tens;
Mult firent mal en trestuz sens.

E les Franceis tart [25]s'asemblerent: Elueret
Gurmund quisterent, tant k'il le troverent.
[26]Od lui iloc se combatirent:
[h]Il fu oscis, Franceis venquirent;
E l'ost ki ert alé avant,
E sujurné aveit a Gant,
D'iloc turnent, en France vont;
[27]Jo qui ke Franceis si combateront.
Si firent il; meis poi ont gent,
E trop despurvouement,
Tut sanz lur rei, se combatirent;
Mult de lur [28]herneis i perdirent.
[29]Reis Lowis estait naffrez:
Pur co furent desbaretez.
E par la plaie k'il receust,
Longes langui, puis [30]si morust.
E les paens en vont avant;
[31]France troverent sanz garant.
Meis li Franceis tut li plusur,
Unt feit de [32]Charles seignur;
E li alquant [33]le vont desdire.
[34]Des dous conseils [35]firent le pire:
Car [36]s'il ensemble se tenissent,
Paene gent tost [37]destruissent.
Par co [38]k'il firent al rei guere,
E li Daneis gastent la terre,
Fu France malement menee,
Tant ke [39]paens pristrent entree
En un pais ca vers Bretaigne,
[i]Scantlaud out nun, ore est [40]le Maigne.
[41]Icele[k] gent e les Bretons,
[42]Se combatirent as felons.
La, merci Deu li Reis de [43]glorie,
Sur les Daneis ourent [44]victorie.
Iloc furent paens destruiz,
Ke tut [45]lur orgoil e lur' bruiz
Chai ensemble en un sul jur,
En France puis ne firent retur.

[c] There is no mention of Gurmund, or of any other Danish chief, at this time in the Saxon Chronicle. Gaimar seems to identify Guthrum, who apparently remained in East-Anglia, with Gurmund, who, according to Hariulfus, plundered the monasteries of S. Riquier and S. Valeri, and many other places at this period, and with whose account of these ravages, that of our author in some measure agrees. See Chron. Centulense ap. D'Achery, Spicileg. IV. 518-19. Bouquet, VIII. 273-4, and Ann. Vedast. ibid. 80, 81. Gaimar appears here to have intended to exhibit a summary of the Danish ravages in France between the years 879 and 890.

Elueret.

En mer sovent se combateit,
E des Daneis mult oscieit.
[a]E il aveit tant espleité
Par sa bonté, e purchacé,
Ke Marinus li out tramis,
De la croiz u Crist fu oscis:
Marins ert de Rome [1]apostoilé;
Des bons presenz fist si grant [2]glorie,
Teles reliqes [3]li enveia,
James par armes ne [4]murra.
E [b]Edelsueht ert sa sorur,
A Rome alat od cel honur
Ke Elueret i envaiout:
Idonc morust, avant ne pout.
Le cors de li gist en Pavie,
U ele fu ensevelie.
[c]Ore avint si, e tant fu pis,
Un [5]sengler ad Charles' oscis.
[6]Li reis mort; mais un son frere
Morust ainceis ke ne fist lur pere.
Andui furent fiz Loewiz:
Celui ki out Gurmond oscis.
E Loewis fu fiz Carlun,
Ki donat sa fille al baron,
Reis Edelwlf l'out a raine:
Unke dame n'out mieldre doctrine.
ORE vus ai dit cest parentage.
[7]Dunc vint a Rome un grant [8]damage
De Marins, li bon apostoille,
Ki franchist primes Englesce Escole:
Pur le purchace reis Elueret
Fu [9]celui franc,' Deus seit loet.
En cel tens avint issi
Teles aventures, com jo di.
Reis Elueret mult guerreiout;
Contre paens sovent alout.
Icil Daneis ki triues pristerent,
Al chef del tur mult les malmistrent.
[10]Ensurketut cil de [11]Hestengle,
Tut jors comencouent la [12]gangle.
A Londres erent repairant,
La u paens erent manant:
La cité teneient Daneis.
[d]Ke fist donc Elueret li reis?
Par tut manda pur chevalers,
E pur serganz e pur archers;
Si ad mandé pur ses amis,
E pur los Engleis loinz el pais;
[13]Loinz e pres tuz ad mandé,
Mult grant efforz ad asemblé.
A Londres vint, si [14]l'asegat;
Tant i estut ke prise l'ad,
Puis establi si la cité,
Com si baron li unt loé.
A [e]Edelret, un son baron,
De la guarde li fist le don.
E cil la guardat [15]fealment,
E defendi de estrange gent.
En icel [f]an morust li reis
Ke Elueret out levé aincés:
Paens l'apelerent Gudrum;
Ore aveit Adelstan a nun.
Le cors de lui gist a [16]Thuetfort[g]:
La fu enseveli cel mort.
[h]ORE ert Elueret mult bien munté
Quant out conquise ceste cité:
E les Daneis ki loinz [17]maneient,
Pur sa pruesce [18]le [19]cremarent.
Tut les peis k'il teneit,
En icel tens en pes [20]esteit.
Mes mult [21]l'alouent manacant
Cil Daneis de Norhumberland,
E cil de Hestengle, e de Merceine;
Volunters li fesaient paine.
Meis [22]si l'aveit' cist reis matez,
K'en pes teneit donc ses regnez.
[i]Idonc avint, en icel tens,
Ke l'ost reparast des paens,
Ki en France furent alé:
Tut [23]l'urent deguasté.
L'altre [24]ost ki fu [25]de ces deseveré,
Estait el [26]Magne[k] ainz deserté:
Mais icest ost fu deseveré
Treske Gurmond fu arivé.
De li parti, avant ala,
Trestute France trespassa.
Arere vint vers l'occident,
Robant e destrusant la gent.
Ore aveient asez conquis,
Or e argent, chevals de pris.
A [27]Cheresburg[l] entrent en mer,
[m]A Limmene vont ariver.

Icest bois est de long conté,
[a]Quarante dous liwes mesuré ;
E trente liwes ad [1]de leise :
Limmene curt parmi en aise.
En cest [2]ewe vindrent Daneis,
Co fu el tens Elueret li reis ;
[3]A mont l'ewe trestrent lur nefs,
A quatre liwes sunt remes
Loinz de la buche de [4]Limmene.
Tut [5]le pais, lez la marine,
Unt donc destruit cil adverser :
Mult fu malveis lur repairer.
Il ourent nefs [6]dous cent cinquante ;
Mult funt [7]grant mal lur' hante.
Del altre part, [8]revint Estein
En Tamise par un [9]flod plein :
Mult fist en Kent de ses [10]avels ;
A Mideltone fermat [11]un [12]chastels.
Cel ost manda ki vint de France ;
A [13]Ewldre[b] ert lur remanance.
QUANT ces dous ostz sunt asemblez,
Destruiant vont Crestientez.
[c]Donc [14]avint, si cum Deu plout,
Mort fu Elueret kis guereiout.
[15]Donc de' la Nativité,
[16]Des icel' jur ke Deus fu né,
Out nof cenz anz e un ovoc,
[17]Tresci ke' Elueret morust iloc.
Il regnat bien vint e huit anz.
Poi sunt tels homes vivanz.
Car sages fu e bon guereier,
Bien sout ses enemis [18]pleisser ;
Nul [19]mieldre clerc de [20]lui n'esteit,
Car en [21]s'enfance apris l'aveit ;
Il fist escrivere un livre Engleis
Des aventures, e des leis,
E [22]de batailles de la terre,
E des reis ki firent [23]la guere :
E maint livere fist [24]il [25]escrivere,
U li [26]bon clerc vont sovent lire.
Deus ait merci de' la sue alme,
E Sainte Marie, la [27]dame.
Donc regnat Eadward [28]son fiz,
Li pruz, li [29]saivez, li gentilz.
Meis uncore ert mult [30]fort la guere, Eadward.
Par plusurs lius, en Engleterre.
Car il [31]i aveit' plusurs reis ;
[32]Si guerreiouent les [33]Daneis :
E lur force [34]tut tens' cresseit,
Ki d'ultre mer [35]sovent veneit.
Si [36]k'es siste an ke Eadward regnout,
Quant [37]il par' passer ne pout,
Li estut triues [38]afermer,
[d]E as Daneis [39]doner.
E nepurquant ne durat gaire :
Daneis erent mult de mal aire.
Tant [40]guerrieient [41]sur Engleis,
Ke Eadward si combati, li reis ;
[e]Od les Engleis k'il asembla,
A Thuetenhale [42]les mata.
EN icel tens morust uns reis,
[43]Edelret[f], ki ert sur Merceneis.
Icist Edelret Lundres teneit ;
[44]Li reis Elueret mis [45]i l'aveit.
Ne l'aveit mie en heritage ;
Cum dust morir, si fist ke e sage :
Al rei Eadward rendi son dreit,
Od [46]quanqu'il i aparteneit.
Lundres rendi ainz k'il fust mort,
E la cité de Oxeneford :
E le pais, e les [47]contez
Ki apendeient as citez.
[g]En icel an vint une navire,
Ki el pais fist grant martire.
De [h]Lidwiche ert cest ost venu,
Lonc Saverne s'est estendu.
Eadward li reis [48]contr'els ala :
Mult en oscist, poi s'en turna.
Dis e huit anz quant out regné,
Merceneland rescut en fie.
Elflet sa [49]sorur l'en herita,
Si cum [50]Eldret[f] li reis [51]comanda.
Pur co k'enfanz ne pout aveir,
Quant ele morust, [52]si en' fist son hair.
[i]Treis anz apres Sihtriz li reis,
[53]Ki l'altre partie teneit de' [k]Merceneis,
Oscist Neel son frere, a tort :
Li reis Eadward venga sa mort.

Eadward. Sihtriz oscist [1]od une′ espee:
Puis fu [2]il reis de la contree.
Un an apres, par la devise,
[a]Ad [3]Renald Evewic conquise.
Co ert un rei demi Daneis;
De par sa mere estait Engleis.
Sur li voleit Eadward aler,
Si aveit feit [4]ost asembler:
[b]Mais donc morust, ne pout [5]altre estre:
Enseveli fu a Wincestre.

Adelstan. Puis regnat son fiz Adelstan.
Quant out regné tresk'el quart an,
[c]Bataille tint contre Daneis,
[A] Edwi. Si descunfist Gudfrid li reis.
[d]Puis asembla mult grant [6]empire,
E en la mer mist grant [7]navire.
[8]Dreit en Escoce s'en ala;
Icel pais forment preia.
[×] Edgar. Apres un an, ne mains ne plus,
A [9]Bruneswerce[e], out le desus
Sur [10]les Escoz,′ e sur Combreis,
Sur [11]Gawaleis, e sur Picteis.
Iloc [12]en furent′ tant oscis,
[13]Crei ke [14]parlé en ert tut dis.
[f]Puis ne [15]vesqui il′ que treis anz;
Il n'out [16]ne fiz ne altres enfanz.
De son frere firent donc rei,

Eadmund. Eadmund out nun, prodom co crei.
[17]E li′ tierz anz [18]cum il′ regna,
[g]Ultre Humbre [19]son ost mena.
Dous reis i out, felons Daneis;
Li uns out nun [20]Unlaf li reis,
L'altre ert Renald apelez.
Fors les chascat [21]de cel′ regnez.
Quant co out feit, alat avant:
[22]Grant[h] preie prist en Cumberlant.
[1]Il tint sa terre [23]puis treis anz:
Donc fist de lui Deus ses comanz.

Edret. Edret son frere [24][apres] regnat;
Son frere [k]Eadward bien vengat:
[25]Il le vengat des enemis,
Ki l'aveient par murdre oscis.
Puis seisi [26]Norhumberland,
E les Escoz li [27]vont enclinant.

[1]Quant il regnout el secund an,
Idunckes vint Anlaf Quiran.
Norhumberlant seisi e prist:
Ne trovat ki li defendist.
Treis anz la tint icil Daneis;
[m]Puis l'enchascerent Norhumbreis.
Iric le fiz Harold receurent:
Del fiez tenir, [28]bien l'asurent.
Dous anz regnat en cel regné:
[29]Donc el′ tierz an, l'en unt [30]dechascé.
[n]Edret idunkes la receut:
Mes d'iloc a un an morust.
[31]Idonc avint [32]el regne issi,
Engleis firent lur rei de [o]Edwi:[A]
Apres Edret fu Edwi reis;
Fiz fu Eadmund, cil [33]ert Engleis.
Par tut [34]alouent ses comanz:
[35]Il ne vesqui ke sul treis anz.
Apres regna [p]Edgar[×] son frere,
Cil tint [36]terre come emperere.
En son tens amenda la terre;
Par tut out pes, n'ert [37]nule guere.
[38]Il sul regnout sur tuz les reis,
E [39]sur Escoz e [40]sur Galeis.
Unc [41]pis ke′ Artur s'en fu alez,
N'en out [42]un rei tel poestez.
Li reis ama mult seint Eglise:
De tort, [43]de dreit, [44]sout la [45]devise.
Pur co se penat de bien faire;
[46]Car francs estait, e debonaire.
Bones costumes alevat;
Tuz ses veisuns vers [47]lui clinat.′
Par bel amur [48]e par [49]supplei,
Les [50]aclinat trestuz vers sei.
Unc ne [51]trovat kil′ guerriast,
Ne ke par mal en sa terre entrast,
[52]Fors sul [53]Torel,[q] ki revelat;
Westmereland sur lui [54]preiad.
Pur cel forfeit recut [55]cil mort;
Mar comencat la guere a tort.
Cest rei fu saives e vaillant;
De sa raine out belz enfanz.
Un fiz [56]out dunt jo sai dire,
Co fu Eadward [r]de Schaftesbire:

E [1]sa fille out nun [2]Seint Edid,
La dame ke Deu [3]beneit.
Uncore out [4]il treis′ altres fiz,
[5]Par treis meres furent nasquiz:
Treis meres ourent [6]ces treis,
De femmes ert jolifs li reis.
Quant [7]sa raine fu transie,
Par femmes [8]empaira sa vie.
Un riches home maneit al [9]realme,
Bien sai ke mort ert sa femme;
Une fille l'en dona Deus,
Nul altre [10]enfant n'en′ ert remés.
Orgar[a] aveit nun cele riche home:
De Excestre [11]desk'a Frume,
[12]N'aveit nule′ burc ne cité
De ki Orgar ne fust fiefé.
Meis vielz hom ert a grant merveille;
Co ke sa [13]fille li conseille,
Co feit, e co comande a fere,
Ne [14]trovet ki s'en [15]ost retraire.
[16]Alftrued out nun ceste pucelle;
[17]Ne quid [18]suz ciel [19]eust si bele.
De sa belté par la contree,
Estait mult grant la renomé.
E quant [20]iloc tant en [21]parlouent
Cil de la curt i [22]repairouent:
E li curtais ke la [23]veaient,
De sa belté [24]mult bien disaient.
Li reis Edgar ad esculté
Come [25]home parlout de sa bealté.
Soventefaiz [26]l'oi loer;
De sa bealté [27]ad oi tant′ parler,
K'il purpensoit, e disoit [28]en sei:
'Parmi tut [29]ico ke jo sui rei,
[30]E elle′ e fille a un baron,
Ne vei nule discretion.
Fiz a [31]conte fu son pere,
[32]Des reis gentilz nasqui sa mere.
Ele est asez de halt parage;
Bien la puis prendre sans hontage.'
Donc apela un chevaler:
Si prist a lui a conseiler.
[33]Mult l'aveit cher, [34]sil out′ nuri;
[35]Ko ke pensout, li descoveri.
'Edilwolt [36]frere,' dit li rei,
'Jo te [37]direi de mon secrei.
Jo aim Estrueth la fille Orgar; Edgar.
A tote gent [38]l'ai oi′ si loer,
E [39]de bealté′ si preiser,
Faire en voldreie ma mulher,
Si tel estait, e jol seuse,
E de sa bealté [40]a sur′ fusse.
Pur co ti pri, va la veer:
Ko k'en dirras, tendrai pur vair.
[41]Jo te crei mult, fai mun afaire;
[42]Ne sujurner[43], mes tost repaire.
Cil s'en alat aparaller:
Unc ne finat, ne [44]volt targer,
Desci k'il vint en Defneschire,
A la meison Orgar li sire.
De part le rei l'ad salué:
De tutes parz fu welcumé.
Orgar jouoit [45]a un′ esches,
Un giu k'il aprist [46]des Daneis:
Od lui jouoit Elstruet la bele;
Suz ciel n'out donc tel damesele.
[47]Trestut un jor i demorat;
[48]E Edelwolt mult l'esgardat.
Tant l'esguarda vis e colur,
E cors e mains, la bele flur,
K'il quidat bien ke co fust fee,
[49]K'ele ne fust pas de femme nee.
E quant la vit de tel bealtee,
[50]Tant par en fu enluminee,
[51]K'il purpensat en son corage,
U [52]turt a pru, u a damage,
Ne dirait mie a sun seignur
La verité, [53]cel traitur,
[54]Ainz dirrat′ k'ele n'est pas si bele;
De [55]loinz purtraist la grant puscele.
[56]Kil en avint trais anz apres:
[57]Kar mort en fus tut desconfes.
D'iloc turnat, al rei [58]vint,
A un concile k'il tint:
Contes i out, [59]barons, [60]e chasez,′
E arceveskes evesques e abbez.
Oiez ke fist cel [61]losenger.
Il vint al rei apres manger:
Bien fu venu e welcumé;
Mes il devant aveit parlé
A cels ki bien erent del rei,
E ki saveint cest segrei.

Edgar.

Co lur priad k'il li aidassent;
La fille Orgar li demandassent.
E bien lur fist a tuz accreire,
K'ele ert [1]meffete, e laide, e naire.
Devant le rei s'agenulla,
Priveement li demustra:
‘ Reis, [2]de la dame u jo alai,
La verité [3]te conterai.
Ki [4]k'ad menti, jo dirrai veir:
Tu ne deis pas tele femme aveir.
Un semblant ad e [5]un reguart,
Ki mult li vient de male part.
Altres [6]teches i vi asez,
U [7]jo ne note' nule bealtez.
A un home de mun parage,
Ne sereit mie grant [8]homage,
Si la preneit e l'onur gardast,
E le pere mult honurast.'
De tute [9][parz] dient al rei;
‘ Co k'il dist, dist [10]hom a mei.
[11]N'est [12]pas bien ke [13]la prengez:
Un [14]bacheler [15]en seissessez.'
Li reis ert leez, trop out beu:
Legerement [16]l'unt deceu.
Vers Edelwolt a parler prist:
Bien esperat ke veir li dist.
‘ Amis,' feit il, ‘ trebien ti crei:
Quant tele est k'aver ne la dei,
Jo la te doins od tut l'onur;
De son pere fai ton seignur,
Guarde le bien, come pere en [17]lai;
Espuse la, puis vien a moi.'
Une verge teneit le rei,
Si li [18]tendi, e fist l'otrei.
E cil li jura sa fealté:
En icel liu s'est parjuré.
Home ke traist n'ad nule lei,
Nel deit l'om crere pur sa fei.
Cil traitur del rei turnad,
[19]Cum felon [20]donc l'enganad.
Vint a Orgar, [21]sil le [22]trait,
Sa fille prist [23]l'onur saisit.
En cel pais tant sojurnat,
Ke d'on fiz la dame enceintat:
Mes la bele, si ele peust,
Ja de [24]Edelwolt enceinte ne fust.
Pas nel amout; dit li estait
Com deceu le rei aveit:
Il meismes tut en apert,
[25]Envers Elstruet [26]s'ert descovert.
Al dreit terme l'enfant fu ne:
Oez ke fist cel deffaié?
Pur cō ke uncore se [27]tremeit
Del rei, ke mult jolifs estait,
A li en vint, tant le requist,
Ke cel enfant lever li fist.
Quant co eut feit, donc fu seur;
N'en out del rei nul [a]pour.
Li reis francs e gentilz estait,
[28]Nient ne s'en aparceveit.
Del malfelon ne se gardout,
Nuri l'aveit, pur co l'amout,
Tant k'il avint a [29]un [30]super,
Li reis oit de [31]la femme' parler;
De tote pars mult la [32]loent
Cil chevaler ki en [33]parolent,
E disaient, en lur favele,
K'en tut le mund n'aveit si bele:
E si ele fust uncore virgine,
Bien fust digne d'estre raine.
Apres parolent [34]del saveir,
E ke co poait [35]espeleir.
K'ele ert ambure [36][e] bele e sage,
E [37]de parler de franc corage.
[38]K'unches nul' hom de nul envie,
Ne des char, ne de vilainie,
Ne pout en lui rien trover,
Si ert sage de [39]sei garder.
Li reis se merveilat forment:
[40]Issi oeit parler [41]sovent.
A sei diseit en son pensee:
[42]‘ Crei k'Edelwolt m'at engané.'
[43]De Elstrued fu mult pensifs:
Des ore volt errer de mal en pis.
Li reis Edgar se purpensat
K'en Defneschire s'en irrat.
Pur cerfs chascer dist [44]k'il i irrat:
Mes en son quer tut el aveit.
Il n'ert pas loing de [45]la contree:
Maint hom [46]fort greigneur jurnee.
Elstruet estait a une maneir,
U li reis vint lendemain al soir.
Pres ert del bois, u [47]volt chaser:
La nuit i remist pour herberger.
E quant co avint k'il dust super,
Uncore luseit li soleil cler.

Donc demanda de sa cumere;
U ele estait, u ert son pere?
Dist Edelwolt: 'En cel soler:
Reis, trop junez, alez manger.'
Li reis entent, si [1]parceit,
Si Edelwolt pot, ne la verreit.
Donc prist [2]la main un chevaler:
Si est venuz [3]sus el' soler.
Dames, puceles, mult i trovad;
A nule d'elles ne parlat.
Elstruet conust par la bealté:
E ele ad le rei welcumé.
Ele ert d'une guimple [4]guimplee;
Li reis [5]li ad' del chef [6]sachee.
Donc [7]si li rist,' e [8]esguardat,
E sa comere [9][puis] beisat.
En cel baiser si fiert amur:
Elstruet estait des altres la flur.
Li reis par jeu e par gabel,
Levat le pan de son mantel:
Donc vist le cors si eschevi,
Pur un petit ne s'esperdi,
De la bealté k'en li trova.
[10]Jus en la sale l'enmena:
Ensemble sistrent al manger.
[11]Baiveres ourent a remuer;
[12]E la custome itele estait,
Grant pris li ert ki bien beveit.
Od cupes [13][d'or], od mazelins,
Od cornes des bugles pleins de vins,
Fu le [a]wesheil e le drinchail,
Desci ke Edgar [14]prist summeil.
E quant la dame od lui beveit,
Si la besout com custome estait.
Ele li besout par simpleté:
Mes li reis [15]ert [16]enluminé.
[17]S'il n'ad' s'amur en altre guise,
Trop parprendra ultre devise:
Ultre devise cil purprent,
Ki tolt [18]sa feme a son parent.
La nuit [19]se just' li reis en pes,
Tele [20]dame ne vist unkes mes.
En son quer pense s'il ne l'ad
[21]Donc murrat il;' ja ne guarrat.
Ore quert engin e mal penser,
Ke sovent puise od lui parler.
[22][De s'amur est mult ententis:
Or quert engin com est avis.]
En la contré el bois chascat,
Des cerfs ke prist li enveiat;
Altres presenz li fist asez,
Par treis feiz est a li alez.
Quant il turnad de la cuntree,
Si la leissat enluminee:
Tant out oi, e bien entendit,
Ke le reis prendre la voleit.
Ne demura ke sul huits jurs,
A Salesbirics ert la curtz:
Mult i assembla grant barnage,
Meint baron i [23]vint de hault parage.
Pur la terre fere guarder,
Les aveit feit li reis mander.
Od les altres i vint Edelwold;
Li reis en fit ke feire en volt.
A Everwich [24]l'enveia:
[25]La terre [26]del North li comanda.
Tut justisast del Humbre avant,
[27]E feisent' le son comand.
Hastivement e sans targer,
[28]Alt pur' le pais adrescer.
Les brefs rescut tels cum il volt:
[29]Ore s'en vait Danz Edelwold.
En cel aler [30]ke la alout,
Ne sai kel gens i encontrout:
Uthlages [31]sunt e enemis;
Donc fu iloc [32]icel fel occis.
Asquanz distrent ke [33]cel convei
[34]Li enveiat Edgar le rei:
Meis nul [35]ne sout,' ke l'osast dire,
Ki cil furent kil [36]vont [b]oscire.
Al rei [37]en vint [38]le nunciement:
Donc n'en pout fere [39]vengement.
Kar ne trovast ki le [40]deist
Ki co out feit, ne [41]ki l'oscist.
Puis enveiat son fieu saisir;
Si feit Elstrued [42]a curt' venir.
Vienget a curt hastivement,
Li reis li [43]dirrait son talent.

[a] This custom is thus described by Robert of Brunne:

'Whan thei are at the ale or fest,
Ilk man that lovis, qware him think,
Salle say 'wosseille,' and to him drink.
He that bidis salle say 'wassaille,'
The tother salle say again 'drinkhaille.'
That sais 'wassaille' drinkes of the cop:
Kissand his felow he gives it up.
'Drinkeille,' he sais, and drinks therof,
Kissand him in bourd and skoff.'
Hearne, Rob. Gloucest. p. 696.

[b] The coæval author of the life of S. Oswald says, Ethelwold held 'principatum orientalis regni;' but he has no notice of the manner of his death. It probably happened in 964; as, according to Florence of Worcester, Edgar married his widow in that year.

Edgar.

Ne demorat ke un seul meis :
A Gloucestre esteit li reis,
Od lui erent les reis de [1]Wales,
Mulz chevalers [2]aveit es sales ;
Donc vint Elstrued e sa [3]meignie,
Ki mult ert bien aparillé ;
Tuz les barons de Sumersete,
[4]De Deveneschire, e de Dorsete,
E les contes de Cornewaille
Vindrent od lui a l'asemblaille.
[5]Pur co' le firent, k'il ert lur dreit :
Chescons de lui grans fieu teneit.
Del fieu son pere [6]erent chasez :
[7]De ses parenz menat [8]asez.
Ke dirraie de son conrei ?
Un [9]anelet out' en son dei,
[10]Ki plus valeit tut singlement
Ke ne fireint li vestement.
Une [11]chape [12]out de [13]neire suale,
Ki [14]li trainat [15]en la sale.
De suz aveit un mantelet,
Dedanz de gris, defors [16]d'owet.
De altre [17]tel paille ert son [18]blialt :
Trop ert bele de co ki [19]chald.
Ho feit [20]Gaimar, ne [21]rois parler
[22]De sa bealté pur [23]demurer :
Si jo [24]disaie tut le veir,
Des le matin [25]un jor desk'al seir,
N'avereie dis ne aconté
La tierce partie de sa bealté.
Li reis levat, encontre vint,
[26]Prist la' par [27]la main ; quant il la tint
Mult devint [28]lei ; si l'amenad,
En une chambre la herbergat :
Ne la volt pas loinz [29]herberger ;
Sus ciel n'ad riens k'il eit tant cher.
Lendemain fit apariller
Ses privez clers in un muster,
En [30]la jornie mult' matin ;
Ore volt il traire a une fin.
Mener i feit Elstruet la bele :
Si l'epusat en [31]la chapele.
Puis fit mander [32]pur ses barons,
E par dreit ban les ad somuns.
Nuls n'en [33]i ait ki l'ost' leisser,
K'il ne seit [34]hui a son manger.
Pur la joie ke volt mener,
Se fist li reis bien aorner :
Ses vestemenz reals vestit.
Elstrued ama [35]mult e [36]joit :
Kar ensement la fist vestir,
E coruner, e bien servir.
Li reis corune d'or portad,
Feste tint, e grans dons donat.
Dous evesquiez, e treis abeiz,
Religions, e seignuries
Estora [37]il i cel jurs ;
[38]Plusurs [39]desheritez rendi honurs.
Vers tute gente si s'adresca,
Nuls [40]nel hait, chescons [41]l'ama.
Sa feste tint [42]enz es ses' sales ;
Mult honora les reis de [43]Wales.
Les tres espees [44]cil porterent ;
Si come li clerc [45]ainz l'ordenerent,
[46]E escriez l'urent troved,
Tut ensement l'ont [47]agraé.
Jo ne pus pas [48]conter tote' l'estre,
[49]Ni les richeses de la feste ;
Mes tant vous di cum dit [a]l'estorie,
Richesce i out e grant baldorie.
Ne demurat apres k'un mais,
A Londres ert Edgar li reis.
En son lit jut [50]e la raine,
Entur els out une curtine
[51]Delge, dun [52]paille escariman.
Este vous l'arcevesque [53]Dunstan,
Tres par matin vint en la chambre.
[54]Sur un [55]pecul de vermail lambre
S'est [56]apué cel arcevesque.
Al rei parla [57]en language' Englesce :
Si demandat ki co esteit,
Ki en son lit od lui giseit.
Li reis respont ; ' Co est la reine
Elstruet, a qui cest regne [58]acline.'
Dist l'arcevesque : ' Co est tort :
Mielz vous venist ke fussez mort,
[59]Ke si' gisir en [60]awlterie :
Vos [61]almes irrunt a martiré.
La raine quant [62]ele l'oid,
Vers l'arcevesque [63]s'en marid.
Si fort l'en devint enemie,
Puis nel ama jor de sa vie.

[1]Lui ne chalt,′ pas ne voleit
Ke hom [2]feit tort, e leissat [3]dreit.
Souvente feis les amonesta,
E k'il [4]deseverassent, lur pria.
Ni [5]valt rien [6]son [7]precher:
Il amat li, ele out li cher.
Un fiz en lui puis engendra;
[8]E Eldret donc′ l'apela,
Pur son ancestre, un rei baron,
Ki Edelret aveit a nun.
Meis co avint quant [9]il nasquist,
Saint [10]Esswitune donc′ [a]transit:
E quant li emfez out siz anz,
Donc[b] transit Edgar li vaillanz.
EADWARD son fiz [11]apres regnat:
Co fu cel reis [12]ke Deus amat.
Meis en son tens, pour sa jovente,
Estrange gent li funt [13]entente;
Lesquels son pere aveit atret
En son [c]regne: mal aveit feit.
E sa marastre, ki viveit,
Ki la force del regne aveit,
Pur la baldur de son linage,
Fist faire al rei maint grant utrage;
E pur son fiz [14]ki tahisseit,
De ki ele rei fere voleit.
Li reis Eadward [15]dusze [d]ans regnat:
Ore [16]vous dirrai′ come [e]deviat.
Il ert un jor joius e lee;
En Wilteschire aveit mangé.
Wolstanet un naim aveit,
Ki [17]baler e trescher saveit:
[18]Si saveit saillir e [19]tiber,
E altres gius plusurs juir.
Le reis le vist, si l'apelat,
E a juer li comandat.
Le naim li dist ke [20]nu ferat;
Pur son comand ne juerat.
[21]E cum li reis [22]plus bel [23]le priat,
[24]E il′ [25]encontre le ramponat,
Forment s'en est li reis marri.
Wolstanet [26]donc s'en′ issi;
Son cheval prist, prest le trova,
A la meison Elstruet ala.

Il n'i aveit k'une [27]luette,
Co ert mult pres de [f]Sumersete.
Bois i aveit espes e grant:
Li naims [28]la veit mult tost′ poignant.
Le reis [29]muntad, sevant le veit,
Sur un cheval ke prest trovat.
[30]Unc ne finat de galoper;
Le naim voleit [31]ver juer.
A la meison Elstruet turnat;
Ki vit son naim, co demandat.
Poi trova gent en la meison;
Nuls ne li dist, ne [32]oc ne nun,
Fors la reine, [33]ke issi
De sa chambre; si respondi:
'Sire [34]ja ne vint il nient:
Remaing od nous, bon rei, descent.
Si te pleist reis, herberge tei;
Ta gent ferai venir a mei.
Wulstanet querre ferai,
Jo quid [35]ke bien le troverai.'
Respont li reis: 'Vostre merci,
Jo ne puis pas descendre issi.'
'Sire,' feit ele, 'car bevez
Tut a cheval, si vous m'emez.'
'Jo volunters,' respont li rei,
'Mes tut primer [36]beverez a mei.'
[37]Li butillers un corn empli
De bon claré, puis [38]l'en servi.
La meité but del corn tut plein;
Al rei Eadward le mist en main.
Al corn liverer le dust [g]beiser:
Donc vint ne sai quel averser,
Od un cultel [39]grant, emolu,
El quer en ad le rei feru.
Li reis chet jus, un cri geta,
Le cheval s'en esponta.
Issi sanglant, com il esteit,
Od sele, od frein, cum Deus voleit,
[40]E Saint Edward vers′ Cirecestre;
La est la [41]sale, [h]e′ la deit estre:
E le seint cors de cel martir
Fist la raine [42]loinz coverir:
En une more fu porté,
[43]U home n'aveit ainz [44]entré;

Eadward.

[a] Swithun's remains were translated in the year 970: he died in the preceding century.

[b] An. 975. [c] See W. Malmesb. 'de Gest. Regum.'

[d] Edward reigned from 975 to 978.

[e] Gaimar, in the relation of Edward's murder, differs in many particulars as well from Malmesbury as from the still earlier writer of the 'Passio S. Edwardi.' Neither of them has the story of the dwarf.

[f] All the early authorities assert that Edward was murdered at Corfe; but the present narrative seems to imply that he was killed near the borders of Somersetshire.

[g] See above, p. 811, n. [a], and compare Malmesb. 'de Gest. Regum,' and the 'Passio S. Edwardi.'

[h] According to Ricardus Divisiensis the horse stopped at Shaftesbury, which was afterwards called S. Edward's-stow; and there, he says, the saddle was still preserved.

Eadward. [1]La fu coverz li reis de ros ;
Meis n'i out longement repos.
E [2]la meisnee [3]le rei le vont sevant,
A la meison Elstrued querant.
[4]Cele lur fu,′ pur co est dit,
Ke la raine [5]le murdrit.
La nuit cum en la more esteit,
Un rai del ciel [6]se estendeit ;
Cler ert le rai, ne mes [7]merveil,
Bien pres resemblout [8]al solael.
Sur le seint cors cel rai veneit,
E l'altre chef el ciel estait.
Plusurs enquistrent ke pot estre :
A tant, [9]e vus, un sage prestre,
De [a]Doneheve estait proveire,
La verité lur dist [10]envaire.
‘ Ore espleitez, [11]e si′ alez,
Un saint martir i troverez.’
Le Seint Esprit li out [12]gehi
Par une voiz k'il oi.
[13]Al bien matin en la contree,
[14]Par plusurs lius vint [15]renomé,
Ke tuit alasent cele part
U ert murdri li reis Edward.
Tuz li [16]clochant ki la [17]venerent,
E cius, e surz sains i estaient.
A Schaftebirie fu porté ;
[18]La est cheri e honuré.′

Edelret. Ore fist Elstruet reis de Eldret,
N'avet ke [19]sesze ainz le valet,
Par la force de ses parenz ;
Devant [20]l'auter de Seint Vincenz
A Wincestre, le firent rei.
Saint Dunstan [b]transit, co crei,
L'arceveske de Cantorbire.
Elstruet [21]asolt de la grant ire :
Ainz k'il transit li pardona,
E penitence [22]li charga.
A Warwelle s'est penit :
Bien servit Deu, iloc transit.
La est le cors, co dit l'estorie,
[23]Les nonnains funt de lui memorie,
Messes, [24]matines, e servises,
E oreisons [25]en [26]mainte guises.
Ore en face Deu son pleisir :
Il ad poer de lui guarir.
Al tens ke Edelred regnout,
Transit [b]Dunstan, si com Deu plout ;
[27]E apres lui fu [28]arcevesques Edelgar :
Pur Deu servir penat sa char.
Puis fu l'arcevesque [c]Siryc :
Quant il transit [29]donc fu [30]Elfrid[d] :
[31]Elfrich[e] receurent e elistrent,
Par grant honur el sie [32]l'asistrent.
Cil arcevesque, en cel endreit,
Furent quant Edelret estait.
Il aveit un son frere ainnez,
Ki [f]Eadmunt estait apelez.
Celui [33]chalengout la terre ;
Si la voleit sur lui [34]conquere.
Les [35]Waleis erent ses amis,
Car sa femme ert de lur pais ;
Fille a un rei ert de la terre,
Od lui mainteneient la guere.
De altre part, li parentez
Dunt li rei Eadward esteit nez
De part sa mere, li haeient,
E mult grant guere li fesaient ;
E les Escoz, e les Pictais,
Les Waleis, e les Cumbreis,
[36]Ne daignouent′ de lui tenir,
[37]Ne n'urent soing de lui servir.
Quant veit li reis [38]ke si′ mal veit,
A ses amis [39]tint un pleit :
Conseil [40]requist, mester ert grant,
Tut son regné li vont tolant.
Donc li loerent cele gent,
K'il past la mer [41]ignelement ;
Demand [42]Emme, la sour Richard,
[43]Si l'en ameint de′ ceste part :
Si les Normans sunt ses amiz,
Bien [44]pleiserat ses enemis :
Li [45]quens Richard′ le maintendrait ;
Tuz ses [46]veisins li [47]pleiserat.
Cil en creit tresbien lur los.
[g]Unc n'out sojur ne repos
Desci k'il out [48]Emme espusee :
Li quens Richard li ad doné.

En Engleterre la menad,
Wincestre en [1]drurie li donat,
[2]Rogingham e Rotelant,
Ke Elstruet [3]aveit eu devant;
Tut li donat, e cher la tint.
[a]En icel tens reis Swain vint,
Pur chalenger e pur conquere.
[4]Cil le' [5]receurent de la terre:
Li quens Uctreid de [b]Lindeseie
Cunsenti lui e sa navie,
E dela Humbre ensement;
Si firent puis tote la gent
Ki donc [6]erent en Engleterre:
[7]Unc ni trova gueres de guere.
Trestut saisit e [8]trestut prist,
Unc nul hom [9]nel contredist:
Car Edelret n'out nul aie;
Si ert fui en Normendie,
Ile e sa femme, e ses dous fiz:
Richard les ad bien recuilliz.
QUANT li reis Swains [10]out tut conquis,
E veit ke sons est le pais,
A Gaynesburc s'en est alez,
[11]E piece ad iloc' sujurnez.
A cel [12]sojur iloc transit,
A Everwich fu [c]enfuit:
Meis puis apres dis anz [13]u plus,
Li Daneis en trestrent [14]les os sus;
En Norweie furent portez,
A Saint Olaf la sunt posez:
El muster Seint Pere gisait,
Quant li Daneis [15]li vot toleit.
E Cnuht remist, [16]ki fu fiz Swain,
A bien e en eise un an tut plein:
Donc vint [17]grant ost e' grant navie
Od Edelret de [d]Normendie,
E li Engleis, e li Daneis
Le [18]receurent; si en firent' reis.
Cnuht quant l'oi si s'en alad,
Ignelement la mer passat:
Ost assemblat de plusurs terres;
N'ad soing de [19]peis, mult [20]aimet gueres.
REIS Edelret en Lindeseie
Vait [21]demenant sa seignurie:
Les preies prent, destruit la terre,
Asez i feit cruel guere.

E Cnuth [22]revint od son navie; Edelret.
Ariver [23]volt en' Lindeseie.
Quant [24]ot ke Edelret i [e]estait,
Vers Tamise siglat tut dreit,
En la buche [25]de [f]Front' entrat;
Tut cel pais a se turnad.
De tutez pars vindrent Engleis;
Si se pristrent a Cnuth li reis.
Reis Edelret a Londres vint:
Bien [26]la garnist,' iloc se tint.
[27]N'en ot' par quei se combatist
Encontre Cnuht, pour co [28]se guenchist.
Iloc dit k'il se defendrat.
Donc i vint Cnuht, si l'asegat;
Tant i estut [29]e attendit,
Ke Edelret li reis [g]transit.
A Sen Pol ilokes gist,
Al eveskie son tresor mist.
Un fiz aveit reis Edelret:
Li altre dui sunt [30]petitet;
En Normendie erent portee,
Car la esteit lur parentez.
Li quens Richard lur uncle esteit,
Kis doctrinout e [31]noriseit:
E la raine ert a Wincestre;
Plus bele femme ne pout estre.
E Cnuht regnout, si out conquis
De plusurs pars [32]tut le' pais.
Mes Eadmund [33]l'Edelinz [34]pesout; Eadmund.
Co kil poait [35]si guerreiout:
Il e son uncle, l'altre Eadmund,
Encontre Cnuht grant guere funt.
Del ainé Eadmund mesavint:
Un mal le prist, e [36]tant le tint
K'il [37]en fini, e si en' fu [h]mort:
Enfuiz fu a Hereford.
Mes [38]cest Eadmund [39]auna gent;
Si guereiad mult vassalment.
[40]Od lui' se tindrent [41]les Waleis,
Si prist la sour a un des [i]reis;
E tut cil dela Saverne,
Des [42]Lancastre desk'en [43]Malverne,
Siwent son ban e son comant.
E il veit mult Cnuht gueriant,
Tant ke [44]les Daneis sunt asemblez:
Od ost en sunt sur li alez.

Eadmund.

Li quens [a]Turchil [1]cel ost menat;
Li fiz [2]del rei encontre alat.
Donc vindrent a [3]Escorestan
Lendemain de Seint Jon.
[4]Iloc tindrent′ dure bataille:
Quant li Engleis [5]asquanz sunt′ faille
A lur seignurs kis i out menez,
Od les Daneis se sunt turnez;
Par treison, e [6]en felunie,
Meint gentilhom [7]la perdi la vie.
Edriz [8]Estrene li′ faillit,
E [9]plusurs altres k'il out nurit,
Li reis Eadward, [10][fiz] Edelret;
E les Daneis mainent baldet.
A Assendune [11]repareis,
Menat son ost Cnuth li reis.
[12]E Eadmund se combati od lui
[13]Od poi de gent, mes nul hom,′ co qui,
Ne ferit mielz k'il ne feri.
Vousist u nun le champ guerpi;
Par force l'en treistrent Waleis:
La victoire ourent les Daneis.
Issi durat, par plusurs dis,
Entre [14]eus dous guere e [15]estris.
Tant [16]q'a exil alout la terre,
Par lur orgoil e par lur guere.
Les barons donc se purpenserent,
Tant unt parlé [17]ke s'accorderent:
A [18]Duerherstede [b]sunt asemblez,
Iloc [19]fu entr'els′ grantez.
Une bataile i [20]ont guagee:
Par lur dous cors fu otriee.
Purparlé fu e divisé
Coment chescons [21]serreit adubé.
Hauberc, e elme, escu e [22]hache,
[23]Hancac, espee e bone [24]mace,
[25]Chauces de fer chescons averat
Quant en [26]la bataille [27]entrat.
Apres distrent u co deit estre:
Otrié fu a Gloucestre.
Enmi Saverne, [28]en une nef,
Les [29]amaint hom′ bel e suef
E la nef seit bien ataché,
Enchaené [30]e ferm′ lié
D'ambes [31]dous parz, ke ferme′ seit,
En [32]milu del′ ewe tut dreit.
Co ert entr'els dreit divise,
Pur co i unt bataille asise,
E lur dous ostz [33]seit de dous parz.
[34]E unt juré ambedous par esgarz,
E ostagé, e afiez,
S'il ne [35]sunt ainz acordez,
E la bataille seit ferue,
Li [36]quel d'els dous kil′ l'ait vencue.
A li [37]si irrunt tuz alier,
[38]Sil lesserunt′ sur [39]els regner.
[40]Al jur′ se sunt tuz asemblez:
Li dui rei en la nef sunt menez.
E de dous pars, a la river,
Sunt les [41]osts pur esguarder.
Totes les nefs de la cité
[42]Sunt a val l'ewe mené;
A [43]sis lewes loinz les menerent,
Si com li baron esguarderent.
Ne voleient ke nul bricon,
[44]La comencast [45]nule tencon;
Meis par els dous fust desreiné,
Ki Deu plera [46]eit le regné.
A l'un chef de la nef fu Cnuth,
Ki des Daneis [47]estait venut:
Al altre chef Eadmund estait,
Ki as Engleis aparteneit.
[48]Cuchez se sunt [49]en oreisons;
Asez [50]firent aflictions:
Puis se drescerent en estant;
Chescon vait ses armes seignant.
Quant [51]se furent bien aturné,
Li uns [52]vers l'altre ad esguardé.
Donc parla Cnuth mult sagement,
E dist: [53]‘ Eadmund un poi atent.
Jo suis Daneis, e [54]tu Engleis;
E nos peres furent dous reis.
L'un tint la terre, e l'autre l'out:
Chescon en fist [55]co ke li plout.
Tant com l'ourent en pousté,
Chescons en fist sa volunté.
E bien sachez, [56]loigtenement
L'urent Daneis, nostre parent;

Pres de mil anz [1]l'out Dane ainces
[2]Ke unc' i entrast Certiz li reis.
Certiz [3]co fu vostre ancien;
E li reis [a]Danes fu le mien.
Daneis [4]le tint en chef [5]de Deu:'
[6]Modret [b]donat Certiz son [7]feu;
Il ne tint unkes chevalment:
De lui vindrent vostre parent.
Pur co [8]le [9]vous di, si nel savez,
Si vous od mai [10]combatez,
[11]L'un [12]de nous' ad greigneur tort,
Ne savom [13]mie quels' en ert mort.
Pur co vous vol un offre fere,
E ne [14]m'en voil de rien retrere.
Partum [15]la terre [16]dreit en dous;
L'une partie [17]en aiez vous,
[18]L'altre partie [19]me remaigne:
[20]Ne jo ne vous ne se [21]complaigne.'
Puis [22]conquerom cele partie,
[23]Dunt jo ne vous' n'avom mie.
[24]Si com nous la conqueroms,
Entre nous dous la departoms;
E saiums dous freres en [25]lai:
Jo jurrai vous, [26]vous [27]jurez moi,
De tenir tel fraternité
Com de une mere fussum né:
Cum si fussum ambedui frere,
E d'un pere e d'une mere.
Si eit ostages entre nous;
E creez mei, e jo crerai vous.'
EDMUND s'estut del altre part.
De hardement [28]semblout lepart.
[29]Le humilité ot' e le dreit
Ke li bon rei Cnuth li [30]disait.
Respons dona mult sagement:
'Parsiwerez vous cest parlement?'
[31]'Oil,' dist Cnuth, 'pur verité:
Entre nous dous seit afié.
Tenez, ma fei jo vous afi,
[32]Cest covenant tendrai issi.'
Cest covenant fu afié,
Estes le vous, tut acordé.
Par tel covenant s'entrebeiserent;
[33]Cis covenanz bien tenuz erent.

D'ambe dous parz tut le barnage
Loerent Deu, cil ki sunt sage:
[34]E li dui rei nefs demanderent.
Dous petiz batels [35]amenerent
[36]Dous peschurs, ki iloc maneient;
En un fosse muscez esteient.
LI dui rei vindrent a lur gent;
Lendemain [37]fu feit l'acordement.
Car la terre fu departie,
Par [38]l'esguard de la barunie:
Si com curt l'ewe de Tamise,
Unt esgardé dreite devise,
E [39]de le liu u ele surt,
[40]Tresk'en [c]Fosse; [41]d'iloc recurt,
E [42]alt tut dreit tresk'al chemin
Ke fist feire li reis Belin,
Wathelingstrete; iloc [43]en dreit,
Trestut le west devise seit.
QUANT li baron co urent feit,
Nul des dous reis ne s'en retreit.
[44]Loz e caules' en funt par dreit,
Ke contencon james ne seit.
Del suth avint [45]Eadmund sa part;
La ert son uncle Seint Edward.
E del altre part de Tamise
Tint li reis Cnuth dreite justise:
Londres aveit, la ert son sé,
Everwich ert en son regné.
E Eadmund aveit Cantorbire,
E [46]ovoc Wincestre e Salesbire,
E Gloucestre e Dretecestre,
E [47]Cirecestre e Excestre.
Ke dirraie des dous regnez?
Chescons fu richement [48]chasiez.
Ore regnouent plus [49]uelement
Ke ne funt frere ne parent;
E plus s'entreamerent, co qui,
Ke ne funt frere, [50]il dui.
QUANT un traitre en out envie,
Donc fist cel fel sa [d]felunie.
Eadmund sumunst, e veit prier
K'il [51]vengez od lui herberger.
Cil ert sis hom, tant le [52]preiad,
Li reis Eadmund si herbergat.

Eadmund.

Eadmund. Cunrei i out a grant plentez,
Mais malement fu aloueed:
Cil [1]kil donat tut le perdi,
Car com fel le rei murdri.
Edriz out feit un engin feire:
L'arc ki ne [2]falt, eissi′ set traire.
Si rien atuche [3]sa cordele,
Tost pot oir male novele.
[4]Nais un [5]ewet sil′ s'i fereit,
De la seite le fendreit.
La u cel arc fu apresté,
Un [6]novel ostel i out posé:
Privé ostel l'apela l'om,
Pur [7]cel mester [8]i entrad hom.
Li reis i fu la nuit mené,
Si com Edriz out comandé:
Tresk'il s'asist [9]sur la [10]sette,
[11]El fundement li fiert′ la saiette.
Amunt li vint tresk'al [12]pomun,
[13][Onc ne parurent li penon]
De la saiette k'ot el cors,
[14]Ne neient del′ sanc n'en issi [15]fors.
Li reis criad un cri mortel,
L'alme s'en vait, [16]il n'i out el,
Del revenir [17]ne fu′ nient.
D'iloc [18]l'emporterent sa gent:
En un [a]muster fu porté.
Assez i out lit e chanté,
E dit matines, e servise:
Deus, si li pleist, face justise
Del malfelun, del traitur,
[19]Ki si out′ murdri son seignur.
Li reis fu bien enseveliz,
E enterrez, e bien serviz.
Meis [20]sa raine nel saveit:
Dous beals [b]vallez [21]de [22]li aveit,
E ainz k'ele unkes le seust,
Ne [23]ke home dire li poust,
Li dui vallet lui sunt tolet;
A Cnuth furent porté tut dreit.
Co fist Edriz le traitur:
Par co quidat creistre s'onur.

Cnuht. A Londres vint [24]cel malfelon;
Reis Cnuth i ert e maint baron.
Devant le rei s'agenulat;
En s'oreille li conseillat
Coment aveit de Eadmund overé,
E des enfanz k'out amené.
[25]Quant [26]li reis l'ad bien′ entendu,
[27]Mult devint [28]granz e irascu.
Tuz ses barons ad feit mander:
[29]La treson feit reconter.
Quant [30]lur oiant, l'ad si pruvé,
Prendre le feit, puis fu mené
Sur une tur [31]antive asise,
[32]Quant vient li floz, si i bat Tamise.
Li reis meismes apres alat,
Pur [33]tuz les [34]citeinz mandat.
Une hache [35]a fist aporter,
Ne quid [36]suz ciel [37]eust sa per:
El tupe devant [38]al traitur
[39]Fist une verge tortre [40]entur.
[41]Quant bien fu ferme el tup devant,′
Li reis Cnuth i vint errant.
Un petit coups li ad doné,
Del buc li ad le chef severé.
A val fist trebucher le cors,
[42]Le flod e′ venu de defors,
Le chef del fel fist fors geter,
[43]Ambure [44]enveit vers′ [45]halte mer.
Li vif diable les enmene:
Issi finist Edriz [46]Estreine.
E li reis dit a ses privez,
Si ke plusurs [47]l'oent asez;
'Cestui aveit mon frere oscis,
[48]Vengé en ai′ tuz mes amis:
Il estait bien mon frere en [49]lai,
Ne voil mettre altre pur [50]mai:
Puis k'il est si avenu,
Le cors Edriz [51]ait Belzebu.'
D'iloc turnat li reis aval,
Si est monte [52]sur un′ cheval.
A la raine veit parler,
Pur conseil quere, e demander
De dous valeiz, les fiz Eadmund.
Dist la raine; 'Cil u sunt?'
Respont li reis; 'A Westmuster,
Al abbé les liverai [53]her.'
'Sire,' feit ele, 'creez mei,
Prendre en estut altre conrei.

E quant vous [1]poez peis aveir,
Si me creez, feites saveir,
[2]Saient menez′ en altre terre:
Guardez k'il ne pussent [3]mal fere.
A tel hom les comandez,
De forfere seient guardez.'
Donc demanderent un Daneis,
Un gentilhom, loingtein [4]marceis,
Cité aveit e [5]grant conté,
Si estait Walgar apelé.
Les dous vallez li commanderent,
Ki fiz de rei e gentilz erent.
Cil les receut pur bien nurir,
Pur [6]alever, e pur [7]espeldrir.
E bien pensat ke s'il [8]vivait,
[9]Par grant honur [10]les nurirait.
K'en dirrai? Cil s'en turnat,
En Danemarche s'en alat,
Od les enfanz s'en est alez;
Li uns ert [11]Edgar [a]apelez,
Li altres out nun Edelret:
Co fu le plus jovene valet.
Bien [12]furent gardez e bien nurriz:
Com il furent [13]alkes tehiz,
E ourent bien passé dusze anz,
Mult furent [14]genz e avenanz.
En Engleterre en vint le cri
Ke lur drait hair [15]erent tahi.
Mult s'en esbaldissent Engleis,
Car pas [16]n'amerent les Daneis.
Si firent nefs aparaeiller,
E la voleient envaier.
Quant conté fu a la raine,
Ki out nun [17]Emeline[b];
Reis Edelret la tint ainceis,
Ore la teneit Cnuht li reis;
Ele aveit dous fiz de Edelret,
Eadward li uns, li altre Auveret.
Li quens Richard de Normendie,
Aveit ses nevuz en baillie.
Cil [18]erent derechef′ draite hair,
Engleterre voldrunt aver.
La reine Emme estait lur mere,
Od le rais Cnuth [19]teneit apres lur pere.
[20]Pur ses dous fiz, k'ele mult amout,
De [21]dus meschins mult li pesout.
E [22]uncore pur son seignur [23]partie, Cnuht.
Lur portout ele mult grant envie.
E quant ele ot ke les Engleis
Unt coveité [24]d'els fere reis,
Purpensat sei [25]de mal engin.
A son seignur vint le chef enclin:
'Sire,' fet ele, 'tu ne sez
Les fiz Eadmund serrunt mandez:
Engleis dient k'il sunt drait hair,
Sis volent [26]sur tei′ [27]recendir.'
Cnuth respont: 'Pot co vers estre?'
'Oil, cher sire, a Porcestre
[28]Est une nef aparillé,
[29]Kis amerrat od grant meisné.'
Li reis i ad tost envaié,
[30]La nef truvent aparillé.
Pristrent herneis e [31]guareison,
Les homes mistrent en prison.
Al rei [32]revont noveles dire:
Quant il [33]oit [34]tut, fu pleins de ire.
Donc fist ses brefs enseler,
Sis enveiat ultre la mer
[35]A ses dous fiz,′ ki la esteient,
[36]E Denemarc [37]mainteneient.
[38]Co lur′ mandat, e as barons,
K'il preissent les [39]valetons;
Celeement les [40]afolassent,
[41]Si ke james [42]nel guarissaient.
[43]A cel′ conseil [44]oir out tel,
S'il pout, [45]ki turnerad a el.
Hastivement idonc mandat
[46]Wlgar, ki les enfanz guardast,
S'il [47]de rien les [48]aveit cher,
Aillurs [49]leis feist′ envaier:
Car [50]si iloc erent′ trovez,
Pur veir serreient afolez.
Li prodom pas ne si targa:
Sa terre a ses treis fiz leissa.
Od sul treis nefs se mist en mer;
Si [51]espleita son errer,
K'en sul cinc jurs passat [52]Susie,
E [53]vint en′ terre de Hungrie.

[a] They were named Eadmund and Eadward. The former died in exile: the latter married Agatha, whose parentage is not very clearly made out, by whom he had Edgar Etheling, Margaret queen of Scotland, and Cristina. Eadward died on his return to England in 1057. See the Sax. Chron. [b] Emma Elfgiva.

Cnuht.

Walgar [1]esteit lur conissanz ;
Si [2]acesmat ses′ dous enfanz.
Al rei en vint ; sil salua :
Li reis [3]encontre li′ leva.
Beisat Walgar, lez li l'asist,
De li [4]cherté e joie fist.
De [5]dous vallez [6]tres bien saveit,
[7]Cum il en guarde les aveit,
E k'erent draiz airs d'Engleterre ;
Mes ne seit pas ke [8]vont requere.
[9]Entres ke le maistre parla,
Le rei requist, si li mustra
Des [10]dous vallez, [11]coment estait,
Cum hom destrure les voleit.
Puis [12]li ad dit cum sunt fuiz,
E come [13]venent a sa merci.
E s'il conseil lur volt doner,
[14]E il ja′ pussent [15]recoverer ;
‘ Sire,’ feit il, ‘ de tei tendrunt,
E tes homes donc devendrunt.’
Li reis respont : ‘ Bien sunt venuz.
Tut mun poiar, e [16]ma vertuz
Mettrai jo bien pur els [17]aider :
Penerai [18]mai de hels enhalcer.
A mon poaier lur frai guere,
A cels ki [19]unt toleit lur′ terre.’
Respont Walgar : ‘ Vostre merci,
Sur [20]vostre fe isci le vous′ [21]comant.
Si com en Deu fiance avez,
Co vous conjur bien les guardez.’
Iloc remistrent li enfanz :
D'iloc a treis anz furent grant.
Quinze ans [22]aveit li jovenur ;
Meis li ainez [23]ert le majur :
Dis e nof anz aveit passez,
[a]Edgar out nun, mult fu senez.
La fille al rei en fist son dru ;
E cil l'amat, [24]co fu seu :
Ainz ke passast tut l'an enter,
Avint la dame a enceinter.
[25]Ke dirraie ? tant est alez,
Li [26]plaiz ne pout estre celez.
Li reis l'oi, e dit li fu :
Ne [27]s'est gueres irascu.
Ainz dist ke bien [28]l'otriat :
S'il la volt prendre, [29]il li dorrat.
Li bachelers l'ad otrié :
Al rei en ad le pié baisé.
E li reis ad mandé sa gent :
Lendemain fu l'asemblement.
Li reis [30]sa fille [31]a Edgar′ donat :
Veanz sa gent [32]cil l'epusat ;
E li reis fist a tuz saver,
Apres son jur sait Edgar heir :
Puis k'il [33]n'ad fiz, de li hair fist,
Pur sa ainé fille k'il prist.
Pur co [34]l'ai dit, voil que sachez,
Nient n'en vous esmerveillez.
De cest Edgar e de sa femme,
Eissit la preciose gemme[b],
Margarete l'apelat l'om,
Raine en fist rei Malcolom.
Ele aveit un son frere ainez,
Edgar [35]l'Adeling estait nomez,
Engleis manderent les enfanz,
Kar lur pere n'ert pas vivanz.
Les dous enfanz erent dreit hairs,
[36]Ki reconustre′ voldreit [37]veirs.
Com durent en Humbre ariver,
Une turmente [38]vint en mer,
Ki en Escoce les chascad :
Reis Malcolom saisi les ad.
De Margarete fist sa reine ;
Ele fu bien a Deu [39]encline :
Sis fiz, co qui, en out li reis,
Ore vous dirrai des primers trais,
[40]Donevald[c], Donecan, Eadmund ;
Les altres trais, qui ke reis sunt,
Edgar, Alisandre e [d]David ;
Cest linage de Eadmund issit,
Ki fu en Engleterre reis,
[41]E ses aincestres tuz′ ainceis.
Ore voil [42]a Daneis reparer.
Cnuth e Emme sa muller
Eurent une fille mult bele,
Gonild out nun la damesele.
Li reis aveit par sei dous fiz ;
Tut des Daneis erent nasquiz :

[a] See note [a], p. 819.

[b] In the contemporaneous life of Margaret attributed to Turgot, she is called ‘pretiosa margarita.’ Gaimar seems to confound her return to England with her father, in the year 1057, as already stated, with her flight in company with her brother Edgar to Scotland, where she married Malcolm. See the Saxon Chronicle, An. 1067.

[c] Donald was Malcolm's brother; Duncan his natural son, and Edward, not Edmund apparently, was his son by Margaret: but see Fordun, Scotichron. v. 28.

[d] David succeeded Alexander in 1124, and died in 1153.

Harald e [a]Hardecnut [1]ourent nun.
Cil dui tindrent le region,
Apres Cnuth tindrent set anz:
Ultre mer erent les enfanz
Ki dussent par dreit regner;
Trop [2]lur fist hom' disturber.
Cnuth fu [3]bon rei, [4]riche e poant;
Sa [5]herité estait mult grant.
Danemarche out e Engleterre;
Tote Norweie alat conquere.
[6]Li reis Olaf fors enchascat;
En Engleterre s'en realat.
Cum Cnuth regnout meillurment,
[7]Olaf [8]revint od mult grant gent;[9]
Norweie quidat recoverer.
Norreis firent lur ost mander,
Bataille tindrent mult amere,
Olaf oscistrent ki dreit reis ere.
Donc fu Cnuth de treis regnes sire:
Poi trovot ki [10]l'osout desdire.
E nepurquant [11]si fut desdit,
E son comandement despit.
A Londres ert desur [b]Tamise;
Li floz veneit pres del eglise
Ki Westmuster ert apelé:
Li reis a pie [12]s'est aresté
En la greve; sur le sablun,
Li flodz veneit par contencon:
Mult s'apresma, pres del rei vint;
Cnuth en sa main [13]sa verge tint.
Si dist al flod: '[c] Return arere;
Fui de sur mei, ke [14]ne te fere.'
La mer pur lui pas ne leissat,
E plus e plus [15]le flod' montat.
[16]Le reis [17]estut, si' atendit:
[18]De sa verge l'ewe ferit.
L'ewe pur co n'ad pas leissé;
Ainz vint al rei, si l'ad moilé.
Quant li reis vit ke trop atent,
[19]E ke li floz ne feit pur li nient.
[20]De la greve se trest arere,
Puis s'arestut sur une pere,
Tendi ses mains vers orient:
Oiez k'il dit, oiant sa gent.

'[c] Cestui ki feit la mer monter, Cnuht.
Deit l'om bien crere e [21]aurer.
Il est bon Rei, jo su cheitif:
Home [22]su mortel, [23]mes il e vif:
Tote rien feit le son comand,
Lui pri jo k'il me seit guarand.
A Rome [24]le voil aler' requere,
De lui tendrai tote ma terre.'
Puis feit son aire apariller,
Aler en volt sanz [c]demorer.
Or e argent porta asez.
Trestuz les [25]puns k'ad trovez
Ultre les muns, par le veage,
E [26]de deca, desur ewage,
Fist li reis feire, e [27]manoverer,
Par son aver k'il volt doner.
[28]Si achata la legation,
[29]Par le dener de [30]la [d]meison
Ke li Engleis dunent a Rome;
Par co ad feit ke [31]nul home
[32]D'Engleterre n'ert [33][de] fer lié,
Ne [34]s'en isterat de son regné,
Pur nul peché ke ja ferat;
En son pais [35]se purgerat.
Quant [36]li reis out' si espleité,
En Engleterre [37]est repairé.
Mes [38]n'en out' gueres sojurné;
En Escoce est od ost [e]alé.
Tant parla [39]al rei[f] e pramist,
De li tendra cel rei, co dist.
En covenant tres bien li out;
Meis unc servise aver n'en pout.
[40]Ainc ne passa' [41]li mais acomplez;
Ambedui li reis furent finiz:
E les fiz Cnuth andui regnerent,
[g]Harald primer trestuz requirent. Harald.
[42]Il tint dous anz, e Hardcnuth [h]cinc, Hardcnuth.
E li reis Cnuth, lur pere, vint.
[43]Cist dui donerent lur sorur,
Gonnild[i], al riche emperur,
Ki donc aveit Rome en baillie,
E Alemaine, e Lumbardie;
Mes, si com jo des ainz vous dis,
Seit anz regnerent el pais.

Donc [a]furent mort li hair Daneis,
Grant [1]joie en firent li Engleis.
Kar les Daneis vil les teneient,
Soventefaiz les honisseient.
Si cent un sul encontrassent,
Mar fussent [2]nez [3]s'il nel [4]inclinassent:
E sur un pont s'il venaient,
Attendissent: mar [5]se movereient
Desci ke li Daneis passat.
Al trespasser chescon [6]l'enclinast;
Ki nel faist, [7]si [8]pris estait,
Huntusement [9]hom le bateit.
En [10]tel vilté' erent Engleis;
[11]Si les' leidassent les Daneis.
Ore purparlerent k'il ferunt;
Pur [12]lequels hairs envaierunt.
S'il envaient en Hungrie,
Trop serreit loinz, poi unt aie.
Al chef del tur [13]purparlerunt,
K'en Normendie envaierunt
Pur Eadward, e pur Alueré.
Eadward esteit li frere ainé,
Alez estait en [b]Hungrie,
A ses cosinz en aie,
A une guere [14]k'i aveient:
Cels de [15]Velecase la fesaient.
Quant les Engleis nel unt trové,
Od [16]els en mainent [c]Alueré.
Mult se hasterent pur [17]Daneis:
Ne volent mes k'il seient reis.
E nepurquant uns hom estait,
De la sour [18]as [19]dous reis' [20]fiz aveit:
Fille ert [21]Cnuth, e sour Harold:
Ore [22]entendez k'il feire volt.
De ses enfanz quidat fere heir:
Co compara il puis espeir.
Li quens Godewine a Londres vint,
[23]Ki as Daneis se tint.
Iloc erent tuit asemblé,
[24]Si atendeient Aluré.
[25]Tuit li baron de cel regné,
Pur lui aveient envaié.
Li quens Godewine se purpensa,
Chevalers prist, [26]e manda,
E altre genz mult bien armez;
Envers la mer s'en est alez.
[27]Cele nuit just a [28]Geldesfort;
[29]Talent ad grant de faire tort.
Lendemain i vint Alueré.
Li quens Godewine l'en ad mené
En sum le mont de Geldesdone.
'Sire,' feit [30][il], 'a ta corune
Quantke tu veez [31]apent,
E mil itant, e cent e cent.'
Aluere [32]respont: 'La Deu merci;
S'il [33]m'en leist estre seisi,
[34]Bones custumes [35]aleverai,
E peis e drait mult amerai.'
Godewine aveit bien comandé,
Tresk'il averait 'Warrai' crié,
Ke [36]les Normanz fussent tuz pris;
Par [37]nofaines fussent oscis.
Les [38]nof fussent [39]tost detrenchez,
Le disme fust esparniez.
Issi furent par [40]nof oscis,
Li uns engarisseit [41]des dis.
[42]Donc si pristerent Alueré;
[43]En Ely [44]l'en unt' mené.
Iloc [45]li funt' les oils crever,
Entur un pel le funt aler,
Le [46]gros buel [47]li eurent' treit.
Od [48]agoilles, k'aveient' feit,
[49]La le [50]firent tant entur aler,
Pur sa buele [51]desrainer,
K'il ne pot mes ester en piez.
L'alme s'en vait: e [52]cil sunt leez,
Ki en tele guise le murdrirent:
Pur amur Godewine [53]co firent.
Mes [54]le barons quant [55]il co' surent,
Ki pur Alueré [56]envaié eurent,
Dolenz en sunt, e mult pensis;
E dient, si Godewine est [57]pris,
[58]Nel pot guarir [59]rien terriene:
[60]Mult pis murra ke Edriz [61]Estriene.
Li quens Godewine pas [d]n'atent;
[62]El nef se met, [63]il e' sa gent:
En Denemarche s'en fui;
Ilokes fu bien recuilli.

E li Engleis repassent mer,
[1]Eadward vont ostages liverer.
Seur le funt de la corune;
K'il l'en ferunt [2]e rei e persune.
[3]E il [4]donc' mandast [5]meisné,
E ad grant gent [6]aparillé.
A la mer vint, [7]bien le passa,
E a Londres [a]se coruna.
Puis tint la terre, asist [8]ses lais:
Unckes tels ne furent ainceis.
Peis ama [9]mult, dreit e' justise;
Pur co [10]les asist' en tele guise,
Ke unc devant co, ne puis son jur,
Ne pout nul rei feire meillur.
Cum il out [11]pose, e issi' regné,
Godwine[b] s'est aparillé;
Od grant navire, k'il aveit,
En Tamise [12]siglat tut dreit.
Donc si mandat a ses amis,
K'il aveit plusurs el pais,
[13]Les lur merci [14]k'al rei parlassent;
Son dreit preist, co li priassent.
E il [15]si firent: tant [16]parlerent,
Devant le rei donc l'amenerent.
Il l'amenerent par [17]tele lai,
Ke jugement [18]siwesist le rei.
De drait fere guage [19]donat,
E maint riche [20]home [21]l'ostegat.
Li guage [22]furent, [23]tut vereiment,
[24]Mult noble, e' bel, e gent.
De fin argent seit [25]granz buchez,
De or esmeré sunt les cerclez.
Peres i out de maintes guises,
Es cercles d'or mult bien asises.
Jaspes, safirs, e topaces,
Berilz, sardines, [26]crisopaces,
[27]Alectores e amandes,
E achates e [28]albestandnes.
Mult furent bien feit li [29]buchet;
Chescons aveit un [30]coverclet,
D'or e de argent mult bien overé:
Cent mars [31]esteit chescons [32]preisé;
Mes pur les peres, e pur l'or,
Valeient plus ke nul tresor:
Li quens Godewine les conquist
Del rei de Swave, k'il [c]oscist.
Co fu le guage k'il donat:
Ore [33]l'apelt hom;' il responderat.
Li [d]reis meismes est levé.
Par grant ire l'ad apelé:
E dist [34]par li est mort son frere;
Il le trahi com fel e [35]lere.
E s'il de co rien [36]s'escundist,
Il [37]l'en frat prover, co dist.
Respont li quens: 'Trestut le ni,
Si com [38]vous avez' conté isci;
[39]De mot en mot le nierai,
Par jugement [40]l'escundirai:
[41]E mon guage vous ai doné,
Par jugement seit granté.
De vostre apel e de mon respons,
Dreit en [42]dreit tut' ces barons.'
Isci [43]aveit mult' grant barnage,
Contes, barons, maint home sage.
Li quens [44]Lewine[e] i ert asis;
De Cestreschire ert [45]poestis:
Li quens [f]Syward [46]donc i seait,
Ki de Everwic [47]seignur estait;
E le conté de Huntendone,
Ki apendeit a sa [48]persone:
Li quens [g]Leueric Norfolc teneit;
Od les altres el banc seait.
[49]Dous contes i out mult sages,
Estre barons e [50]li clercgages,
[51]K'a la parole ont entendu;
Mais taisanz sunt, nuls ne se remue
[52]D'isci k'il ourent [53]comandement
Del rei, [54]ke algent' al jugement.
[55]E donc' leverent en estant;
Li quens Syward ala [56]devant.

Godwin incurred the displeasure of Hardecnut on account of the share he had in the death of Alfred; but he adds that he made his peace by the magnificence of his presents. See p. 600.

[a] Edward was crowned at Winchester, An. 1043.

[c] See Hen. Huntend., p. 757.

[d] This is, perhaps, the earliest 'Report' of a state trial extant. Whether it be rightly assigned to the middle of the eleventh century may indeed be doubted; but we may fairly infer that it represented, at the latest, the practice of the author's time, about the middle of the twelfth. It exhibits many curious particulars; but it is more especially valuable from shewing, on the latter supposition, how little change from the Anglo-Saxon practice had then taken place.

[e] No eorl Lewine has been discovered at this period.

[f] Syward, eorl of Northumbria: he died in 1055.

[g] Leofric, eorl of Mercia, died in 1057.

En une chambre en sunt alez,
U [1]hom muntout par uns degrez;
Asis se sunt, pur dreit juger.
Donc levad sus un chevaler,
[a]Marleswain aveit [2]a non,
Daneis esteit, riche [3]e baron.
Devers Godwine se pendait,
E nepurquant si dist tut dreit:
'Seignurs,' feit il, 'oi avez
Coment cest conte est apelez;
[4]E le respons oi avez:
Tut ad [5]niez, bien le savez.
[6]Si li reis i met felunie,
[7]N'en est' de voue ne de oie;
[8]Ne nul home ne vent' avant
Ki die, 'feit fu [9]mon veiant:'
Esguardez i, car [10]mei est vis,
Uncore purunt [11]estre amis.'
Li quens Syward del altre part
Dist: 'El [12]ai [13]jo,' en mien esguard,
Envers le rei feit fort nier,
Home deit [14]ses diz tuz otrier,
S'il [15]n'i niast' la felunie,
La traison e la boisdie;
Mais [16]d'icel se deit [17]hom defendre,
Al jugement dait [18]hom entendre.
Co est grant chose, apel de rei:
Pres [19]del juise irat, co crei,
De feu, u de ewe, u de bataille:
[20]un de' ces trais n'ert pas faille.'
'Si ert, sire,' dist [b]Freegis,
[21]'N'en est' pas dreit en cest pais;
Pur un plein dit d'un [22]orb apel,
Ne ferom jugement [23]novel.
Par serment [24]tresbien s'aquit,
N'i estut ja altre respit.'
[c]Leveriz parla, de Norhamtone:
'Eadward li reis porte corune.
Grant chose afiert a son apel:
Bien deit hom [25]siwre son avel.
Il en ad pris guage [26]de dreit,
Ne quide [27]james tel veu seit.
[28]Solum le comencal d'onur,
Merci crie a son seignur:
Solum [29]l'apel ke li reis feit,
Par jugement [30]siwerat son [31]pleit;
De bataille n'i ad nient,
[32]Rien [33]li avent le' serment;
Ne feu, ne ewe, ne juise,
Ne [34]jugerom en tele guise:
Tesmoine [35]oir e veer,
Estut par dreit celui aver
Ki altre volt [36]a fer mener,
U en ewe feire floter.
Meis un esgard, [37]sanz jugement,
[38]En esgardom' communalment.
Par grant richesce, e par honur,
Fasce un offre a son seignur;
Li offre seit tel com dirrai,
Li quens Godewine en greverai.
Il seit armé e ses cinc fiz,
E ses nevoz, dunt il ad dis,
Sei seissantisme armez saient;
De tutes armes se conreient.
Solum la lai [39]de nos' Engleis,
Seit devisé tut lur herneis.
Li hauberc saient de or [40]saffrez,
E [41]li [42]elme a or cerclez,
E li escu od bucles de or;
Li quens Godewine ad grant tresor:
En chescon arme ait or itant,
Al mains [43]vint unces [44]peisant,
[45]E enz' lur braz lur [46]buies[d] d'or aient:
En tele guise al rei s'apaient,
Ke li reis ait tuz lur homages,
De fei tenir troissent ostages,
E lur herneis lui seit liverez;
Puis en face ses voluntez:
Li quens Godewine od le rei [47]seit,
En sa merci, tant k'il ait son dreit.
Icest [48]esguard [49]sil grantez,
[50]Est dambe' parz mult honurez:
Ne a [51]nus [52]n'en ert' par mal retreit,
Solum l'apel ke li reis feit,
Si nus icest esguardom.'
Dient trestuz, bien l'otrium.
Ore furent [53]tuz a cest otrei:
Venuz en sunt devant le rei.
Quant cest esguard fu recordez,
Dambes [54]dous parz fust [55]grantez.
[56]Li reis' recut [57]d'els tuz [58]homages;

Les armes prist, l'or e l'argent ;
Beisat les, par acordement.
E li quens l'ad si bien servi,
K'il furent puis si bon ami,
Ke li reis sa fille [a]espusat,
E a raine la corunat :
E a li rendi tute son conté,
E tuz ses fiz ad alevé ;
Contes en fist, tant les amat :
Par grant honur Eadward regnat.
En [1]icel tens [2]ke si′ estait,
E icest rei issi [3]teneit,
Donc [b]furent li Norman chascé
Fors del pais, [4]tut corucé ;
Neis l'arcevesque Robert
En fu chascé, ki mult i pert.
Li quens Godewine idonc [c]transit ;
A Wincestre fust enfuiz.
Li quens Syward donc s'acordat
Al rei [d]d'Escoce, u il alat :
Mais [5]Macheden[e] defuit′ la pes ;
De guerreier ne fist releis.
Li quens Syward fist nefs mander,
[6]Bon ost i enveiad par mer,
E [7]il menat′ [8]grant ost′ par terre.
A [9]Macheden must itel guere,
En bataille le descunfist,
E de ses homes mult oscist.
Or e argent, [10]harnies e′ espees,
[11]Il conquist en ces contrees :
Mais [12]un son fiz, Osbern out nun,
E son nevou, Syward baron,
E un des chevalers le rei
Ke Syward out mené od sei,
E [13]ses usecarles k'il menat,
En Escoce [14]mort lessat.
[f]Apres ico Syward transi ;
Donc firent [15]conte de′ Tosti,
Le fiz Godewine cil estait,
[16]En Everwic nul dreit n'aveit.
[g]Donc morust le conte Leveriz :
De s'onur fut [17]Raul saisiz,
Mais poi [18]la tint, [19]e tost fina,
Mult fu prodom, [20]poi dura :
Li quens [21]a Burg′ fu enfuiz ;
A Coventre[22] li quens Leveriz.
[h]Li reis Griffin donc s'acordat ;
Le conte Algar [23]a cunduit l'ad :
Meis petit tint l'acordement ;
Al rei Eadward mesfit sovent.
[24]Donc[i] [25]i alat Tosti del north,
[26]Harold del suth de Oxenford.
Li dui frere grant ost menerunt,
Dreit vers Guales donc cheminerent ;
Li Suthwaleis se combatirent
Contre Griffin, [27]sa gent venquirent,
La teste del rei couperent,
Harold e Tosti la presenterent ;
E cil la portent a Eadward.
Unc puis [28]de Waleis′ n'out reguard ;
[k]Mes les Escoces les guerreiouent,
Northumberland sovent preiouent.
[29]Li reis Eadward [30]la s'aprima.
Dous eveskes i enveia,
L'evesque [l]Ailwyne e Chenesi,
Od els ala li quens Tosti,
Al rei [31]Malcolumb tant parlerent,
De ca Thuede l'en amenerent.
Li reis Eadward encontre vint,
Od Malcolumb parlement tint.
Presenz [32]li fist, mult l'onura,
Ke malement tut empleia ;
Pes e trius entr'els unt pris,
Mais ne dura gueres de dis.
[m]A Rome ala li quens Tosti,
Od lui la contesse [33]Judi.
Endementres, son conté
Reis Malcolumb tut ad preié.
[34]Halielande[n] donc fu preie,
Ke tut jurz ainz ert [35]deporté.
[o]Puis apres co bien longement,
S'asemblerent moignes e [36]gent
Contre l'evesque Edelwine,
Ki trest [37]de terre Seint Oswine.

Eadward.

Quatre cenz anz, e quinze avoc,
Aveit li cors ju iloc,
A Tynemue, u il estait,
E uncore est, [1]co est drait.
E Deus i fet [2]maintes vertuz
Pur le corsseint, [3]co est' seuz.
En icel an revint Tosti,
E la [4]contesse Judi.
Si s'acordat a Malcolumb ;
Od lui alerent li baron.
[a]Cil de Everwic, el revenir,
Pristrent Tosti si a hair,
K'en la cité ne pout entrer ;
Pur poi nel voleient [5]trier.
De ses [6]huscarles [7]mulz oscistrent,
E [8]se meisnies plusurs' malmistrent.
Puis firent quens de Morkar :
Celui fu fiz al quens Algar.
Quant ourent fet de Morkar sire,
Od [9]l'ost vent' en Norhantonschire.
Cel conté [10]tote praierent,
A Everwic l'aveir menerent.
Tosti ala a [b]Baldewin,
Ki sour il out, dame [11]Judin.
Cil le recust [12]par grant honur,
E fist [13]joie de sa [14]sorur.
Donc [15]out de' la Nativité
[c]Mil anz e saisante e sis passé,
En icel an Eadward transit,
Vint e quatre anz regnat, co quit :
Le [16]meildre rei, e le meillur
Ke Engleis eussent a seignur.
E la raine [17]Editthe[d] morust,
Si come Deu plout, e estre dust.
A Westmostre furent posez,
En dous sarcuz mult bien overez.
Apres lur mort une comete,
Une esteile [18]est dunt li prophete
E li bon astronomien
[19]Sevent [20]ki esplet u' mal u bien,
Si demustra el firmament :
Asez la virent mainte gent.
La nuit de Letanie [e]major,
Fist tele clarté cum se fust jor.
[21]Mult plusurs homes l'esgarderent,
En maint endrait en devinerent.
Chescon disait sa divinaille,
Meis tost [22]survint la' grant contraille
E la grant tribulacion,
Ke puis avint el region.
Donc vint Tost od mult grant gent :
[f]Tut li plusur [23]furent Flemeng.
A [24]Wardstane[g] sunt arivé ;
Tut cel pais unt fort praié,
[25]E mult [26]homes i ont oscis.
En Taneth vont ; en cel pais
Encontre lui [h]Copsi [27]la vint,
Un son baron ki de li tint.
Il vint del isle de Orkeneie
Dis e [28]seit niefs out en baillie.
Puis [29]corurent en [30]Brunemue[g] ;
Cele contré ont confundue.
Grant damages e grant dolurs,
Firent iloc e [31]unc aillurs.
Puis vont en Humbre od lur naviré,
Grant [32]praie ont pris en Lindeseie.
Plusurs homes [33]i unt oscis,
Ainz [34]k'il turnasent del pais.
Li quens Edwine od mult grant ost,
En Lindeseie vint mult tost,
[35]Puis lur [36]defent cel pais ;
Mes mult l'aveient ainz malmis.
Li quens Morkar, del altre part,
Defent [37]sa terre ; n'ad [38]reguart.
Sur Humbre sunt, pres de la mer,
[39]Dont lur defent' l'ariver.
Meis li Flemenc, quant [40]il co virent,
[41]Emblerent [42]s'en, Tosti' faillirent :
Chargez s'en vont en lur pais,
De la [43]pelfe d'Engleis' chaitifs.
Od icels donc ki remis sunt,
S'aturnerent, puis si s'en vont ;
Vers Escoce [44]s'en sunt alez
[45]A Malcolumb, kis ad [46]amez.
[47]Li quens Tosti mult [48]honurat,

Harald [1]Harfage out nun cel reis ;
Od lui se tindrent les Daneis.
Tant ont parlé, il e Tosti,
Chescon al altre ad sa fei plevi,
De quanque ensemble [2]conquerunt,
Tut [3]hovelement le partirunt.
Ore [4]volent primes, par lur guerre,
Entr'els [5]partir tut Engleterre.
[6]Il dui ourent navire grant,
Quatre cent nefs, [7]setante avant.
Tant ont nagé, e tant siglé,
K'el [8]flum de Humbre sunt entré.
De Humbre en Use en sunt venuz,
A Saint [a]Wlfrei des nefs eissuz.
Lendemain vindrent, dreit siglant,
A Everwich [9], al avesprant.
Mais les dous contes asemblerent ;
De seit contez la gent [10]menerent.
A [b]Fuleford se combatirent,
Norreis idonc le champ venquirent ;
[11]Mais d'ambes parz [12]out grant occise.
Puis ont Norreis la terre prise ;
Tut cel pais vont purpernant,
E les preies mult deschascant :
Ki co ne seit, [13]isci s'en remembre,
Dusze jurs fu dedenz [c]Septembre.
[14]Quinte jur apres [d]reis Harold vint
Contre Norreis bataille tint.
Co fu Harald fiz Godewine,
Ki des Norheis fit discipline.
Co fut al [e]Punt-de-la-Bataille :
Norreis trovat, pernant [15]almaille.
Li reis Harold donc les sewi,
[16]Ireement se combati.
L'altre Harald al champ oscist,
E de Tosti ensement fist.
Sur [17]les Daneis' out la victorie,
La gent del Suth sembla grant glorie.
Mais hom ne [18]sout conter [19]demis
[20]Cels k'el champ' furent oscis.
Totes les nefs, e lur herneis,
Ad feit saisir Harald li reis.
Le fiz [21]cel re i fust trové :
[22]Cil fust a Harald amené.
Merci cria, [23]trew pramist ;
Haralde homage de li prist.
E de [24]trestuz les remananz,
Prist bons ostages, e vaillanz ;
Od vint nefs les lessat aller :
Donc [25]airent tant ke sunt en mer.
Cinc jors apres [f]sunt arivez
Franceis, od [26]bien unze' mil nefs,
A Hastinges, desur la mer :
Iloc firent chastel fermer.
Li reis Harald quant [27]il oi,
L'evesque [g]Aldret ad donc saisi
Del grant aver e del herneis
K'il out conquis [28]sur les' Norreis.
Marleswain [h] donc i lessat ;
Pur ost mander en Suth alad.
Cinc jurs i mist al asembler,
Mais ne pout gueres aüner,
Pur la grant gent ki ert oscise,
Quant des Norreis fist Deus justise.
Tresk'en Suthsexe Harald alat,
[29]Tel gent' cum pout od li menat.
Ses dous freres gent asemblerent ;
A la bataille od lui alerent,
Li uns fust [30]Gerd, l'altre [31]Lefwine,
Contre [32]la gent' de ultre marine.
Quant les escheles [33]sunt rengees,
E del ferir aparillees,
Mult i out genz [34]dambesdous parz ;
De hardement semblent leoparz.
Un des Franceis donc se hasta,
Devant les altres chevalcha.
[35]Taillefer[i] ert cil apelez,
Joglere estait, hardi asez.
Armes aveit e bon e cheval :
Si ert hardiz e noble vassal.
Devant les altres cil se mist ;
Devant Engleis merveilles fist.
Sa lance prist par le tuet,
Com si co fust un bastunet :
Encontremont, halt [36]le geta,
E par le fer [37]recevé l'a.
Trais fez issi geta sa lance ;
La quarte feiz, [38]mult pres' s'avance,
Entre les Engleis la lanca,
Par mi le cors un en naffra.
Puis traist s'espee, arere vint,
[39]Geta s'espee,' k'il tint,

[a] Alan Rufus, lord of the honour and founder of the castle of Richmond in Yorkshire. The whole of this passage is apparently an after insertion; as without the alteration of the line immediately following it would not cohere with the text.

[b] Richmond.

[c] It has been thought advisable to insert here, though out of place, the conclusion of Gaimar's 'Estorie;' as besides describing the composition of his work, it contains the only account of the author which has hitherto been discovered. It is found in this form in MS. A. alone; in D. the conclusion is wanting entirely; and in B. and C. it is varied as follows: —

'[1]Ci vuil′ ore finir [2]m'estoire,

E tuz les dusze mais,
Ainz k'il oust translaté des reis.
Il purchaca maint esamplaire,
Liveres Engleis, e par gramaire,
E en Romanz, e en Latin,
Ainz k'en pust traire a la fin.
Si sa dame ne li aidast,
Ja a nul jor nel achevast.
Ele enveiad a [a]Helmeslac
Pur le livere Walter Espac.
Robert li quens de [b]Gloucestre
Fist translater icele geste,
Solum les liveres as Waleis
K'il aveient des Bretons reis.
Walter Espec la demandat,
Li quens Robert li enveiat.
Puis la prestat Walter Espec
A Raul le fiz Gilebert.
Dame Custance l'enpruntat
De son seignur, k'ele mult amat.
Geffrai Gaimar cel livere escrit,
Les translad en fes i mist.
Ke li Waleis ourent leissé,
K'il aveit ainz purchasé,
U fust a dreit u fust a tort,
Le bon livere de Oxeford,
Ki fust [c]Walter l'arcediaen,
Si en amendat son livere bien.
E del estorie de [d]Wincestre
Fust amendé ceste geste,
De [e]Wassingburc un livere Engleis
U il trovad escrit des reis,
E de tuz les emperurs
Ke de Rome furent seignurs
E de Engleterre ourent treu ;
Des reis ki d'els ourent tenu :
De lur vies, e de lur plaiz,
Des aventures e des faiz ;
Coment chescons maintint la terre,
Quel amat pes, e liquel guere.
De tut le plus pout ci trover,
Ki en cest livere volt esgarder.
E ki ne creit co ke jo di,
Demand a [f]Nicole de Trailli.
Ore dit Gaimar, s'il ad guarant,
Del rei Henri dirrat avant,
Ke s'il en volt un poi parler,
E de sa vie translater,
Tels mil choses en purrad dire
Ke unkes [g]Davit ne fist escrivere.
Ne la raine de [h]Luvain
N'en tint le livere en sa main.
Ele en fist fere un livere grant,
Le primer vers noter par chant.
Bien dit Davit e bien trovat,
E la chancon bien asemblat ;
Dame Custance en ad l'escrit,
En sa chambre sovent le lit :
E ad pur l'escrire doné
Un marc d'argent, ars e pesé.
En plusurs lius est espandu
Del livere, co ke feit en fiu :
Mes de festes ke tint li reis,
Del boschaier, ne del gabeis,
Del dounaier, e del amur,
Ke demenat li reis meillur
Ke unkes fust, ne james seit,
E Crestien fust, e beneit,
Ne dit gueres l'escrit Davi.
Ore dit Gaimar k'il tressailli ;
Mes s'il uncore s'en volt pener,
Des plus bels faiz pot vers trover.
Co est d'amur e dosnaier,
De boscheier e del gaber,
E de festes e des noblesces,
Des largetez e des richesces,
E del barnage k'il mena,
Des larges dons k'il dona ;
D'ico devereit hom bien chanter,
Nient leissir ne trespasser.
Ore mand Davit ke si li pleist,
Avant die si pas nel leist.
Car s'il en volt avant trover,
Son livere en pot mult amender.
E sil ne volt a co entendre,
Pur lui irrai, sil frai prendre.
James n'istrat de ma prison,
Si eit parfeite la chancon.
Ore avom pes e menum joie,
Treske ci dit Gaima de Troie.
Il comencat la u [i]Jasun
Ala conquere la tuisun ;
Si l'ad defiué ci en dreit.
De Deu seium nous beneitz. Amen.

[a] Helmsley in Yorkshire, the residence of the celebrated baron Walter Espec. Walter entered the monastery of Rieval, of his own foundation, in the year 1151, where he died in the year 1153–4.

[b] Geoffry of Monmouth dedicated his 'British History' to Robert earl of Gloucester, who died in the year 1147.

[c] The book of Walter the archdeacon was that from which Geoffry of Monmouth pretended he had translated his History.

[d] The Winchester History has been already mentioned. See p. 792.

[e] Washingborough, in Lincolnshire: it was parcel of the honour of Richmond. Nothing has occurred to identify the book here noticed.

[f] Nicholas de Tralli was nephew to Walter Espec by his sister Albreda. Nicholas witnessed his uncle's foundation charter to Rieval in the year 1131.

[g] David is not noticed by any other writer: his work is apparently lost.

[h] Adelaiz daughter of Godfrey duke of Louvain, or Brabant, was married to Hen. I. in 1121, whom she survived. She afterwards married Will. de Albini earl of Arundel, and died in the year 1151.

[i] The first part of his work, here alluded to, is apparently lost.

[a] Annales Cambriæ, a diversis sed ignotis scriptoribus conditi, ab A.D. circiter 444 adusque An. 1066, nunc primum in lucem prodeunt. Hos autem ex tribus codd. MSS., scilicet, Bibliothecæ Harleianæ, Scaccarii Regii, et Bibliothecæ Cottonianæ, exhibemus: quorum primus, quem nota A. designavimus, ad An. tantum 954 pertingit; alii vero, nempe, B. et C. fere ad finem sæculi decimitertii prevehuntur. Textus autem, præter ea quæ uncis includuntur, codicem A., ad ipsa sphalmata repræsentat: hoc vero deficiente sub An. 954, exinde MS. B. adivimus. At de his vide quæ latius in præfatione nostra dicta sunt.

[b] Horum annalium chronologia in repetitione vocis 'Annus' fere consistit, numeris x., xx., &c. decimo cuique tantum adjectis: annos ergo intermedios secundum rationem codicis A., cæteris enim MSS. numeri prorsus desiderantur, passim supplevimus. De æra vero, unde in annalibus condendis exorsus sit chronographus, minime constat; sed quoniam annus ejus primus anno Dominicæ Incarnationis 444 respondere videretur, annorum æræ communis seriem, quasi concurrentium, abinde margini apposuimus.

[c] Solis eclipsis facta est An. 447, die 23 Decembris.

[d] Inter ecclesiam Occidentalem Orientalemque anno 453 quæstio orta est, utrum Pascha anni 455 die Aprilis decimo septimo an vicesimo quarto celebrandum esset; sed tandem Orientalium computationi lubens assensit Leo papa. Hæc in animo habuisse chronographum verisimile est; at male de commutatione in 'diem Dominicum' sensisse videtur, cum Pascha in ecclesia Romana die Dominica a sæculo secundo jam observatum fuisse constat. v. Baronium, A. 453. SIX hundred and eighty [1]one was the year of Christ, when the great mortality took place over the whole island of Britain. [2]And from the beginning of the world until that period, one year was wanting of five thousand eight hundred and eighty years. A.D. 681.

And in that year, Cadwalader the blessed, son of Cadwallon, son of Cadvan, king of the Britons, died at Rome, on the twelfth day of May; as Myrddin had previously prophesied to Vortigern of repulsive lips: and thenceforth the Britons lost the crown of the kingdom, and the Saxons gained it.

And after Cadwalader, [b]Ivor, son of Alan king of Armorica, which is called Little Britain, reigned; not as a king, but as a chief or prince. And he exercised government over the Britons for forty-eight years, and then died. And Rodri Maelwynog reigned after him.

[a] [4]Two years after that,' and in his time,' there was a mortality in Ireland. 683.

[a'] [5]Ac ẏn ẏr eil ulwẏdyn gwedẏ dẏuot Iuor ir ẏnẏs honn,

[a'] [5]And in the second year after Ivor came to this island,

[1] C. [2'] not in C. [3] agynhalyaǒd B. [4] C. [5] D.E.

[a] The 'Brut y Tywysogion,' or Chronicle of the Princes of Wales, begins with the pretended abdication of Cadwalader, with which Geoffry of Monmouth's History of the Kings of Britain concludes, at the close of the seventh century, and continues the History of its Princes from thence to the final subjugation of Wales by Edward I. The earlier portion of this work appears to have been translated from the 'Annales Cambriæ;' but, as it proceeds, it exhibits, either from a fuller copy of the Annals than any we now possess, or from other sources, many particulars which are there wanting. This Chronicle has been attributed to Caradoc of Llancarvan, who seems to have flourished about the middle of the twelfth century; but of this more may be seen in the preface to the present volume.

The text now printed is taken from a MS. at Jesus College, Oxford, called the Red Book of Hergest; here designated by the letter A.: it has been collated with two MSS. at Hengwrt, B. and C., with another in the Cotton Collection, Cleopatra, B. v., D., and with the Book of Basingwerk, now the property of Thomas Griffith, Esq. of Wrexham, E.: and such of their respective variations as require translation have been separated from those which are merely verbal.

The chronology of the text is an attempted adaptation of the decennary notation observed in the 'Annales Cambriæ,' to the æra of the Incarnation; but it has been so carelessly executed that the intervals which, according to the 'Annales,' should exhibit the events of ten years, at one time contain those of three, at another of sixteen years. The marginal chronology is taken from MS. D. It is also derived from the 'Annales;' and as the blank as well as the other intervening years of that Chronicle appear to have been attended to in its formation, they nearly agree till the year 898; but after that period, compared with the 'Annales,' its notices are generally two years too soon. It may be added that this MS., which is called 'Brut y Saeson,' consists of the usual Welsh text, mixed with a Welsh version of considerable portions of the Winchester Annals of Ricardus Divisiensis and of a few excerpts from other English writers, which it has not been thought necessary to notice as various readings.

[d] It is to be observed, that the MS. from which the text is taken uses the word 'ac,' 'and,' for the purpose of connexion, without attending to the change of year; so that in this as well as in some other places, the interposition of the date from MS. C. renders it necessary to supply 'died' from the former part of the sentence at the close of the preceding year.

Edelret, son of Edgar, from his kingdom, and reigned in his territory, in which he died in that year.

And then Brian, king of all Ireland, and his son Mwrchath, and many other kings, assembled against Dublin, where Sitruc, son of Abloec, was king. And against them came the men of Leinster, headed by their king Mael Mordav, and confederated against king Brian. And Sitruc hired a hundred [2]men′ against king Brian; and then Sitruc hired armed long ships full of mailed men, headed by Broter. And after a battle between them, and slaughter made on both sides, Brian and his son were killed on one side, and the leader of the ships [4]and his [a]brother,′ and king Mael Mordav, on the other side.

[5]Two years after that,′ and then Owain, son of Dyvnwal, was killed.

[5]A year after that,′ and then Cnute, son of Swain, took possession of the kingdom of England, Denmark, and Germany, [7]the great.

[5]Three years after that,′ and Meuruc, son of Arthvael, was killed.

[5]One thousand and twenty was the year of Christ,′ and then a certain Scot falsely pretended to be the son of king Maredudd, and caused himself to be proclaimed king: and the men of the south received him as their lord. The name of this person was Rein. And Llywelyn, son of Seisyll, supreme king of Gwynedd, and the chief and most illustrious king of all the Britons, made war against him. In his time it was usual for the elders of his kingdom to say, that his dominion was from one sea to the other, complete in abundance of wealth and inhabitants; so that it was supposed there was neither poor nor destitute in all his territories, nor an empty hamlet, nor any deficiency. And then Rein the Scot boldly led on his host, after the manner of the Scots, proudly and ostentatiously; and exhorted his men to fight, confidently promising them that he should conquer. And so he boldly approached his enemies, and they coolly and fearlessly awaited that vaunting and arrogant challenger. He, daring and fearless, repaired to the conflict, and after the battle was fought, with slaughter on both sides, and constant fighting, through the bravery of the Gwyneddians, victory was obtained over Rein the Scot and his host. And as it is proverbially said, ‘Excite

Grufudd attacked them immediately with well-ordered troops, and after a severely hard battle, the Saxons, unable to bear the assault of the Britons, took to flight, and fell with a dreadful slaughter. DE

BELLO HASTINGENSI CARMEN,

AUCTORE [a] W.

QUEM [b] probitas celebrat, sapientia munit et ornat
Erigit et decorat, L. W. salutat.
Cum studiis clarus, videaris lucifer ortus,
Et tenebras pellis radiis, dum lumina spargis;
Per mare nec fragilis, sed sis tutissima navis,
Te precor ad portum carmen deducere nostrum;
Invidiæ * mentis agitari nec patiaris, * ventis?
Nec Boreæ flatum timeat, sed litus amœnum, C
Remige te, carpat, ne læsum rupe labescat.
Sis judex illi justus, de *morte magistri * more? 10
Quod minus est addens, et quod super, obsecro, radens:
Nullus, credo, sibi sub te tutore nocebit,
Sic tuus incipiat fieri meus iste libellus,
Ut careat vitiis et laudibus amplificetur.
Evitare volens dispendia desidiosæ
Mentis, et ingenii, placeant cum carmina multis,
Carminibus studui Normannica bella reponi.
Elegi potius levibus cantare Camœnis,
Ingenium mentis vanis quam subdere curis: D
Cum sit et egregium describere gesta potentum, 20
Finibus occiduis quæ gessit regia [c] proles
[d] Willelmus, titulis commisi posteritatis.
Nam sibi sublatum regnum virtute redemit,
Et victor patrios extendit trans mare fines:
Ergo decet memorare suum per secula factum.

Justitiæ cultor, patriæ pax, hostibus hostis,
Tutor et ecclesiæ, rex benedicte vale.
Amodo torpentes decet evigilare Camœnas,
Et calamos alacres reddere laude tua. E
Mutasti comitis regali nomine nomen, 30
Quod tibi nobilitas contulit et probitas.
Julius alter enim, cujus renovando triumphum
Effrenem gentem cogis amare jugum.

[a] Carmen de Bello Hastingensi A.D. 1066 confecto, ex cod. ms., N° 629, in Bibliotheca Regia, olim Ducum Burgundiæ, Bruxellis asservato, nunc primum in lucem edimus. Quod haud omnino improbabile sit Widonem Ambianensium præsulem charactere W. designari, in præfatione jam monuimus: hic vero repetendum est, poema in cod. ms. exhiberi absque titulo, et serie continua scriptum; unde titulus a nobis supplendus, necnon et procemium a narratione distinguendum.

[b] Cod. ms. f. 227 b. col. 2.

[c] Willelmus filius erat nothus Roberti ducis Normanniæ, ex cujus amita, Emma, rex Ethelredus filium tulit Eadwardum regem Anglorum nuper defunctum: hæc ideo poetice accipienda sunt. v. et inf. verss. 37. 232.

A Innumerus terræ populus, nec perfida nautis
Æquora, nec litus saxa nociva ferens,
Incumbens hyemis nec te deterruit horror,
Quin ab [a]avis peteres regna relicta tibi.
Posteritate favet tibi jus, legis quoque summa,
Ergo tibi terror omnis ademptus erat.
Tempore[b] sed longo te trans freta ducere classes
Tempestas prohibet, imber et assiduus.
Dum præstolaris ventorum prosperitatem,
Et mare turbatum cogit abire retro,
Eurus et æquoreas crispabat flatibus undas,
B Tunc tibi planctus erat, spesque negata viæ:
Tuque velis nolis tandem tua litora linquens
Navigium vertis litus ad [c]alterius.
Portus ab antiquis [d]Viniaci fertur haberi;
Quæ vallat portum Somana nomen aquæ.
Docta nimis bello gens est, per cuncta fidele
Fluctivagis præbens sæpius hospitium.
Desuper est castrum quoddam Sancti Walarici;
Hic tibi longa fuit difficilisque mora:
Nam ter quinque dies complesti finibus illis,
Expectans Summi Judicis auxilium.
C Ecclesiam Sancti devota mente frequentans,
Illi pura dabas, ingeminando preces.
Inspicis et templa, gallus qua vertitur aura;
Auster si spirat lætus ab inde redis:
Si subito Boreas Austrum divertit et arcet
Effusis lacrimis fletibus ora rigas.
Desolatus eras, frigus faciebat et imber.
Et polus obtectus nubibus et pluviis.
Sed Pater Omnipotens, in quo tibi spem posuisti,
Tempora qui fecit, temperat atque regit;
Qui palmo cœlum, terram, mare ponderat æque,
D Cui proprium constat omnibus esse locis
Præsentem, precibus dedit et calcabile Petro
Æquor sub pedibus, compatiendo sibi,
Velle tuum tandem pius ut Deus est miseratus,
Pro votoque tibi suppeditavit opus:
Expulit a cœlo nubes, et ab æquore ventos,
Frigora dissolvit, purgat et imbre polum;
Incaluit tellus nimio perfusa calore,
Et Phœbus solito clarior emicuit.
Festa dies [e]Michaelis erat celebranda per orbem,
Cum pro velle tibi cuncta Deus tribuit.
E Protinus una fuit mens omnibus, æqua voluntas,
Jam bene pacato credere se pelago.
Quanquam diversi tamen adsunt lætificati,
Nec mora, quisque suum currit ad officium.

Sublimant alii malos, aliique laborant
Erectis malis addere vela super.
Plurima cogit equos equitum pars scandere naves,
Altera festinat arma locare sua:
Haud secus invadit classis loca turba pedestris,
Turba columbarum quæ sua tecta petit.
O quantus subito fragor illinc ortus habetur,
Cum nautæ remos, arma petunt equites.
Hinc resonando tubæ varios dant mille boatus,
Fistula cum calamis, et fidibus cythara;
[a] Tympana taurinis implent mugitibus auras,
Alternant modulos cymbala clara suos.
Terra tremit, cœlumque pavet, miratur et æquor,
Quadrupedes fugiunt, piscis avisque simul.
Quippe decem decies, decies et millia quinque
Diversis feriunt vocibus astra poli.
Sed tu templa petis Sancti supra memorati,
Muneribusque datis, curris adire ratem;
Clangendoque tuba reliquis ut littora linquant
Præcipis, et pelagi tutius alta petant.
Hactenus adfixæ solvuntur litore puppes,
Æquor et intratur agmine composito.
Jam breviata dies, jam sol devexus abibat,
Cum tua præripuit prævia navis iter.
Nox ubi cæca polum tenebrosis occupat umbris,
Et negat obsequium Cynthia [b] tecta tibi,
Imples non aliter facibus rutilantibus undas,
Sydera quam cœlum sole ruente replent.
Quot fuerant naves, totidem tu lumina spargis,
[c] Impositæ malis permulta luce laternæ
Tramite directo per mare vela regunt.
Sed veritus ne dampna tuis nox inferat atra,
Ventus et adverso flamine turbet aquas,
Sistere curva jubes compellat ut anchora puppes,
In medio pelagi litus adesse facis:
Ponere vela mones, exspectans mane futurum,
Ut lassata nimis gens habeat requiem.
At postquam terris rutilans Aurora refulsit,
Et Phœbus radios sparsit in orbe suos,
Præcipis ire viam, committere carbasa ventis,
Præcipis ut solvat anchora fixa rates.
Tertia telluri supereminet hora diei,
Cum mare postponens litora tuta [d] tenes.
E cœlo fulgens extenso crine [e] cometes
Anglis fatatum nunciat excidium.
Debita terra tibi, pavidis nudata colonis,
Læta sinu placido teque tuosque capit.

A Tecta dabat flammis, et gladiis populum.
Marte sub opposito currens Heraldus in hostes,
Non timuit fratris tradere membra neci.
Alter in alterutrum plus quam civile peregit
Bellum, sed victor, proh dolor! ipse fuit.
Invidus ille Cain fratris caput amputat ense,
Et caput et corpus sic sepelivit humo.
Hæc tibi prævidit Qui debita regna subegit,
Criminis infesti quatinus ultor eas.
Litora custodis metuens amittere naves,
Mœnibus et munis, castraque ponis ibi,
B Diruta quæ fuerant dudum castella[a] reformas,
Ponis custodes ut tueantur ea.
Non multo spatio tua gens sed pace potita
Invadit terram, vastat[b] et igne cremat:
Nec mirum, regem quia te plebs stulta negabat;

Et quod agri fulgent pleni radiantibus armis;
Vulcano flammis depopulante domos,
Perfidiæ gentem ferro bacchante perire,
C Quasque dabant lacrimas cæde patrum pueri
Scandere currit equum, festinat dicere regi.
Rex redit a bello præmia læta ferens:
Nuncius occurrit, quæ fert hoc ordine pandit:
'Rex tibi pro certo nuncia dira fero:

Invasit terram, vastat et igne cremat.
Millia si quæris, tibi dicere nemo valebit,

Et veluti stellas cœli numerare nequires,
Ejus sic acies nec numerare vales.
D Captivos ducit pueros, captasque puellas,
Insuper et viduas, et simul omne pecus.'
Rusticus hæc retulit. Rex contra sibilat illi;
Quamvis hæc timeat, velle tamen simulat.
Advocat ipse duces, comites, terræque potentes
Verbis, ut fertur, talibus alloquitur.
'Militiæ pars summa meæ, magnatibus orta,
Solus non bello vincere cui pudor est,
Nothica quos misit per te superavimus hostes,

Si posset leviter, molitur tollere nostra ; A
  Sed Deus Omnipotens non erit hoc patiens.
Quantus erit luctus, quantus dolor, et pudor ingens,
  Regni quanta lues, quam tenebrosa dies,
Si quod quærit habet, si regni sceptra tenebit ?
  Hoc omnes fugiant vivere qui cupiunt.'
His ita prolatis quærit responsa suorum :
  Scrutantur taciti dicere quid valeant.
Nascitur extemplo clamor qui perculit astra,
  Et vox communis omnibus una fuit :
' Bella magis cupimus quam sub juga colla reponi
  Alterius regis, vel magis inde mori.' B
Exultans fatuus rex grates reddidit illis,
  Insuper hoc unum consilium retulit.
' Primum legatos, decet ut, mittamus ad illum,
  Illi qui dicant, si placet, ut redeat ;
Pacificum si vult nobiscum fœdus inire,
  Vestro consilio, non ego reiciam :
Sin aliter, non sponte sua, mea littora linquet,
  Desinat hoc quod agit, trans freta regna petat.
Æquo consultu majorum necne minorum
  Providus eloquio monachus eligitur,
Exploret qui castra ducis, qui credita caute C
  Verba sibi referat, regis ab imperio.
Acceleravit iter, pedibus transvectus equinis,
  Sub tunica nigra verba verenda gerens.
Dux erat in castris : intrans hæc monachus inquit :
' Est opus ut nostræ sic valeas patriæ.
Rex et primates, regni quoque jura tenentes,
  Præcipiunt dicto quod citius redeas :
Mirantur super his de te quæ fama reportat,
  Quod sine te regnum ducis ad excidium :
Captivos reddas, et quicquid vi rapuisti ;
  Indulget, si vis, cætera dampna tibi : D
Ætati [a] parcit, morum parcit levitati,
  Olim quæ fuerat parcit [b] amicitiæ.
Si contradicis, vel si sua reddere tardas,
  Bella tibi mandat : ergo decet caveas.
Militiam vix ipse suam populumque coercet ;
  Gens est quæ nullum novit habere modum.
Nam Dominum testor, bis sex sibi millia centum
  Sunt pugnatorum, prœlia qui sitiunt.'
Talibus objectis mutata leonis imago,
  Pondus virtutum miles et intrepidus,
Dux, floccipendens quicquid sibi vana cuculla E
  Attulerat, fatuas approbat esse minas.
' Verba tui regis,' dixit, ' non sunt sapientis ;
  Nil latitare procul poterit, hoc sapiat.
Excessi puerum [a], leviter nec regna petivi,
  [c] Defunctis patribus debita jure mihi.
Fœdus amicitiæ nostræ dissolvit inique,

A Quod monet ut redeam, furor est, dementia summa:
Tempus enim prohibet, et via non facilis.
Immerito quamvis committere bella minetur,
In Domino fidens gens mea non refugit.
Nescit quæ furtiva mihi perjuria fecit,
Nec penitus recolit quod meus ipse fuit.
Si perjura manus nondum dampnata resultat,
Divino tamen est jam rea judicio.
Si quærit pacem, si vult delicta fateri,
Indulgens culpæ parcere promptus ero.
Terram quam pridem tenuit [a] pater, hanc sibi reddam,
B Ut meus ante fuit si meus esse velit.'
Monachus accelerat reditum: dux præparat arma;
Heraldi mentem noverat atque dolum.
Admonet, inflammat, confortans corda suorum:
' Francia quos genuit nobilitate cluens,
Belligeri sine felle viri, famosa juventus,
Quos Deus elegit, vel quibus ipse favet;
Fama volat quorum per climata quatuor orbis,
Invictusque manens militiæ titulus:
Gensque Britannorum, quorum decus extat in armis,
Tellus ni fugiat est fuga nulla quibus:
C Viribus illustres Cenomanni, gloria quorum
Bello monstratur per probitatis opem:
Apulus et Calaber, Siculus quibus *jacula fervet;
Normanni faciles actibus egregiis:
Falsus et infamis, perjurus rex et adulter,
Molitur nobis, tendit et insidias.
Ejus enim mos est non vi sed vincere fraude,
Spondendoque fidem porrigit ore necem.
Ergo cavere decet ne decipiamur ab illo,
Ni simus risus, ludus et in populo.
Mandamus vobis quapropter castra tueri,
D Irruat in castris ne malus ille latro.
Sed cras, si dignum vobis videatur et æquum,
Contra quem misit vana referre mihi,
Reddere legatum pro verbis verba paratum
Illi mittamus, qui minimum timeat.
Monachus est nobis, quo non moderantior alter,
Et nulli cedens rhetoris officio:
Signifer insignis, ni regula sacra negaret;
Si vobis placeat, hic mea dicta ferat.'
Dixit et est actum, complevit et actio dictum:
Monachus accitus, nec mora, carpit iter.
E Interea *fedes fuscatæ fraudis et hæres,
Nocte sub obscura, furis in arte vigens,
Rex acies armare jubet, ducis atque latenter
Mandat ut invadant agmina, si valeant.
Æstimat invigiles prosternere fraudibus hostes
Fallere dum quærit, fallitur atque ruit.
Dux quia directo legato pervigil extat,
Ejus et ingenio, conscius artis erat.
Divertens legatus iter per devia terræ,
Nescius accessit rex ubi furta facit.

Histrio[a], cor audax nimium quem nobilitabat, A
Agmina præcedens innumerosa ducis,
Hortatur Gallos verbis, et territat Anglos;
Alte yrojiciens ludit et ense suo.
Anglorum quidam, cum de tot millibus unum
Ludentem gladio cernit abire procul,
Militiæ cordis tactus fervore decenti,
Vivere postponens prosilit ire mori.
Incisor-ferri, mimus cognomine dictus,
Ut fuerat captus, pungit equum stimulis : 400
Angligenæ scutum telo transfudit acuto,
Corpore prostrato distulit ense caput. B
Lumina convertens, sociis hæc gaudia profert,
Belli principium monstrat et esse suum.
Omnes lætantur, Dominum pariter venerantur,
Exultant ictus quod prior extat eis.
Et tremor et fervor per corda virilia currunt;
Festinantque simul jungere scuta viri.
Invadunt primi peditum cœtus pharetrati,
Eminus et jaculis corpora traiciunt; 410
Et balistantes clipeos, ad grandinis instar,
Dissolvunt, quatiunt ictibus innumeris.
Sed lævam Galli, dextram petiere Britanni, C
Dux cum Normannis dimicat in medio.
Anglorum stat fixa solo densissima turba
Tela dat et telis, et *gladio gladiis. * gladios?
Spiritibus nequeunt frustrata cadavera sterni,
Nec cedunt vivis corpora militibus,
Omne cadaver enim, vita licet evacuatum,
Stat velut illæsum, possidet atque locum. 420
Nec penetrare valent spissum nemus Angligenarum,
Ni tribuat vires viribus ingenium.
Artibus instructi Franci, bellare periti,
Ac si devicti fraude fugam simulant. D
Rustica lætatur gens, et superasse putabat :
Post tergum nudis insequitur gladiis.
Amotis sanis, labuntur dilacerati,
Silvaque spissa prius rarior efficitur.
Conspicit ut campum cornu tenuare sinistrum,
Intrandi dextrum quod via larga patet, 430
Perdere dispersos variatis cladibus hostes
Laxatis frenis *cretat utrumque prius; * certat?
Quique fugam simulant instantibus ora retorquant,
Constrictos cogunt vertere dorsa neci.
Pars ibi magna perit, pars et densata resistit, E
Millia namque decem sunt ibi passa necem.
Ut pereunt mites bacchante leone bidentes,
Sic compulsa mori gens maledicta ruit.
Plurima quæ superest pars bello acrior instat,
Et sibi sublatos pro nihilo reputat. 440
Anglorum populus, numero superante, repellit
Hostes, inque retro compulit ora dari;

A *Et fuga ficta prius, fit tunc virtute coacta;
Normanni fugiunt, dorsa tegunt clipei.
Dux ubi perspexit quod gens sua victa recedit,
Occurrens illi, signa ferendo manu,
Increpat, et cædit; retinet, constringit et hasta.
Iratus galea nudat et ipse caput;
Vultum Normannis dat, verba precantia Gallis,
Dixit: 'Quo fugitis, quo juvat ire mori,
Quæ fueras victrix, pateris cur victa videri,
Regnis terrarum Gallia nobilior?
Non homines sed oves fugitis, frustraque timetis,
B Illud quod facitis dedecus est nimium.
Est mare post tergum, maris est iter ad remeandum,
Per grave[1], quod vobis tempus et aura negat.
Ad patriam reditus gravis est, gravis et via longa,
Hic vobis nullum restat et effugium:
Vincere certetis solum si vivere vultis.'
Dixit: et extemplo serpit ad ora pudor:
Terga retro faciunt, vultus vertuntur in hostes:
Dux ut erat princeps, primus et ille ferit.
Post illum reliqui feriunt, ad corda reversi,
Vires assumunt reiciendo metum.
C Ut stipulæ flammis pereunt spirantibus auris,
Sic a Francigenis Anglica turba ruis.
Ante ducis faciem tremefactum labitur agmen,
Mollis cera fluit ignis ut a facie.
Abstracto gladio galeas et scuta recidit;
Illius et sonipes corpora multa facit.
Heraldi frater, non territus ore leonis,
Nomine *Gernt, regis traduce progenitus, * Gurth.
Librando telum, celeri volitante lacerto,
Eminus emisso cuspide, corpus equi
Vulnerat, atque ducem peditem bellare coegit.
D Sed pedes effectus dimicat et melius:
Nam velox juvenem sequitur veluti leo frendens,
Membratim perimens, hæc sibi verba dedit:
'Accipe promeritam nostri de parte coronam,
Si periit sonipes, hanc tibi reddo pedes.'
Dixit: et ad bellum convertit protinus actum,
Obstat et oppositis viribus Herculeis:
Hos truncos facit, hos mutilos, hos devorat ense,
Perplures animas mittit et ad tenebras.
Per medias strages equitem dum prospicit ire,
Ex Cenomannorum progenitum genere,
E Infecto gladio cerebro, vel sanguinis unda,
Innuit, ut veniat et sibi subveniat.
Ille timens cædem, negat illi ferre salutem,
Nam *pavitem mortem ceu lepus ante canem. * pativas?
Dux memor, ut miles, subito se vertit ad illum;
Per nasum galeæ concitus accipiens,
Vultum telluri, plantas ad sydera volvit;
Sic *tibi concessum scandere currit equum. * sibi?

O cœli Rector, nostri pius ac Miserator, A
Nutu divino qui regis omne quod est,
Quas patitur clades Anglorum turma superstes!
Occidit hic pietas, regnat et impietas;
Vita perit, mors sæva furit, bacchatur et ensis:
Nullus ibi parcit Mars ubi sceptra regit.
Postquam factus eques dux est, mox acrius hostes
Vulnerat, aggreditur, fulminat, insequitur.
Vincere dum certat, dum campum cæde cruentat,
Filius [a]Hellocis, vir celer et facilis,
Insidiando ducem tractabat fine gravari;
Sed misso jaculo, traditur ictus equo. B
Corruit in terram, pedes est dux, plenus et ira:
Quomodo se teneat cogitat, aut quod agat.
Nam binis miratur equis privatus haberi;
Hæret in hoc paulo, sed nihil esse putat.
Censet enim, virtute sibi fortuna favebit,
Subveniet votis et sine fraude suis.
[b]Ergo sui mors, jurat, equi, si dextra manebit,
Non sine vindicta transiet: absque mora
Auctorem sceleris, multos inter latitantem,
Longe perspiciens, perdere currit eum:
Inpulsu dextræ, duro mucronis et ictu C
Ilia præcidens, viscera fudit humi.
At comes Eustachius[c] generosis *partibus ortus, * patribus?
Septus bellantum multiplici cuneo,
Ad ducis auxilium festinat primus haberi,
Efficiturque pedes, dux ut abiret eques.
Miles erat quidam comitis, nutritus ab illo,
Fecerat ut domino, fecit et ille sibi.
Talibus auspiciis comes et dux associati,
Quo magis arma micant, bella simul repetunt.
Amborum gladiis campus rarescit ab Anglis,
Defluit et numerus, nutat et atteritur: D
Corruit apposita ceu silva minuta securi,
Sic nemus Angligenum ducitur ad nihilum.
Jam ferme campum victrix effecta regebat,
Jam spolium belli Gallia læta petit,
Cum dux prospexit regem, super ardua montis,
Acriter instantes dilacerare suos.
Advocat Eustachium, linquens ibi prœlia Francis,
Oppressis validum contulit auxilium;
Alter, ut Hectorides, Pontivi [d]nobilis hæres,
Hos comitatur Hugo, promptus in officio;
Quartus Gilfardus[e], patris a cognomine dictus; E
Regis ad exitium quatuor arma ferunt.
Ast alii plures, aliis sunt hi meliores,
Si quis in hoc dubitat, actio vero probat.
Per nimias cædes nam bellica jura tenentes,
*Heraldus cogit pergere carnis iter.

A Per clipeum primus dissolvens cuspide pectus,
Effuso macidat sanguinis imbre solum;
Tegmine sub galeæ caput amputat ense secundus,
Et telo ventris tertius exta rigat;
Abscidit coxam quartus, [a]procul egit ademptam:
Taliter occisum terra cadaver habet.
Fama volans; 'Heraldus obit,' per prœlia sparsit;
Mitigat extemplo corda superba timor.
Bella negant Angli, veniam poscunt superati,
Vivere diffisi, terga dedere neci.
Dux ibi per numerum duo millia misit ad Orcum,
B Exceptis aliis millibus innumeris.
Vesper erat, jam cardo diem volvebat ad umbras,
Victorem fecit cum Deus esse ducem.
Solum devictis nox et fuga profuit Anglis,
Densi per latebras et tegimen nemoris.
Inter defunctos noctem pausando peregit
Victor, et exspectat Lucifer ut redeat.
Pervigil Hectorides sequitur cædendo fugaces;
Mars sibi tela gerit, mors sociata furit:
Duxit adusque diem vario certamine noctem,
Nec somno premitur, somnia nec patitur.
C Illuxit postquam Phœbi clarissima lampas,
Et mundum furvis expiat a tenebris;
Lustravit campum, tollens et cæsa suorum
Corpora dux, terræ condidit in gremio:
Vermibus atque lupis, avibus canibusque voranda,
Deserit Anglorum corpora strata solo.
Heraldi corpus collegit dilaceratum,
Collectum texit sindone purpurea;
Detulit et secum repetens sua castra marina,
Expleat ut solitas funeris exequias.
Heraldi mater, nimio constricta dolore,
D Misit adusque ducem, postulat et precibus,
Orbatæ miseræ natis tribus, et viduatæ,
Pro tribus *unis reddat ut ossa sibi;
Si placet, aut corpus puro præponderet auro.
Sed dux iratus prorsus utrumque [b]negat:
[c]Jurans quod potius præsentis littora portus
Illi committet aggere sub lapidum.
Ergo velut fuerat testatus, rupis in alto
Præcepit claudi vertice corpus humi.
Extemplo quidam, partim Normannus et Anglus,
Compater[d] Heraldi, jussa libentur agit;
E Corpus enim regis cito sustulit et sepelivit,
Imponens lapidem, scripsit et in titulo:
'Per mandata ducis, rex hic Heralde quiescis,
Ut custos maneas litoris et pelagi.'

Dux, cum gente sua, plangens super ossa sepulta, A

Hinc hostes citius Anglica regna petunt. B
Sed castrum Doveræ, pendens a vertice montis,
Hostes reiciens, littora tuta facit.
Clavibus acceptis, rex intrans mœnia [a]castri,
Præcipit Angligenis evacuare domos:
Hos introduxit per quos sibi regna subegit,
Unumquemque suum misit ad hospitium. 610

Ordo cucullatus, clerus cum pontificali
  Nobilitate, petunt templa beata [a]Petri:
Anteferendo cruces sequitur processio cleri,
  Post clerum pergit pontificale decus.
Rex, multa comitumque ducum vallante caterva,
  Ultimus incedit cum strepitu populi.
Illius et dextram sustentat [b]metropolita,
  Ad lævam graditur alter honore pari:
Taliter ecclesiam laudes modulando requirit
  Rex, et regalem ducitur ad cathedram.
Laudibus expletis, turba reticente canora,
  Indixit pacem cantor et ut sileant.
Conticuit clerus, compescuit ora senatus,
  Non est auditus ullus ab ore sonus.
Normannus quidam [c]præsul mox pulpita scandens,
  Famosis Gallis talia verba dedit:
'Oblatus vobis si rex placet edite nobis;
  Arbitrio vestri nam decet hoc fieri.'
Concessit populus, clerus favet atque senatus,
  Quod sermone nequit, innuit et manibus.
Sermo peroratur, post illum *metropolitæ[d]
  Hæc eadem lingua protulit Angligena.
Spirat utraque manus, laudat, spondet famulari,
  Annuit ex toto corde subesse sibi.
Convertens sanctam se summus præsul ad aram,
  Ante suam regem constituit faciem.
Ad se pontifices accitos congregat omnes,
  Et cum rege simul membra dedere solo.
Inchoat incentor, stans rectus, [e]Kyrieleison;
  Sanctorum pariter poscit habere preces.
Postquam sanctorum sit letania peracta,
  Præsule cum summo pontificalis honor
Erigitur, solo prostrato rege relicto:
  Incentor siluit, omnis et ordo tacet.
Summus et antistes populo præcepit ut oret:
  Incipit et proprium protinus officium.
Collectam dixit, regem de pulvere tollit,
  Crismate diffuso, regis et ipse caput
Unxit, et in regem regali more sacravit.[f]
